“Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta”

Ādi-līlā

Chapter 9

The Description of the Wish-fulfilling Tree of Bhakti

(English translation from the Bengali, following the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition and the Anubhāṣya, 2026)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya

Summary. In the ninth chapter the author describes devotion as a tree and so reveals a mystery. He makes Viśvambhara Gaurāṅga the main tree and describes Him as the gardener of the tree of devotion and as the giver and enjoyer of its fruit. The planting of this fruit tree began in Śrī Navadvīpa-dhāma; later such gardens of the fruit of prema were extended to Puruṣottama, Vṛndāvana and other places. Śrī Mādhavendra Purī is the first sprout of this tree, and his disciple Śrī Īśvara Purī nourished that sprout. Mahāprabhu Caitanyadeva, though He is the gardener, by His inconceivable power also became the trunk of this tree. The nine sannyāsīs headed by Paramānanda Purī are its roots. Above the main trunk two more trunks arose, Śrī Advaita and Śrī Nityānanda. From these two trunks came forth branches and sub-branches of every kind, which encircled the world. The fruit of prema from this tree was given everywhere to everyone without distinction. Having planted the tree of devotion in this way, the Lord let the world taste its fruit and made the whole world mad. This description is an allegory (rūpaka).

By Gaura’s mercy the impossible becomes possible —

তং শ্রীমৎকৃষ্ণচৈতন্যদেবং বন্দে জগদ্গুরুম্ । যস্যানুকম্পয়া শ্বাপি মহাব্ধিং সন্তরেৎ সুখম্ ॥ ১ ॥

taṁ śrīmat-kṛṣṇa-caitanya-Him glorious Kṛṣṇa Caitanya-devaṁ vande jagad-gurum
the Lord I worship the guru of the world
yasyānukampayā śvāpi
by whose mercy even a dog
mahābdhiṁ santaret sukham
the great ocean can cross easily

1 I worship the glorious Lord Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, the guru of the whole world, by whose mercy even a dog can easily swim across the great ocean.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
I bow down to Kṛṣṇa Caitanyadeva, the guru of the world, by whose mercy even a dog can swim across the great ocean.

Anubhāṣya.
yasya (of Caitanyadeva) anukampayā (by the mercy) śvā (a dog) api mahābdhiṁ (the great ocean) sukhaṁ santaret (may swim across, reaching the other shore), taṁ jagad-gurum (the guru of the whole world, worthy of worship) śrīmat-kṛṣṇa-caitanya-devam (I) vande.

জয় জয় শ্রীকৃষ্ণচৈতন্য গৌরচন্দ্র । জয় জয়াদ্বৈত জয় জয় নিত্যানন্দ ॥ ২ ॥

jaya jaya śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya gauracandra glory glory to Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Gauracandra
jaya jayādvaita jaya jaya nityānanda glory glory to Advaita glory glory to Nityānanda

2 Glory, glory to Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Gauracandra! Glory, glory to Advaita, and glory, glory to Nityānanda!

জয় জয় শ্রীবাসাদি গৌরভক্তগণ । সর্ব্বাভীষ্ট-পূর্ত্তি-হেতু যাঁহার স্মরণ ॥ ৩ ॥

jaya jaya śrīvāsādi gaura-bhakta-gaṇa glory glory to Śrīvāsa and the others Gaura's devotees sarvābhīṣṭa-pūrti-hetu yāṁhāra smaraṇa
of all desires fulfilment the cause whose remembrance

3 Glory, glory to Śrīvāsa and all the devotees of Gaura, whose remembrance fulfils every desire!

শ্রীরূপ, সনাতন, ভট্ট রঘুনাথ । শ্রীজীব, গোপালভট্ট, দাস রঘুনাথ ॥ ৪ ॥

śrī-rūpa, sanātana, bhaṭṭa raghunātha
Śrī Rūpa Sanātana Bhaṭṭa Raghunātha
śrī-jīva, gopāla-bhaṭṭa, dāsa raghunātha
Śrī Jīva Gopāla Bhaṭṭa Dāsa Raghunātha

4 I remember also Śrī Rūpa, Sanātana, Raghunātha Bhaṭṭa, Śrī Jīva, Gopāla Bhaṭṭa and Raghunātha Dāsa.

এসব-প্রসাদে লিখি চৈতন্য-লীলাগুণ । জানি বা না জানি, করি আপন-শোধন ॥ ৫ ॥

e-saba-prasāde likhi caitanya-līlā-guṇa of all these by the mercy I write Caitanya's pastimes qualities
jāni vā nā jāni, kari āpana-śodhana
I know or not I know I do my own purification

5 By the mercy of them all I write of the pastimes and qualities of Śrī Caitanya. Whether I understand them or not, I do it for my own purification.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Āpana-śodhana": for one's own purification.

The gardener is Mahāprabhu Himself —

মালাকারঃ স্বয়ং কৃষ্ণ-প্রেমামরতরুঃ স্বয়ম্ । দাতা ভোক্তা তৎফলানাং যস্তং চৈতন্যমাশ্রয়ে ॥ ৬ ॥

mālākāraḥ svayaṁ kṛṣṇa-
the gardener Himself Kṛṣṇapremāmara-taruḥ svayam
the immortal tree of love Himself
dātā bhoktā tat-phalānāṁ
the giver the enjoyer of its fruits
yas taṁ caitanyam āśraye who Him Caitanya I take shelter of 6 I take shelter of Śrī Caitanya, who is Himself the gardener and Himself the immortal tree of love for Kṛṣṇa, and who both gives away its fruits and enjoys them.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Śrī Caitanya Himself is the divine tree of prema, and He Himself is its gardener. I take shelter of Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya, who gives and enjoys the fruits of that tree.

Anubhāṣya.
yaḥ (Caitanyadeva) svayaṁ mālākāraḥ (the keeper of the garden), svayaṁ kṛṣṇa-premāmara-taruḥ (love for Kṛṣṇa itself, the immortal, imperishable tree, that is, the wish-fulfilling tree), tat-phalānāṁ (of the fruits of prema of that wish-fulfilling tree) dātā bhoktā [ca] ([Himself]), taṁ (in Caitanya — I) āśraye (take refuge).

*Why He became the gardener — to fulfil His position as the Lord of abhidheya, the means —*

প্রভু কহে, আমি 'বিশ্বম্ভর' নাম ধরি । নাম সার্থক হয়, যদি প্রেমে বিশ্ব ভরি ॥ ৭ ॥

prabhu kahe, āmi 'viśvambhara' nāma dhari
the Lord said I 'Viśvambhara' the name bear nāma sārthaka haya, yadi preme viśva bhari
the name meaningful becomes if with love the universe I fill

7 The Lord said to Himself: "I bear the name Viśvambhara, 'He who fills the universe'. My name will be true if I fill the universe with love."

He lays out a garden of the fruits of devotion in Navadvīpa —

এত চিন্তি' লৈলা প্রভু মালাকার-ধর্ম্ম । নবদ্বীপে আরম্ভিলা ফলোদ্যান-কর্ম্ম ॥ ৮ ॥ eta cinti' lailā prabhu mālākāra-dharma

thus thinking took the Lord of a gardener the duty navadvīpe ārambhilā phalodyāna-karma
in Navadvīpa began of a fruit garden the work

8 Thinking thus, the Lord took up the work of a gardener and began to lay out an orchard in Navadvīpa.

শ্রীচৈতন্য মালাকার পৃথিবীতে আনি' । ভক্তি-কল্পতরু রোপিলা সিঞ্চি' ইচ্ছা-পানি ॥ ৯ ॥

śrī-caitanya mālākāra pṛthivīte āni' Śrī Caitanya the gardener to the earth bringing bhakti-kalpataru ropilā siñci' icchā-pāni the wish-fulfilling tree of bhakti planted watering with the water of His will 9 Bringing it to the earth, the gardener Śrī Caitanya planted the wish-fulfilling tree of bhakti and watered it with the water of His will.

Its first sprout — Śrī Mādhavendra Purī —

জয় শ্রীমাধবপুরী কৃষ্ণপ্রেমপূর । ভক্তিকল্পতরুর তেঁহো প্রথম অঙ্কুর ॥ ১০ ॥

jaya śrī mādhavapurī kṛṣṇa-prema-pūra glory to Śrī Mādhava Purī with love for Kṛṣṇa brimming bhakti-kalpatarura teṁho prathama aṅkura of the wish-fulfilling tree of bhakti he the first sprout

10 Glory to Śrī Mādhava Purī, brimming with love for Kṛṣṇa! He is the first sprout of the wish-fulfilling tree of bhakti.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Śrī Mādhava Purī" is Mādhavendra Purī. He was a famous sannyāsī in the sampradāya of Śrī Madhvācārya, and Śrī Caitanyadeva was the disciple of his disciple. Before him there was no sign of prema-bhakti in the Śrī Madhva-sampradāya. In his verse "ayi dīna-dayārdra nātha…" the teaching that Mahāprabhu later gave was present in seed form.

Growth in Īśvara Purī —

শ্রীঈশ্বরপুরী-রূপে অঙ্কুর পুষ্ট হৈল । আপনে চৈতন্যমালী স্কন্ধ উপজিল ॥ ১১ ॥

śrī-īśvarapurī-rūpe aṅkura puṣṭa haila Śrī Īśvara Purī in the form of the sprout strong became āpane caitanya-mālī skandha upajila
Himself Caitanya the gardener the trunk brought forth

11 In the form of Śrī Īśvara Purī the sprout grew strong, and then the gardener, Śrī Caitanya Himself, became the trunk of the tree.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Īśvara Purī": Īśvara Purī, the mantra-guru of Mahāprabhu, was born in a brāhmaṇa family in Kumārahaṭṭa, that is, in the village of Hālisahara. He was a disciple of Mādhavendra Purī.

Anubhāṣya.
Śrī Īśvara Purī was born in a brāhmaṇa family in Kumārahaṭṭa (Hālisahara station on the E.B.R. line) and was the dearest disciple of Śrī Mādhavendra Purī. Antya 8.26–29: "Īśvara Purī, however, served Śrīpāda Mādhavendra Purī, cleaning away his stool and urine with his own hands. He constantly helped him remember the name of Kṛṣṇa, and at every moment let him hear Kṛṣṇa's name and Kṛṣṇa's pastimes. Pleased with him, Purī Gosāñi embraced him and gave him a blessing: ‘May you have the treasure of love for Kṛṣṇa!’ From then on Īśvara Purī was an ocean of love…”

Before initiating Śrī Mahāprabhu into the ten-syllable mantra at Gayā, Īśvara Purī came to the town of Navadvīpa and stayed several months in the house of Gopīnātha Ācārya. At that time he conversed with Śrī Mahāprabhu and had Him hear his own book, the Kṛṣṇa-līlāmṛta. See the Caitanya-bhāgavata, Ādi, Chapter 7.

When Śrīman Mahāprabhu came to Kumārahaṭṭa to see the birthplace of Śrīpāda Īśvara Purī, He showed this pastime to teach the jīvas devotion to the guru: “The Lord Himself picked up earth from that place, tied it in a bundle in His outer cloth and took it with Him.” (Caitanya-bhāgavata, Ādi, Chapter 12) Since then everyone who comes to see the place of Īśvara Purī takes earth from there.

By His inconceivable power, though the gardener, He Himself became the trunk and the support of all the branches —

নিজাচিন্ত্যশক্ত্যে মালী হঞা স্কন্ধ হয়। সকল শাখার সেই স্কন্ধ মূলাশ্রয় ॥ ১২ ॥

nijācintya-śaktye mālī hañā skandha haya by His own inconceivable power the gardener being the trunk becomes sakala śākhāra sei skandha mūlāśraya
of all the branches that trunk the original support

12 By His own inconceivable power the gardener became the trunk, the original support of all the branches.

The nine sannyāsīs — the nine roots —

পরমানন্দ পুরী, আর কেশব ভারতী।
ব্রহ্মানন্দ পুরী, আর ব্রহ্মানন্দ ভারতী ॥ ১৩ ॥

বিষ্ণুপুরী, কেশবপুরী, পুরী কৃষ্ণানন্দ। শ্রীনৃসিংহতীর্থ, আর পুরী সুখানন্দ ॥ ১৪ ॥

এই নব মূল নিকসিল বৃক্ষমূলে । এই নব মূলে বৃক্ষ করিল নিশ্চলে ॥ ১৫ ॥

paramānanda purī, āra keśava bhāratī Paramānanda Purī and Keśava Bhāratī
brahmānanda purī, āra brahmānanda bhāratī Brahmānanda Purī and Brahmānanda Bhāratī
viṣṇu-purī, keśava-purī, purī kṛṣṇānanda
Viṣṇu Purī Keśava Purī Purī Kṛṣṇānanda
śrī-nṛsiṁhatīrtha, āra purī sukhānanda Śrī Nṛsiṁha Tīrtha and Purī Sukhānanda ei nava mūla nikasila vṛkṣa-mūle
these nine roots sprang up at the base of the tree ei nava mūle vṛkṣa karila niścale
on these nine roots the tree made immovable

13–15 At the base of the tree nine roots sprang up: Paramānanda Purī and Keśava Bhāratī, Brahmānanda Purī and Brahmānanda Bhāratī, Viṣṇu Purī, Keśava Purī, Kṛṣṇānanda Purī, Śrī Nṛsiṁha Tīrtha and Sukhānanda Purī. On them the tree stood immovable.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
All the sannyāsīs named "Purī" are related to Śrī Īśvara Purī, and all those named "Bhāratī" are related to Keśava Bhāratī, the guru who gave Mahāprabhu sannyāsa.

Anubhāṣya.
Keśava Purī, Kṛṣṇānanda Purī, Nṛsiṁha Tīrtha and Sukhānanda Purī. In the Gaura-gaṇoddeśa (verses 97–100): "Kṛṣṇānanda, Keśava, Śrī Dāmodara and Rāghava, Ananta, Sukhānanda, Govinda and Raghunātha — with the title 'Purī,' in that order — are to be known as the eight siddhis beginning with aṇimā. The nine sons of Jayantī, steadfast in celibacy and equal-sighted — the nine bhāgavatas who formerly, as the Śrī Bhāgavata-saṁhitā relates, answered Janaka — have now become sannyāsīs and always sport with the Lord Gaurahari, as before: Śrī Nṛsiṁhānanda Tīrtha, Śrī Satyānanda Bhāratī, Śrī Nṛsiṁha, Cidānanda and Jagannātha — the Tīrthas."

Anubhāṣya.

Paramānanda Purī was a brāhmaṇa from Trihuta (Tirhut), a disciple of Śrī Mādhavendra Purī and very dear to Śrī Mahāprabhu. Caitanya-bhāgavata (Antya, Chapter 11): “Among the sannyāsīs the Lord’s dear one is he alone, Purī Gosāñi, and no other. Dāmodara-Svarūpa and Paramānanda Purī — these two alone have a place among His sannyāsī associates. Both are always near Him, and in the Lord’s sannyāsa they take up the daṇḍa. Purī is absorbed in meditation, Dāmodara in kīrtana.  As much love as the Lord has for Purī Gosāñi, so much He has for Dāmodara-Svarūpa.”

The Lord’s words on seeing Paramānanda Purī (Caitanya-bhāgavata, Antya, Chapter 3): “Today My eyes are blessed, today My birth has borne fruit, today all My dharma has borne fruit. The Lord said: ‘Today My sannyāsa has borne fruit; today Mādhavendra has appeared to Me.’ For a long while they bowed to each other. Paramānanda Purī is Caitanya’s beloved abode.”

Paramānanda Purī lived in Puruṣottama, west of the temple, where he made a maṭha for himself and dug a well. The water of the well was bad, and Mahāprabhu said (Caitanya-bhāgavata, Antya, Chapter 3): “‘Mahāprabhu Jagannātha, give Me this boon: let the Gaṅgā enter this well.’ The Lord said: ‘Listen, all devotees! Whoever bathes in or drinks the water of this well will truly obtain the fruit of bathing in the Gaṅgā and will have the purest devotion to Kṛṣṇa.’ The Lord said: ‘Know for certain that I remain on earth out of love for Purī Gosāñi.’” In the Gaura-gaṇoddeśa (verse 118): “Śrī Paramānanda Purī was formerly Uddhava.”

Keśava Bhāratī belonged to the “Bhāratī” sampradāya, one of the sampradāyas of the daṇḍīs of the ten names founded by Śrī Śaṅkara. Three sampradāyas — Sarasvatī, Bhāratī and Purī — are under the Śṛṅgerī maṭha in the south. Śrī Keśava Bhāratī was living at that time in a branch maṭha at Kāṭoyā. Some say that, although he was a brahma-sannyāsī, he received his mantra from Śrī Mādhavendra Purīpāda of the Śrī Mādhva-sampradāya and was a Vaiṣṇava sannyāsī. In the village of Khāṭundi (Kāndarā post office, Barddhamāna district) he established the service of a Deity and a maṭha. According to the proprietors of the maṭha, they are of Keśava Bhāratī’s line: Keśava had sons (by another account, disciples) named Niśāpati and Uṣāpati. Of Niśāpati’s line, Śrī Nakaṛicandra Vidyāratna is now the custodian of the service, and Uṣāpati’s line lives at Rākhāladāsapura near Baiṁci in Hooghly. They may be descendants from Keśava Bhāratī’s life before sannyāsa. According to some, Keśava Bhāratī’s brother — or, by another account, Balabhadra, a disciple of his disciple Mādhava Bhāratī — also became a Bhāratī. From his life before sannyāsa he had two sons, Madana and Gopāla. Madana lived in Āuriyā and Gopāla in Denduḍa. Madana's descendants bear the title "Bhāratī," and Gopāla's the title "Brahmacārī." Many members of both families are still living. In the Gaura-gaṇoddeśa (verse 52): "The sage Sāndīpani, who formerly gave Kṛṣṇa the sacred thread in Mathurā, has now become Keśava Bhāratī." Verse 117: "Some say that Keśava Bhāratī is Akrūra." In 1432 of the Śaka era he gave sannyāsa to Nimāi Paṇḍita at Kāṭoyā. See the Vaiṣṇava-mañjuṣā, issue 2.

Śrī Brahmānanda Purī was Śrī Mahāprabhu's companion in kīrtana during His pastimes in Navadvīpa. Before and at the time of His sannyāsa, Mahāprabhu especially trusted him. He also came with the Lord to Nīlācala.

Śrī Brahmānanda Bhāratī came to Nīlācala for the Lord's darśana dressed in a deerskin. Śrī Mahāprabhu Himself went up to him and, as if He did not recognise him, said that He wished to see Bhāratī. Hearing this, Brahmānanda took off the deerskin and put on a saffron outer cloth. He lived for some time in Nīlācala near Mahāprabhu.

Paramānanda Purī — the central root —

মধ্যমূল পরমানন্দ পুরী মহাধীর । এই নব মূলে বৃক্ষ করিল সুস্থির ॥ ১৬ ॥

madhya-mūla paramānanda purī mahā-dhīra
the central root Paramānanda Purī greatly steadfast ei nava mūle vṛkṣa karila susthira
on these nine roots the tree made firm

16 The central root is Paramānanda Purī, a man of great steadfastness, and on these nine roots the tree stood secure.[1]

From them, countless branches and sub-branches —

স্কন্ধের উপরে বহু শাখা নিকসিল । উপরি উপরি শাখা অসংখ্য হইল ॥ ১৭ ॥

skandhera upare bahu śākhā nikasila of the trunk above many branches sprang out upari upari śākhā asaṅkhya haila higher and higher branches countless became 17 From the trunk many branches grew, and as they rose higher and higher, they became countless.

বিশ বিশ শাখা করি' এক এক মণ্ডল । মহা-মহা-শাখা ছাইল ব্রহ্মাণ্ড সকল ॥ ১৮ ॥

biśa biśa śākhā kari' eka eka maṇḍala twenty twenty branches making one one circle mahā-mahā-śākhā chāila brahmāṇḍa sakala great great branches covered universes all

18 The branches grew in circles of twenty, and the mighty boughs covered all the universes.

একৈক শাখাতে উপশাখা শত শত । যত উপজিল শাখা কে গণিবে কত ॥ ১৯ ॥

ekaika śākhāte upaśākhā śata śata on each branch sub-branches hundreds hundreds yata upajila śākhā ke gaṇibe kata as many as sprang up branches who will count how many 19 Each branch put out hundreds of smaller ones. Who can count how many sprang up?

মুখ্য মুখ্য শাখাগণের নাম-গণন । আগে ত' করিব, শুন বৃক্ষের বর্ণন ॥ ২০ ॥

mukhya mukhya śākhā-gaṇera nāma-gaṇana chief chief of the branches of the names the counting āge ta' kariba, śuna vṛkṣera varṇana
further on indeed I shall do hear of the tree the description

20 I shall list the names of the chief branches further on; now hear the description of the tree.[2]

On the two sides of the main trunk, two trunks — Nitāi and Advaita —

বৃক্ষের উপরে শাখা হৈল দুই স্কন্ধ । এক 'অদ্বৈত' নাম, আর 'নিত্যানন্দ' ॥ ২১ ॥

vṛkṣera upare śākhā haila dui skandha
of the tree above branches became two trunks eka 'advaita' nāma, āra 'nityānanda'
one 'Advaita' named the other 'Nityānanda'

21 Higher up, the tree branched into two trunks: one is named Advaita, and the other Nityānanda.[3]

The spread through a succession of branches and sub-branches — disciples and their disciples —

সেই দুইস্কন্ধে শাখা যত উপজিল । তার উপশাখাগণে জগৎ ছাইল ॥ ২২ ॥

sei dui-skandhe śākhā yata upajila
on those two trunks branches as many as sprang up tāra upaśākhā-gaṇe jagat chāila their sub-branches the world covered

22 Many branches sprang from those two trunks, and their offshoots covered the world.

বড় শাখা, উপশাখা, তার উপশাখা । জগৎ ব্যাপিল তার কে করিবে লেখা ॥ ২৩ ॥

baḍa śākhā, upaśākhā, tāra upaśākhā great branches sub-branches their sub-branches jagat vyāpila tāra ke karibe lekhā
the world pervaded of them who will make a record

23 Great branches, smaller branches and their offshoots filled the world. Who could ever write them all down?

শিষ্য, প্রশিষ্য, আর উপশিষ্যগণ । জগৎ ব্যাপিল তার নাহিক গণন ॥ ২৪ ॥

śiṣya, praśiṣya, āra upaśiṣya-gaṇa disciples grand-disciples and later disciples jagat vyāpila tāra nāhika gaṇana
the world pervaded of them there is no counting

24 Disciples, the disciples of disciples and their followers spread over the world beyond all counting.

উডুম্বর-বৃক্ষ যেন ফলে সর্ব্ব অঙ্গে । এইমত ভক্তিবৃক্ষে সর্ব্বত্র ফল লাগে ॥ ২৫ ॥

uḍumbara-vṛkṣa yena phale sarva aṅge
the udumbara tree as bears fruit on all limbs ei mata bhakti-vṛkṣe sarvatra phala lāge in this way on the tree of bhakti everywhere fruit appears

25 As the udumbara fig bears fruit on all its limbs, so the tree of bhakti bears fruit everywhere.

And so the pastime in which Gaura the gardener distributes the nectarean fruits of love for Kṛṣṇa —

মূলস্কন্ধের শাখা-উপশাখাগণে । লাগিল যে প্রেমফল, — অমৃতকে জিনে ॥ ২৬ ॥

mūla-skandhera śākhā-upaśākhā-gaṇe
of the main trunk on the branches and sub-branches
lāgila ye prema-phala, — amṛtake jine grew which the fruit of love nectar surpasses

26 On the branches and offshoots of the main trunk grew the fruit of love, sweeter than nectar.

The fruits of prema are given away free —

পাকিল যে প্রেমফল অমৃত-মধুর । বিলায় চৈতন্যমালী, নাহি লয় মূল ॥ ২৭ ॥

pākila ye prema-phala amṛta-madhura ripened which the fruit of love nectar-sweet vilāya caitanya-mālī, nāhi laya mūla
distributes Caitanya the gardener not takes price

27 When the fruit of love ripened, sweet as nectar, the gardener Caitanya gave it away and asked no price.

Anubhāṣya.
"Mūla": price (mūlya).

ত্রিজগতে যত আছে ধন-রত্নমণি । একফলের মূল্য করি' তাহা নাহি গণি ॥ ২৮ ॥

tri-jagate yata āche dhana-ratnamaṇi in the three worlds as much as there is wealth jewels gems eka-phalera mūlya kari' tāhā nāhi gaṇi
of one fruit the price making that not I count

28 All the wealth and jewels of the three worlds I would not count as the price of a single fruit.

Distribution without regard to who is worthy or unworthy —

মাগে বা না মাগে কেহ, পাত্র বা অপাত্র । ইহার বিচার নাহি জানে, দেয় মাত্র ॥ ২৯ ॥

māge vā nā māge keha, pātra vā apātra asks or not asks anyone worthy or unworthy ihāra vicāra nāhi jāne, deya mātra of this consideration not He knows He gives simply 29 Whether one asks or not, whether one is worthy or unworthy, He does not consider; He simply gives.

The deliverance of poor and suffering jīvas —

অঞ্জলি অঞ্জলি ভরি' ফেলে চতুর্দ্দিশে । দরিদ্র কুড়াঞা খায়, মালাকার হাসে ॥ ৩০ ॥

añjali añjali bhari' phele caturdiśe handful handful filling He throws in the four directions
daridra kuḍāñā khāya, mālākāra hāse
the poor gathering eat the gardener smiles

30 Filling His hands again and again, He scatters the fruit in all directions; the poor gather it up and eat, and the gardener smiles.

মালাকার কহে, — শুন, বৃক্ষ-পরিবার । মূলশাখা-উপশাখা যতেক প্রকার ॥ ৩১ ॥

mālākāra kahe, — śuna, vṛkṣa-parivāra
the gardener says listen of the tree family mūlaśākhā-upaśākhā yateka prakāra
main branches sub-branches as many kinds

31 The gardener said: "Listen, O family of the tree, all you main branches and offshoots of every kind!

The whole tree of Caitanya is full of consciousness, and by tasting its conscious fruits the insensible jīva gains consciousness —

অলৌকিক বৃক্ষ করে সর্ব্বেন্দ্রিয়-কর্ম্ম । স্থাবর হইয়া ধরে জঙ্গমের ধর্ম্ম ॥ ৩২ ॥

alaukika vṛkṣa kare sarvendriya-karma supramundane tree performs of all the senses the work sthāvara haiyā dhare jaṅgamera dharma immovable being holds of the moving the nature

32 This wondrous tree is wholly spiritual and does the work of all the senses. Though rooted like any tree, it moves and acts like a living creature.

এ বৃক্ষের অঙ্গ হয় সব সচেতন । বাড়িয়া ব্যাপিল সবে সকল ভুবন ॥ ৩৩ ॥

e vṛkṣera aṅga haya saba sa-cetana of this tree limbs are all conscious bāḍiyā vyāpila sabe sakala bhuvana growing pervaded all all the worlds

33 All the limbs of this tree are conscious, and as they grow, they spread through all the worlds.

Seeing that He alone cannot preach the name and prema, He orders everyone to distribute without discrimination —

একলা মালাকার আমি কাহাঁ কাহাঁ যাব । একলা বা কত ফল পাড়িয়া বিলাব ॥ ৩৪ ॥

ekalā mālākāra āmi kāhāṁ kāhāṁ yāba alone gardener I where where shall go ekalā vā kata phala pāḍiyā vilāba alone or how many fruits picking shall distribute

34 I am a lone gardener. How many places can I go to? How many fruits can I pick and give away by Myself?

একলা উঠাঞা দিতে হয় পরিশ্রম । কেহ পায়, কেহ না পায়, রহে মনে ভ্রম ॥ ৩৫ ॥

ekalā uṭhāñā dite haya pariśrama alone picking up to give is labour keha pāya, keha nā pāya, rahe mane bhrama someone gets someone not gets remains in the mind doubt

35 It is hard work to pick them and give them out alone, and I am left in doubt: some will receive them, and some will not.

অতএব আমি আজ্ঞা দিলুঁ সবাকারে । যাঁহা তাঁহা প্রেমফল দেহ' যারে তারে ॥ ৩৬ ॥

ataeva āmi ājñā diluṁ sabākāre therefore I order have given to all yāṁhā tāṁhā prema-phala deha' yāre tāre anywhere the fruit of love give to anyone

36 Therefore I give this order to all of you: wherever you are, give the fruit of love to anyone and everyone.

একলা মালাকার আমি কত ফল খাব । না দিয়া বা এই ফল আর কি করিব ॥ ৩৭ ॥

ekalā mālākāra āmi kata phala khāba alone gardener I how many fruits shall eat
nā diyā vā ei phala āra ki kariba
not giving or this fruit else what shall I do

37 I am a lone gardener. How many fruits can I eat? And if I do not give this fruit away, what else shall I do with it?

আত্ম-ইচ্ছামৃতে বৃক্ষ সিঞ্চি নিরন্তর । তাহাতে অসংখ্য ফল বৃক্ষের উপর ॥ ৩৮ ॥

ātma-icchāmṛte vṛkṣa siñci nirantara of My own desire with the nectar the tree I water constantly tāhāte asaṅkhya phala vṛkṣera upara
by that countless fruits of the tree upon 38 I water the tree unceasingly with the nectar of My own desire, and so it bears countless fruits.

By tasting prema the jīva attains immortality —

অতএব সব ফল দেহ’ যারে তারে ৷ খাইয়া হউক্ লোক অজর অমরে ॥ ৩৯ ॥

ataeva saba phala deha’ yāre tāre therefore all fruits give to anyone khāiyā hauk loka ajara amare
eating may become people ageless immortal

39 Therefore give all these fruits away to anyone, and let people eat them and be free from old age and death.

Seeing Gaura’s mercy, the jīva attains eternal good in chanting Gaura’s name —

জগৎ ব্যাপিয়া মোর হবে পুণ্য খ্যাতি ৷ সুখী হইয়া লোক মোর গাহিবেক কীর্ত্তি ॥ ৪০ ॥

jagat vyāpiyā mora habe puṇya khyāti
the world pervading My will be holy fame
sukhī haiyā loka mora gāhibeka kīrti
happy becoming people My will sing glory

40 My holy fame will spread through the world, and people will sing My glory with joy.

Anubhāṣya.
Piety makes people in the world happy, and the spread of sin increases human misery. The pure life of the pious is glorified, while people do not even wish to speak of the outrages of the sinful. In the same way, when the people of the world become happy by obtaining kṛṣṇa-prema, the good fame of the One who gives prema will grow.

Everyone born as a human being in the land of Bhārata must show people eternal mercy — that is, turn them towards Kṛṣṇa —

ভারত-ভূমিতে হৈল মনুষ্য-জন্ম যার । জন্ম সার্থক করি' কর পর-উপকার ॥ ৪১ ॥

bhārata-bhūmite haila manuṣya-janma yāra of Bhārata in the land has been human birth whose janma sārthaka kari' kara para-upakāra birth fruitful making do others' welfare

41 Let everyone who has taken human birth in the land of Bhārata make that birth fruitful by working for the good of others.

Anubhāṣya.
To be born a human being in holy Bhāratavarṣa and to do the world real, eternal good — this is the fulfilment of having received a body in the holiest land and among the highest of beings.

*To turn the jīva towards devotion to Kṛṣṇa by body, mind and words is the highest mercy, the highest auspicious act (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 22, verse 35) —*

এতাবজ্জন্মসাফল্যং দেহিনামিহ দেহিষু । প্রাণৈরর্থৈর্ধিয়া বাচা শ্রেয় আচরণং সদা ॥ ৪২ ॥

etāvaj janma-sāphalyaṁ
this much of birth the success
dehināṁ iha dehiṣu
of the embodied here towards the embodied prāṇair arthair dhiyā vācā
with life with wealth with intelligence with words śreya ācaraṇaṁ sadā
the good doing always

42 'This alone is the true success of birth for embodied beings in this world: always to do good to others with one's life, wealth, intelligence and words.' (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.22.35)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The fulfilment of birth for an embodied jīva is always to do good to others with his life, wealth, intelligence and speech.

Anubhāṣya.

After the pastime of stealing the garments, Śrī Kṛṣṇa went far away with His friends, the cowherd boys, and sat down to rest beneath some trees. Seeing how the trees help others and how compassionate and tolerant they are, He pointed to them and said to His friends:

sadā prāṇaiḥ arthaiḥ dhiyā vācā (by every means) dehiṣu (towards the jīvas) śreya ācaraṇam (doing eternal good — that is, removing their aversion to Bhagavān, turning them towards Him, and so fully showing eternal mercy) — etāvat eva iha (in this world) dehinām (for the jīvas) janma-sāphalyam ([is], to be supplied).

*(Viṣṇu Purāṇa, Part 3, Chapter 12, verse 45)*

প্রাণিনামুপকারায় যদেবেহ পরত্র চ ৷ কর্ম্মণা মনসা বাচা তদেব মতিমান্ ভজেৎ ॥ ৪৩ ॥

prāṇinām upakārāya
of living beings for the benefit yad eveha paratra ca
whatever indeed here in the next and karmaṇā manasā vācā
by deeds by mind by words
tad eva mati-mān bhajet
that alone the wise should practise

43 ‘By deeds, thoughts and words the wise should do only that which brings good to living beings, in this world and the next.’ (Viṣṇu Purāṇa, 3.12.45)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

An intelligent person does by deed, mind and word whatever benefits living beings in this life and the next.

Anubhāṣya.

mati-mān (an intelligent person) yat eva karma iha (in this world) paratra (in the next) ca prāṇinām upakārāya (for their eternal good) [is], tat eva (that is, only what produces the sukṛti that turns one towards devotion to Bhagavān) karmaṇā manasā vācā (by body, mind and words) bhajet.

মালী মনুষ্য আমার নাহি রাজ্য-ধন । ফল-ফুল দিয়া করি' পুণ্য উপার্জ্জন ॥ ৪৪ ॥

mālī manuṣya āmāra nāhi rājya-dhana
a gardener a man My not kingdom wealth phala-phula diyā kari' puṇya upārjana fruits flowers giving doing merit earning

44 I am a gardener, a man with no kingdom and no riches. By giving away fruits and flowers I earn merit.

Seeing the causeless mercy of the tree, He wishes to become the original wish-fulfilling tree —

মালী হঞা বৃক্ষ হইলাঙ এই ত' ইচ্ছাতে । সর্ব্বপ্রাণীর উপকার হয় বৃক্ষ হৈতে ॥ ৪৫ ॥

mālī hañā vṛkṣa hailāṅa ei ta' icchāte a gardener being the tree I became this indeed by the wish sarva-prāṇīra upakāra haya vṛkṣa haite of all living beings benefit is the tree from 45 I am the gardener, and yet I have become the tree, for that was My wish: a tree benefits every living being.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 22, verse 33)*

অহো এষাং বরং জন্ম সর্ব্বপ্রাণ্যুপজীবনম্ । সুজনস্যেব যেষাং বৈ বিমুখা যান্তি নার্থিনঃ ॥ ৪৬ ॥

aho eṣāṁ varaṁ janma
ah of these excellent birth
sarva-prāṇy-upajīvanam
of all living beings the sustenance
su-janasyeva yeṣāṁ vai
of a good man as from whom indeed
vimukhā yānti nārthinaḥ disappointed go away not petitioners

46 ‘Ah, how excellent is the birth of these trees, which sustains all living beings! Like a good man, they never let one who asks of them go away disappointed.’” (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.22.33)[4]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Pointing to the trees, He says: “Oh, all living beings live by them! Their birth is fruitful. Those who ask never leave them empty-handed. They behave like good people.”

Thus ends the ninth chapter of the “Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.”

Anubhāṣya.

After the pastime of stealing the garments, Śrī Kṛṣṇa went far away with His friends, the cowherd boys, and rested beneath the trees. Seeing the trees’ tolerance and their constant readiness to help others, He pointed to them and said to His friends:

aho eṣām (of these trees) sarva-prāṇy-upajīvanam (that by which all beings live)[5] janma sujanasya iva varam (the best), — yeṣām (from whom) arthinaḥ (those who ask) vimukhāḥ (with their wishes unfulfilled) na yānti (do not go away).

Hearing this, all the parts of the tree were filled with joy —

এই আজ্ঞা কৈল যদি চৈতন্য-মালাকার । পরম আনন্দ পাইল বৃক্ষ-পরিবার ॥ ৪৭ ॥

ei ājñā kaila yadi caitanya-mālākāra
this order gave when Caitanya the gardener parama ānanda pāila vṛkṣa-parivāra
supreme joy attained of the tree the family

47 When the gardener Caitanya gave this order, the whole family of the tree was filled with joy.

The fruits of prema are given without regard to qualification —

যে যাঁহা তাঁহা দান করে প্রেমফল । ফলাস্বাদে মত্ত লোক হইল সকল ॥ ৪৮ ॥

ye yāṁhā tāṁhā dāna kare prema-phala whoever wherever there gift makes the fruit of love phalāsvāde matta loka haila sakala
by tasting the fruit intoxicated people became all

48 Each branch began to give away the fruit of love everywhere, and all the people who tasted it became intoxicated.

মহা-মাদক প্রেমফল পেট ভরি' খায় । মাতিল সকল লোক — হাসে, নাচে, গায় ॥ ৪৯ ॥

mahā-mādaka prema-phala peṭa bhari' khāya greatly intoxicating the fruit of love belly filling they eat mātila sakala loka — hāse, nāce, gāya
maddened all people laugh dance sing

49 People ate their fill of this most intoxicating fruit of love, and, maddened by it, they all laughed, danced and sang.

কেহ গড়াগড়ি যায়, কেহ ত' হুঙ্কার । দেখি' আনন্দিত হঞা হাসে মালাকার ॥ ৫০ ॥

keha gaḍāgaḍi yāya, keha ta' huṅkāra someone rolling goes someone indeed roaring dekhi' ānandita hañā hāse mālākāra
seeing delighted becoming smiles the gardener

50 Some rolled on the ground, some roared, and seeing this, the gardener smiled with delight.

*By giving the jīva love for Kṛṣṇa like His own, He makes him a mahā-bhāgavata —*

এই মালাকার খায় এই প্রেমফল । নিরবধি মত্ত রহে, বিবশ-বিহ্বল ॥ ৫১ ॥

ei mālākāra khāya ei prema-phala
this gardener eats this fruit of love niravadhi matta rahe, vivaśa-vihvala ever intoxicated remains helpless overwhelmed

51 The gardener Himself eats this fruit of love and remains ever intoxicated, helpless and overwhelmed.

সর্ব্বলোকে মত্ত কৈলা আপন-সমান । প্রেমে মত্ত লোক বিনা নাহি দেখি আন ॥ ৫২ ॥

sarva-loke matta kailā āpana-samāna
all people intoxicated made His own equal preme matta loka vinā nāhi dekhi āna with love intoxicated people except not I see other

52 He made all people as intoxicated as Himself; I see no one who is not mad with love.

Even lowly blasphemers and others are delivered by obtaining love for Kṛṣṇa

—

যে যে পূর্ব্বে নিন্দা কৈল, বলি' মাতোয়াল । সেই ফল খায়, নাচে, বলে — ভাল ভাল ॥ ৫৩ ॥

ye ye pūrve nindā kaila, bali' mātoyāla who who before blame made saying drunkard sei phala khāya, nāce, bale — bhāla bhāla that fruit eat dance say good good

53 Even those who once reviled Him, calling Him a drunkard, ate that fruit and danced, crying, "Wonderful, wonderful!"

Anubhāṣya.
Thus ends the ninth chapter of the "Anubhāṣya."

এই ত' কহিলুঁ প্রেমফল-বিতরণ । এবে শুন, ফলদাতা যে যে শাখাগণ ॥ ৫৪ ॥

ei ta' kahiluṁ prema-phala-vitaraṇa this indeed I have told of the fruit of love the distribution ebe śuna, phala-dātā ye ye śākhā-gaṇa
now hear the givers of fruit which which branches

54 Thus I have told of the distribution of the fruit of love. Now hear of the branches that give the fruit.

শ্রীরূপ-রঘুনাথ-পদে যার আশ । চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত কহে কৃষ্ণদাস ॥ ৫৫ ॥

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa Śrī Rūpa's, Raghunātha's at the feet whose hope caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa
"Caitanya-caritāmṛta" narrates Kṛṣṇadāsa

55 Praying at the feet of Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Raghunātha, I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, narrate the Caitanya-caritāmṛta.

Notes

1. The Gauḍīya Maṭha edition reads ei nava mūle (“on these nine roots”); some other editions read aṣṭa dike aṣṭa mūla (“eight roots in the eight directions”). ↩
2. The Gauḍīya Maṭha edition reads nāma-gaṇana (“the counting of the names”); some other editions read nāma agaṇana (“the names are countless”). The branches are named in Ādi 10–12. ↩
3. The Gauḍīya Maṭha edition reads vṛkṣera upare śākhā haila dui skandha (“above, the branches of the tree became two trunks”); some other editions read śākhāra upare haila vṛkṣa dui skandha. ↩
4. The Gauḍīya Maṭha edition reads sarva-prāṇy-upajīvanam (“a birth that sustains all living beings”); some other editions read upajīvinām. ↩
5. So in the edition; the transliteration of the verse reads upajīvinām (“who sustain all beings”). ↩