“Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta”

Antya-līlā

Chapter 5

The Story of Pradyumna Miśra

(English translation from the Bengali, following the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition and the Anubhāṣya, 2026)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya

Summary. Pradyumna Miśra, a resident of Śrīhaṭṭa, wished to hear talks about Kṛṣṇa from Mahāprabhu, and the Lord sent him to Rāmānanda. Hearing how Rāmānanda dealt with the devadāsīs, Miśra came back. Mahāprabhu then explained to him well the truth about Rāmānanda, and Miśra went again and received instruction in the truth from Rāmānanda. A brāhmaṇa from Bengal composed a play about Mahāprabhu’s pastimes and brought it. Svarūpa Gosvāmī heard it and pointed out the fault of Māyāvāda in it, yet he gave the poet’s verses a second meaning and so pleased him. His life’s purpose fulfilled, the poet gave up everything and stayed in Nīlācala under the shelter of the Vaiṣṇavas.

For the jīva bereft of consciousness (a-caitanya), stricken with the disease of worldly existence and fallen into the ocean of saṁsāra, the only good lies in taking shelter of Caitanya’s feet —

বৈগুণ্যকীটকলিতঃ পৈশুন্য-ব্রণপীড়িতঃ ।

vaiguṇya-kīṭa-kalitaḥ
by the ripening of karma by the worm bitten paiśunya-vraṇa-pīḍitaḥ
of malice by the sore afflicted
dainyārṇave nimagno 'haṁ
in the ocean of humility sunk I caitanya-vaidyam āśraye Caitanya the physician I take shelter of 1 Bitten by the worm of ripened karma, tormented by the sore of malice, and sunk in an ocean of humility, I take shelter of Caitanya, the physician.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Bitten by the worm of vaiguṇya, tormented by envy and sunk in an ocean of humility, I have taken shelter of the physician, Caitanya.

Anubhāṣya.
vaiguṇya-kīṭa-kalitaḥ (vaiguṇya is the ripening of karma; bitten by the worm that it is) paiśunya-vraṇa-pīḍitaḥ (paiśunya is malice; suffering from the sore, that is, the wound, that it is) dainyārṇave (in the ocean of humility) nimagnaḥ aham caitanya-vaidyam (the physician, Mahāprabhu) āśraye (I have taken shelter).

The Lord's conversation with Pradyumna Miśra; Miśra humbly asks the Lord to let him hear about Kṛṣṇa —

একদিন প্রদ্যুম্ন-মিশ্র প্রভুর চরণে । দণ্ডবৎ করি' কিছু করে নিবেদনে ॥ ৪ ॥

ekadina pradyumna-miśra prabhura caraṇe
one day Pradyumna Miśra of the Lord at the feet
daṇḍavat kari' kichu kare nivedane
obeisance making something he makes submission

4 One day Pradyumna Miśra bowed down at the Lord's feet and humbly made a request.

শুন, প্রভু, মুঞি দীন গৃহস্থ অধম !
কোন ভাগ্যে পাঞাছোঁ তোমার দুর্ল্লভ চরণ ॥ ৫ ॥

śuna, prabhu, muñi dīna gṛhastha adhama!
hear O Lord I wretched householder lowly kona bhāgye pāñāchoṁ tomāra durlabha caraṇa
by what fortune I have obtained Your rare feet

5 "Hear me, O Lord: I am a wretched, lowly householder. By what fortune have I obtained Your feet, so rarely attained?

কৃষ্ণকথা শুনিবারে মোর ইচ্ছা হয় । কৃষ্ণকথা কহ মোরে হঞা সদয় ॥ ৬ ॥

kṛṣṇa-kathā śunibāre mora icchā haya about Kṛṣṇa talks to hear my desire is kṛṣṇa-kathā kaha more hañā sadaya about Kṛṣṇa talks tell me becoming kind

6 I wish to hear talks about Kṛṣṇa. Be kind to me and tell me about Kṛṣṇa."

Pretending to know nothing, the Lord tells Miśra, born in a family of brāhmaṇas by seed (śaukra), to go as a disciple eager to hear to Rāmānanda, the guru of all four varṇas and āśramas, who was not born in a family of brāhmaṇas by seed —

প্রভু কহেন, — কৃষ্ণকথা আমি নাহি জানি । সবে রামানন্দ জানে, তাঁর মুখে শুনি ॥ ৭ ॥

prabhu kahena, — kṛṣṇa-kathā āmi nāhi jāni
the Lord says about Kṛṣṇa talks I not know sabe rāmānanda jāne, tāṁra mukhe śuni
only Rāmānanda knows his from the mouth I hear

7 The Lord said, "I know nothing of talks about Kṛṣṇa. Only Rāmānanda knows them, and I hear them from his lips.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Prabhu kahena: Mahāprabhu said.

Praise of the good fortune of one who wishes to hear about Kṛṣṇa —

ভাগ্যে তোমার কৃষ্ণকথা শুনিতে হয় মন । রামানন্দ-পাশ যাই' করহ শ্রবণ ॥ ৮ ॥

bhāgye tomāra kṛṣṇa-kathā śunite haya mana
by fortune your about Kṛṣṇa talks to hear is the mind rāmānanda-pāśa yāi' karaha śravaṇa
to Rāmānanda going do hearing

8 It is your good fortune that your mind longs to hear about Kṛṣṇa. Go to Rāmānanda and hear from him.

The definition of one who is truly fortunate —

কৃষ্ণকথায় রুচি তোমার — বড় ভাগ্যবান্ । যার কৃষ্ণকথায় রুচি, সেই ভাগ্যবান্ ॥ ৯ ॥

kṛṣṇa-kathāya ruci tomāra — baḍa bhāgyavān
for talks about Kṛṣṇa taste your very fortunate yāra kṛṣṇa-kathāya ruci, sei bhāgyavān whose for talks about Kṛṣṇa taste he fortunate

9 You have a taste for talks about Kṛṣṇa — you are greatly fortunate! Whoever has such a taste is truly fortunate."

Without rati for Kṛṣṇa — the bhakti that is the goal (sādhya-bhakti) — the practice of prescribed dharma is fruitless — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 1.2.8)

ধর্ম্মঃ স্বনুষ্ঠিতঃ পুংসাং বিষ্বক্সেনকথাসু যঃ । নোৎপাদয়েদ্যদি রতিং শ্রম এব হি কেবলম্ ॥ ১০ ॥

dharmaḥ sv-anuṣṭhitaḥ puṁsāṁ
dharma well performed of people viṣvaksena-kathāsu yaḥ of Viṣvaksena for the narrations which notpādayed yadi ratiṁ
not awakens if attraction
śrama eva hi kevalam labour only certainly merely

10 "Dharma, however well a person performs it, is nothing but wasted labour if it does not awaken attraction (rati) to the narrations about the Lord, Viṣvaksena." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.8)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

A person may perform the dharma of the varṇas and āśramas in the best way. But if it does not awaken in him attraction (rati) for talks about Kṛṣṇa, even that dharma is only wasted labour.

Anubhāṣya.

At the beginning of their hearing the Bhāgavatam from Śrī Sūta, the disciple of Śrī Śukadeva, Śaunaka and the other sages asked him six questions. The first was: "What is the absolute (aikāntika) highest good of man?" Answering it, Sūta explains that man's duty is to worship Adhokṣaja, and along the way he tells how prescribed dharma gains its purpose:

puṁsām (of people) yaḥ sv-anuṣṭhitaḥ (the dharma well performed — the observance of divine varṇāśrama and the like — even when it takes the form of sādhana-bhakti) yadi viṣvaksena-kathāsu (for the narrations about Viṣvaksena, Bhagavān, and about the bhāgavatas, that is, for the kīrtana of His name, form, qualities, pastimes and so on) ratim (taste) na utpādayet (does not awaken, then that svadharma) kevalam (entirely) hi (certainly) śramaḥ eva (wasted labour, fruitless: that dharma has not the slightest result; it is certainly useless — this is the meaning), for it is said: "If a man's work in this world does not lead to dharma, his dharma to detachment, and his detachment to the service of the feet of Him whose feet are holy places, then though he lives, he is dead." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 3.23.56)

Pradyumna Miśra goes to the house of Rāmānanda, who is absorbed in direct service to Śrī Rādhā-Govinda; Rāya's servant receives him —

তবে প্রদ্যুম্ন-মিশ্র গেলা রামানন্দের স্থানে । রায়ের সেবক তাঁরে বসাইল আসনে ॥ ১১ ॥

tabe pradyumna-miśra gelā rāmānandera sthāne
then Pradyumna Miśra went Rāmānanda's to the place
rāyera sevaka tāṁre vasāila āsane
Rāya's servant him seated on a seat

11 Then Pradyumna Miśra went to Rāmānanda's house, and Rāya's servant offered him a seat.

At Miśra's question the servant tells what Rāya — a mahā-bhāgavata, a paramahaṁsa, an ātmārāma — is doing —

রায়ের দর্শন না পাঞা সেবকে পুছিল । রায়ের বৃত্তান্ত সেবক কহিতে লাগিল ॥ ১২ ॥

rāyera darśana nā pāñā sevake puchila Rāya's sight not getting the servant he asked rāyera vṛttānta sevaka kahite lāgila
Rāya's doings the servant to tell began

12 Not seeing Rāya, he asked the servant, who told him what Rāya was doing:

দুই দেব-কন্যা হয় পরম-সুন্দরী । নৃত্য-গীতে সুনিপুণা, বয়সে কিশোরী ॥ ১৩ ॥

dui deva-kanyā haya parama-sundarī
two maidens of the Deity there are supremely beautiful nṛtya-gīte sunipuṇā, vayase kiśorī
in dance and song very skilled in age in early youth

13 "There are two maidens of the Deity (deva-kanyās), supremely beautiful, very skilled in dance and song, and in the bloom of youth.

সেই দুঁহে লঞা রায় নিভৃত উদ্যানে । নিজ-নাটক-গীতের শিখায় নর্ত্তনে ॥ ১৪ ॥

sei duṁhe lañā rāya nibhṛta udyāne
those two taking Rāya in a secluded garden
nija-nāṭaka-gītera śikhāya nartane
of his own drama's songs he teaches dancing

14 Rāya has taken them both to a secluded garden and is teaching them to dance to the songs of his own drama.

Anubhāṣya.
Nija-nāṭaka (his own play): the play Jagannātha-vallabha, which Śrī Rāmānanda Rāya wrote in Sanskrit.

Miśra is asked to sit for a while —

তুমি ইঁহা বসি' রহ, ক্ষণেকে আসিবেন । তাঁরে যেই আজ্ঞা দেহ', সেই করিবেন ॥ ১৫ ॥ tumi iṁhā vasi' raha, kṣaṇeke āsibena

you here sitting stay in a moment he will come tāṁre yei ājñā deha', sei karibena
to him whatever order you give that he will do

15 Please sit here and wait; he will come shortly. Whatever you ask of him, he will do."

Miśra waits —

তবে প্রদ্যুম্ন-মিশ্র তাঁহা রহিল বসিয়া । রামানন্দ নিভৃতে সেই দুই-জন লঞা ॥ ১৬ ॥

tabe pradyumna-miśra tāṁhā rahila vasiyā
then Pradyumna Miśra there remained sitting rāmānanda nibhṛte sei dui-jana lañā Rāmānanda in seclusion those two taking

16 So Pradyumna Miśra stayed there, waiting, while Rāmānanda, in a secluded place, attended to the two maidens.

The ātmārāma Rāmānanda serves Śrī Rādhā directly; that service is spiritual —

স্বহস্তে করেন তার অভ্যঙ্গ-মর্দ্দন । স্বহস্তে করান স্নান, গাত্র সংমার্জ্জন ॥ ১৭ ॥

sva-haste karena tāra abhyaṅga-mardana
with his own hands he does their anointing with oil
sva-haste karāna snāna, gātra saṁmārjana
with his own hands he gives a bath the body cleansing

17 With his own hands he anointed them with oil; with his own hands he bathed them and cleansed their bodies.

Anubhāṣya.
Abhyaṅga-mardana: anointing with oil.

স্বহস্তে পরান বস্ত্র, সর্ব্বাঙ্গ মণ্ডন ।
তবু নির্ব্বিকার রায়-রামানন্দের মন ॥ ১৮ ॥

sva-haste parāna vastra, sarvāṅga maṇḍana
with his own hands he puts on clothes every limb adorning
tabu nirvikāra rāya-rāmānandera mana
yet unmoved of Rāya Rāmānanda the mind

18 With his own hands he dressed them and adorned every limb, and yet the mind of Rāya Rāmānanda remained unmoved.

Anubhāṣya.

Maṇḍana: adorning with ornaments and the like. Nirvikāra: Rāmānanda Prabhu sees Śrī Rādhā-Kṛṣṇa, who are beyond the senses (adhokṣaja), everywhere (see Madhya 8.273, 274 and 276); he is the crest-jewel of the paramahaṁsas and the guru even of the vidvat-sannyāsīs. He did not behave like worldly men who think themselves male enjoyers: on seeing women and the like, he did not turn to material enjoyment for the gratification of his own senses, nor did he fall prey to agitation of body or mind.

The nature of Śrī Rāmānanda Gosvāmī, the crest-jewel of the vidvat-sannyāsīs, detached from material enjoyment, who has conquered the six urges (vega) —

কাষ্ঠ-পাষাণ-স্পর্শে হয় যৈছে ভাব । তরুণী-স্পর্শে রামানন্দের তৈছে 'স্বভাব' ॥ ১৯ ॥

kāṣṭha-pāṣāṇa-sparśe haya yaiche bhāva
wood and stone at touching there is as feeling taruṇī-sparśe rāmānandera taiche 'svabhāva'
a young woman at touching Rāmānanda's so nature

19 What one feels on touching wood or stone, Rāmānanda by nature feels on touching a young woman.

In his transcendental perfected body (siddha-deha), full of spiritual bliss, the mahā-bhāgavata Rāya, following rāgātmikā-bhakti in the mood of a gopī, serves his mistress, Śrī Rādhā, in her transcendental spiritual pastimes —

সেব্য-বুদ্ধি আরোপিয়া করেন সেবন । স্বাভাবিক দাসীভাব করেন আরোপণ ॥ ২০ ॥

sevya-buddhi āropiyā karena sevana
the sense of the one to be served attributing he does service svābhāvika dāsī-bhāva karena āropaṇa natural maidservant's mood he does taking upon himself

20 Seeing in them the ones to be served (sevya-buddhi), he served them, assuming, as was natural to him, the mood of a maidservant.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Rāya Rāmānanda had composed a play called Jagannātha-vallabha. To stage it before Śrī Jagannāthadeva, he brought two deva-kanyās, that is, young devadāsīs (today they are called māhārīs), and was teaching them the mood of the gopīs that the play requires. These two girls were to act the pastimes of the chief gopīs. So he regarded them as the chief gopīs, the ones to be served (sevya-buddhi), took for himself the mood of a maidservant following them, and taught them the songs and other service for the coming performance. Śrī Rāmānanda knew himself to be Śrīmatī's maidservant. Seeing in the actresses of Śrīmatī's role the one he serves, he cared for their bodies, adorned them and so on.

The glory of Gaura's devotees is inconceivable; among them, in Śrī Rāya, bhāva, prema and bhakti reach their limit —

মহাপ্রভুর ভক্তগণের দুর্গম মহিমা । তাহে রামানন্দের ভাবভক্তি-প্রেম-সীমা ॥ ২১ ॥

mahāprabhura bhakta-gaṇera durgama mahimā of Mahāprabhu of the devotees unfathomable glory
tāhe rāmānandera bhāva-bhakti-prema-sīmā
among them Rāmānanda's of bhāva, bhakti and prema the limit

21 The glory of Mahāprabhu's devotees is unfathomable, and in Rāmānanda bhāva, bhakti and prema reach their utmost limit.

To stage his play Jagannātha-vallabha before Śrī Jagannātha, Rāya teaches acting in the Jagannātha-vallabha garden —

তবে সেই দুইজনে নৃত্য শিখাইলা । গীতের গূঢ় অর্থ অভিনয় করাইলা ॥ ২২ ॥

tabe sei dui-jane nṛtya śikhāilā
then those two dance he taught gītera gūḍha artha abhinaya karāilā
of the songs hidden meaning acting he made them do

22 Then he taught the two to dance and had them act out the hidden meaning of the songs.

Anubhāṣya.
He taught how, through the actress (naṭī), to reveal well before the connoisseur of the transcendental rasa of Vraja the deep feelings contained in the songs of the play.

সঞ্চারী, সাত্ত্বিক, স্থায়ি-ভাবের লক্ষণ । মুখে-নেত্রে অভিনয় করে প্রকটন ॥ ২৩ ॥

sañcārī, sāttvika, sthāyi-bhāvera lakṣaṇa
transitory sāttvika of the abiding emotions the signs mukhe-netre abhinaya kare prakaṭana
in face and eyes acting they make manifest

23 By acting with face and eyes, they brought out the signs of the transitory (sañcārī), the sāttvika and the abiding (sthāyi) feelings.

ভাবপ্রকটন-লাস্য রায় যে শিখায় । জগন্নাথের আগে দুঁহে প্রকট দেখায় ॥ ২৪ ॥

bhāva-prakaṭana-lāsya rāya ye śikhāya bhāva-revealing graceful dance Rāya which teaches jagannāthera āge duṁhe prakaṭa dekhāya
of Jagannātha before the two openly show

24 Rāya taught them the graceful feminine dance (lāsya) that reveals bhāva, and the two would display it openly before Jagannātha.

Anubhāṣya.
Bhāva-prakaṭana-lāsya: a woman's dance that reveals bhāva.

After feeding the two devadāsīs, Rāya sends them home secretly, for the good of ignorant critics who see only with the senses —

তবে সেই দুইজনে প্রসাদ খাওয়াইলা । নিভৃতে দুঁহারে নিজ-ঘরে পাঠাইলা ॥ ২৫ ॥

tabe sei dui-jane prasāda khāoyāilā
then those two prasāda he fed nibhṛte duṁhāre nija-ghare pāṭhāilā quietly both to their own home he sent

25 Then he gave the two prasāda to eat and quietly sent them home.

The mahā-bhāgavata Rāya's service to his mistress in his perfected body is beyond the sense-born knowledge of living beings who follow the path of logic —

প্রতিদিন রায় ঐছে করায় সাধন । কোন্ জানে ক্ষুদ্র জীব কাঁহা তাঁর মন ? ॥ ২৬ ॥

prati-dina rāya aiche karāya sādhana
every day Rāya thus makes them do practice kon jāne kṣudra jīva kāṁhā tāṁra mana?
who knows petty living being where his mind

26 Every day Rāya trained them in this way. What petty soul can know where his mind dwells?

Anubhāṣya.
Every day he teaches the devadāsīs such transcendental acting. Petty people — worldly, absorbed in sense objects, busy gratifying the senses — cannot, with a mind that craves to enjoy insentient matter (acit), grasp the unearthly, transcendental realm of Prabhu Rāmānanda's mind: that mind is made of pure goodness (śuddha-sattva) and is engaged in serving Kṛṣṇa.

Hearing from his servant that Miśra has come, Rāya, who gives honour to others (mānada), comes to the assembly hall —

মিশ্রের আগমন রায়ে সেবক কহিলা । শীঘ্র রামানন্দ তবে সভাতে আইলা ॥ ২৭ ॥

miśrera āgamana rāye sevaka kahilā Miśra's arrival to Rāya the servant told śīghra rāmānanda tabe sabhāte āilā quickly Rāmānanda then to the hall came

27 The servant told Rāya that Miśra had come, and Rāmānanda at once came to the hall.

Rāya, free of pride (amānī) and giving honour to others, greets Miśra fittingly and expresses his humility —

মিশ্রেরে নমস্কার করে সম্মান করিয়া । নিবেদন করে কিছু বিনীত হঞা ॥ ২৮ ॥

miśrere namaskāra kare sammāna kariyā to Miśra obeisance he makes respect showing nivedana kare kichu vinīta hañā submission he makes something humble becoming

28 Showing him respect, he bowed to Miśra and humbly said:

বহুক্ষণ আইলা, মোরে কেহ না কহিল । তোমার চরণে মোর অপরাধ হইল ॥ ২৯ ॥

bahu-kṣaṇa āilā, more keha nā kahila long ago you came me anyone not told tomāra caraṇe mora aparādha haila at your feet my offence has been 29 “You have been here a long while, and no one told me. I have committed an offence at your feet.

তোমার আগমনে মোর পবিত্র হৈল ঘর । আজ্ঞা কর, ক্যা করোঁ তোমার কিঙ্কর ॥ ৩০ ॥

tomāra āgamane mora pavitra haila ghara
by your coming my pure became home
ājñā kara, kyā karoṁ tomāra kiṅkara order do what shall I do your servant

30 Your coming has purified my home. Command me — what shall I, your servant, do?”

Miśra answers humbly —

মিশ্র কহে, — তোমা দেখিতে হৈল আগমনে । আপনা পবিত্র কৈলুঁ তোমার দরশনে ॥ ৩১ ॥

miśra kahe, — tomā dekhite haila āgamane Miśra says you to see there was coming āpanā pavitra kailuṁ tomāra daraśane myself pure I made by your sight

31 Miśra said, “I came to see you, and by seeing you I have purified myself.”

Seeing that the time is unsuitable, Miśra returns home that day —

অতিকাল দেখি’ মিশ্র কিছু না কহিল । বিদায় হইয়া মিশ্র নিজঘর গেল ॥ ৩২ ॥

atikāla dekhi’ miśra kichu nā kahila
the late hour seeing Miśra anything not said
vidāya haiyā miśra nijaghara gela leave taking Miśra to his home went 32 Seeing that it was too late, Miśra said nothing more; he took his leave and went home.

Anubhāṣya.

Atikāla: the time for conversation had passed; that is, if they began to talk at the wrong time, it would be inconvenient for both.

The next day the Lord asks Miśra whether he has heard about Kṛṣṇa from Rāya —

আর দিন মিশ্র আইল প্রভু-বিদ্যমানে । প্রভু কহে, — কৃষ্ণকথা শুনিলা রায়স্থানে ? ॥ ৩৩ ॥

āra dina miśra āila prabhu-vidyamāne
the next day Miśra came into the Lord's presence
prabhu kahe, — kṛṣṇa-kathā śunilā rāyasthāne?
the Lord says about Kṛṣṇa talks did you hear from Rāya

33 The next day Miśra came before the Lord, and the Lord asked, "Did you hear about Kṛṣṇa from Rāya?"

Miśra tells the Lord about Śrī Rāya —

তবে মিশ্র রামানন্দের বৃত্তান্ত কহিলা । শুনি' মহাপ্রভু তবে কহিতে লাগিলা ॥ ৩৪ ॥

tabe miśra rāmānandera vṛttānta kahilā
then Miśra Rāmānanda's doings told śuni' mahāprabhu tabe kahite lāgilā hearing Mahāprabhu then to speak began

34 Then Miśra told Him what Rāmānanda had been doing, and when Mahāprabhu heard it, He began to speak.

Bhagavān, the model teacher of the dharma of freedom from pride, humbly glorifies His devotee's love for Kṛṣṇa as greater than His own —

আমি ত' সন্ন্যাসী, আপনারে বিরক্ত করি' মানি । দর্শন রহু দূরে, 'প্রকৃতি'র নাম যদি শুনি ॥ ৩৫ ॥

তবহিঁ বিকার পায় মোর তনু-মন । প্রকৃতি-দর্শনে স্থির হয় কোন্ জন ? ॥ ৩৬ ॥

āmi ta' sannyāsī, āpanāre virakta kari' māni
I indeed a sannyāsī Myself detached as I consider darśana rahu dūre, 'prakṛti'ra nāma yadi śuni seeing let it remain far of a woman the name if I hear tabahiṁ vikāra pāya mora tanu-mana even then agitation gets My body and mind
prakṛti-darśane sthira haya kon jana?
a woman on seeing steady is what person

35–36 "I am a sannyāsī and consider Myself detached; yet, to say nothing of seeing a woman, if I merely hear a woman's name, My body and mind are disturbed. Who can remain steady on seeing a woman?

Anubhāṣya.
Prakṛti: a yoṣit, that is, a woman, an object of enjoyment for a man.

The character of Śrī Rāmānanda Gosvāmī — free from craving for sense pleasure and from any inclination to look at women, the detached crest-jewel of the vidvat-sannyāsīs, who sees Adhokṣaja, a mahā-bhāgavata, an ātmārāma —

রামানন্দ-রায়ের কথা শুন, সর্ব্বজন । কহিবার নহে, যাহা আশ্চর্য্য-কথন ॥ ৩৭ ॥

rāmānanda-rāyera kathā śuna, sarva-jana of Rāmānanda Rāya the account hear all people
kahibāra nahe, yāhā āścarya-kathana
to be told it is not which a wondrous account

37 Hear, all of you, about Rāmānanda Rāya — an account so wondrous that it can hardly be told.

একে দেবদাসী, আর সুন্দরী তরুণী । তাহাদের সব সেবা করেন আপনি ॥ ৩৮ ॥

eke deva-dāsī, āra sundarī taruṇī
first devadāsīs and beautiful young women tāhādera saba sevā karena āpani
for them all service he does himself

38 First, they are devadāsīs, maidservants of the Deity, and moreover they are beautiful young women; yet he himself performs every service for them.[1]

Anubhāṣya.
Saba sevā: every kind of service (see verse 39).

স্নানাদি করায়, পরায় বাস-বিভূষণ । গুহ্য অঙ্গ যত, তার দর্শন-স্পর্শন ॥ ৩৯ ॥

snānādi karāya, parāya vāsa-vibhūṣaṇa bathing and so on he has them do he puts on clothes and ornaments
guhya aṅga yata, tāra darśana-sparśana
private parts all of them seeing and touching

39 He bathes them and dresses them in clothes and ornaments, and he sees and touches all the hidden parts of their bodies.

তবু নির্ব্বিকার রায়-রামানন্দের মন ।
নানাভাবোদ্গম তারে করায় শিক্ষণ ॥ ৪০ ॥

tabu nirvikāra rāya-rāmānandera mana

40 Yet the mind of Rāya Rāmānanda remains unmoved as he teaches them to express the stirrings of many different bhāvas.

Anubhāṣya.

Nānābhāvodgama: the display of the thirty-three kinds of bhāva needed to enact Kṛṣṇa's pastimes.

নির্ব্বিকার দেহ-মন — কাষ্ঠ-পাষাণ সম !

nirvikāra deha-mana — kāṣṭha-pāṣāṇa sama!
unmoved body and mind wood and stone like āścarya, — taruṇī-sparśe nirvikāra mana!
wonderful a young woman at touching unmoved mind

41 His body and mind are unmoved, like wood or stone. How wonderful — at the touch of a young woman his mind is unmoved!

Anubhāṣya.
Dry wood is insentient and does not grow; hard stone does not melt. Just so, Rāmānanda's body and mind underwent no change.

From the effect one infers the cause: a spiritual entity made of pure goodness (śuddha-sattva) is beyond the guṇas and untouched by the worldly guṇas; therefore Rāmānanda has a transcendental body of spirit and bliss —

এক রামানন্দের হয় এই অধিকার । তাতে জানি অপ্রাকৃত-দেহ তাঁহার ॥ ৪২ ॥

eka rāmānandera haya ei adhikāra alone of Rāmānanda is this qualification
tāte jāni aprākṛta-deha tāṁhāra from that I know transcendental body his 42 Rāmānanda alone has this qualification; from it I know that his body is transcendental.

The workings of a devotee's heart are beyond the senses (adhokṣaja); they transcend sense-born knowledge —

তাঁহার মনের ভাব তেঁহ জানে মাত্র । তাহা জানিবারে আর দ্বিতীয় নাহি পাত্র ॥ ৪৩ ॥

tāṁhāra manera bhāva teṁha jāne mātra
his mind's state he knows only tāhā jānibāre āra dvitīya nāhi pātra
that to know other second there is not fit person

43 Only he knows the state of his mind; there is no one else fit to know it.

Inference has meaning only when it follows the Śrī Bhāgavatam, the spotless evidence of the word (śabda-pramāṇa); the conclusion that shows the cause of the transcendental workings of Śrī Rāya's heart —

কিন্তু শাস্ত্রদৃষ্ট্যে করি এক অনুমান । শ্রীভাগবত-শাস্ত্র — তাহাতে প্রমাণ ॥ ৪৪ ॥

kintu śāstra-dṛṣṭye kari eka anumāna
but in the light of scripture I make one inference śrī-bhāgavata-śāstra — tāhāte pramāṇa
the Śrī Bhāgavata scripture of that the evidence

44 But in the light of scripture I draw one inference. The Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam bears witness to this.[2]

One who follows rāgānugā-bhakti with transcendental faith attains perfection (siddhi), that is, becomes a gosvāmī, by hearing and chanting Kṛṣṇa's pastimes —

ব্রজবধূ-সঙ্গে কৃষ্ণের রাসাদি-বিলাস ।
যেই জন কহে, শুনে করিয়া বিশ্বাস ॥ ৪৫ ॥

হৃদ্রোগ-কাম তাঁর তৎকালে হয় ক্ষয় ।

the heart's disease, lust his at once is destroyed
tina-guṇa-kṣobha nahe, 'mahā-dhīra' haya of the three guṇas agitation is not very steady he becomes

45–46 When a person, with faith, hears and tells of Kṛṣṇa's rāsa dance and His other pastimes with the young women of Vraja, his lust, the disease of the heart, is destroyed at once. The three guṇas no longer agitate him, and he becomes perfectly steady (mahā-dhīra).

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Tina guṇa (the three guṇas): sattva, rajas and tamas. The agitation of these three guṇas gives rise to the desire for union between man and woman, but in him no such desire arises.

Anubhāṣya.

Whoever, with faith and with a transcendental heart, describes or hears Kṛṣṇa's transcendental sweet pastimes — the rāsa and the rest — as the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam describes them, his worldly lust born of the mind (manasija) is completely destroyed. The speaker or hearer of Kṛṣṇa's transcendental pastimes feels his own existence in the transcendental realm, and so the three guṇas of nature cannot overcome him. Towards matter he is wholly beyond the guṇas (nirguṇa): his mind is unshakable, and he is able to understand his own qualification (nija-adhikāra) for serving Kṛṣṇa.

Let no one, like the prākṛta-sahajiyās, think in this connection: "A jīva greedy for worldly lust need not gain knowledge of sambandha. Keeping a worldly mind, he may live in his own realm of enjoyment, give up sādhana-bhakti, and regard Kṛṣṇa's transcendental play, His pastimes — the rāsa and the rest — as a model of worldly enjoyment like his own. If he simply hears and chants about them, his material lust will be destroyed." It is precisely to forbid this that Mahāprabhu, by the word viśvāsa (faith), dispelled the worldly mentality of the prākṛta-sahajiyās. Śrī Śuka also said: "One who is not a controller (anīśvara) must never do this, even in his mind. Whoever does it out of folly perishes, as one who is not Rudra would perish by drinking the poison born of the ocean." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.33.30)

Hearing and chanting Kṛṣṇa's pastimes swells the ocean of the bliss of love for Kṛṣṇa —

উজ্জ্বল মধুর-রস প্রেমভক্তি পায় । আনন্দে কৃষ্ণমাধুর্য্যে বিহরে সদায় ॥ ৪৭ ॥

ujjvala madhura-rasa prema-bhakti pāya
radiant of madhura-rasa prema-bhakti he attains ānande kṛṣṇa-mādhurye vihare sadāya
in bliss in Kṛṣṇa's sweetness he sports always

47 He attains prema-bhakti in the radiant madhura-rasa, and in bliss he ever revels in Kṛṣṇa's sweetness.

The evidence of the scripture Bhāgavatam — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.33.39)

48 "The steadfast soul who, endowed with faith, constantly hears of this play of Viṣṇu with the young women of Vraja and then describes it, soon attains supreme devotion to the Lord and quickly casts off lust, the disease of the heart." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.39)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Whoever, filled with transcendental faith, hears or describes Kṛṣṇa's transcendental play with the young women of Vraja in these "Five Chapters on the Rāsa" (rāsa-pañcādhyāyī) — that steady person (dhīra) gains abundant supreme devotion (parā-bhakti) for Bhagavān and quickly drives away material lust, the disease of the heart. The point is this: all of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes are "spiritual" (cinmaya). The fully spiritual Kṛṣṇa, beyond the senses (adhokṣaja), plays with the spiritual gopīs. When one discusses these pastimes with faith, that is, striving to realise the spiritual truth, then, as spiritual love awakens, attachment to matter, material lust and the rest depart. And when the wholly spiritual pastimes have fully appeared, not a trace of material lust remains.

Anubhāṣya.

yaḥ pumān (a person) śraddhānvitaḥ (endowed with faith, that is, with a transcendental firm conviction; eager to serve) vraja-vadhūbhiḥ (with the gopīs) viṣṇoḥ (of the son of Nanda, the supreme Lord) idam (described earlier, in the "Five Chapters on the Rāsa") ca vikrīḍitam (the special play called the rāsa) anuśṛṇuyāt (anu, constantly; let him hear from the lips of the guru, with no worldly barrier) atha (then) varṇayet (by the path of the rūpānugas, step by step, performs saṅkīrtana of Kṛṣṇa's name, form, qualities, pastimes and so on), saḥ dhīraḥ (the unshakable rāgānuga gosvāmī, who has conquered the six urges) acireṇa bhagavati (for Kṛṣṇa) parāṁ bhaktim (the highest prema-bhakti) pratilabhya (having attained) hṛd-rogam (the affliction of the mind, lust born of the mind) āśu (quickly) apahinoti (drives away).

By constantly cultivating Kṛṣṇa's pastimes, the rāgānuga devotee attains perfection in his own true nature (svarūpa-siddhi) and a body of spirit and bliss —

যে শুনে, যে পড়ে, তাঁর ফল এতাদৃশী । সেই ভাবাবিষ্ট, যেই সেবে অহর্নিশি ॥ ৪৯ ॥

ye śune, ye paḍe, tāṁra phala etādṛśī who hears who reads his fruit is such sei bhāvāviṣṭa, yei seve ahar-niśi
he absorbed in bhāva who serves day and night

49 Such is the fruit for whoever hears or reads of these pastimes. But as for one who, absorbed in bhāva, serves day and night —

তাঁর ফল কি কহিমু, কহনে না যায় ৷ নিত্যসিদ্ধ সেই, প্রায়-সিদ্ধ তাঁর কায় ॥ ৫০ ॥

tāṁra phala ki kahimu, kahane nā yāya his fruit what shall I tell in words not it goes nitya-siddha sei, prāya-siddha tāṁra kāya
eternally perfect he almost perfect his body

50 what can I say of his fruit? It cannot be put into words. He is eternally perfect (nitya-siddha), and his body is almost perfect (prāya-siddha).

Anubhāṣya.

Whoever hears of and chants Śrī Kṛṣṇa's transcendental play — the rāsa and the rest — and, following Śrī Rūpa's transcendental mood, constantly serves Kṛṣṇa in his mind, absorbed in pure, unfeigned rāga, attains a matchless fruit that worldly language cannot describe. He is an eternally perfect associate (nitya-siddha pārṣada). Or else his body is almost perfect (siddha-prāya)[0]: though it is visible to people's eyes, in it, as he attains svarūpa-siddhi, dwell the feelings devoted to Kṛṣṇa's service, and so all his activities are transcendental. Until, by Kṛṣṇa's will, he attains vastu-siddhi, his body is almost perfect and transcendental.

Śrī Rāya, eternally perfect (nitya-siddha), follows rāgātmikā-bhakti —

রাগানুগ-মার্গে জানি রায়ের ভজন ৷ সিদ্ধদেহ-তুল্য, তাতে 'প্রাকৃত' নহে মন ॥ ৫১ ॥

rāgānuga-mārge jāni rāyera bhajana
on the rāgānuga path I know Rāya's worship
siddha-deha-tulya, tāte 'prākṛta' nahe mana to a perfected body equal therefore mundane is not the mind

51 I know that Rāya's worship follows the path of rāgānuga. His body is like a perfected spiritual body (siddha-deha), and so his mind is not mundane.

The mark of a guru is knowledge of the truth about Kṛṣṇa, wholly directed to pleasing Kṛṣṇa's senses, not nobility of seed and the like —

আমিহ রায়ের স্থানে শুনি কৃষ্ণকথা । শুনিতে ইচ্ছা হয় যদি, পুনঃ যাহ' তথা ॥ ৫২ ॥

āmiha rāyera sthāne śuni kṛṣṇa-kathā

śunite icchā haya yadi, punaḥ yāha' tathā
to hear desire is if again go there

52 I too hear about Kṛṣṇa from Rāya. If you wish to hear, go there again.

The Lord sends Miśra again to Rāya to become his disciple —

মোর নামে কহিহ, — তেঁহো পাঠাইলা মোরে ।

54 Go quickly, while he is still in the hall." Hearing this, Pradyumna Miśra set off in haste.

Miśra goes to Rāya's house; Rāya, free of pride and giving honour to others, greets Miśra —

রায়-পাশ গেল, রায় প্রণতি করিল ।

55 He went to Rāya, and Rāya bowed to him and said, "Command me; tell me why you have come."

Miśra says that the Lord has sent him —

56 Miśra said, "Mahāprabhu has sent me to hear about Kṛṣṇa from you."

Rāya's joy —

śuni' rāmānanda mane hailā santoṣe hearing Rāmānanda in mind became pleased kahite lāgilā kichu manera hariṣe
to speak began something of the mind in joy

57 Hearing this, Rāmānanda was pleased, and with joy in his heart he began to speak:

Hearing the Lord's order, Rāya speaks of his good fortune —

প্রভুর আজ্ঞায় কৃষ্ণকথা শুনিতে আইলা এথা । ইহা বই মহাভাগ্য আমি পাব কোথা ? ॥ ৫৮ ॥

this besides great fortune I shall find where 58 "By the Lord's order you have come here to hear about Kṛṣṇa. Where else could I find such great fortune?"

In private Rāya asks Miśra —

এত কহি' তারে লঞা নিভৃতে বসিলা । কি কথা শুনিতে চাহ? মিশ্রেরে পুছিলা ॥ ৫৯ ॥

eta kahi' tāre lañā nibhṛte vasilā

ki kathā śunite cāha? miśrere puchilā what topic to hear do you want Miśra he asked

59 Saying this, he took him to a secluded place, sat down with him and asked Miśra, "What would you like to hear?"

Miśra asks Rāya to speak again about Kṛṣṇa — of sambandha, abhidheya and prayojana — as Rāya had spoken before with the Lord —

তেঁহো কহে, — যে কহিলা বিদ্যানগরে । সেই কথা ক্রমে তুমি কহিবা আমারে ॥ ৬০ ॥

teṁho kahe, — ye kahilā vidyānagare
he says what you told in Vidyānagara sei kathā krame tumi kahibā āmāre
those topics in order you please tell me

60 He said, "Please tell me, in order, all that you spoke of in Vidyānagara.

Miśra's humble words —

আনের কি কথা, তুমি — প্রভুর উপদেষ্টা !
আমি ত' ভিক্ষুক বিপ্র, তুমি — মোর পোষ্টা ॥ ৬১ ॥

61 You are the instructor not only of others but of the Lord Himself! I am a poor mendicant brāhmaṇa, and you are my sustainer.

62 I do not know how to ask anything, good or bad. Seeing how wretched I am, be merciful and tell me of your own accord."

Śrī Rāmānanda speaks about Kṛṣṇa —

তবে রামানন্দ ক্রমে কহিতে লাগিলা । কৃষ্ণকথা-রসামৃত-সিন্ধু উথলিলা ॥ ৬৩ ॥

tabe rāmānanda krame kahite lāgilā
then Rāmānanda in order to speak began kṛṣṇa-kathā-rasāmṛta-sindhu uthalilā
the ocean of the nectar of rasa in talks about Kṛṣṇa surged

63 Then Rāmānanda began to speak of Kṛṣṇa in due order, and in his words the nectar-ocean of rasa surged up.

Understanding the disciple's level (adhikāra), Rāya himself asks the questions and himself answers them —

আপনে প্রশ্ন করি' পাছে করেন সিদ্ধান্ত । তৃতীয় প্রহর হৈল, নহে কথা-অন্ত ॥ ৬৪ ॥

āpane praśna kari' pāche karena siddhānta
himself question raising afterward he makes conclusion
tṛtīya prahara haila, nahe kathā-anta
the third prahara came there is not of the talk end

64 He himself raised the questions and then gave the conclusive answers (siddhānta). The third watch (prahara) of the day came, and still the talk did not end.

Both forget themselves in talk about Kṛṣṇa —

বক্তা শ্রোতা কহে শুনে দুঁহে প্রেমাবেশে । আত্মস্মৃতি নাহি, কাঁহা জানে দিন শেষে ॥ ৬৫ ॥

vaktā śrotā kahe śune duṁhe premāveśe
the speaker the listener speaks hears both in the absorption of prema ātmasmṛti nāhi, kāṁhā jāne dina śeṣe self-awareness there is not how they know of the day the end

65 Speaker and listener, one speaking and the other hearing, were both absorbed in prema. They had no awareness of themselves — how could they know the day had ended?

The day passes in talk about Kṛṣṇa —

সেবক কহিল, — 'দিন হৈল অবসান' । তবে রায় কৃষ্ণকথার করিলা বিশ্রাম ॥ ৬৬ ॥

sevaka kahila, — 'dina haila avasāna'
the servant said the day has come to an end
tabe rāya kṛṣṇakathāra karilā viśrāma
then Rāya to the talk about Kṛṣṇa made a pause

66 When the servant said, “The day is over,” Rāya brought his talk of Kṛṣṇa to a close.

Rāya bids Miśra farewell; Miśra’s joy —

বহুসম্মান করি’ মিশ্রে বিদায় দিলা । কৃতার্থ হইলাঙ বলি’ মিশ্র নাচিতে লাগিলা ॥ ৬৭ ॥

bahu-sammāna kari’ miśre vidāya dilā great respect showing to Miśra leave he gave kṛtārtha hailāṅa bali’ miśra nācite lāgilā fulfilled I have become saying Miśra to dance began

67 With great respect he bade Miśra farewell, and Miśra, crying, “My life is fulfilled!” began to dance.

In the evening Miśra comes to the Lord —

ঘরে গিয়া মিশ্র কৈল স্নান, ভোজন । সন্ধ্যাকালে দেখিতে আইল প্রভুর চরণ ॥ ৬৮ ॥

ghare giyā miśra kaila snāna, bhojana home going Miśra did bathing eating sandhyākāle dekhite āila prabhura caraṇa
in the evening to see he came of the Lord the feet

68 Miśra went home, bathed and took his meal, and in the evening he came to see the Lord.

The Lord asks Miśra whether he has heard about Kṛṣṇa —

প্রভুর চরণ বন্দে উল্লসিত-মনে । প্রভু কহে, — কৃষ্ণকথা হইল শ্রবণে ? ॥ ৬৯ ॥

prabhura caraṇa vande ullasita-mane
the Lord’s feet he worships with a joyful mind
prabhu kahe, — kṛṣṇa-kathā haila śravaṇe?
the Lord says talks about Kṛṣṇa was there hearing

69 With a joyful heart he bowed at the Lord's feet, and the Lord asked, "Did you hear about Kṛṣṇa?"

Miśra says that his life's purpose is fulfilled —

মিশ্র কহে, — প্রভু, মোরে কৃতার্থ করিলা । কৃষ্ণকথামৃতার্ণবে মোরে ডুবাইলা ॥ ৭০ ॥

miśra kahe, — prabhu, more kṛtārtha karilā Miśra says O Lord me fulfilled You have made kṛṣṇa-kathāmṛtārṇave more ḍubāilā
in the ocean of the nectar of talks about Kṛṣṇa me You have plunged 70 Miśra said, "O Lord, You have fulfilled my life! You have plunged me into the nectar-ocean of talks about Kṛṣṇa.

It is forbidden to regard as mortal the guru who sings of Kṛṣṇa —

রামানন্দ-রায়-কথা কহিলে না হয় ।
'মনুষ্য' নহে রায়, কৃষ্ণভক্তিরসময় ॥ ৭১ ॥

rāmānanda-rāya-kathā kahile nā haya of Rāmānanda Rāya the words if told not it is possible
'manuṣya' nahe rāya, kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa-maya a human being is not Rāya made of the rasa of devotion to Kṛṣṇa

71 The words of Rāmānanda Rāya cannot be retold. Rāya is not a mere human being; he is made of the rasa of devotion to Kṛṣṇa.

Through the lips of Śrī Rāmānanda, the guru, Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Mahāprabhu is the speaker —

আর এক কথা রায় কহিলা আমারে ।
'কৃষ্ণকথা-বক্তা করি' না জানিহ মোরে ॥ ৭২ ॥

āra eka kathā rāya kahilā āmāre
another one thing Rāya told me ‘kṛṣṇa-kathā-vaktā kari’ nā jāniha more of talks about Kṛṣṇa the speaker as not consider me

72 Rāya told me one thing more: ‘Do not think of me as the speaker of these talks about Kṛṣṇa.

মোর মুখে কথা কহেন আপনে গৌরচন্দ্র । যৈছে কহায়, তৈছে কহি, — যেন বীণাযন্ত্র ॥ ৭৩ ॥

by my mouth words speaks Himself Gauracandra
yaiche kahāya, taiche kahi, — yena vīṇā-yantra
as He makes me speak so I speak like a vīṇā instrument

73 Gauracandra Himself speaks these words through my mouth. As He makes me speak, so I speak, like a vīṇā.

Through the lips of Rāmānanda, a worthy vessel, the Lord preaches about Kṛṣṇa —

মোর মুখে কথা ইঁহা করে পরচার । পৃথিবীতে কে জানিবে এ-লীলা তাঁহার ? ॥ ৭৪ ॥

mora mukhe kathā iṁhā kare paracāra

pṛthivīte ke jānibe e-līlā tāṁhāra?
in the world who will know this pastime His 74 Through my mouth He makes these words known. Who in this world will understand this pastime of His?’

The talks about Kṛṣṇa that Rāya spoke and Miśra heard are beyond the reach

even of Brahmā —

যে-সব শুনিলুঁ, কৃষ্ণ — রসের সাগর । ব্রহ্মাদি-দেবের এ সব না হয় গোচর ॥ ৭৫ ॥

ye-saba śunilum̐, kṛṣṇa — rasera sāgara
all that I heard Kṛṣṇa of rasa the ocean
brahmādi-devera e saba nā haya gocara to Brahmā and the other gods this all not is perceptible

75 All that I heard — that Kṛṣṇa is the ocean of rasa — lies beyond the reach even of Brahmā and the other gods.

Miśra offers himself at the Lord's feet —

হেন 'রস' মোরে পান করাইলা তুমি । জন্মে জন্মে তোমার পায় বিকাইলাঙ আমি ॥ ৭৬ ॥

hena 'rasa' more pāna karāilā tumi
such rasa me to drink made You janme janme tomāra pāya vikāilāṅa āmi birth after birth Your at the feet sold myself I

76 You have made me drink such rasa; birth after birth I have sold myself at Your feet."

The Lord describes the nature of the pure Vaiṣṇava who follows Rāya's example —

প্রভু কহে, — রামানন্দ বিনয়ের খনি । আপনার কথা পরমুণ্ডে দেন আনি ॥ ৭৭ ॥

prabhu kahe, — rāmānanda vinayera khani
the Lord says Rāmānanda of humility a mine āpanāra kathā para-muṇḍe dena āni
his own words on another's head he places bringing 77 The Lord said, "Rāmānanda is a mine of humility. He attributes his own words to another.

The nature of a sādhu, a noble person, a great soul, that is, a Vaiṣṇava —

মহানুভবের এই সহজ ‘স্বভাব’ হয়। আপনার গুণ নাহি আপনে কহয় ॥ ৭৮ ॥

mahānubhavera ei sahaja ‘svabhāva’ haya of great souls this natural disposition is āpanāra guṇa nāhi āpane kahaya
their own qualities not themselves they tell

78 This is the natural disposition of great souls: they never speak of their own qualities.”

Miśra is the hearing disciple of Śrī Rāya, who sings of Kṛṣṇa and is the guru of all brāhmaṇa families, though not born in a family of brāhmaṇas by seed —

রামানন্দ-রায়ের এই কহিলুঁ গুণ-লেশ। প্রদ্যুম্ন-মিশ্রেরে যৈছে কৈলা উপদেশ ॥ ৭৯ ॥

rāmānanda-rāyera ei kahiluṁ guṇa-leśa of Rāmānanda Rāya this I have told of qualities a trace pradyumna-miśrere yaiche kailā upadeśa to Pradyumna Miśra how he gave instruction

79 Thus I have told a little of Rāmānanda Rāya’s qualities and of how he instructed Pradyumna Miśra.

What Rāya’s great qualities teach: outward conduct according to varṇāśrama is no sign of devotion to Kṛṣṇa or of being a guru —

‘গৃহস্থ’ হঞা নহে রায় ষড়্-বর্গের বশে।
‘বিষয়ী’ হঞা সন্ন্যাসীরে উপদেশে ॥ ৮০ ॥

‘gṛhastha’ hañā nahe rāya ṣaḍ-vargera vaśe
a householder being not Rāya of the six enemies under the control ‘viṣayī’ hañā sannyāsīre upadeśe
a worldly man being sannyāsīs he instructs

80 Though a householder, Rāya is not under the control of the six enemies (ṣaḍ-varga); though seemingly a worldly man (viṣayī), he instructs sannyāsīs.

Anubhāṣya.

In the eyes of worldly people Śrī Rāmānanda Prabhu appears to be a householder on the path of pravṛtti (worldly engagement), not a brahmacārī with controlled senses, a vānaprastha or a bhikṣu. Worldly householders, ruled by their senses, take up the dharma of those attached to home (gṛhavrata). But a transcendental Vaiṣṇava living at home does not, like a non-Vaiṣṇava householder, become one whose senses are uncontrolled (adānta-go), and he never falls under the power of the six enemies (ṣaḍ-varga). In Śrī Rāmānanda Prabhu's pastimes in the householder āśrama, worldly people, with their enjoying vision, see him as a viṣayī, one absorbed in worldly objects. But his transcendental mind of pure goodness worships at every moment a single object, the transcendental pastimes of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. He is therefore a kṛṣṇa-viṣayī, one whose object is Kṛṣṇa, and not an impersonalist logician hostile to Bhagavān's spiritual pastimes. He is able to make sannyāsīs who have renounced worldly objects and stand beyond the guṇas (nirguṇa) give up petty material objects that hold no realisation of Kṛṣṇa, and to engage them in constantly cultivating Kṛṣṇa as their only object.

Through Rāya the Lord shows the glory of a devotee of Kṛṣṇa, that is, of the guru —

এইসব গুণ তাঁর প্রকাশ করিতে । মিশ্রেরে পাঠাইলা তাঁহা শ্রবণ করিতে ॥ ৮১ ॥

eisaba guṇa tāṁra prakāśa karite
all these qualities his manifest to make miśrere pāṭhāilā tāṁhā śravaṇa karite
Miśra He sent there hearing to do

81 To reveal all these qualities of his, the Lord sent Miśra there to hear.

ভক্তগুণ প্রকাশিতে প্রভু ভাল জানে । নানা-ভঙ্গীতে প্রকাশি' নিজ লাভ মানে ॥ ৮২ ॥

bhakta-guṇa prakāśite prabhu bhāla jāne
the devotee's qualities to reveal the Lord well knows nānā-bhaṅgīte prakāśi' nija lābha māne
in various ways revealing His own gain He considers 82 The Lord knows well how to reveal the qualities of His devotees; revealing them in various ways, He considers it His own gain.

Anubhāṣya.
Bhaṅgī: manner, skilful device, example.

The secret of how Gaura, the guru of the world, teaches people —

আর এক 'স্বভাব' গৌরের শুন, ভক্তগণ । গূঢ় ঐশ্বর্য্য-স্বভাব করে প্রকটন ॥ ৮৩ ॥

āra eka 'svabhāva' gaurera śuna, bhakta-gaṇa
another one 'trait' of Gaura hear O devotees
gūḍha aiśvarya-svabhāva kare prakaṭana
hidden majestic nature He makes manifest

83 Hear, O devotees, of yet another trait of Gaura: He makes His hidden, majestic nature manifest.

Anubhāṣya.
Gūḍha: hidden within, unmanifest; aiśvarya-svabhāva: the power of the Lord (aiśī-śakti), the might of Īśvara.

Worldly varṇāśrama, learning and the like are no sign of one who can speak the true dharma —

সন্ন্যাসী-পণ্ডিতগণের করিতে গর্ব্ব নাশ । নীচ-শূদ্র-দ্বারা করেন ধর্ম্মের প্রকাশ ॥ ৮৪ ॥

sannyāsī-paṇḍita-gaṇera karite garva nāśa
of the sannyāsīs and paṇḍitas to make of the pride destruction
nīca-śūdra-dvārā karena dharmera prakāśa through a lowly śūdra He makes of dharma the manifestation 84 To destroy the pride of the sannyāsīs and paṇḍitas, He reveals dharma through a lowly śūdra.

Anubhāṣya.

Paṇḍita: a brāhmaṇa entitled to study the Vedas; sannyāsī: the highest of the four āśramas of a brāhmaṇa. According to worldly ideas, only brāhmaṇas by seed have the right to Sāvitrī initiation. Birth through Sāvitrī initiation gives the right to study the Vedas, and having gained brāhmaṇa birth through Sāvitrī and passed through three āśramas, one rises to the high position of a sannyāsī. The brāhmaṇa is the guru of the three varṇas, and the sannyāsī is the guru of the brāhmaṇas in the other three āśramas. Wishing to humble their worldly pride, born of intoxication with their position, the Lord had Śrī Rāmānanda Rāya Prabhu instruct a brāhmaṇa by seed named Pradyumna Miśra, although worldly vision knew Rāmānanda as a śūdra, the lowest varṇa, and as a householder, the lowest āśrama. And Mahāprabhu Himself, who had accepted sannyāsa, accepted the dharma that Śrī Rāmānanda preached.

Śrī Gaurahari wished to reveal to people the essential conclusion of the scriptures about the āśramas. So He spread the force of His natural majesty (aiśvarya) against the mistaken notions of those who think themselves worldly scholars and renunciants. Ordinary ignorant people do not know the purport of the scriptures; but seeing the pure, righteous conduct and the qualities of the servants who had taken shelter of Gaurasundara, they could understand the true purport of the scriptures about varṇa and āśrama. A transcendental Vaiṣṇava wholly devoted to Hari, in whatever family he has appeared and in whatever āśrama he lives, can be the highest ācārya of the true dharma — a guru who eternally shows mercy to worldly people of the four varṇas and āśramas. The scriptures say this again and again. Bhagavān Gaurahari indisputably preached to people the hidden and true aim of the scriptures, and so revealed His natural majesty (aiśvarya-svabhāva).

Examples. (1) The Lord Himself, in the dress of a sannyāsī, and Miśra, a brāhmaṇa by seed, both become disciples eager to hear and accept as their guru Śrī Rāya — who wears a householder's dress, was not born in a family of brāhmaṇas by seed, and sings of Kṛṣṇa — and so they teach the people —

‘ভক্তি’, ‘প্রেম’, ‘তত্ত্ব’ কহে রায়ে করি’ ‘বক্তা’ । আপনি প্রদ্যুম্নমিশ্র-সহ হয় ‘শ্রোতা’ ॥ ৮৫ ॥

'bhakti', 'prema', 'tattva' kahe rāye kari' 'vaktā'
'bhakti' 'prema' 'tattva' He speaks Rāya making 'the speaker'
āpani pradyumna-miśra-saha haya 'śrotā'
Himself with Pradyumna Miśra becomes 'the listener'

85 He speaks of bhakti, prema and the truth (tattva), making Rāya the speaker, while He Himself, together with Pradyumna Miśra, becomes the listener.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The sannyāsīs (of Śaṅkara's school) think that, having carried out in worldly life all the duties proper to a brāhmaṇa and having cultivated the truth of Vedānta, they have become the "gurus" of the world. The brāhmaṇa scholars (by seed) think that, according to the smṛti (of the section on ritual work, the karma-kāṇḍa), only a brāhmaṇa by seed like themselves is the guru of all varṇas; therefore no one but such a brāhmaṇa scholar by seed has the right to teach the highest truth. Proud with these two kinds of pride, the sannyāsīs and scholars are unwilling to learn dharma from a pure devotee born in a family of the highest śūdras, though he is infinitely greater than they, and so they often remain undeveloped in understanding. Vaiṣṇava dharma accepts this: whoever, knowing the difference between the worldly and the transcendental truth, has learned transcendental devotion to Kṛṣṇa is the teacher of all jīvas; here neither varṇa by birth nor an āśrama received through rites (saṁskāras) matters. It was to teach this truth that Mahāprabhu, the deliverer of the world, sent Pradyumna Miśra, the son of a relative from His former āśrama, to learn the truth from Śrī Rāmānanda.

(2) To Ṭhākura Haridāsa, born in a family of yavanas, the Lord gives the title of guru of the world and ācārya of the holy name (Nāmācārya) —

হরিদাস-দ্বারা নাম-মাহাত্ম্য-প্রকাশ । সনাতন-দ্বারা ভক্তিসিদ্ধান্ত-বিলাস ॥ ৮৬ ॥

haridāsa-dvārā nāma-māhātmya-prakāśa through Haridāsa the glory of the holy name the manifestation sanātana-dvārā bhakti-siddhānta-vilāsa
through Sanātana the play of the conclusions of bhakti

86 Through Haridāsa He revealed the glory of the holy name; through Sanātana, the conclusions of bhakti in all their splendour.

(3) Śrī Sanātana, though he lived among mlecchas, is the ācārya of the conclusions of devotion to Kṛṣṇa, that is, of the knowledge of sambandha; (4) Śrī Rūpa is the ācārya of the rasa of Vraja's loving devotion, that is, of abhidheya —

শ্রীরূপ-দ্বারা ব্রজের রস-প্রেম-লীলা । কে কহিতে পারে গম্ভীর চৈতন্যের খেলা ? ॥ ৮৭ ॥

śrī-rūpa-dvārā vrajera rasa-prema-līlā through Śrī Rūpa of Vraja the pastimes of rasa and prema ke kahite pāre gambhīra caitanyera khelā?
who to tell can profound Caitanya's play

87 Through Śrī Rūpa He revealed Vraja's pastimes of rasa and prema. Who can describe the profound play of Caitanya?

By receiving a drop of the ocean of Śrī Caitanya's pastimes, the world is delivered —

শ্রীচৈতন্যলীলা এই — অমৃতের সিন্ধু । জগৎ ভাসাইতে পারে যার এক বিন্দু ॥ ৮৮ ॥

śrī-caitanya-līlā ei — amṛtera sindhu Śrī Caitanya's pastimes these of nectar an ocean
jagat bhāsāite pāre yāra eka bindu
the world to flood can whose one drop

88 These pastimes of Śrī Caitanya are an ocean of nectar, a single drop of which can flood the world.

Anubhāṣya.
A single drop of the nectar ocean of Śrī Caitanya's pastimes can flood the world with prema. Śrī Dāsa Gosvāmī, and in a later age Śrī Ṭhākura Narottama, Śrīla Śyāmānanda Prabhu and others, are also manifestations of this magnanimity of Śrī Mahāprabhu.

In one who drinks with faith the nectar of Caitanya's pastimes, spiritual inclinations awaken, and he gains the knowledge of sambandha, abhidheya and prayojana —

চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত নিত্য কর পান ।
যাহা হৈতে 'প্রেমানন্দ', 'ভক্তিতত্ত্ব-জ্ঞান' ॥ ৮৯ ॥

caitanya-caritāmṛta nitya kara pāna
the Caitanya-caritāmṛta always do drink
yāhā haite 'premānanda', 'bhakti-tattva-jñāna'
from which 'the bliss of prema' 'knowledge of the truth of bhakti'

89 Drink the Caitanya-caritāmṛta constantly, for from it come the bliss of prema and knowledge of the truth of bhakti.

Such are the Lord's pastimes in Nīlācala —

এইমত মহাপ্রভু ভক্তগণ লঞা । নীলাচলে বিহরয়ে ভক্তি প্রচারিয়া ॥ ৯০ ॥

ei-mata mahāprabhu bhakta-gaṇa lañā
in this way Mahāprabhu the devotees taking with Him nīlācale viharaye bhakti pracāriyā
in Nīlācala sports bhakti preaching

90 In this way Mahāprabhu, together with His devotees, enjoyed His pastimes in Nīlācala, preaching bhakti.

The story of a worldly poet from East Bengal who wore the guise of a brāhmaṇa —

94 Everyone praised the drama as "most excellent", and all wished to have Mahāprabhu hear it.

The rule: Svarūpa Dāmodara examines everything first —

গীত, শ্লোক, গ্রন্থ, কবিত্ব — যেই করি' আনে । প্রথমে শুনায় সেই স্বরূপের স্থানে ॥ ৯৫ ॥

gīta, śloka, grantha, kavitva — yei kari' āne song verse book poem — whatever having made one brings prathame śunāya sei svarūpera sthāne
first has it heard that in Svarūpa's presence

95 Whatever song, verse, book or poem anyone composed and brought would first be recited before Svarūpa.

Svarūpa's approval: only after passing his examination does a work receive the Lord's favour —

স্বরূপ-ঠাঞি উত্তরে যদি, লয় তাঁর মন । তবে মহাপ্রভু-ঠাঞি করায় শ্রবণ ॥ ৯৬ ॥

svarūpa-ṭhāñi uttare yadi, laya tāṁra mana before Svarūpa passes if accepts his mind
tabe mahāprabhu-ṭhāñi karāya śravaṇa
then before Mahāprabhu causes the hearing

96 If it passed Svarūpa's scrutiny and won his approval, only then would it be recited before Mahāprabhu.

The only cause of the magnanimous Lord's anger is a contradiction of the message of bhakti-siddhānta —

'রসাভাস' হয় যদি 'সিদ্ধান্তবিরোধ' । সহিতে না পারে প্রভু, মনে হয় ক্রোধ ॥ ৯৭ ॥

'rasābhāsa' haya yadi 'siddhānta-virodha'
'rasābhāsa' is if 'opposition to siddhānta'
sahite nā pāre prabhu, mane haya krodha
to bear not can the Lord in the mind arises anger

97 If there was rasābhāsa, a mere semblance of rasa, or anything opposed to siddhānta, the Lord could not bear it, and anger arose in His mind.

Anubhāṣya.

Rasābhāsa: "Rasas that lack [any of] the characteristics of rasa set out earlier are called rasābhāsas by the knowers of rasa. They are of three kinds — uparasas, anurasas and aparasas — and are called, in that order, the highest, the middling and the lowest. The twelve rasas beginning with śānta become uparasas when the sthāyi-bhāva, the vibhāvas, the anubhāvas and the rest in them are distorted. The seven rasas beginning with hāsya, and śānta as well, are considered anurasas when their vibhāvas — devotees and the rest — have no relation to Kṛṣṇa. And if Kṛṣṇa and His opponents become the object (viṣaya) and the abode (āśraya) of hāsya and the other rasas, the wise call them aparasas. All bhāvas have their semblances, and some of them are rasābhāsas; yet the knowers of rasa call all of them rasas, because they are relished." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Uttara-vibhāga, 9th Laharī)

When something at first appears to be rasa but, judged by the characteristics of rasa described earlier, is incomplete, the rasikas call it rasābhāsa. Rasābhāsa is divided into uparasa, anurasa and aparasa, which are called, respectively, the highest, the middling and the lowest. The twelve rasas beginning with śānta, in which the sthāyi-bhāva, vibhāva, anubhāva and the rest are distorted, are called uparasa. The seven rasas beginning with hāsya, produced by vibhāvas — devotees and the rest — that have no relation to Kṛṣṇa, together with dry śānta-rasa, are called anurasa. If Kṛṣṇa and His opponents, the asuras, filled with mutually hostile feelings, become the object and the abode of hāsya and the other rasas, the scholars who know rasa-tattva call this aparasa. Some call the bhāvas tad-ābhāsa (their semblance) or rasābhāsa; but those expert in rasa-tattva call all of these rasa, because they are sweet to taste and give joy. Śrī Viśvanātha Cakravartī says: "If two mutually hostile [rasas] are joined, that is rasābhāsa." That is, when two opposed rasas are joined, rasābhāsa arises.

Siddhānta-virodha — contradiction of the siddhānta of the path of bhakti; contradiction of tattva.

Svarūpa, the ācārya foremost among the knowers of kṛṣṇa-tattva, who knows the heart, rebukes Bhagavān Ācārya —

101 Svarūpa said, "You are a simple 'cowherd' (gopa), and most generous: you wish to hear any writing whatever.

The one cause of Gaura-Kṛṣṇa's displeasure is pointed out —

104–105 A worthless poet who knows neither grammar nor rhetoric, and has no knowledge of the ornaments of drama, does not know how to describe Kṛṣṇa's pastimes; and these pastimes of Caitanya are especially hard to enter!

Only a devotee of Kṛṣṇa whose life is given to Gaura is qualified to describe Gaura's pastimes —

106 Only one for whom the lotus feet of Gaura are the very wealth of life can describe the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa and the pastimes of Gaura.

The mundane poet, who does not aim at Kṛṣṇa's happiness, is an outsider (bahiraṅga); the transcendental poet, devoted to Kṛṣṇa's happiness, is one of the intimate circle (antaraṅga) —

107 To hear the poetry of a mundane poet (grāmya-kavi) is painful; to hear the words of one who is expert and intimate (vidagdha ātmīya) is a joy.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Grāmya-kavi — poets who compose verses about mundane men and women. Vidagdha ātmīya-vākya — the composition of one who is our own (ātmīya): a person skilled in the knowledge of tattva who belongs to the community of pure devotees (that is, warm-hearted and of like aspiration).

The example of Śrī Rūpa, crown jewel of transcendental poets —

Bhagavān Ācārya insists nonetheless —

109 Bhagavān Ācārya said, “Just hear it once. When you have heard it, you will be able to judge whether it is good or bad.”

Because his friend the Ācārya insists, Śrī Svarūpa agrees to listen —

110 For two or three days the Ācārya pressed him, and at his insistence Svarūpa agreed to hear it.

The poet recites the nāndī verse before Svarūpa —

সবা লঞা স্বরূপ-গোসাঞি শুনিতে বসিলা ।

111 Svarūpa Gosāñi sat down with everyone to listen, and the poet recited the nāndī verse, the opening benediction.

The nāndī verse —

112 "He of golden lustre has here found His self in the One named Śrī Jagannātha, whose eyes are like blossoming lotuses, and has appeared, bringing consciousness to the whole of inert nature. May that Kṛṣṇa Caitanya-deva grant you good fortune."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

He placed within Himself — or spread forth — a golden lustre and attained His selfhood in Śrī Jagannātha, whose eyes are blossoming lotuses. Giving boundless consciousness to inert prakṛti, He appeared. May that Kṛṣṇa Caitanyadeva bestow welfare upon you.

Anubhāṣya.

kanaka-ruciḥ (whose lustre [ruci] is like the lustre of gold [kanaka]) yaḥ (Gaura) iha (here, in Puruṣottama-kṣetra) vikaca-kamala-netre (in Him whose eyes are like blossoming lotuses) śrī-jagannātha-saṁjñe (in Him who is called — whose name is — "Śrī Jagannātha") ātmani (in the body) ātmatām (the status of the owner of the body) prapannaḥ (having attained) prakṛti-jaḍam (inert by nature — the Deity of Śrī Jagannātha, because the worshipable Deity is seen as wood — so in the poet's sense) aśeṣaṁ cetayan āvirāsīt (appeared), saḥ (that Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanyadeva) tava bhavyam (welfare) diśatu (may He bestow).

(In Sarasvatī's sense: yaḥ (that) Śrī Kṛṣṇa śrī-jagannātha-saṁjñe (in Him who is called Śrī Jagannātha — in the Master of māyā, the Dāru-brahma, the Supreme Soul full of the six opulences) kanaka-rucinā (in the golden form of Gaura) ātmatām (complete nondifference from Him, that is, the form of Jagannātha) prapannaḥ (attained); "saḥ" and the rest are clear.)

Everyone but Svarūpa praises the verse —

113 Hearing the verse, everyone praised the poet, but Svarūpa said, "Explain this verse."

The foolish poet's fault — Māyāvāda, opposed to the siddhānta of pure bhakti —

Everyone rejoiced, yet Śrī Svarūpa — the Vaiṣṇava ācārya, the teacher of the world — grows angry and shows mercy: with the sword of scriptural siddhānta he cuts down the false doctrine —

116 Hearing this, everyone was delighted, but Svarūpa, deeply pained, spoke angry words:

The cause of the anger: (1) regarding Viṣṇu as a jīva leads to hell —

আরে মূর্খ, আপনার কৈলি সর্ব্বনাশ !
দুই ত' ঈশ্বরে তোর নাহিক বিশ্বাস ! ॥ ১১৭ ॥

Him you have made an inert, perishable, material body

118 Lord Jagannātha is full of bliss, a form of pure spirit, yet you have made Him out to be an inert, perishable, material body!

Anubhāṣya.

Someone may see in the Deity of Jagannātha only a wooden image (pratimā) and think Him perishable, made of material substances, a mere inert object. By the word of the Padma Purāṇa — "One who regards the worshipable Viṣṇu as stone … is a dweller in hell" — whoever thinks this way commits an offence. For the Deity (arcā-vigraha) is completely nondifferent from Śrī Kṛṣṇa, whose form is eternity, knowledge and bliss, and the devotee of Bhagavān, with eyes of bhakti lit by the bliss of prema, sees Him directly as the complete form of eternity, knowledge and bliss.

পূর্ণ-ষড়ৈশ্বর্য্য চৈতন্য — স্বয়ং ভগবান্ ।

full of the six opulences Caitanya — Svayam Bhagavān
tāṁre kaili kṣudra-jīva sphuliṅga-samāna!
Him you have made a tiny jīva a spark like

119 Caitanya, full in all six opulences, is Svayam Bhagavān, the Supreme Lord Himself, yet you have made Him out to be a tiny jīva, like a spark!

Anubhāṣya.

From the words of the śruti, "As sparks fly up from a fire …,"[9] we learn that the jīva is like a spark of the fire that is the great Viṣṇu; that is, the jīva is a particle of spirit (cit-kaṇa). A jīva under the sway of māyā is capable of being bound by matter. But Śrī Caitanyadeva is Parameśvara, whose form is eternity, knowledge and bliss, the cause of all causes; and His having taken a human form does not mean that He is a tiny jīva subject to matter. He is the Master of māyā, full of the six opulences, Svayaṁ Bhagavān, the son of Yaśodā. (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 1.11.39): "This is the lordship of the Lord: though He abides within prakṛti, He is not bound by its guṇas, though they are ever about Him — just as the intelligence that has taken shelter of Him is not bound by them."

The audacity of one who, relying on sense-born knowledge and logic and ignorant of bhakti-siddhānta, sets out to describe Kṛṣṇa —

দুই-ঠাঞি অপরাধে পাইবি দুর্গতি !
অতত্ত্বজ্ঞ 'তত্ত্ব' বর্ণে, তার এই গতি ! ॥ ১২০ ॥

dui-ṭhāñi aparādhe pāibi durgati!
in two places by the offence you will get a dire fate
atattva-jña 'tattva' varṇe, tāra ei gati!
one ignorant of truth 'truth' describes his this fate

120 For this offence against both you will meet a dire fate! When one ignorant of the truth describes the truth, this is the end he comes to!

Anubhāṣya.

Dui-ṭhāñi (in two places) — Śrī Jagannāthadeva and Śrī Caitanyadeva. The poet took Them both to belong to the material world, as matter and as a jīva: he supposed that the particle of spirit residing in the material body of the One had entered the material body of the other. Hence the offence lies in two places. Atattva-jña — one who has not grasped tattva, that is, a Māyāvādī ahaṅgrahopāsaka (who worships himself as God), a karmī who enjoys the fruits of his work, or a self-willed person devoted to the senses, who cannot tell the real from the unreal. Tattva varṇe — describes tattva, that is, what concerns Bhagavān.

(2) The blunder (pramāda) is an offence: positing in Īśvara a difference between the body and the embodied one —

আর এক কৈরাছ পরম 'প্রমাদ' !
দেহ-দেহি-ভেদ ঈশ্বরে কৈলে 'অপরাধ' ! ॥ ১২১ ॥

āra eka kairācha parama 'pramāda'!
and one you have made great 'blunder'
deha-dehi-bheda īśvare kaile 'aparādha'!
the difference of body and embodied in the Lord you made 'an offence'

121 You have made yet another great blunder (pramāda): by distinguishing between body and embodied in the Lord, you have committed an offence!

Anubhāṣya.

If one regards Īśvara as one does a bound jīva and holds His body and His embodied self (dehī) to be different things, that is an "offence." In the material world a bound jīva has a bodily existence fashioned by guṇa-māyā, and a jīva's self-awareness fashioned by jīva-māyā, the marginal potency (taṭastha-śakti). The difference between Īśvara and the bound jīva is this. Īśvara bestows the fruits of karma and rules over them; that is, He is the cause of all causes, the Master of māyā, the Lord (prabhu) and the all-pervading truth (vibhu-tattva). The jīva, in the bound state, enjoys the fruits of karma and is subject to them, and even in the liberated state, in his own true nature, he is engaged in serving Īśvara. In other words, Īśvara is never under the control of māyā, whereas the jīva is liable to fall under it. Īśvara is immeasurable, undivided consciousness; the jīva is measurable, fragmentary consciousness.

The perishable, transient body of a bound jīva is māyic, that is, material. The transcendental body of a liberated, pure jīva is eternal; and Īśvara, who is beyond māyā, is also an eternal form endowed with features (saviśeṣa-vigraha). Though His eternal form appears in the world by the power of His own inconceivable potency, it is never māyic or material and never bears the qualities of this world. (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 1.11.39): "This is the lordship of the Lord: though He abides within prakṛti, He is not bound by its guṇas, though they are ever about Him — just as the intelligence that has taken shelter of Him is not bound by them." To try to separate the body from the embodied one on the pretext of making the eternal form "featureless" (nirviśeṣa) is a work of grave offence.

The name, form and essential nature of Viṣṇu, the nondual Knowledge, are one

ঈশ্বরের নাহি কভু দেহ-দেহি-ভেদ । স্বরূপ, দেহ, — চিদানন্দ, নাহিক বিভেদ ॥ ১২২ ॥

īśvarera nāhi kabhu deha-dehi-bheda
of the Lord there is not ever body–embodied difference
svarūpa, deha, — cid-ānanda, nāhika vibheda
His own form body — spirit and bliss there is no difference

122 In the Lord there is never any difference between body and embodied. His own form (svarūpa) and His body are both spirit and bliss; there is no difference between them.

Anubhāṣya.

The nondual Knowledge (advaya-jñāna) is Kṛṣṇa, the son of the king of Vraja. In determining the nature of the Truth, the verse vadanti tat tattva-vidaḥ[10] refutes the idea of duality in the one Parameśvara, who has no second. He is the nondual Knowledge; therefore His name, form, qualities and pastimes are not distinct from one another as the things of the material world are — they must be known as absolutely "nondifferent." It is precisely by seeing in Īśvara a difference between body and embodied self that one mistakes Him for a "bound jīva," for a bound jīva lacks the perception of the nondual Knowledge.

Anubhāṣya.
Where is Kṛṣṇa, the great Parameśvara, the form of majesty full of complete bliss — and where the tiny bound jīva, a slave on the path of māyā, full of great suffering! Let alone equality between the two — they cannot even be compared.

130 Seeing his distress, the most merciful Svarūpa instructed him in a way that would bring him true good:

Through him, the supreme beneficial instruction to all jīvas from Śrī Svarūpa, the Vaiṣṇava ācārya nondifferent from Gaura —

যাহ', ভাগবত পড় বৈষ্ণবের স্থানে । একান্ত আশ্রয় কর চৈতন্য-চরণে ॥ ১৩১ ॥

yāha', bhāgavata paḍa vaiṣṇavera sthāne go the Bhāgavata study from a Vaiṣṇava
ekānta āśraya kara caitanya-caraṇe
exclusive shelter take at Caitanya's feet

131 "Go and study the Bhāgavata under a Vaiṣṇava, and take exclusive shelter at the feet of Caitanya.

Anubhāṣya.
If one goes to read or hear the Bhāgavatam from a Māyāvādī devoted to featureless kevalādvaita, from a grammarian clever with words but devoid of bhakti, or from a sense-enjoyer greedy for wealth, one will not attain love for Kṛṣṇa that way; instead of kṛṣṇa-rasa, only the enjoyment of material rasa will grow. One must read the Bhāgavatam only from a paramahaṁsa Vaiṣṇava who has renounced the objects of the senses. The Vaiṣṇava's only wealth is the meaning of the Bhāgavatam revealed by Śrī Caitanyacandra, and one receives it by taking exclusive shelter at His feet.

Knowledge of the siddhānta of pure bhakti comes only through the association of Caitanya's devotees, those who cultivate the pure function of the spirit —

চৈতন্যের ভক্তগণের নিত্য কর 'সঙ্গ' । তবে ত' জানিবা সিদ্ধান্তসমুদ্র-তরঙ্গ ॥ ১৩২ ॥

caitanyera bhakta-gaṇera nitya kara 'saṅga'
of Caitanya's devotees always keep 'the company'
tabe ta' jānibā siddhānta-samudra-taraṅga
then indeed you will know of the ocean of siddhānta the waves

132 Always keep the company of Caitanya's devotees; then you will come to know the waves of the ocean of siddhānta.

Anubhāṣya.
The devotees of Śrī Caitanya are eternal associates of Hari and the only knowers of transcendental tattva. If one associates with them wholly and without interruption, all the jīva's ignorance born of material enjoyment will be dispelled, and the true siddhānta of pure bhakti will be revealed to him.

Knowledge of bhakti-siddhānta is the fruit of learning and scholarship —

Anubhāṣya.
Duṅhāya — in Śrī Jagannāthadeva and in Śrī Gaurahari.

Even through the words of a fool or an enemy who reviles Kṛṣṇa, pure Sarasvatī — Kṛṣṇa's servant, the embodied message of bhakti-siddhānta — serves Gaura-Kṛṣṇa —

তুমি যৈছে-তৈছে কহ, না জানিয়া রীতি । সরস্বতী সেই শব্দে কৈরাছে স্তুতি ॥ ১৩৫ ॥

tumi yaiche-taiche kaha, nā jāniyā rīti

sarasvatī sei śabde kairāche stuti
Sarasvatī with those words has made praise

135 You spoke at random, not knowing the proper way; yet with those very words Sarasvatī has offered praise.

Anubhāṣya.
Out of ignorance you do not see the difference between Māyāvāda and the path of bhakti. That is why the way you expressed your idea is not good: it came out any which way. But Sarasvatī, the goddess who presides over composition, has used these very clumsy words of yours to praise her own worshipable Gaura-Kṛṣṇa.

যৈছে ইন্দ্র, দৈত্যাদি করে কৃষ্ণের ভর্ৎসন । সেইশব্দে সরস্বতী করেন স্তবন ॥ ১৩৬ ॥

sei-śabde sarasvatī karena stavana
with those words Sarasvatī does praise

136 When Indra, the demons and others rebuke Kṛṣṇa, Sarasvatī offers praise with those very words.

(a) An example: the reviling words of Indra, whose knowledge rests on the senses —

বাচালং বালিশং স্তব্ধমজ্ঞং পণ্ডিতমানিনম্ । কৃষ্ণং মর্ত্ত্যমুপাশ্রিত্য গোপা মে চক্রুরপ্রিয়ম্ ॥ ১৩৭ ॥

ajñaṁ paṇḍita-māninam ignorant thinking Himself learned
kṛṣṇaṁ martyam upāśritya Kṛṣṇa a mortal having taken shelter of gopā me cakrur apriyam
the cowherds to me have done an offence

137 "Taking shelter of Kṛṣṇa — a talkative, childish, stubborn, ignorant mortal who thinks Himself learned — these cowherds have offended me." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.25.5)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Indra said: "Relying on this talkative, foolish, impudent, ignorant, mortal Kṛṣṇa, who thinks Himself learned, the cowherds have done what displeases me."

Anubhāṣya.
gopāḥ vācālaṁ (very talkative) bāliśaṁ (a child, or a fool) stabdham (ill-mannered) ajñaṁ (who does not foresee the consequences) paṇḍita-māninaṁ (who thinks Himself learned) martyam (a mortal man) kṛṣṇam upāśritya (relying on) me (to me) apriyam (what is contrary to my wish — an insult) cakruḥ.

(Although Indra's words are used to revile, pure Sarasvatī praises Kṛṣṇa through his speech:) vācālaṁ (He who by speech [vācā] is fully [alam] able — the source of the śāstra, He who set the Vedas in motion) bāliśaṁ (childlike — free of self-importance, without pride) stabdham (who bows to no one, for there is no one else worthy of worship) ajñaṁ (He beyond whom there is no other knower [jña], no other intelligence — the omniscient) paṇḍita-māninaṁ (He who is served by many and highly honoured by the paṇḍitas, the knowers of Brahman or the knowers of bondage and liberation) martyam (He who, out of affection for His devotees, appears as a human being) kṛṣṇam (the Supreme Brahman, whose form is eternity, knowledge and bliss); the rest is clear.

Indra, puffed up with mundane pride —

ঐশ্বর্য্য মদে মত্ত ইন্দ্র, — যেন মাতোয়াল । বুদ্ধিনাশ হৈল, কেবল নাহিক সাম্ভাল ॥ ১৩৮ ॥

aiśvarya made matta indra, — yena mātoyāla
by the intoxication of opulence maddened Indra — like a drunkard buddhi-nāśa haila, kevala nāhika sāmbhāla loss of intelligence occurred at all there is no self-control

138 Indra, maddened by the intoxication of his opulence, was like a drunkard: his intelligence was lost, and he had no self-control at all.

Anubhāṣya.
Sāmbhāla (a Hindi word) — good sense, or caution; in colloquial speech, sāmāla.

Through the very words of reviling in Indra's mouth, pure Sarasvatī praises Kṛṣṇa —

ইন্দ্র বলে, — মুঞি কৃষ্ণের কৈরাছি নিন্দন । তারই মুখে সরস্বতী করেন স্তবন ॥ ১৩৯ ॥

indra bale, — muñi kṛṣṇera kairāchi nindana Indra says — I of Kṛṣṇa have made reviling
tārai mukhe sarasvatī karena stavana
from his very mouth Sarasvatī does praise

139 Indra says, "I have reviled Kṛṣṇa," yet from his very mouth Sarasvatī offers praise.

Pure Sarasvatī explains the words: (1) vācāla, (2) bāliśa —

'বাচাল' কহিয়ে — 'বেদপ্রবর্ত্তক' ধন্য ।
'বালিশ' — তথাপি 'শিশু-প্রায়' গর্ব্বশূন্য ॥ ১৪০ ॥

'vācāla' kahiye — 'veda-pravartaka' dhanya
'talkative' we call — 'the promulgator of the Vedas' glorious
'bāliśa' — tathāpi 'śiśu-prāya' garva-śūnya
'childish' — yet 'like a child' free of pride

140 'Vācāla' (talkative) means the glorious One who set the Vedas in motion; and 'bāliśa' (childish) means that, great as He is, He is like a child, free of pride.

(3) stabdha, (4) ajña —

বন্দ্যাভাবে 'অনম্র' — 'স্তব্ধ'-শব্দে কয় । যাহা হৈতে অন্য 'বিজ্ঞ' নাহি — সে 'অজ্ঞ' হয় ॥ ১৪১ ॥

vandyābhāve 'anamra' — 'stabdha'-śabde kaya
for want of one to honour 'not bowing' — by the word 'stabdha' is said yāhā haite anya 'vijña' nāhi — se 'ajña' haya than whom another 'knower' there is not — He 'ajña' is 141 Because there is no one for Him to honour, He bows to none: this is what the word 'stabdha' (stubborn) says. And He beyond whom there is no other knower is 'ajña' (ignorant) — there is nothing for Him to learn.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Vandyābhāve anamra — stabdha-śabde kaya: there is no one whom He must worship, and so He bows to no one — this is what the word stabdha expresses.

(5) paṇḍita-mānī and (6) martya —

পণ্ডিতের মান্য-পাত্র — হয় 'পণ্ডিতমানী' । তথাপি ভক্তবাৎসল্যে 'মনুষ্য'-অভিমানী ॥ ১৪২ ॥

paṇḍitera mānya-pātra — haya ‘paṇḍita-mānī’
of the learned the object of honour — is ‘paṇḍita-mānī’
tathāpi bhakta-vātsalye ‘manuṣya’-abhimānī
still out of affection for devotees ‘human’ considers Himself

142 The one honoured by the learned is ‘paṇḍita-mānī’; yet out of affection for His devotees He regards Himself as a human being, a ‘mortal’.

(b) An example: the reviling words of Jarāsandha, an enemy —

জরাসন্ধ কহে, — কৃষ্ণ — ‘পুরুষ-অধম’ । তোর সঙ্গে না যুঝিমু, ‘যাহি বন্ধুহন্’ ॥ ১৪৩ ॥

jarāsandha kahe, — kṛṣṇa — ‘puruṣa-adhama’ Jarāsandha says — Kṛṣṇa — ‘the lowest of men’
tora saṅge nā yujhimu, ‘yāhi bandhu-han’
with You not I shall fight ‘go away, slayer of kinsmen’

143 Jarāsandha said, “Kṛṣṇa is the lowest of men! I will not fight with You — go away, slayer of Your kinsmen!”

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Nā yujhimu, ‘yāhi bandhu-han’ — “O slayer of Your kin, go away; I will not fight with You.”

Thus ends the fifth chapter of the “Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.”

Anubhāṣya.
Addressing Kṛṣṇa, Jarāsandha said: “O lowest of men (puruṣādhama), O slayer of Your kin (bandhu-han), go away; I will not fight with You.” Through these words of Jarāsandha pure Sarasvatī praises Kṛṣṇa. The word puruṣādhama (a bahuvrīhi compound) means “He compared with whom all men (puruṣas) are low (adhama),” that is, “Puruṣottama.” A bandhu is that which holds out the hope of success in saṁsāra: māyā, or avidyā, is the bandhu. One who destroys māyā, or avidyā, is bandhu-hā; in the vocative, bandhu-han.

Through these words of reviling pure Sarasvatī praises Kṛṣṇa: (1)

puruṣādhama —

যাহা হৈতে অন্য পুরুষসকল — 'অধম' । সেই হয় 'পুরুষাধম' — সরস্বতীর মন ॥ ১৪৪ ॥

yāhā haite anya puruṣa-sakala — 'adhama' than whom other persons all — 'lower'
sei haya 'puruṣādhama' — sarasvatīra mana
He is 'puruṣādhama' — Sarasvatī's meaning

144 He in comparison with whom all other persons are lower is 'puruṣādhama' — that is Sarasvatī's meaning.

(2) bandhu-han —

'বান্ধে সবারে' — তাতে অবিদ্যা 'বন্ধু' হয় ।
'অবিদ্যা-নাশক' — 'বন্ধুহন্'-শব্দে কয় ॥ ১৪৫ ॥

'bāndhe sabāre' — tāte avidyā 'bandhu' haya
'binds all' — therefore ignorance 'bandhu' is
'avidyā-nāśaka' — 'bandhu-han'-śabde kaya
'destroyer of ignorance' — by the word 'bandhu-han' is said

145 Because it binds everyone, ignorance (avidyā) is the 'bandhu'; so the word 'bandhu-han' means the destroyer of ignorance.

An example: the reviling words of Śiśupāla, an enemy —

এইমত শিশুপাল করিল নিন্দন । সেইবাক্যে সরস্বতী করেন স্তবন ॥ ১৪৬ ॥

ei-mata śiśupāla karila nindana
in this way Śiśupāla did reviling sei-vākye sarasvatī karena stavana
with those words Sarasvatī does praise

146 In the same way Śiśupāla reviled Kṛṣṇa, and with those very words Sarasvatī offered praise.

Anubhāṣya.

With the very words with which Śiśupāla reviled Kṛṣṇa, pure Sarasvatī likewise praises Kṛṣṇa.

Svarūpa explains the mundane poet's words as praise of Kṛṣṇa and establishes the nondifference of the Dāru-brahma, Jagannātha, from the moving Brahman (jaṅgama-brahma), Gaurahari —

তৈছে এই শ্লোকে তোমার অর্থে 'নিন্দা' আইসে । সরস্বতীর অর্থ শুন, যাতে 'স্তুতি' ভাসে ॥ ১৪৭ ॥

taiche ei śloke tomāra arthe 'nindā' āise
so in this verse by your meaning 'blame' comes sarasvatīra artha śuna, yāte 'stuti' bhāse
Sarasvatī's meaning hear in which 'praise' shines

147 So too with this verse: in your meaning it speaks blame. Now hear Sarasvatī's meaning, in which praise shines forth.

জগন্নাথ হয় কৃষ্ণের 'আত্মস্বরূপ' ।
কিন্তু ইঁহা দারুব্রহ্ম — 'স্থাবর-স্বরূপ' ॥ ১৪৮ ॥

jagannātha haya kṛṣṇera 'ātma-svarūpa' Jagannātha is Kṛṣṇa's 'very self'
kintu iṁhā dāru-brahma — 'sthāvara-svarūpa'
but here the Dāru-brahma — 'an immobile form'

148 Jagannātha is Kṛṣṇa's very self (ātma-svarūpa), but here He is the Dāru-brahma, in an immobile form.[8]

To deliver the world, the one vigraha, by the power of His will (icchā-śakti), is manifest in two forms —

তাঁহা-সহ আত্মতা একরূপ হঞা । কৃষ্ণ একতত্ত্বরূপ — দুইরূপ হঞা ॥ ১৪৯ ॥

tāṁhā-saha ātmatā eka-rūpa hañā with Him selfhood one form being kṛṣṇa eka-tattva-rūpa — dui-rūpa hañā Kṛṣṇa the one truth — two forms having become

149 Caitanya is one with Him in self and form: Kṛṣṇa, the one truth, has appeared in two forms.

সংসারতারণ-হেতু যেই ইচ্ছা-শক্তি । তাহার মিলন করি' একতা ঐছে প্রাপ্তি ॥ ১৫০ ॥

saṁsāra-tāraṇa-hetu yei icchā-śakti
for deliverance from saṁsāra that will-potency tāhāra milana kari' ekatā aiche prāpti
of that union making oneness thus is attained

150 Uniting in that will (icchā-śakti) whose aim is to deliver souls from saṁsāra, They attain such oneness.

সকল সংসারী-লোকের করিতে উদ্ধার । গৌর-জঙ্গম-রূপে কৈলা অবতার ॥ ১৫১ ॥

sakala saṁsārī-lokera karite uddhāra
all worldly people to deliver gaura-jaṅgama-rūpe kailā avatāra
of Gaura in the moving form made descent

151 To deliver all the people of the world, He descended in the moving form of Gaura.

Jīvas are delivered by seeing Jagannātha and through Gaura's preaching —

জগন্নাথের দর্শনে খণ্ডায় সংসার । সব-দেশের সব-লোক নারে আসিবার ॥ ১৫২ ॥

jagannāthera darśane khaṇḍāya saṁsāra
by the sight of Jagannātha is cut saṁsāra saba-deśera saba-loka nāre āsibāra
of all lands all people cannot come

152 By seeing Jagannātha one is freed from saṁsāra, but not all the people of every land can come to Him.

শ্রীকৃষ্ণচৈতন্যপ্রভু দেশে দেশে যাঞা । সব-লোকে নিস্তারিলা জঙ্গম-ব্রহ্ম হঞা ॥ ১৫৩ ॥

śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya-prabhu deśe deśe yāñā Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Prabhu land to land going saba-loke nistārilā jaṅgama-brahma hañā
all people delivered the moving Brahman becoming

153 So Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Prabhu, going from land to land as the moving Brahman (jaṅgama-brahma), delivered everyone.

সরস্বতীর অর্থ এই কহিলুঁ বিবরণ । এহো ভাগ্য তোমার — ঐছে করিলা বর্ণন ॥ ১৫৪ ॥

sarasvatīra artha ei kahiluṁ vivaraṇa Sarasvatī's meaning this I have told the explanation
eho bhāgya tomāra — aiche karilā varṇana
this too fortune yours — thus you made the description

154 This is the explanation I have given of Sarasvatī's meaning. It is your good fortune, too, that you described Them in this way.

Even in reviling Kṛṣṇa, the Name uttered as stobha — a nāmābhāsa — brings liberation[11] —

কৃষ্ণে গালি দিতে করে নাম উচ্চারণ । সেই নাম হয় তার 'মুক্তি'র কারণ ॥ ১৫৫ ॥

kṛṣṇe gāli dite kare nāma uccāraṇa Kṛṣṇa to abuse makes the name utterance sei nāma haya tāra 'mukti'ra kāraṇa
that name becomes his of 'liberation' the cause

155 One may utter Kṛṣṇa's name only to abuse Him, yet that very name becomes the cause of his liberation."

The poet surrenders at the feet of the Vaiṣṇavas —

তবে সেই কবি সবার চরণে পড়িয়া । সবা শরণ লৈল দন্তে তৃণ লঞা ॥ ১৫৬ ॥

tabe sei kavi sabāra caraṇe paḍiyā
then that poet at the feet of all falling sabā śaraṇa laila dante tṛṇa lañā of all shelter took in the teeth straw holding 156 Then the poet fell at everyone's feet and, holding straw between his teeth, took shelter of them all.

First the devotees' mercy, and through it, Mahāprabhu's mercy —

তবে সব ভক্ত তারে অঙ্গীকার কৈলা । তার গুণ কহি' মহাপ্রভুরে মিলাইলা ॥ ১৫৭ ॥

tabe saba bhakta tāre aṅgīkāra kailā
then all devotees him accepted
tāra guṇa kahi' mahāprabhure milāilā his qualities telling with Mahāprabhu introduced

157 All the devotees then accepted him and, speaking of his good qualities, introduced him to Mahāprabhu.

The poet accepts the dharma of sannyāsa and lives in Purī —

সেই কবি সর্ব্ব ত্যজি' রহিলা নীলাচলে । গৌরভক্তগণের কৃপা কে কহিতে পারে ? ॥ ১৫৮ ॥

sei kavi sarva tyaji' rahilā nīlācale
that poet everything giving up stayed in Nīlācala
gaura-bhakta-gaṇera kṛpā ke kahite pāre?
of Gaura's devotees the mercy who to describe can 158 The poet gave up everything and remained in Nīlācala. Who can describe the mercy of Gaura's devotees?

Described: the pastime of Miśra's hearing about Kṛṣṇa, and Rāmānanda's glory —

এই ত' কহিলুঁ প্রদ্যুম্নমিশ্র-বিবরণ । প্রভুর আজ্ঞায় কৈল কৃষ্ণকথার শ্রবণ ॥ ১৫৯ ॥

ei ta' kahiluṁ pradyumna-miśra-vivaraṇa
thus indeed I have told of Pradyumna Miśra the account
prabhura ājñāya kaila kṛṣṇa-kathāra śravaṇa
by the Lord's order he did of Kṛṣṇa-kathā the hearing

159 Thus I have told the account of Pradyumna Miśra, who by the Lord's order heard talks about Kṛṣṇa.

তার মধ্যে কহিলুঁ রামানন্দের মহিমা । আপনে শ্রীমুখে প্রভু বর্ণে যাঁর সীমা ॥ ১৬০ ॥

tāra madhye kahiluṁ rāmānandera mahimā
within that I have told Rāmānanda's glory
āpane śrī-mukhe prabhu varṇe yāṁra sīmā
Himself with His holy mouth the Lord describes whose limit

160 Within it I have spoken of the glory of Rāmānanda, the full extent of which the Lord Himself described with His own holy lips.

Through faith in the Vaiṣṇavas even an unlearned poet receives the Lord's mercy —

প্রস্তাবে কহিলুঁ কবির নাটক-বিবরণ । অজ্ঞ হঞা শ্রদ্ধায় পাইল প্রভুর চরণ ॥ ১৬১ ॥

prastāve kahiluṁ kavira nāṭaka-vivaraṇa
in passing I have told the poet's drama account
ajña hañā śraddhāya pāila prabhura caraṇa
ignorant being by faith obtained the Lord's feet

161 In passing I have also related the story of the poet's drama: ignorant though he was, by faith he attained the Lord's feet.

By hearing and chanting Caitanya's pastimes with faith, one attains sambandha, abhidheya and prayojana —

শ্রীকৃষ্ণচৈতন্য-লীলা — অমৃতের সার । একলীলা-প্রবাহে বহে শত-শত ধার ॥ ১৬২ ॥

śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya-līlā — amṛtera sāra Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya's pastimes — of nectar the essence ekalīlā-pravāhe vahe śata-śata dhāra of a single pastime in the stream flow hundreds upon hundreds of currents

162 The pastimes of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya are the essence of nectar: from the stream of a single pastime flow hundreds upon hundreds of currents.

Anubhāṣya.
Thus ends the fifth chapter of the "Anubhāṣya."

শ্রদ্ধা করি' এই লীলা যেই পড়ে, শুনে । গৌরলীলা, ভক্তি, ভক্ত, রস-তত্ত্ব জানে ॥ ১৬৩ ॥

śraddhā kari' ei līlā yei paḍe, śune faith having this pastime whoever reads hears gaura-līlā, bhakti, bhakta, rasa-tattva jāne
Gaura's pastimes bhakti the devotees the truth of rasa knows

163 Whoever reads or hears this pastime with faith comes to know the pastimes of Gaura, bhakti, the devotees and the truth of rasa.

শ্রীরূপ-রঘুনাথ-পদে যার আশ । চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত কহে কৃষ্ণদাস ॥ ১৬৪ ॥

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa Śrī Rūpa's, Raghunātha's at the feet whose hope caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa
"Caitanya-caritāmṛta" narrates Kṛṣṇadāsa

164 Praying at the feet of Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Raghunātha, I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, narrate the Caitanya-caritāmṛta.
