Chapter 14

A Description of the Divine Madness: the Lord Hastens to Caṭaka Hill

(English translation from the Bengali, following the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition and the Anubhāṣya, 2026)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya

Summary. This chapter describes Mahāprabhu’s incoherent words (pralāpa) in adhirūḍha divyonmāda, the divine madness that seized Him in separation from Kṛṣṇa. Once, as the Lord stood by the Garuḍa pillar looking at Jagannātha, an old Oriyā woman put her foot on His shoulder and began to look [at Jagannātha] with great eagerness. Govinda set about stopping her, but Mahāprabhu praised her eagerness and displayed great love. Absorbed in prema, the Lord had been seeing Kṛṣṇa; but as soon as this incident with the woman took place, His external consciousness returned, and He saw not Kṛṣṇa but Jagannātha, Baladeva and Subhadrā. Having lost the sight of Kṛṣṇa that He had received in a dream, the Lord was filled with rāga.[12] Then He compared Himself to a yogī and described how, as a yogī, [His mind] dwells in Vṛndāvana. From time to time all ten well-known states (daśā) began to appear in the Lord. One night the Lord lay down to sleep in the inner room with the three doors shut. A little later Govinda and Svarūpa saw that all the doors were shut, yet the Lord was nowhere to be seen! Seeing this, Svarūpa and the other devotees [went searching and] found Mahāprabhu north of the Lion Gate: His joints had loosened, His body had become extremely long, and He was unconscious. The devotees chanted Kṛṣṇa’s name, and when the Lord regained consciousness they took Him home again. At another time the Lord mistook Caṭaka-parvata for Govardhana and ran swiftly towards it, but on the way He was stunned; Mahāprabhu’s hair stood on end like [the filaments of] a kadamba flower, and another state full of mahābhāva was seen in Him. Then the devotees calmed Him by chanting Hari's name and brought Him home.

A description of the divine madness (divyonmāda: udghūrṇā, citra-jalpa and so on) that seized the Lord under the sway of adhirūḍha-mahābhāva in the rasa of separation (vipralambha) —

1 Now I shall tell a small part of all that Gaurāṅga did with His mind, body and intelligence in the bewilderment born of separation from Kṛṣṇa.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
In His bewilderment from separation from Kṛṣṇa, Śrī Gaurāṅgacandra did various things with His mind, intelligence and body; some of these I shall now tell.

Anubhāṣya.

Without Gaura's mercy even a great scholar cannot understand the Lord's transcendental divine madness —

prabhura virahonmāda bhāva gambhīra the Lord's madness of separation mood profound bujhite nā pāre keha, yadyapi haya 'dhīra' to understand not can anyone even if he is wise

5 The Lord's divine madness in separation is a mood so profound that no one can understand it, however wise he may be.

Anubhāṣya.
Intelligent people, with their own sense-born knowledge, will not be able to understand Śrī Mahāprabhu's transcendental, extraordinary, profound madness born of separation from Kṛṣṇa. In our time, people of a new stamp who consider themselves devotees have devised the fanciful mood of "Nadīyā-nāgarī," which opposes the conclusions of bhakti, and a newly invented worship of Viṣṇupriyā-devī. All this only shows that they have not entered Gaura's pastimes.

Only by the power of the Lord's mercy can one grasp His transcendental pastimes — বুঝিতে না পারি যাহা, বর্ণিতে কে পারে ?

সেই বুঝে, বর্ণে, চৈতন্য শক্তি দেন যাঁরে ॥ ৬ ॥ bujhite nā pāri yāhā, varṇite ke pāre?

to understand not we can what to describe who can sei bujhe, varṇe, caitanya śakti dena yāṁre he understands describes Caitanya power gives to whom 6 Who can describe what we cannot even understand? Only one to whom Caitanya gives the power can understand it and describe it.

The source for describing Gaura's pastimes is the diaries (kaḍacās) of the two prabhus, Svarūpa and Raghunātha —

স্বরূপ-গোসাঞি আর রঘুনাথ-দাস । এই দুইর কড়চাতে এ-লীলা প্রকাশ ॥ ৭ ॥

svarūpa-gosāñi āra raghunātha-dāsa Svarūpa Gosāñi and Raghunātha dāsa ei duira kaḍacāte e-līlā prakāśa of these two in the diaries this pastime is revealed

7 These pastimes are revealed in the diaries (kaḍacā) of these two, Svarūpa Gosāñi and Raghunātha dāsa.

Anubhāṣya.

Pointers to these profound pastimes (gambhīra-līlā) of Mahāprabhu are given only in the diaries (kaḍacās) of Śrī Dāmodara Svarūpa and Śrī Raghunātha Dāsa Gosvāmī, that is, in their notes (ṭippanī), which serve as guides. Some abandon the holy feet of these two associates of Gaura and, thirsting for their own sense pleasure, wander through the world of māyā under the name of Gaura-bhakti, driven by the religion of the mind (mano-dharma) and following motley doctrines of every kind. Such people cannot understand Śrī Mahāprabhu's pastimes and turn away from serving Gaura.

Why the testimony of the two prabhus, Svarūpa and Raghunātha, is authoritative —

সেকালে এ দুই রহেন মহাপ্রভুর পাশে । আর সব কড়চা-কর্ত্তা রহেন দূরদেশে ॥ ৮ ॥

se-kāle e dui rahena mahāprabhura pāśe at that time these two stayed Mahāprabhu's at the side āra saba kaḍacā-kartā rahena dūra-deśe other all diary-writers stayed in distant lands

8 At that time these two lived at Mahāprabhu's side, while all the other diarists lived in distant places.

Anubhāṣya.

This verse shows that Śrī Raghunātha and many others recorded much about Mahāprabhu's final pastimes of divine madness in the diaries (kaḍacās) they wrote. These records would have brought the world much good. Sadly, all these diaries remain hidden from people's eyes to this day, and this shows the misfortune of the jīvas.

ক্ষণে ক্ষণে অনুভবি' এই দুইজন ।

9 Experiencing His pastimes moment by moment, these two recorded them in their diaries, sometimes briefly and sometimes at length.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Briefly and at length": Svarūpa Gosvāmī composed his diary (kaḍacā) briefly, and Raghunātha Dāsa Gosvāmī at length.

Anubhāṣya.
These two gosvāmīs constantly experienced Śrī Mahāprabhu's pastimes and recorded them, now more briefly, now in more detail, in the form of diaries (kaḍacās); they did not compose regular books.

10 Svarūpa is the author of the sūtras, and Raghunātha the author of their explanation (vṛtti). I describe them more fully, in the manner of a pāj̃i-ṭīkā (an introductory commentary).

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Svarūpa Gosvāmī wrote the sūtras, and Raghunātha their explanation (vṛtti). I am writing both these descriptions somewhat expanded, in the manner of a pāñi-ṭīkā (an introductory commentary). Pāñi-ṭīkā, or pañji-ṭīkā, means this: the author of such a commentary "cards" like cotton the arguments of the original source written by the author of the vṛtti, and presents them somewhat expanded.

Anubhāṣya.

Sūtra: "Those who know sūtras know that a sūtra has few syllables, is unambiguous, full of substance, facing every direction, free of filler words, and faultless." Vṛtti means kārikā: "Kārikā [means] yātanā (torment) and vṛtti" (Amara-kośa); and its commentary says: "Vṛtti is a brief explanation in verses."

One who hears with transcendental faith of the transcendental mood of separation (vipralambha) and follows it attains prema —

তাতে বিশ্বাস করি' শুন ভাবের বর্ণন । হইবে ভাবের জ্ঞান, পাইবা প্রেমধন ॥ ১১ ॥

tāte viśvāsa kari' śuna bhāvera varṇana in that faith placing hear of the emotions the description haibe bhāvera jñāna, pāibā prema-dhana will arise of the emotions understanding you will gain of love the treasure

11 Hear with faith this description of His feelings (bhāva): you will come to understand them and gain the treasure of prema.

In His last period the moods of Rādhā and the other gopīs separated from Kṛṣṇa awaken in the Lord's heart; these last seven chapters themselves refute the "Gaura-nāgara" doctrine —

কৃষ্ণ মথুরায় গেলে, গোপীর যে দশা হৈল । কৃষ্ণবিচ্ছেদে প্রভুর সে দশা উপজিল ॥ ১২ ॥

kṛṣṇa mathurāya gele, gopīra ye daśā haila Kṛṣṇa to Mathurā when He went of the gopīs which state arose kṛṣṇa-vicchede prabhura se daśā upajila
Kṛṣṇa in separation from in the Lord that state arose

12 The state that came upon the gopīs when Kṛṣṇa went to Mathurā arose in the Lord in His separation from Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
"The state that arose": prolonged separation (vipralambha).

উদ্ধব-দর্শনে যৈছে রাধার বিলাপ । ক্রমে ক্রমে হৈল প্রভুর উন্মাদ-বিলাপ ॥ ১৩ ॥

uddhava-darśane yaiche rādhāra vilāpa Uddhava on seeing as Rādhā's lament krame krame haila prabhura unmāda-vilāpa gradually arose the Lord's lament of madness

13 As Rādhā lamented when She saw Uddhava, so little by little the Lord too began to lament in His divine madness.

Anubhāṣya.
Śrī Rādhā's lament: see the Bhramara-gītā, Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.47.12–21.

The Lord is imbued only with the mood of Śrī Rādhā separated from Kṛṣṇa; therefore He has no inclination of Kṛṣṇa's for the enjoyment of union (sambhoga) —

রাধিকার ভাবে প্রভুর সদা 'অভিমান' । সেই ভাবে আপনাকে হয় 'রাধা'-জ্ঞান ॥ ১৪ ॥

rādhikāra bhāve prabhura sadā 'abhimāna' of Rādhikā in the mood the Lord's always self-conception sei bhāve āpanāke haya 'rādhā'-jñāna in that mood of Himself there is the sense of being Rādhā

14 Steeped in Rādhikā's mood, the Lord always had Her sense of self (abhimāna); in that mood He knew Himself to be Rādhā.

Anubhāṣya.
Abhimāna (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi): "Abhimāna is an indirect telling of the excellence of one's love." "'Let there be many beautiful things; this alone is to be desired' — such a conclusion the wise call abhimāna."

"Always abhimāna": always the transcendental self-conception of a servant (sevaka-abhimāna). Although Śrī Gaurasundara is Kṛṣṇa Himself, His body is united with Śrīmatī Rādhikā, and so He was always immersed in Śrīmatī's mood, nondifferent from her. Had He remained in the mood of Kṛṣṇa, full of the enjoyment of union (sambhoga), this would have obstructed His own purpose. In our time non-Vaiṣṇavas hostile to Gaura, through a perverted understanding (vivarta-buddhi), turn inside out the path of bhajana that He practiced and preached. They dress Śrī Gaurasundara up, by their own invention, as a "mundane nāgara," make themselves into "playful nāgarīs of Nadīyā," and so fall away from devotion to Kṛṣṇa. In our time some members of the "Theosophist" society think as follows: although for the good of the jīvas Śrī Gaurasundara showed that "the sādhana of separation (vipralambha) is the only path to perfection," He is Svayam Bhagavān and therefore beyond the jīvas' reach; so every jīva may mold and dress Him out of whatever material it likes and worship Him in any way at all, with means its own mind has devised for sense gratification. To prevent this, Gaurasundara showed the supreme wonder of serving Kṛṣṇa in the transcendental mood of separation, and so brought the world good.

The Lord's divine madness in adhirūḍha-mahābhāva —

দিব্যোন্মাদে ঐছে হয়, কি ইহা বিস্ময় ?
অধিরূঢ়-ভাবে দিব্যোন্মাদ-প্রলাপ হয় ॥ ১৫ ॥

divyonmāde aiche haya, ki ihā vismaya?
in divine madness thus it is what in this wonder adhirūḍha-bhāve divyonmāda-pralāpa haya in adhirūḍha-bhāva of divine madness incoherent talk occurs

15 Such is divine madness (divyonmāda) — why wonder at it? In adhirūḍha-bhāva, the highest stage of love, divine madness pours itself out in incoherent words.[2]

The definition of divine madness and its varieties — (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the sthāyi-bhāva, verse 190)

16 "When the bhāva called mohana reaches a certain indescribable state, there arises in it something wondrous that resembles bewilderment, and this is called divine madness (divyonmāda). Its varieties are held to be many, such as udghūrṇā and citra-jalpa." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, 14.190)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

When the bhāva called mohana, in the course of its development, reaches a certain [state] and comes to resemble bewilderment, there arises the divine madness called vaicitrī (the wondrous). Udghūrṇā, citra-jalpa and the rest are the many varieties of divine madness.

Anubhāṣya.

kām api (a certain indescribable) gatiṁ (state) upeyuṣaḥ (having reached) sataḥ etasya mohanākhyasya (of this [bhāva] whose name is mohana) bhramābhā (which has the semblance of bewilderment) kāpi (an unprecedented) vaicitrī (a special manifestation that displays wonder) divyonmādaḥ iti īryate (is called); udghūrṇā-citra-jalpādyāḥ bahavaḥ tad-bhedāḥ (varieties of divine madness) matāḥ (are described).

An example of the divine madness (udghūrṇā) of the Lord, who feels Himself a maidservant (kiṅkarī) of Śrī Rādhā —

17 One day, as Mahāprabhu lay asleep, He saw Kṛṣṇa's rāsa-līlā in a dream.

18 Kṛṣṇa's beautiful form was bent in three places, the flute at His lips; He wore yellow cloth and a garland of forest flowers — the enchanter of Madana, the god of love.

19 The gopīs danced in a circle, and in the middle the son of the king of Vraja danced with Rādhā.

দেখি’ প্রভু সেই রসে আবিষ্ট হৈলা । ‘বৃন্দাবনে কৃষ্ণ পাইনু’ — এই জ্ঞান কৈলা ॥ ২০ ॥

dekhi’ prabhu sei rase āviṣṭa hailā seeing the Lord in that rasa absorbed became ‘vṛndāvane kṛṣṇa pāinu’ — ei jñāna kailā in Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa I have found this thought He had 20 Seeing this, the Lord became absorbed in that rasa and thought, “I have found Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana!”

Anubhāṣya.
“He became absorbed in that rasa”: He became wholly immersed in it.

Awake (in external consciousness), the Lord suffers in separation from Kṛṣṇa —

প্রভুর বিলম্ব দেখি’ গোবিন্দ জাগাইলা । জাগিলে ‘স্বপ্ন’-জ্ঞান হৈল, প্রভু দুঃখী হৈলা ॥ ২১ ॥

prabhura vilamba dekhi’ govinda jāgāilā
the Lord’s lateness seeing Govinda woke Him jāgile ‘svapna’-jñāna haila, prabhu duḥkhī hailā on waking that it was a dream He understood the Lord sorrowful became 21 When Govinda saw that the Lord was late in rising, he woke Him. On waking, the Lord understood that it had been a dream, and He was filled with sorrow.

Out of habit the Lord performs His daily duties —

দেহাভ্যাসে নিত্যকৃত্য করি’ সমাপন । কালে যাই’ কৈলা জগন্নাথ দরশন ॥ ২২ ॥

dehābhyāse nitya-kṛtya kari’ samāpana by bodily habit the daily duties having completed kāle yāi’ kailā jagannātha daraśana
at the proper time going He made Jagannātha’s darśana

22 Out of bodily habit He completed His daily duties, and at the proper time He went to see Jagannātha.

The Lord looks at Jagannātha from the Garuḍa pillar —

যাবৎ কাল দর্শন করেন গরুড়ের পাছে । প্রভুর আগে দর্শন করে লোক লাখে লাখে ॥ ২৩ ॥

yāvat kāla darśana karena garuḍera pāche for as long as darśana He takes of Garuḍa behind prabhura āge darśana kare loka lākhe lākhe the Lord's in front darśana take people by hundreds of thousands 23 He would behold Jagannātha from behind the Garuḍa pillar, while in front of Him people in their hundreds of thousands took darśana.

An Oriyā woman, unaware of it, puts her foot on the Lord's shoulder and looks at Jagannātha —

ওড়িয়া এক স্ত্রী ভীড়ে দর্শন না পাঞা । গরুড়ে চড়ি' দেখে প্রভুর স্কন্ধে পদ দিয়া ॥ ২৪ ॥

oḍiyā eka strī bhīḍe darśana nā pāñā an Oriyā one woman in the crowd sight not getting garuḍe caḍi' dekhe prabhura skandhe pada diyā onto Garuḍa climbing looks on the Lord's shoulder foot placing 24 An Oriyā woman who could not see through the crowd climbed onto the Garuḍa pillar and, with her foot on the Lord's shoulder, gazed at Jagannātha.

Seeing this, Govinda gets the woman down —

দেখিয়া গোবিন্দ ব্যস্তে সেই স্ত্রীরে বর্জ্জিলা । তারে নামাইতে প্রভু গোবিন্দে নিষেধিলা ॥ ২৫ ॥

dekhiyā govinda vyaste sei strīre varjilā seeing (this) Govinda hastily that woman put off tāre nāmāite prabhu govinde niṣedhilā her to bring down the Lord Govinda forbade

25 Seeing this, Govinda hastily tried to pull her down, but the Lord forbade him.

Anubhāṣya.
Climbing onto the Garuḍa pillar is an offence to a Vaiṣṇava, and putting a foot on the Lord's shoulder is an offence to Bhagavān's feet. Fearing this, Govinda hastily "put her away," that is, got her down.

By seeing Kṛṣṇa she gives Kṛṣṇa the joy of service; therefore [the Lord] regards her holy form as transcendental, belonging to Kṛṣṇa[14] —

'আদিবস্যা' এই স্ত্রীরে না কর বর্জ্জন । করুক যথেষ্ট জগন্নাথ দরশন ॥ ২৬ ॥

'ādi-vasyā' ei strīre nā kara varjana ādivasyā this woman do not make removal karuka yatheṣṭa jagannātha daraśana
let her make as she wishes Jagannātha's darśana

26 "Foolish fellow (ādivasyā)! Do not remove this woman. Let her look at Jagannātha as much as she wishes."

Anubhāṣya.
"Ādibasyā": see Antya 10.116.

The woman at once climbs down, bows to the Lord and humbly speaks of her unworthiness —

আস্তে-ব্যস্তে সেই নারী ভূমেতে নামিলা । মহাপ্রভুরে দেখি' তাঁর চরণ বন্দিলা ॥ ২৭ ॥

āste-vyaste sei nārī bhūmete nāmilā hurriedly that woman to the ground came down mahāprabhure dekhi' tāṁra caraṇa vandilā Mahāprabhu seeing His feet she honoured

27 The woman hurriedly climbed down, and when she saw Mahāprabhu she bowed at His feet.

Seeing her ardent love, the Lord speaks humbly of Himself and praises her as a guru —

তার আর্ত্তি দেখি' প্রভু কহিতে লাগিলা । এত আর্ত্তি জগন্নাথ মোরে নাহি দিলা ! ॥ ২৮ ॥

tāra ārti dekhi' prabhu kahite lāgilā her eagerness seeing the Lord to speak began eta ārti jagannātha more nāhi dilā!
such eagerness Jagannātha to Me not has given 28 Seeing her eagerness, the Lord began to speak: "Jagannātha has not given Me such eagerness!

Anubhāṣya.
Ārti: an ardent wish to see. In her eagerness to see Jagannātha the woman ceased to distinguish good from bad, and without knowing it she set her foot on the highest part of the body (uttamāṅga) of the supremely worshipable Mahāprabhu.

The teaching not to view a servant of Kṛṣṇa with sense-born knowledge, by external marks such as "woman" or "man" —

জগন্নাথে আবিষ্ট ইহার তনু-মন-প্রাণে । মোর স্কন্ধে পদ দিয়াছে, তাহা নাহি জানে ॥ ২৯ ॥

jagannāthe āviṣṭa ihāra tanu-mana-prāṇe in Jagannātha absorbed her body mind and life mora skandhe pada diyāche, tāhā nāhi jāne on My shoulder foot she has placed that not she knows

29 Her body, mind and life are absorbed in Jagannātha; she does not even know that she has put her foot on My shoulder.

অহো ভাগ্যবতী এই, বন্দি ইহার পায় । ইহার প্রসাদে ঐছে আর্ত্তি আমার বা হয় ॥ ৩০ ॥

aho bhāgyavatī ei, vandi ihāra pāya oh fortunate is she I honour her feet ihāra prasāde aiche ārti āmāra vā haya her by the grace such eagerness in Me may arise

30 Oh, how fortunate she is! I bow to her feet. By her grace may such eagerness arise in Me too.

পূর্ব্বে আমি যবে কৈলুঁ জগন্নাথ দরশন । জগন্নাথে দেখি — সাক্ষাৎ ব্রজেন্দ্রনন্দন ॥ ৩১ ॥

pūrve āmi yabe kailuṁ jagannātha daraśana before I when made Jagannātha's darśana jagannāthe dekhi — sākṣāt vrajendra-nandana in Jagannātha I saw directly of the king of Vraja the son

31 Before, whenever I beheld Jagannātha, I saw in Him the son of the king of Vraja Himself.

The Lord, full of the mood of a gopī, His mind absorbed in Kṛṣṇa, sees Kṛṣṇa everywhere —

স্বপ্নের দর্শনাবেশে তদ্রূপ হৈল মন । যাঁহা তাঁহা দেখি সর্ব্বত্র মুরলী-বদন ॥ ৩২ ॥

svapnera darśanāveśe tad-rūpa haila mana of the dream in absorption in the vision like that became the mind yāṁhā tāṁhā dekhi sarvatra muralī-vadana wherever I look everywhere the One with the flute at His lips

32 Absorbed in the vision of My dream, My mind has stayed in that state, and wherever I look I see the One with the flute at His lips."[3]

The Lord comes back to external consciousness —

এবে যদি স্ত্রীরে দেখি' প্রভুর বাহ্য হৈল । জগন্নাথ-সুভদ্রা-বলরামের স্বরূপ দেখিল ॥ ৩৩ ॥ ebe yadi strīre dekhi' prabhura bāhya haila now when the woman seeing the Lord's external consciousness came jagannātha-subhadrā-balarāmera svarūpa dekhila of Jagannātha Subhadrā and Balarāma the forms He saw 33 But now, at the sight of the woman, the Lord came back to outward consciousness and saw the forms of Jagannātha, Subhadrā and Balarāma.

Seeing Vāsudeva at Kurukṣetra, the Lord is full of the mood of a gopī separated from Śyāma —

কুরুক্ষেত্রে দেখি' কৃষ্ণে ঐছে হৈল মন । কাঁহা কুরুক্ষেত্রে আইলাঙ, কাঁহা বৃন্দাবন ? ॥ ৩৪ ॥

kurukṣetre dekhi' kṛṣṇe aiche haila mana at Kurukṣetra seeing Kṛṣṇa so became His mind kāṁhā kurukṣetre āilāṅa, kāṁhā vṛndāvana?
where to Kurukṣetra I have come where Vṛndāvana

34 His mind became like that of one who sees Kṛṣṇa at Kurukṣetra: "How have I come to Kurukṣetra? And where is Vṛndāvana?"

The Lord suffers in the mood of a gopī deprived of Kṛṣṇa's company —

প্রাপ্তরত্ন হারাঞা ঐছে ব্যগ্র হইলা । বিষণ্ণ হঞা প্রভু নিজ-বাসা আইলা ॥ ৩৫ ॥

prāpta-ratna hārāñā aiche vyagra hailā a found jewel losing so agitated He became viṣaṇṇa hañā prabhu nija-vāsā āilā dejected becoming the Lord to His own residence came 35 Like one who has lost a jewel he had just found, He was in turmoil, and He returned, dejected, to His residence.

The Lord's outward signs of mahābhāva in separation from Kṛṣṇa —

ভূমির উপর বসি' নিজ-নখে ভূমি লিখে । অশ্রু-গঙ্গা নেত্রে বহে, কিছুই না দেখে ॥ ৩৬ ॥

a Gaṅgā of tears from the eyes flows anything not He sees 36 Sitting on the ground, He scratched at the earth with His nails; a Gaṅgā of tears flowed from His eyes, and He saw nothing at all.

37 "I found the Lord of Vṛndāvana, and I have lost Him again! Who has taken My Kṛṣṇa? Where am I now?"

The signs of half-external consciousness —

স্বপ্নাবেশে প্রেমে প্রভুর গর গর মন । বাহ্য হৈলে হয়, — যেন হারাইল ধন ॥ ৩৮ ॥

svapnāveśe preme prabhura gara gara mana in absorption in the dream with love the Lord's overflowing mind bāhya haile haya, — yena hārāila dhana external consciousness when it comes it is as if He lost a treasure

38 Absorbed in the dream, the Lord's mind overflowed with love; when external consciousness returned, it was as if He had lost a treasure.

Seized by divine madness, the Lord performs His daily duties and the like out of habit —

উন্মত্তের প্রায় প্রভু করেন গান-নৃত্য । দেহের স্বভাবে করেন স্নান-ভোজন-কৃত্য ॥ ৩৯ ॥

unmattera prāya prabhu karena gāna-nṛtya
a madman like the Lord does singing dancing dehera svabhāve karena snāna-bhojana-kṛtya of the body by the nature He does bathing eating duties

39 Like a madman the Lord sang and danced; He bathed and ate merely out of bodily habit.

At night the Lord pours out His grief before Svarūpa and Rāmānanda —

রাত্রি হৈলে স্বরূপ-রামানন্দে লঞা । আপন মনের ভাব কহে উঘাড়িয়া ॥ ৪০ ॥

rātri haile svarūpa-rāmānande lañā night when it came Svarūpa and Rāmānanda taking āpana manera bhāva kahe ughāḍiyā
His own heart's feelings He tells opening

40 When night came, He would sit with Svarūpa and Rāmānanda and open to them the feelings of His heart.

41 "My mind found the wealth of Acyuta and lost it again. In its grief it abandoned its house, the body, took up the ways of a kāpālika yogī, and went off to Vṛndāvana with its band of disciples, the senses."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

My self (ātmā) once obtained a treasure, Kṛṣṇa, but lost it again. In grief it left its house, the body, took up the dharma of a kāpālika yogī, and set off for Vṛndāvana with its disciples, the senses. A simile (upamā-alaṅkāra) should be seen here.

Anubhāṣya.

prāpta-praṇaṣṭācyuta-vittaḥ (whose treasure, Acyuta, was first obtained — met on the path of the eyes — and then praṇaṣṭa, lost again, gone from sight), viṣādojjhita-deha-gehaḥ (who, from grief — the pain born of separation from Kṛṣṇa — has all but abandoned its house, the body), gṛhīta-kāpālika-dharmakaḥ (having accepted the dharma — the natural traits and so on — of a kāpālika, a particular kind of yogī) me (My) ātmā (pure mind) sendriya-śiṣya-vṛndaḥ (together with its disciples, the senses) vṛndāvanaṁ yayau (went to Vṛndāvana).

42 Having lost the jewel He had found and remembering its qualities, Mahāprabhu was overwhelmed with anguish. Clasping Rāya and Svarūpa by the neck, He cried, "Alas! Hari! Hari!" His composure gave way, and He grew restless.

How the power of attraction of Kṛṣṇa's sweetness brought [the Lord] to the ten states —

44 My mind's earrings of pure conch-shell are the circle of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes, fashioned by Śuka the craftsman. Wearing those earrings, it holds the gourd-bowl of thirst, and the bag of hope hangs from its shoulder.

The states of anxious thought (cintā), uncleanliness of the body (malināṅgatā) and incoherent speech (pralāpa) —

agitation twelve (bangles) on the arm lobhera jhuli nila māthe, of greed the bag it took on the head bhikṣābhāve kṣīṇa kalevara for lack of alms thin the body

45 The patched quilt of anxiety is wrapped about it, its body is grey with dust and ash, and to every word it answers with the raving cry, "Alas, Kṛṣṇa!" On its arm are the twelve bangles of agitation, on its head the bag of longing, and for want of alms its body has wasted away.

Anubhāṣya.
A variant reading: lobhera jhulnī māthe. The word jhulnī means a cloth that can cover the head.

The state of emaciation (tānava) —

46 The yogīs Vyāsa, Śuka and others have described in the Bhāgavata and other scriptures all the pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, the stainless Self, in Vraja; those songs (tarjā) it recites without cease.

Anubhāṣya.
Tarjā (Arabic tarjā): a song contest between two parties in which each refutes the other's answers; akin to the kavi-gān and the jhumur.

51 Separated from Kṛṣṇa, My mind became a yogī in its sorrow, and in that separation the ten states came upon it. Overwhelmed by them, it fled, and its dwelling, My body, stands empty."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Mahāprabhu said: "Craving Kṛṣṇa's sweetness, My mind gave up Vedic dharma, became a yogī and turned beggar. Yogīs wear conch-shell earrings; so My mind, having become a yogī, wears the circle of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes as pure conch-shell earrings. The earrings of ordinary yogīs are made by conch-shell craftsmen, but the earrings of the Bhāgavatam — the circle of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes — for the yogī of My mind were fashioned by the craftsman Śrī Śuka himself, the son of Bādarāyaṇa. Whatever a yogī needs, the yogī of My mind has taken up. An ordinary yogī has a gourd kamaṇḍalu and a begging bowl (sthālī); the yogī of My mind has made a bowl of the gourd of thirst for Kṛṣṇa, slung over his shoulder the bag of hope, 'I shall attain Kṛṣṇa,' and put on the patched wrap of anxious thought, 'How shall I attain Kṛṣṇa?' Yogīs smear themselves with dust and ashes; the yogī of My mind is soiled with the ash of dust and answers every word with incoherent speech: 'Hā hā Kṛṣṇa!' Ordinary yogīs wear twelve bangles on their arms; on the arm of the yogī of My mind shine twelve bangles: the eight sāttvika-vikāras, agitation of mind, trembling, sighing, restlessness (cāpalya) and anxious thought.[13] He has tied the bag of craving for Kṛṣṇa's sweetness to his head; and, receiving no alms, he has grown thin. The yogīs Vyāsa, Śuka and others described in the Bhāgavatam and other śāstras all the Vraja pastimes of Kṛṣṇa, whose nature is the pure Self; the yogī of My mind constantly recites the tarjās they composed. As Bāul yogīs take ten disciples each, so the yogī of My mind took the name 'Mahā-bāul,' made the ten senses his disciples, left the great wealth of sense enjoyment in his own home, My body, and went to Vṛndāvana. In Vṛndāvana the disciples beg alms from all the subjects, moving and nonmoving, and at the homes of the householders — the trees, creepers and others — and live on fruits, roots and leaves. The gopīs of Vraja ever taste the nectar of Śrī Kṛṣṇa's qualities, form, taste, fragrance, sound and touch; the five disciples, the five knowledge-acquiring senses, bring the remnants of their meal and sustain their lives by eating that prasāda. As ordinary yogīs sit in a corner to meditate, so the yogī of My mind, with his disciples, practices yoga in meditation on Kṛṣṇa in the corner of a bower empty of Kṛṣṇa. Kṛṣṇa is the embodiment of the pure Self; the yogī of My mind longs to see Him face to face, and, not finding Him, stays awake through the nights in meditation. Separated from Kṛṣṇa, the mind in great sorrow became this yogī, and in separation from Kṛṣṇa it reached the ten states. In them it became utterly distraught, saw that being a yogī was futile, and fled; My body was left empty." This last figurative expression describes everything up to the state of pralaya (fainting).

Anubhāṣya.

The kāpālikas are a particular kind of yogī. They wander about with a human skull (kapāla). This part is described by analogy with their tantric rites. The kāpālikas do not follow the Vedas and are untouchable, and so they are not Vaiṣṇavas; only a comparison with their behaviour is taken here.

In separation from Kṛṣṇa the Lord experiences the ten states of a gopī whose beloved has gone abroad (proṣita-bhartṛkā) —

53 "In this separation there are ten states: anxious thought, sleeplessness, agitation, emaciation, uncleanliness of body, incoherent talk, disease, madness, fainting and death." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, 15.167)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Anxious thought, wakefulness, agitation, emaciation of the body, uncleanliness of the body, incoherent speech, sickness, madness, fainting and death — these are the ten states.

Anubhāṣya.

(Here the ten states in the separation called pravāsa, the beloved's absence abroad, are named): cintā (pondering how to attain the desired object), jāgaraḥ (absence of sleep), udvegaḥ (a particular trembling of the mind), tānavaṁ (thinness), malināṅgatā (uncleanliness of the body), pralāpaḥ (incoherent speech), vyādhiḥ, unmādaḥ (being possessed by bewildered actions), mohaḥ (bewilderment of mind), mṛtyuḥ (absence of movement).

A garland of examples follows. Among them:

(1) Cintā, as in the Haṁsadūta: "When Mukunda, the delight of the gopīs' hearts, yielding to the son of Gāndinī, left Nanda's home for Madhupurī, Rādhā in separation sank into the bottomless river of anxious thought, whose waters are torment and whose whirlpools are deep." That is: "When at Akrūra's request the joy of the gopīs' hearts left Nanda's house for Mathurā, Rādhā's mind in separation began to whirl. Her burning thoughts were the water of sharp pain, and thoughts of her own death and distress were the foam; and she sank to the floor of the fathomless river of thought: 'My beloved Kṛṣṇa will come to Vraja later, full of longing, to look for me. When He hears from people's lips of my death, His heart will never again find happiness. Considering how heavy my beloved's grief would be, my heart never wishes for death.'"

(2) Jāgara, as in the Padyāvalī: "Blessed, friend, are the women who see their beloved in dreams. But for us, since Kṛṣṇa went away, even sleep has gone — it has become our enemy." That is: "Rādhā-ṭhākurāṇī, thinking herself unfortunate, said to her dear friend Viśākhā: 'The woman to whom her beloved appears in dreams has good fortune written on her forehead. But since Kṛṣṇa left, sleep, my foe, has deserted me — it treats me as an enemy.'"

(3) Udvega, as in the Haṁsadūta: "Alas, what torment! My mind is burning. Ah, what shall I do? O fair-faced one, I see neither the far shore nor the near shore of this ocean. I bow my head to you: tell me quickly the means by which I might gain even a momentary particle of composure." That is: "Rādhā says to Lalitā: 'O fair-faced Lalitā, my heart is burning — I cannot even say how. Alas, what shall I do? I see the ocean has no shore. I bow at your feet; judge for yourself. Advise me what to do, how I may keep a little composure even for a moment.'"

(4) Tānava, for example: "O Lord of the Yadus! The lotus of her face has changed, her heart is clouded, the cakravāka birds of her breasts have withered, for she is always without food. Drying up day by day from the heat of separation from You, Rādhā wastes away to the utmost, like a stream in the summer heat." That is: "When Uddhava returned to Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa asked him about Rādhikā and Viśākhā. In reply Uddhava spoke, and Kṛṣṇacandra in Mathurā listened eagerly: 'O Lord of the Yadus, what shall I say of all this, of the pain Rādhā suffers in separation from You! The lotus of her face has paled and lost its colour; her heart is shrouded in deep sorrow and humility. Without food the two cakravāka birds of her breast have withered[15] — I saw it; listen, O Rasamaya. As water dries up in the summer heat, so Rādhā has wasted away in the heat of separation from You.'"

(5) Malināṅgatā, for example: "O Aghahara! The beauty of Viśākhā's face has become like a lotus struck by heavy frost, her lips like a bandhujīva flower faded by a harsh wind, and her eyes like blue lotuses scorched by the autumn sun: the calamity of separation from You has withered her." That is: "Uddhava says: 'Listen, my Aghahara! The lips of Viśākhā, tormented by separation, have dried like a bandhu flower in gusts of harsh wind; her lips, red as the bimba fruit, are like a lotus struck by a heap of frost. Under the calamity of separation Viśākhā is utterly wretched, and her eyes are like kumuda lotuses scorched by the autumn sun.'"

(6) Pralāpa, as in the Lalita-mādhava: "Where is the moon of Nanda's line? Where is He who is adorned with peacock feathers? Where is the deep sound of the flute? Where is the lustre like that of the king of sapphires? Where is He who dances in the rapture of rasa? Where, friend, is my dearest friend, the treasure-house of the medicine that preserves my life? Where is He — your [friend]? Alas, ah, shame on the Creator!" That is: "Rādhā, whose beloved has gone abroad, laments in anguish: 'Friend, where is the moon of Nanda's line? Tell me, where has He gone whose ornament is peacock feathers? Where has He gone who plays the flute with a deep sound? Where is the best of men, shining like a sapphire, your dearest friend, who dances in the rapture of rasa? Tell me, where is the treasure-house of the medicine that preserves my life? Shame on you, Creator, for writing such a fate for me!'"

(7) Vyādhi, as in the Lalita-mādhava: "This mighty fever, born of separation from the Lord of Gokula, burns more than firing in a sealed crucible, torments more than a host of poisons, is more unbearable than a thunderbolt, sharper than a spear lodged in the heart, worse than the most severe cholera — today it pierces my innermost vitals." That is: "Rādhā in separation says: 'Listen, Lalitā: I cannot describe the fever of separation from Kṛṣṇa. [It burns me] as fire burns gold in a clay crucible; it torments more than poison and the like and is more unbearable than a thunderbolt; it is like a lodged spear, and in its agony like severe cholera. Friend, she who pierces my heart is mighty in her great strength.'"

(8) Unmāda, for example: "O Murāri! Rādhā, her mind bewildered and pouring out the anguish of cruel separation, wanders through the house laughing for no reason, tells of You to the conscious and the unconscious alike, and, trembling in every limb, rolls on the ground." That is, Uddhava says: "O Murāri, Rādhā, tormented by separation from You, laughs for no reason. Wandering through the house, she questions whoever is there and does not consider whether it is conscious or not. Rādhikā, stricken by the anguish of cruel separation, now rolls on the ground in the grip of bewilderment."

(9) Moha, for example: "O enemy of Kaṁsa! Now only one companion, the swoon of separation from You, serves as counsellor to [Rādhā], whose eyes are like blue lotuses: it holds back the ocean of misery, removes the humiliation of heavy thoughts, destroys madness and forcibly stops the waves of tears." That is: "Lalitā wrote Kṛṣṇa a letter: 'In separation from You Rādhikā has fainted. O enemy of Kaṁsa, [the swoon] has become her counsellor: it carries off the ocean of misery, calms the agitation of her mind, and forcibly stops the waves of her tears. Rādhā remains absorbed in heavy thoughts of You. I trust You will obtain the great treasure — the killing of a woman. Stop thinking about Śrī Rādhā: today or tomorrow You will receive the news. Live happily, in special joy.'"

(10) Mṛtyu, as in the Haṁsadūta: "O You who relish the rasa of the rāsa pastime! Alas, You once bound to my friend an ever-new, deep wave of love. If now You have become indifferent to her, then shame on this wisp of cotton: held to her nose, it still stirs!" That is: "Reproaching Kṛṣṇa, who lives in Mathurā, the beautiful Lalitā-devī speaks through the swan: 'O You who are full of the rasa of the rāsa pastime, for the sake of rasa You bound Rādhikā with the bonds of love. Why then are You indifferent to my dear friend? Rādhikā remembers all this at every moment. I shall hold a wisp of cotton to her nostrils to test her: if her breath still flows, shame on it!'"

ei daśa-daśāya prabhu vyākula rātridine
by these ten states the Lord distraught night and day

sometimes some state arises steady not in mind

54 Night and day the Lord was distraught by these ten states: now one state would arise, now another, and His mind found no rest.

Rāmānanda Rāya recites verses suited to the Lord's mood of separation and to the moment —

এত কহি' মহাপ্রভু মৌন হইলা । রামানন্দ-রায় শ্লোক পড়িতে লাগিলা ॥ ৫৫ ॥ eta kahi' mahāprabhu mauna hailā this having said Mahāprabhu silent became rāmānanda-rāya śloka paḍite lāgilā Rāmānanda Rāya verses to recite began

55 Having said this, Mahāprabhu fell silent, and Rāmānanda Rāya began to recite verses.[5]

With songs suited to each mood and moment, Svarūpa brings the Lord back to consciousness —

স্বরূপ-গোসাঞি করে কৃষ্ণলীলা গান । দুই জনে কিছু কৈলা প্রভুর বাহ্য জ্ঞান ॥ ৫৬ ॥

svarūpa-gosāñi kare kṛṣṇa-līlā gāna Svarūpa Gosāñi does of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes singing dui jane kichu kailā prabhura bāhya jñāna
the two persons somewhat made the Lord's external awareness

56 Svarūpa Gosāñi sang of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes, and together the two brought the Lord somewhat back to external awareness.

The Lord is put to bed inside the house —

এইমত অর্দ্ধরাত্রি কৈলা নির্যাপণ ।

bhitara-prakoṣṭhe prabhure karāilā śayana
in the inner room the Lord they made lie down

57 In this way they passed half the night, and then they had the Lord lie down in the inner room.

Everyone lies down in his own place —

svarūpa-govinda dum̐he śuilena dvāre
Svarūpa Govinda both lay down at the door

58 Rāmānanda Rāya then went home, and Svarūpa and Govinda both lay down at the door.

The Lord stays awake all night, loudly chanting Kṛṣṇa's names —

সব রাত্রি মহাপ্রভু করে জাগরণ । উচ্চ করি' কহে কৃষ্ণনামসঙ্কীর্ত্তন ॥ ৫৯ ॥

loudly making He utters of Kṛṣṇa's names saṅkīrtana

59 Mahāprabhu stayed awake all night, loudly chanting the names of Kṛṣṇa.

Hearing no kīrtana and no sound at all, everyone searches for the Lord and cannot find Him —

শব্দ না পাঞা স্বরূপ কপাট কৈলা দূরে ।

60 Hearing no sound, Svarūpa opened the door: the three doors were still shut, yet the Lord was not in the room.

62 On the north side of the Siṁha-dvāra (the Lion Gate) there is a certain spot, and there Caitanya Gosāñi lay where He had fallen.

The joy and grief of Svarūpa and the other devotees —

63 Finding Him, Svarūpa Gosāñi and the others were overjoyed; but when they saw the Lord's condition, they grew anxious again.

A description of the Lord in that state —

প্রভু পড়ি' আছেন দীর্ঘ হাত পাঁচ-ছয় ।

68 Saliva and foam were at the Lord's mouth, and His eyes were turned upward. Seeing this, all the devotees felt as if life were leaving their bodies.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Uttāna-nayana — the eyes have rolled upward.

Svarūpa loudly calls out Kṛṣṇa's name into the Lord's ear —

69 Then Svarūpa Gosāñi, together with the devotees, loudly chanted the name of Kṛṣṇa into the Lord's ear.

The Lord returns to external consciousness —

The state of the Lord, seized by separation from Kṛṣṇa, in Kāśī Miśra's house — (Stavāvalī, Caitanya-stava-kalpavṛkṣa, verse 4)

73 "Once, in Miśra's house, in intense separation from the son of the lord of Vraja, His arms and legs grew unnaturally long, for the beauty and the joints of His limbs had given way. Rolling on the ground in utter distress, He wept piteously in a voice choked with feeling. That Śrī Gaurāṅga, rising in my heart, makes me mad with joy." (Caitanya-stava-kalpavṛkṣa, 4)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Once, in Kāśī Miśra's house, in separation from Kṛṣṇa, all the Lord's joints loosened, and His arms and legs grew longer. That Gaurāṅga who wept as He rolled on the ground, in a plaintive, faltering voice, utterly distraught, rises in my heart and maddens me.

Anubhāṣya.

kvacit miśrāvāse (in Kāśī Miśra's house) vraja-pati-sutasya (from the son of Nanda) uru-virahāt (because of intense separation) ślathac-chrī-sandhitvāt (because the beauty [śrī] and the joints [of the arms and legs] loosened, each leaving its proper place) bhuja-padoḥ (of the arms and legs) adhika-dairghyam dadhat (assuming) bhūmau luṭhan kākvā (in a plaintive voice) gadgada-vacā vikala-vikalam (utterly distraught) rudan saḥ gaurāṅgaḥ mama hṛdaye udayan (manifesting) san mām madayati (delights).[16]

Half in external consciousness, the Lord asks why people have gathered —

সিংহদ্বারে দেখি' প্রভুর বিস্ময় হইলা । ক্যা কর, কিবা — এই স্বরূপে পুছিলা ॥ ৭৪ ॥

siṁha-dvāre dekhi' prabhura vismaya hailā at the Siṁha-dvāra seeing the Lord's astonishment was kyā kara, kibā — ei svarūpe puchilā what do you do why — this of Svarūpa He asked

74 Finding Himself at the Siṁha-dvāra, the Lord was astonished, and He asked Svarūpa, "What are you doing? Why?"[7]

Anubhāṣya.

Kyā kara kibā — keyā karo, keṁo.[17]

Svarūpa brings the Lord home and tells Him everything —

স্বরূপ কহে, — উঠ, প্রভু, চল নিজ-ঘরে । তথাই তোমারে সব করিমু গোচরে ॥ ৭৫ ॥

svarūpa kahe, — uṭha, prabhu, cala nija-ghare Svarūpa says — get up Prabhu come to Your own room tathāi tomāre saba karimu gocare
there to You all I shall make known

75 Svarūpa said, "Get up, Prabhu, and come to Your own room. There I shall tell You everything."

এত বলি' প্রভুরে ধরি' ঘরে লঞা গেলা । তাঁহার অবস্থা সব কহিতে লাগিলা ॥ ৭৬ ॥ eta bali' prabhure dhari' ghare lañā gelā so saying the Lord holding to the room taking went tāṁhāra avasthā saba kahite lāgilā

His condition all to tell began 76 Saying this, he held the Lord and took Him to His room, and there began to tell Him all about the state He had been in.

Returning to external consciousness, the Lord is amazed and describes His own state —

শুনি' মহাপ্রভু বড় হৈলা চমৎকার । প্রভু কহে, — কিছু স্মৃতি নাহিক আমার! ॥ ৭৭ ॥

śuni' mahāprabhu baḍa hailā camatkāra hearing Mahāprabhu greatly became astonished prabhu kahe, — kichu smṛti nāhika āmāra!
the Lord says — any memory is not Mine

77 Hearing this, Mahāprabhu was greatly astonished and said, "I remember nothing of it!

সবে দেখি — হয় মোর কৃষ্ণ বিদ্যমান । বিদ্যুৎপ্রায় দেখা দিয়া হয় অন্তর্দ্ধান ॥ ৭৮ ॥

sabe dekhi — haya mora kṛṣṇa vidyamāna only I see — is My Kṛṣṇa present vidyut-prāya dekhā diyā haya antardhāna lightning like appearance giving is vanishing

78 I only see that My Kṛṣṇa is present: He appears like a flash of lightning and vanishes."

The Lord goes for darśana of Jagannātha —

হেনকালে জগন্নাথের পানি-শঙ্খ বাজিলা । স্নান করি' মহাপ্রভু দরশনে গেলা ॥ ৭৯ ॥

hena-kāle jagannāthera pāni-śaṅkha bājilā at that time of Jagannātha the conch (pāni-śaṅkha) sounded snāna kari' mahāprabhu daraśane gelā bath taking Mahāprabhu for darśana went

79 Just then the conch (pāni-śaṅkha) of Jagannātha sounded, and Mahāprabhu bathed and went for darśana.[8]

Anubhāṣya.
Pāṇi-śaṅkha — a conch held in the hand and blown; or else the sound of clapping when the doors are opened. In a variant reading, pānī-śaṅkha: a conch [of water] for ācamana.

The transformations of mahābhāva in the Lord evoke wonder —

এই ত' কহিলুঁ প্রভুর অদ্ভুত বিকার । যাহার শ্রবণে লোকে লাগে চমৎকার ॥ ৮০ ॥ ei ta' kahiluṁ prabhura adbhuta vikāra thus indeed I have told of the Lord wonderful transformations yāhāra śravaṇe loke lāge camatkāra of which in the hearing in people arises wonder

80 Thus I have described the Lord's extraordinary transformations; whoever hears of them is struck with wonder.

The Lord's mahābhāva, never seen or heard of before —

লোকে নাহি দেখে ঐছে, শাস্ত্রে নাহি শুনি । হেন ভাব ব্যক্ত করে ন্যাসি-চূড়ামণি ॥ ৮১ ॥

loke nāhi dekhe aiche, śāstre nāhi śuni people not see such in the scriptures not we hear hena bhāva vyakta kare nyāsi-cūḍāmaṇi such ecstasy manifest makes of sannyāsīs the crest-jewel

81 Such things are not seen in this world, nor do we hear of them in the scriptures; yet the crest-jewel of sannyāsīs reveals such feelings.

The transcendental signs of emotion for Adhokṣaja lie beyond the understanding of those whose knowledge is born of the senses —

শাস্ত্রলোকাতীত যেই যেই ভাব হয়। ইতর-লোকের তাতে না হয় নিশ্চয় ॥ ৮২ ॥

śāstra-lokātīta yei yei bhāva haya scriptures world beyond whatever whatever emotion is itara-lokera tāte nā haya niścaya of ordinary people in that not is conviction

82 Ordinary people cannot believe in feelings (bhāva) that lie beyond the scriptures and beyond this world.

The author describes this by the path of śrauta, through transcendental realisation —

রঘুনাথ-দাসের সদা প্রভুসঙ্গে স্থিতি। তাঁর মুখে শুনি' লিখি করিয়া প্রতীতি ॥ ৮৩ ॥

raghunātha-dāsera sadā prabhu-saṅge sthiti Raghunātha dāsa's always with the Lord stay tāṁra mukhe śuni' likhi kariyā pratīti his from the mouth hearing I write making conviction

83 Raghunātha dāsa always stayed with the Lord. I write what I heard from his own lips, with full faith in it.

Taking Caṭaka-parvata for Govardhana, the Lord, absorbed in mahābhāva, runs swiftly towards it —

84 One day, as Mahāprabhu was going to the sea, He suddenly caught sight of the Caṭaka hill.

Anubhāṣya.
Caṭaka-parvata — a high mound of sand that looks like a mountain; a sand dune.

গোবর্দ্ধন-শৈল-জ্ঞানে আবিষ্ট হইলা ।
পর্ব্বত-দিশাতে প্রভু ধাঞা চলিলা ॥ ৮৫ ॥

করঙ্গের জলে করে সর্ব্বাঙ্গ সিঞ্চন । বহির্ব্বাস লঞা করে অঙ্গ সংবীজন ॥ ৯৭ ॥

karaṅgera jale kare sarvāṅga siñcana of the waterpot with water makes all limbs sprinkling bahirvāsa lañā kare aṅga saṁvījana
the outer cloth taking makes of the body fanning

97 With water from the waterpot (karaṅga) he sprinkled the Lord's whole body, and with the outer cloth he fanned Him.

Seeing the Lord's state, everyone weeps —

স্বরূপাদিগণ তাঁহা আসিয়া মিলিলা । প্রভুর অবস্থা দেখি' কান্দিতে লাগিলা ॥ ৯৮ ॥

svarūpādi-gaṇa tāṁhā āsiyā mililā Svarūpa and others there coming met prabhura avasthā dekhi' kāndite lāgilā of the Lord the condition seeing to weep began

98 Svarūpa and the others arrived there; seeing the Lord's condition, they began to weep.

Seeing the eight sāttvika transformations in the Lord, everyone is amazed —

প্রভুর অঙ্গে দেখে অষ্টসাত্ত্বিক বিকার । আশ্চর্য্য সাত্ত্বিক দেখি' হৈলা চমৎকার ॥ ৯৯ ॥

prabhura aṅge dekhe aṣṭa-sāttvika vikāra of the Lord in the body they see eight sāttvika transformations āścarya sāttvika dekhi' hailā camatkāra wonderful sāttvika seeing became amazed

99 They saw the eight sāttvika transformations in the Lord's body and were amazed at these wondrous signs.

Anubhāṣya.

Aṣṭa-sāttvika-vikāra (the eight spiritual transformations) — becoming stunned (stambha), perspiration (sveda), hair standing on end (romāñca), faltering voice (svara-bheda), trembling (vepathu), change of colour (vaivarṇya), tears (aśru) and fainting (pralaya).

Everyone performs loud saṅkīrtana; Govinda and others sprinkle water —

উচ্চ সঙ্কীর্ত্তন করে প্রভুর শ্রবণে । সুশীতল জলে করে প্রভুর অঙ্গ সম্মার্জ্জনে ॥ ১০০ ॥

ucca saṅkīrtana kare prabhura śravaṇe loud saṅkīrtana they make at the Lord's ear suśītala jale kare prabhura aṅga sammārjane very cool with water they make the Lord's body washing

100 They sang loud saṅkīrtana right at the Lord's ear and bathed His body with very cool water.

Anubhāṣya.

The Lord returns to external consciousness —

এইমত বহুবার কীর্ত্তন করিতে ।
'হরিবোল' বলি' প্রভু উঠে আচম্বিতে ॥ ১০১ ॥

ei-mata bahu-bāra kīrtana karite in this way many times kīrtana doing
'hari-bola' bali' prabhu uṭhe ācambite
Haribol saying the Lord rises suddenly

101 When they had sung kīrtana in this way many times, the Lord suddenly rose, crying "Haribol!"

Full of joy, everyone calls out "Hari!" —

সানন্দে সকল বৈষ্ণব বলে 'হরি' 'হরি' । উঠিল মঙ্গলধ্বনি চতুর্দ্দিক্ ভরি' ॥ ১০২ ॥ sānande sakala vaiṣṇava bale 'hari' 'hari' joyfully all Vaiṣṇavas say Hari Hari uṭhila maṅgala-dhvani catur-dik bhari' arose auspicious sound the four directions filling 102 Joyfully all the Vaiṣṇavas cried, “Hari! Hari!”, and an auspicious sound arose, filling the four directions.

The Lord half in external consciousness —

উঠি’ মহাপ্রভু বিস্মিত, ইতি উতি চায়। যে দেখিতে চায়, তাহা দেখিতে না পায় ॥ ১০৩ ॥

uṭhi’ mahāprabhu vismita, iti uti cāya having risen Mahāprabhu astonished here there looks ye dekhite cāya, tāhā dekhite nā pāya what to see He wants that to see not can 103 Rising, Mahāprabhu looked here and there in astonishment, but what He longed to see, He could not see.

‘বৈষ্ণব’ দেখিয়া প্রভুর অর্দ্ধবাহ্য হইল।
স্বরূপ-গোসাঞিরে কিছু কহিতে লাগিল ॥ ১০৪ ॥

‘vaiṣṇava’ dekhiyā prabhura ardha-bāhya haila the Vaiṣṇavas seeing of the Lord half-external consciousness became svarūpa-gosāñire kichu kahite lāgila to Svarūpa Gosāñi something to say began

104 Seeing the Vaiṣṇavas, the Lord came half into external consciousness and began to say something to Svarūpa Gosāñi:

Anubhāṣya.
Ardha-bāhya — not having regained full external consciousness.

Feeling Himself a maidservant of Śrī Rādhā, the Lord describes His own state — গোবর্দ্ধন হৈতে মোরে কে ইঁহা আনিল ?

পাঞা কৃষ্ণের লীলা দেখিতে না পাইল ॥ ১০৫ ॥

govardhana haite more ke iṁhā ānila?
Govardhana from Me who here brought pāñā kṛṣṇera līlā dekhite nā pāila having found Kṛṣṇa's pastimes to see not I could 105 "Who has brought Me here from Govardhana? I had found Kṛṣṇa's pastimes, but I could not go on seeing them.

ইঁহা হৈতে আজি মুই গেনু গোবর্দ্ধনে । দেখোঁ, — যদি কৃষ্ণ করেন গোধন-চারণে ॥ ১০৬ ॥

iṁhā haite āji mui genu govardhane from here today I went to Govardhana dekhoṁ, — yadi kṛṣṇa karena godhana-cāraṇe
I would see whether Kṛṣṇa does of cows grazing

106 Today I went from here to Govardhana to see whether Kṛṣṇa was grazing the cows.

গোবর্দ্ধনে চড়ি' কৃষ্ণ বাজাইলা বেণু । গোবর্দ্ধনের চৌদিকে চরে সব ধেনু ॥ ১০৭ ॥

govardhane caḍi' kṛṣṇa bājāilā veṇu on Govardhana climbing Kṛṣṇa played the flute govardhanera caudike care saba dhenu of Govardhana all around graze all the cows

107 Kṛṣṇa had climbed Govardhana and was playing His flute, and all around the hill the cows were grazing.

বেণুনাদ শুনি' আইলা রাধা-ঠাকুরাণী । সব সখীগণ-সঙ্গে করিয়া সাজনি ॥ ১০৮ ॥

veṇu-nāda śuni' āilā rādhā-ṭhākurāṇī of the flute the sound hearing came Rādhā Ṭhākurāṇī saba sakhī-gaṇa-saṅge kariyā sājani
all the sakhīs with making adornment

108 Hearing the sound of the flute, Rādhā Ṭhākurāṇī came, beautifully dressed and adorned, with all Her sakhīs.

Anubhāṣya.
Kariyā sājani — dressed and adorned.

রাধা লঞা কৃষ্ণ প্রবেশিলা কন্দরাতে । সখীগণ চাহে কেহ ফুল উঠাইতে ॥ ১০৯ ॥

rādhā lañā kṛṣṇa praveśilā kandarāte Rādhā taking Kṛṣṇa entered into a cave sakhī-gaṇa cāhe keha phula uṭhāite the sakhīs want some flowers to gather

109 Kṛṣṇa took Rādhā with Him and entered a cave, and some of the sakhīs wanted to gather flowers.[10]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Kandarāte — into a cave.

হেনকালে তুমি-সব কোলাহল কৈলা । তাঁহা হৈতে ধরি' মোরে ইঁহা লঞা আইলা ॥ ১১০ ॥

hena-kāle tumi-saba kolāhala kailā at that time you all uproar made tāṁhā haite dhari' more iṁhā lañā āilā there from seizing Me here taking came 110 Just then all of you raised an uproar, seized Me and carried Me back here.

Deprived of Kṛṣṇa's company, the Lord weeps in sorrow; the devotees weep too

কেনে বা আনিলা মোরে বৃথা দুঃখ দিতে । পাঞা কৃষ্ণের লীলা, না পাইনু দেখিতে ॥ ১১১ ॥

kene vā ānilā more vṛthā duḥkha dite why then brought Me in vain pain to give pāñā kṛṣṇera līlā, nā pāinu dekhite having found Kṛṣṇa's pastimes not I could see 111 Why did you bring Me here, only to give Me pain for nothing? I had found Kṛṣṇa's pastimes, but I could not go on seeing them."

এত বলি' মহাপ্রভু করেন ক্রন্দন । তাঁর দশা দেখি' বৈষ্ণব করেন রোদন ॥ ১১২ ॥ eta bali' mahāprabhu karena krandana so saying Mahāprabhu does weeping tāṁra daśā dekhi' vaiṣṇava karena rodana

His condition seeing the Vaiṣṇavas do crying

112 Saying this, Mahāprabhu wept, and seeing His condition, the Vaiṣṇavas wept too.

Seeing Purī and Bhāratī, who have come to see Him, the Lord, in external consciousness, shows them respect —

হেনকালে আইলা পুরী, ভারতী, — দুইজন । দুঁহে দেখি' মহাপ্রভুর হইল সম্ভ্রম ॥ ১১৩ ॥

hena-kāle āilā purī, bhāratī, — dui-jana at that time came Purī Bhāratī — the two duṁhe dekhi' mahāprabhura haila sambhrama both seeing Mahāprabhu's was reverence

113 Meanwhile the two, Purī and Bhāratī, arrived. Seeing them both, Mahāprabhu was filled with reverence.

নিপট্ট-বাহ্য হইলে প্রভু দুঁহারে বন্দিলা । মহাপ্রভুরে দুইজন প্রেমালিঙ্গন কৈলা ॥ ১১৪ ॥

nipaṭṭa-bāhya haile prabhu duṁhāre vandilā full external consciousness when it came the Lord to both offered respects mahāprabhure dui-jana premāliṅgana kailā Mahāprabhu the two loving embrace made

114 When He came fully into external consciousness, the Lord offered His respects to them both, and the two embraced Mahāprabhu with love.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Nipaṭṭa-bāhya haile — when He came into "uncovered" external consciousness, that is, into full external consciousness.

The Lord asks why they have come, and Purī answers —

প্রভু কহে, — দুঁহে কেনে আইলা এত দূরে ?
পুরীগোসাঞি কহে, — তোমার নৃত্য দেখিবারে ॥ ১১৫ ॥

prabhu kahe, — duṁhe kene āilā eta dūre?
the Lord says — you two why came so far purīgosāñi kahe, — tomāra nṛtya dekhibāre Purī Gosāñi says — Your dance to see

115 The Lord said, "Why have you two come so far?" Purī Gosāñi said, "To see Your dancing."

The Lord's embarrassment; after bathing in the ocean with the devotees, He honours prasāda —

লজ্জিত হইলা প্রভু পুরীর বচনে । সমুদ্রঘাট আইলা সব বৈষ্ণব-সনে ॥ ১১৬ ॥

lajjita hailā prabhu purīra vacane embarrassed became the Lord of Purī at the words samudra-ghāṭa āilā saba vaiṣṇava-sane to the sea's bathing place came all Vaiṣṇavas with 116 At Purī's words the Lord was embarrassed, and He went with all the Vaiṣṇavas to the bathing place at the sea.

স্নান করি' মহাপ্রভু ঘরেতে আইলা । সবা লঞা মহাপ্রসাদ ভোজন করিলা ॥ ১১৭ ॥

snāna kari' mahāprabhu gharete āilā bath taking Mahāprabhu home came sabā lañā mahā-prasāda bhojana karilā all taking along mahā-prasāda eating did

117 After bathing, Mahāprabhu returned home and, together with everyone, partook of mahā-prasāda.

The Lord's transcendental divine madness is beyond even Brahmā's reach —

এই ত' কহিলুঁ প্রভুর দিব্যোন্মাদ-ভাব । ব্রহ্মাও কহিতে নারে যাহার প্রভাব ॥ ১১৮ ॥ ei ta' kahiluṁ prabhura divyonmāda-bhāva thus indeed I have told of the Lord divine madness mood brahmāo kahite nāre yāhāra prabhāva

even Brahmā to tell cannot whose power

118 Thus I have described the Lord's mood of divine madness (divyonmāda), whose power even Brahmā cannot describe.

Raghunātha dāsa has described this pastime of the Lord in his own book —

'চটক'-গিরি-গমন-লীলা রঘুনাথদাস ।
'চৈতন্যস্তবকল্পবৃক্ষে' কৈরাছেন প্রকাশ ॥ ১১৯ ॥

'caṭaka'-giri-gamana-līlā raghunāthadāsa Caṭaka hill going pastime Raghunātha dāsa
'caitanya-stava-kalpavṛkṣe' kairāchena prakāśa in the Caitanya-stava-kalpavṛkṣa has described

119 Raghunātha dāsa has described the pastime of the Lord's running to the Caṭaka hill in his Caitanya-stava-kalpavṛkṣa:

(Stavāvalī, Caitanya-stava-kalpavṛkṣa, verse 8)

সমীপে নীলাদ্রেশ্চটকগিরিরাজস্য কলনা
দয়ে গোষ্ঠে গোবর্দ্ধনগিরিপতিং লোকিতুমিতঃ ৷ ব্রজন্নস্মীত্যুক্ত্বা প্রমদ ইব ধাবন্নবধৃতো গণৈঃ স্বৈর্গৌরাঙ্গো হৃদয় উদয়ন্মাং মদয়তি ॥ ১২০ ॥ samīpe nīlādreś caṭaka-girinear of Nīlādri Caṭaka hill rājasya kalanād

the king from seeing aye goṣṭhe govardhana-girioh in Vraja Govardhana hills'
patiṁ lokitum itaḥ
king to see from here
vrajann asmīty uktvā pramada going I am thus saying mad
iva dhāvann avadhṛto
as if running followed gaṇaiḥ svair gaurāṅgo hṛdaya
by companions His own Gaurāṅga in the heart udayan māṁ madayati
rising me maddens

120 "Near Nīlādri He beheld the Caṭaka hill, a king among hills. 'Ah! From here I am going to Vraja, to see Govardhana, the lord of hills!' He cried, and ran like one mad, with His own companions following after Him. That Gaurāṅga, rising in my heart, makes me mad with joy." (Caitanya-stava-kalpavṛkṣa, 8)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Near Nīlācala Mahāprabhu saw Caṭaka-giri, a hill of sea sand, and with the words "I shall see Govardhana, the king of hills, in Vraja!" He ran off at great speed. That Gaurāṅgadeva, surrounded by the Vaiṣṇavas, rises in my heart and maddens me.

Thus ends the fourteenth chapter of the "Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya."

Anubhāṣya.

nīlādreḥ (of Nīlācala) samīpe (near) caṭaka-giri-rājasya (of the hill in the form of a mound of sand) kalanāt (on seeing) aye (from here, from this Kṣetra)[18] goṣṭhe govardhana-giri-patim lokitum (to see) vrajan asmi (I am going) iti uktvā pramadaḥ (maddened) iva dhāvan svaiḥ gaṇaiḥ (by Svarūpa and the others) avadhṛtaḥ (followed from behind), saḥ gaurāṅgaḥ mama hṛdaye udayan mām madayati (fills with bliss).[19]

The Lord's extraordinary, transcendental pastimes and play in mahābhāva —

এবে প্রভু যত কৈলা অলৌকিক লীলা । কে বুঝিতে পারে সেই মহাপ্রভুর খেলা ॥ ১২১ ॥

ebe prabhu yata kailā alaukika līlā
now the Lord all that did extraordinary pastimes ke bujhite pāre sei mahāprabhura khelā who to understand can that of Mahāprabhu play

121 Who can understand these extraordinary pastimes of the Lord, this play of Mahāprabhu?[11]

Only by following the Lord's separation from Kṛṣṇa does the jīva attain Kṛṣṇa's feet —

সংক্ষেপে করিয়া করি দিক্ দরশন । যেই ইহা শুনে, পায় কৃষ্ণের চরণ ॥ ১২২ ॥

saṅkṣepe kariyā kari dik daraśana in brief making I do of direction showing yei ihā śune, pāya kṛṣṇera caraṇa whoever this hears attains Kṛṣṇa's feet

122 I have told this only briefly, just to point the way. Whoever hears it attains the feet of Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
Thus ends the fourteenth chapter of the "Anubhāṣya."

শ্রীরূপ-রঘুনাথ-পদে যার আশ । চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত কহে কৃষ্ণদাস ॥ ১২৩ ॥

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa Śrī Rūpa's, Raghunātha's at the feet whose hope caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa
"Caitanya-caritāmṛta" narrates Kṛṣṇadāsa

123 Praying at the feet of Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Raghunātha, I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, narrate the Caitanya-caritāmṛta.

Notes

1. The second line is the same as Madhya 12.3; translated as there. ↩
2. Divyonmāda is the highest manifestation of mahābhāva, not worldly madness. ↩
3. Verses 28–32 are the Lord's words, as in the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition (the quotation closes after verse 32). Some editions read verse 31 as pūrve āsi' yabe … jagannāthe dekhe, which makes verses 31–32 the narrator's account. ↩
4. Śūnya, "empty": according to the Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya, a bower where Kṛṣṇa is not. ↩
5. The Gauḍīya Maṭha edition (p. 1017) reads mauna hailā, "fell silent". ↩
6. A span (vitasti) is half a cubit (hasta). ↩
7. Kyā kara, kibā is Hindustani (keyā karo, keṁo): "What are you doing? Why?" ↩
8. So in the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition: pāni-śaṅkha. ↩
9. The same verse as Madhya 18.34; translated as there. According to the Anubhāṣya, the gopīs sing this verse: wandering in longing for Kṛṣṇa, they see before them Govardhana, the king of mountains. ↩
10. So in the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition: sakhī-gaṇa cāhe keha phula uṭhāite, "some of the sakhīs wanted to gather flowers"; other editions read sakhī-gaṇa kahe more phula uṭhāite, "the sakhīs told Me to gather flowers". ↩
11. So in the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition: ke bujhite pāre, "who can understand"; other editions read ke varṇite pāre, "who can describe". ↩
12. Unclear passage: রাগোদয় may mean either "the awakening of rāga (burning love)" or, in its everyday Bengali sense, "anger, vexation." ↩

13. So in the edition: together with the eight sāttvika-vikāras, thirteen states are named (trembling is named twice: it is also one of the eight sāttvika-vikāras). ↩
14. The edition reads «শ্রীমূর্ত্তিকে অপ্রাকৃত কার্ষ্ণজ্ঞান». Another reading is possible: śrī-mūrti as the holy form of the Deity (Jagannātha), whom the Lord sees as transcendental, Kṛṣṇa Himself, and so does not hinder her darśana. ↩
15. So in the edition: “বক্ষশ্চ-কোরিকা” (the reading is clear in the scan, but the word is unusual); by the sense of the verse, the koka (cakravāka) birds of the breast. ↩
16. In the verse translation, otherwise: “this image of Śrī Caitanya makes me, too, a madman.” ↩
17. Hindustani: “What are you doing? Why?” ↩
18. So in the edition: the gloss itaḥ kṣetrāt (“from here, from this Kṣetra”) stands after the word aye; by the sense it belongs to the word itaḥ (“from here”) in the same verse, which the analysis leaves out. ↩
19. In the verse translation, otherwise: “This image of Śrī Caitanya in my heart makes me, too, a madman.” ↩
