Chapter 16

The Journey to Gauḍa Once Again

(English translation from the Bengali, following the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition and the Anubhāṣya, 2026)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya

Summary. When Mahāprabhu wished to go to Vṛndāvana, Rāmānanda and Sārvabhauma raised all kinds of obstacles. Meanwhile, in the third year, the Gauḍīya devotees came to Nīlācala. This time the wives of the Vaiṣṇavas brought from Bengal many kinds of food that He loved, to invite Śrīman Mahāprabhu and feed Him. When they reached Śrī Kṣetra, Mahāprabhu honoured them by sending them garlands. That year too the Guṇḍicā temple was washed and the other services were done as before. When the four months of Cāturmāsya had passed, the devotees began to leave for home. Mahāprabhu forbade Nityānanda Prabhu to come to Nīlācala every year. At the question of the residents of Kulīnagrāma He again described the marks of a Vaiṣṇava. That year Vidyānidhi stayed in Nīlācala and saw the Oḍana-ṣaṣṭhī festival. When the devotees had taken leave, Mahāprabhu showed His firm resolve to go to Vṛndāvana and set out on the day of Vijayā-daśamī. King Pratāparudra made many arrangements along Mahāprabhu’s way. After they crossed the river Citrotpalā, Rāmānanda, Maṅgarāja (Mardarāja?) and Haricandana went along with Mahāprabhu. Mahāprabhu asked Gadādhara Paṇḍita to go back to Nīlācala, but he would not listen. From Kaṭaka Mahāprabhu bound the Paṇḍita Gosvāmī by an oath and sent him to Śrī Puruṣottama, and at Bhadraka He bade farewell to Rāmānanda. Then, reaching the border of the Oḍra country, He travelled by boat as far as Pāṇihāṭi with the help of a yavana governor. After that the Lord went from the house of Rāghava Paṇḍita by way of Kumārahaṭṭa to the village of Kuliyā and freed many people from their offences. From there He went to Rāmakeli and accepted Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Sanātana. Turning back from Rāmakeli, He instructed Raghunātha dāsa and sent him home. Coming once more to Nīlācala, the Lord began to deliberate about going to Vṛndāvana alone.

Having come to Gauḍa, Gaurasundara devotes Himself to delivering the people —

গৌড়োদ্যানং গৌরমেঘঃ সিঞ্চন্স্বালোকনামৃতৈঃ । ভবাগ্নিদগ্ধজনতা-বীরুধঃ সমজীবয়ৎ ॥ ১ ॥

gauḍodyānaṁ gaura-meghaḥ
the garden of Gauḍa the Gaura-cloud siñcan svālokanāmṛtaiḥ sprinkling with the nectar of His glances bhavāgni-dagdha-janatā-by the fire of worldly existence scorched of the people vīrudhaḥ samajīvayat
the creepers revived

1 Sprinkling the garden of Gauḍa with the nectar of His glances, the cloud that is Gaura revived the people — creepers scorched by the fire of worldly existence.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
In the garden of Gauḍa the cloud in the form of Gaura sprinkled the nectar of His glance on the creepers — the multitudes of people burned in the forest fire of worldly existence — and brought them back to life.

Anubhāṣya.
gaura-meghaḥ (the cloud, Śrī Gaura) svālokanāmṛtaiḥ (with the nectar of His own glance) gauḍodyānaṁ (the garden, the land of Gauḍa) siñcan (sprinkling) bhavāgni-dagdha-janatā-vīrudhaḥ (the creepers, the multitudes of people burned by the forest fire of worldly existence) samajīvayat (brought to life).

jaya jaya gauracandra jaya nityānanda glory glory to Gauracandra glory to Nityānanda jayādvaita-candra jaya gaura-bhakta-vṛnda glory to Advaitacandra glory of Gaura the devotees to the multitude

2 Glory, glory to Gauracandra! Glory to Nityānanda! Glory to Advaitacandra! Glory to all the devotees of Gaura![1]

The Lord wishes to go to Vṛndāvana; the king's dismay —

প্রভুর হইল ইচ্ছা যাইতে বৃন্দাবন । শুনিয়া প্রতাপরুদ্র হইলা বিমন ॥ ৩ ॥

prabhura haila icchā yāite vṛndāvana of the Lord arose the desire to go to Vṛndāvana śuniyā pratāparudra hailā vimana hearing Pratāparudra became downcast

3 The Lord conceived the desire to go to Vṛndāvana, and when Pratāparudra heard of it, he was downcast.

The king calls the Bhaṭṭācārya and Rāya and asks them to hold the Lord back —

সার্ব্বভৌম, রামানন্দ, আনি' দুই জন । দুঁহাকে কহেন রাজা বিনয়-বচন ॥ ৪ ॥

sārvabhauma, rāmānanda, āni' dui jana Sārvabhauma Rāmānanda summoning the two persons duṁhāke kahena rājā vinaya-vacana to both speaks the king humble words

4 The king summoned the two of them, Sārvabhauma and Rāmānanda, and spoke to them humbly:

নীলাদ্রি ছাড়ি' প্রভুর মন অন্যত্র যাইতে । তোমরা করহ যত্ন তাঁহারে রাখিতে ॥ ৫ ॥

nīlādri chāḍi' prabhura mana anyatra yāite Nīlādri leaving of the Lord the mind elsewhere to go tomarā karaha yatna tāṁhāre rākhite you make effort Him to keep

5 "The Lord has a mind to leave Nīlādri and go elsewhere. Please make every effort to keep Him here.

তাঁহা বিনা এই রাজ্য মোরে নাহি ভায় । গোসাঞি রাখিতে করহ নানা উপায় ॥ ৬ ॥

tāṁhā vinā ei rājya more nāhi bhāya Him without this kingdom to me not is pleasing gosāñi rākhite karaha nānā upāya
the Gosāñi to keep employ various means

6 Without Him this kingdom gives me no pleasure. Use every means to keep the Gosāñi here."

The Lord consults Rāya and the Bhaṭṭācārya about going to Vṛndāvana —

রামানন্দ, সার্ব্বভৌম, দুইজনা-স্থানে । তবে যুক্তি করে প্রভু — 'যাব বৃন্দাবনে' ॥ ৭ ॥

rāmānanda, sārvabhauma, dui-janā-sthāne Rāmānanda Sārvabhauma with the two tabe yukti kare prabhu — 'yāba vṛndāvane' then counsel takes the Lord — "I will go to Vṛndāvana"

7 Then the Lord took counsel with the two of them, Rāmānanda and Sārvabhauma: "I will go to Vṛndāvana."

Fearing separation, the two divert the Lord with persuasion and hold Him back —

দুঁহে কহে, — রথযাত্রা কর দরশন । কার্ত্তিক আইলে, তবে করিহ গমন ॥ ৮ ॥

duṁhe kahe, — ratha-yātrā kara daraśana the two say — the Ratha-yātrā do seeing kārtika āile, tabe kariha gamana
Kārtika when it comes then make departure

8 Both of them said, “See the Ratha-yātrā first; when Kārtika comes, then You may go.”

কার্ত্তিক আইলে কহে, — এবে মহা-শীত । দোলযাত্রা দেখি’ যাও, — এই ভাল রীত ॥ ৯ ॥

kārtika āile kahe, — ebe mahā-śīta
Kārtika when it came they say — now great cold dola-yātrā dekhi’ yāo, — ei bhāla rīta
the Dola-yātrā having seen go — this good way

9 When Kārtika came, they said, “Now it is bitterly cold. See the Dola-yātrā and then go — that is the proper way.”

আজি-কালি করি’ উঠায় বিবিধ উপায় । যাইতে সম্মতি না দেয় বিচ্ছেদের ভয় ॥ ১০ ॥

āji-kāli kari’ uṭhāya vividha upāya
today–tomorrow saying raise various pretexts yāite sammati nā deya vicchedera bhaya to going consent not give of separation out of fear

10 Saying “today, tomorrow,” they raised one pretext after another; afraid of separation, they would not consent to His going.

Though independent, Bhagavān is subject to His devotees —

যদ্যপি স্বতন্ত্র প্রভু নহে নিবারণ । ভক্ত-ইচ্ছা বিনা প্রভু না করে গমন ॥ ১১ ॥

yadyapi svatantra prabhu nahe nivāraṇa although independent the Lord not is to be stopped bhakta-icchā vinā prabhu nā kare gamana
the devotees' wish without the Lord not makes departure

11 Although the Lord is independent and no one can stop Him, He would not leave without the consent of His devotees.

In the third year the Gauḍīyas long to see the Lord —

তৃতীয় বৎসরে সব গৌড়ের ভক্তগণ । নীলাচলে চলিতে সবার হৈল মন ॥ ১২ ॥

tṛtīya vatsare saba gauḍera bhakta-gaṇa in the third year all of Gauḍa the devotees nīlācale calite sabāra haila mana to Nīlācala to go of all arose the wish

12 In the third year all the devotees of Gauḍa resolved to go to Nīlācala.

All go to the venerable Advaitācārya; Advaita sets out for Purī —

সবে মেলি' গেলা অদ্বৈত-আচার্য্যের পাশে । প্রভু দেখিতে আচার্য্য চলিলা উল্লাসে ॥ ১৩ ॥

sabe meli' gelā advaita-ācāryera pāśe
all gathering went Advaita Ācārya's to the side prabhu dekhite ācārya calilā ullāse
the Lord to see the Ācārya set out joyfully

13 They all gathered and went to Advaita Ācārya, and the Ācārya joyfully set out to see the Lord.

Despite the Lord's prohibition, Nitāi, who loves the Lord, goes to Purī to see Him —

যদ্যপি প্রভুর আজ্ঞা গৌড়েতে রহিতে ।
নিত্যানন্দ-প্রভুকে প্রেমভক্তি-প্রকাশিতে ॥ ১৪ ॥

তথাপি চলিলা মহাপ্রভুরে দেখিতে । নিত্যানন্দের প্রেম-চেষ্টা কে পারে বুঝিতে ॥ ১৫ ॥

yadyapi prabhura ājñā gauḍete rahite although of the Lord the order in Gauḍa to stay nityānanda-prabhuke prema-bhakti-prakāśite to Nityānanda Prabhu prema-bhakti to make manifest tathāpi calilā mahāprabhure dekhite nevertheless set out Mahāprabhu to see nityānandera prema-ceṣṭā ke pāre bujhite
Nityānanda's loving dealings who can understand

14–15 Although the Lord had ordered Nityānanda Prabhu to stay in Gauḍa and reveal prema-bhakti, Nityānanda set out all the same to see Mahāprabhu. Who can understand the ways of His love?

Rāghava of Pāṇihāṭi, Satyarāja and others of Kulīnagrāma set out —

আচার্য্যরত্ন, বিদ্যানিধি, শ্রীবাস, রামাই । বাসুদেব, মুরারি, গোবিন্দাদি তিন-ভাই ॥ ১৬ ॥

রাঘব-পণ্ডিত নিজ-ঝালি সাজাঞা । কুলীন-গ্রামবাসী চলে পট্টডোরী লঞা ॥ ১৭ ॥

ācāryaratna, vidyānidhi, śrīvāsa, rāmāi
Ācāryaratna Vidyānidhi Śrīvāsa Rāmāi
vāsudeva, murāri, govindādi tina-bhāi Vāsudeva Murāri Govinda and the others the three brothers rāghava-paṇḍita nija-jhāli sājāñā Rāghava Paṇḍita his own bags having prepared kulīna-grāma-vāsī cale paṭṭa-ḍorī lañā
the residents of Kulīna-grāma go silk ropes taking

16–17 Ācāryaratna, Vidyānidhi, Śrīvāsa, Rāmāi, Vāsudeva, Murāri, and Govinda with his two brothers set out. Rāghava Paṇḍita packed his bags (jhāli) for the journey, and the residents of Kulīna-grāma came bringing silk ropes.

Narahari and others set out from Khaṇḍa —

খণ্ডবাসী নরহরি, শ্রীরঘুনন্দন । সর্ব্ব-ভক্ত চলে, তার কে করে গণন ॥ ১৮ ॥

khaṇḍa-vāsī narahari, śrī-raghunandana
the resident of Khaṇḍa Narahari Śrī Raghunandana sarva-bhakta cale, tāra ke kare gaṇana
all the devotees go of them who makes a count

18 Narahari of Khaṇḍa and Śrī Raghunandana came too. All the devotees set out — who can count them?

Śivānanda, who knows the way, looks after and leads them all —

শিবানন্দ-সেন করে ঘাটি সমাধান । সবারে পালন করি' সুখে লঞা যান ॥ ১৯ ॥

śivānanda-sena kare ghāṭi samādhāna Śivānanda Sena does at the toll stations the settling sabāre pālana kari' sukhe lañā yāna all care taking happily leading goes

19 Śivānanda Sena settled the tolls at the crossings; taking care of everyone, he led them happily along.

Anubhāṣya.
"Settling matters at the toll stations (ghāṭi)" means making up for a shortage of money, or paying the toll (kara) that travellers must pay on the appointed roads and at the river crossings.

সবার সর্ব্বকার্য্য করেন, দেন বাসা-স্থান । শিবানন্দ জানে উড়িয়া-পথের সন্ধান ॥ ২০ ॥

sabāra sarva-kārya karena, dena vāsā-sthāna

śivānanda jāne uḍiyā-pathera sandhāna
Śivānanda knows of the Oḍiyā roads the details

20 He attended to everyone's needs and found them places to stay, for Śivānanda knew the roads through Orissa well.

The wives of the Vaiṣṇavas go to see the Lord — (1) the journey of Advaita's wife —

সে বৎসর প্রভু দেখিতে সব ঠাকুরাণী । চলিলা আচার্য্য-সঙ্গে অচ্যুত-জননী ॥ ২১ ॥

se vatsara prabhu dekhite saba ṭhākurāṇī

21 That year all the ladies went to see the Lord. Acyuta's mother went with the Ācārya.

The journey of Caitanya dāsa, Śivānanda's son —

তিঁহো চলিয়াছে প্রভুরে দেখিতে উল্লাস ॥ ২৩ ॥

23 Śivānanda's son, named Caitanya dāsa, also set out joyfully to see the Lord.

24 Ācāryaratna's wife went with him. I do not know how to describe her love.[2]

For the Lord's service they take along foods and other things He loves —

the toll collectors pacifying gives to all lodging places

26 Śivānanda Sena arranged everything. He pacified the toll collectors (ghāṭiyāla) and found lodgings for everyone.

Anubhāṣya.

The ghāṭiyāls were inspectors on the road. They unjustly and unlawfully exacted extra money from travellers. Śivānanda would give them what was rightfully due to them and ask them to give up their excessive demands.

ভক্ষ্য দিয়া করেন সবার সর্ব্বত্র পালনে ।
পরম আনন্দে যান প্রভুর দরশনে ॥ ২৭ ॥

27 Everywhere he looked after them all and gave them food, and he went on in supreme bliss to see the Lord.

At Remuṇā all see Gopīnātha; following Mādhava Purī, Advaita sings and dances —

28 Coming to Remuṇā, they had darśana of Gopīnātha, and there the Ācārya sang and danced.

The servitors, who knew Nityānanda from before, welcome Him —

বহুত সম্মান আসি' কৈল সেবকগণে ॥ ২৯ ॥

nityānandera paricaya saba-loka-sane

bahuta sammāna āsi' kaila sevaka-gaṇe

29 Nityānanda was known to all the people there, and the temple servants came and showed Him great honour.

*All spend the night there and honour the kṣīra-prasāda —*

সেই রাত্রি সব মহান্ত তাহাঞি রহিলা । বার ক্ষীর আনি' আগে সেবক ধরিলা ॥ ৩০ ॥

sei rātri saba mahānta tāhāñi rahilā that night all the great souls right there stayed

30 All those great souls stayed there that night, and a servant brought twelve pots of kṣīra (sweet rice) and set them before the devotees.

ক্ষীর-প্রসাদ পাঞা সবার বাড়িল আনন্দ ॥ ৩১ ॥

kṣīra bāṁṭi' sabāre dila prabhu-nityānanda
the kṣīra dividing to all gave Nityānanda Prabhu

the kṣīra prasāda receiving of all increased the bliss

31 Nityānanda Prabhu divided the kṣīra and gave it to everyone, and receiving that kṣīra-prasāda, they were all filled with joy.

Nityānanda tells how Śrī Purī, Gopāla and Gopīnātha came —

মাধবপুরীর কথা, গোপাল-স্থাপন । তাঁহারে গোপাল যৈছে মাগিল চন্দন ॥ ৩২ ॥

mādhava-purīra kathā, gopāla-sthāpana of Mādhava Purī the story of Gopāla the installation tāṁhāre gopāla yaiche māgila candana from him Gopāla how asked for sandalwood

32 The story of Mādhava Purī, the installation of Gopāla, how Gopāla asked him for sandalwood,[3]

The devotees had heard this account from Mahāprabhu's lips on the previous journey; the devotees' joy —

তাঁর লাগি' গোপীনাথ ক্ষীর চুরি কৈল । মহাপ্রভুর মুখে আগে এ কথা শুনিল ॥ ৩৩ ॥

tāṁra lāgi' gopīnātha kṣīra curi kaila

mahāprabhura mukhe āge e kathā śunila of Mahāprabhu from the mouth before this story they had heard

33 and how Gopīnātha stole kṣīra for his sake — they had heard this story earlier from Mahāprabhu's own mouth.

সেই কথা সবার মধ্যে কহে নিত্যানন্দ । শুনিয়া বৈষ্ণবমনে বাড়িল আনন্দ ॥ ৩৪ ॥

sei kathā sabāra madhye kahe nityānanda that story all among tells Nityānanda
śuniyā vaiṣṇavamane bāḍila ānanda
hearing in the hearts of the Vaiṣṇavas increased the bliss

34 Now Nityānanda told that story among them all, and the Vaiṣṇavas' hearts swelled with joy as they listened.

Anubhāṣya.

"From Mahāprabhu's lips." Mahāprabhu had earlier heard this from the lips of Śrīpāda Īśvara Purī (Madhya 4.18). After staying a few days in Śāntipura, in Śrī Advaita's house, He set out for Nīlācala with Nityānanda, Jagadānanda, Dāmodara Paṇḍita and Mukunda. On reaching Remuṇā He told them the story of Śrī Mādhavendra Purī, of Giridhārī Gopāla of Vṛndāvana and of Kṣīra-corā Gopīnātha of Remuṇā (see Madhya 4.19–190).

All come to Kaṭaka and see Sākṣi-gopāla; Nitāi tells the story of Sākṣi-gopāla —

এইমত চলি' চলি' কটক আইলা । সাক্ষীগোপাল দেখি' সবে সে দিন রহিলা ॥ ৩৫ ॥

ei mata cali' cali' kaṭaka āilā in this way going on going on to Kaṭaka they came sākṣī-gopāla dekhi' sabe se dina rahilā Sākṣi-gopāla seeing all that day stayed

35 Travelling on in this way, they came to Kaṭaka. There they saw Sākṣi-gopāla and stayed that day.

সাক্ষীগোপালের কথা কহে নিত্যানন্দ ।
শুনিয়া বৈষ্ণব-মনে বাড়িল আনন্দ ॥ ৩৬ ॥

sākṣī-gopālera kathā kahe nityānanda of Sākṣi-gopāla the story tells Nityānanda
śuniyā vaiṣṇava-mane bāḍila ānanda
hearing in the hearts of the Vaiṣṇavas increased the bliss

36 Nityānanda told the story of Sākṣi-gopāla, and the Vaiṣṇavas' hearts swelled with joy as they listened.

Anubhāṣya.
For the story of Sākṣi-gopāla see Madhya 5.8–138.

Eager to see the Lord, all hurry to Purī —

প্রভুকে মিলিতে সবার উৎকণ্ঠা অন্তরে । শীঘ্র করি' আইলা সবে শ্রীনীলাচলে ॥ ৩৭ ॥

prabhuke milite sabāra utkaṇṭhā antare
the Lord to meet of all eagerness in the heart śīghra kari' āilā sabe śrī-nīlācale quickly making came all to Śrī Nīlācala

37 Their hearts were all eager to meet the Lord, so they hurried on to Śrī Nīlācala.

Hearing that the Gauḍīya devotees have reached Āṭhāranālā, the Lord sends garlands with Govinda to welcome them —

আঠারনালাকে আইলা গোসাঞি শুনিয়া । দুইমালা পাঠাইলা গোবিন্দ হাতে দিয়া ॥ ৩৮ ॥

āṭhāranālāke āilā gosāñi śuniyā at Āṭhāranālā they have come the Gosāñi hearing duimālā pāṭhāilā govinda hāte diyā two garlands sent Govinda's in the hand placing 38 Hearing that they had reached Āṭhāranālā, the Gosāñi placed two garlands in Govinda's hands and sent him to them.

Anubhāṣya.
Āṭhāranālā is a bridge on the outskirts of the town of Śrī Puruṣottama.

Nitāi and Advaita put on the garlands —

দুই মালা গোবিন্দ দুই জনে পরাইল । অদ্বৈত, অবধূত-গোসাঞি বড় সুখ পাইল ॥ ৩৯ ॥

dui mālā govinda dui jane parāila the two garlands Govinda on the two persons put advaita, avadhūta-gosāñi baḍa sukha pāila Advaita the Avadhūta Gosāñi great happiness felt

39 Govinda put the two garlands on the two of them, and Advaita and the Avadhūta Gosāñi (Nityānanda) were overjoyed.

From there, as they set out, all begin to dance and sing —

তাহাঞি আরম্ভ কৈল কৃষ্ণ-সংকীর্ত্তন । নাচিতে নাচিতে চলি' আইলা দুইজন ॥ ৪০ ॥

tāhāñi ārambha kaila kṛṣṇa-saṅkīrtana right there beginning made of Kṛṣṇa-saṅkīrtana nācite nācite cali' āilā dui-jana dancing dancing going came the two

40 Right there they began Kṛṣṇa-saṅkīrtana, and the two of them came on, dancing all the way.

The Lord again sends garlands through Svarūpa and others —

পুনঃ মালা দিয়া স্বরূপাদি নিজগণে । আগু বাড়ি' পাঠাইল শচীর নন্দনে ॥ ৪১ ॥

punaḥ mālā diyā svarūpādi nija-gaṇe again garlands giving to Svarūpa and the others to His own men āgu bāḍi' pāṭhāila śacīra nandane ahead sending forward sent of Śacī by the son

41 Then Śacī's son gave garlands to Svarūpa and His other associates and sent them ahead.

Meeting everyone at Narendra Lake, they give them garlands —

নরেন্দ্র আসিয়া তাঁহা সবারে মিলিলা । মহাপ্রভুর দত্ত মালা সবারে পরাইলা ॥ ৪২ ॥

narendra āsiyā tāṁhā sabāre mililā to Narendra coming there with all they met mahāprabhura datta mālā sabāre parāilā by Mahāprabhu given the garlands on all they put 42 Coming to Narendra, they met everyone there and put Mahāprabhu's garlands on them all.

The Lord Himself comes to the Lion Gate and meets all the devotees —

সিংহদ্বার-নিকটে আইলা শুনি' গৌররায়। আপনে আসিয়া প্রভু মিলিলা সবায় ॥ ৪৩ ॥

siṁha-dvāra-nikaṭe āilā śuni' gaurarāya near the Siṁha-dvāra they have come hearing Gaurarāya āpane āsiyā prabhu mililā sabāya Himself coming the Lord met with all

43 When Gaurarāya heard that they had reached the Siṁha-dvāra, the Lord came Himself and met them all.

After seeing Jagannātha, the Lord goes home with all the devotees —

সবা লঞা কৈল জগন্নাথ-দরশন। সবা লঞা আইলা পুনঃ আপন-ভবন ॥ ৪৪ ॥

sabā lañā kaila jagannātha-daraśana
all taking He made Jagannātha-darśana sabā lañā āilā punaḥ āpana-bhavana
all taking came again to His own residence

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Vāpī means a well (an indārā?), that is, a reservoir.

Anubhāṣya.
"In the garden" means in Jagannātha-vallabha; "on the bank of the vāpī" means on the bank of Narendra Lake.

then a storm with rain arose. Since they could not come, the Lord came alone and ate Śrī Advaita's rice and vegetables.

Nitāi is instructed not to come to Purī every year but to preach the holy name and prema in Gauḍa —

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
In Gauḍa, in Mahāprabhu's absence, no one but Śrī Prabhu Nityānanda can fulfil His purpose — to give the holy name and prema to everyone, down to the caṇḍālas.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Nityānanda said, "I am the body, You are the life; these two are never separate. But that we live apart — You in Nīlācala and I in Gauḍa — comes about only by Your inconceivable power."

The Lord bids farewell to Nitāi and to all the other devotees —

As in the previous year, Satyarāja and others ask the Lord about their duty —

69 As before, a resident of Kulīna-grāma submitted, "Lord, please instruct me: what is my duty, my practice?"

The Lord's answer —

70 The Lord said, “Serve the Vaiṣṇavas and chant the holy name in saṅkīrtana. Do these two, and you will quickly attain the feet of Śrī Kṛṣṇa.”

Satyarāja and others ask the Lord the marks of a Vaiṣṇava — তেঁহো কহে, — কে বৈষ্ণব, কি তাঁর লক্ষণ ?

তবে হাসি’ কহে প্রভু জানি’ তাঁর মন ॥ ৭১ ॥

temṁho kahe, — ke vaiṣṇava, ki tāṁra lakṣaṇa?
he says — who a Vaiṣṇava what his symptom tabe hāsi’ kahe prabhu jāni’ tāṁra mana then smiling says the Lord knowing his mind

71 He asked, “Who is a Vaiṣṇava? What are his marks?” Then the Lord, knowing his mind, smiled and said,

The Lord indicates the marks of the “intermediate Vaiṣṇava” —

কৃষ্ণনাম নিরন্তর যাঁহার বদনে । সেই বৈষ্ণব-শ্রেষ্ঠ, ভজ তাঁহার চরণে ॥ ৭২ ॥

kṛṣṇa-nāma nirantara yāṁhāra vadane
the name of Kṛṣṇa constantly whose in the mouth sei vaiṣṇava-śreṣṭha, bhaja tāṁhāra caraṇe
he the best of the Vaiṣṇavas worship his feet

72 “One on whose lips the name of Kṛṣṇa is always present is the best of Vaiṣṇavas. Worship his feet.”

Anubhāṣya.
Know the Vaiṣṇava on whose lips the name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa sounds “constantly” to be better than “the junior (kaniṣṭha) Vaiṣṇava of tender faith, who utters the name of Kṛṣṇa only once” — that is, know him to be an “intermediate bhāgavata” (madhyama-bhāgavata), and serve his feet. In the Upadeśāmṛta, with the words praṇatibhiś ca bhajantam īśam, Śrī Rūpa Gosvāmī instructs bhāgavatas of the madhyama-adhikārī level to deal with one another by offering "obeisances."

"Constantly" (nirantara): antara means "interval," and nirantara is that in which there is no interval. The interval, or obstruction, is the absence of activity of the conscious faculty (cetana-vṛtti) in the form of other desires (anyābhilāṣa), karma, jñāna and laxity (śaithilya) — that is, inertness (jāḍya). As Śrī Rūpa Prabhu says: "The highest devotion is the cultivation of service to Kṛṣṇa in a favourable spirit, free from other desires and not covered by jñāna, karma and the like." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, first laharī) Or else, by the word antara are meant: "the body" (deha), that is, sense gratification; "wealth" (draviṇa), the endeavour to amass money impurely; "people" (janatā), the company of the unworthy, that is, bad company; "greed" (lobha), greed of the tongue, or covetousness; and godlessness (pāṣaṇḍatā). Godlessness is to regard the form of Viṣṇu as "matter" — stone, wood, gold, brass and so on; the guru as a "mortal"; the Vaiṣṇava as belonging to a "caste" or as "earthly"; the water that has washed the feet of Viṣṇu and the Vaiṣṇava as ordinary "water"; the name and mantra of Viṣṇu, or the name given by the genuine guru, as "sound like any worldly sound." Godlessness is also to place Viṣṇu, the Lord of all lords, or Śrī Kṛṣṇa — the original form (svayaṁ-rūpa), the Truth higher than Viṣṇu — and Their own potencies on a level with the other gods, who depend on the three modes. In the end it is the endeavour to realise the self, the conscious, by relying on the non-self, the inert, or to derive it from the inert; it is the knowledge that places the transcendental Reality on a level with worldly, partial things measurable by the senses; or, in other words, to regard Śrī Hari, guru and Vaiṣṇava with a dualistic mind as "others." All this gives rise to offences. Śrī Jīva Prabhu says in the Bhakti-sandarbha (anuccheda 265): "In the verse 'He on whose tongue there is even one name, in whose memory it is…' and so on, the ten offences are indicated by the word pāṣaṇḍa connected with body, wealth and the like, for they all are godlessness." Further: "One who has love (prema) for the Lord, friendship for those dependent on Him, mercy for the ignorant and indifference towards the hostile is a madhyama (an intermediate devotee)." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 11.2.46) And in the instructions to Sanātana (Madhya 22): "One who has faith is qualified for devotion. According to faith, devotees are 'highest,' 'intermediate' and 'junior.' <…> One who does not know the reasoning of the scriptures well but whose faith is firm is a 'madhyama-adhikārī,' most fortunate. <…> Devotees are ranked higher and higher according to the degree of their rati and prema." (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya 22.64, 66, 68)

In the intermediate bhāgavata, love (prīti) for Śrī Nāma grows. Therefore, worshipping Śrī Nāma constantly with the highest love in the sacrifice of kīrtana, he directs his prema to Bhagavān. Constantly filled with love for the transcendental Śrī Nāma and engaged in its cultivation, he can understand himself as a "transcendental servant of Kṛṣṇa" (kṛṣṇa-dāsa). Moreover, at times he shows mercy to a devotee whose taste for Śrī Nāma is comparatively small, explaining to him his transcendental nature (svarūpa). But the hostile person, wholly devoid of love for the pure devotee and for Bhagavān, he regards as "devoid of realisation of Kṛṣṇa's transcendental nature, with his conscious faculty covered, entirely worldly," and gives up his company. The intermediate adhikārī can also understand the components, that is, the paraphernalia, of pure devotion as "transcendental."

Later they again ask the marks of a Vaiṣṇava; the Lord's answer —

বর্ষান্তরে পুনঃ তাঁরা ঐছে প্রশ্ন কৈল ।
'বৈষ্ণবের তারতম্য' প্রভু শিখাইল ॥ ৭৩ ॥

varṣāntare punaḥ tāṁrā aiche praśna kaila after a year again they such a question asked 'vaiṣṇavera tāratamya' prabhu śikhāila of the Vaiṣṇavas the gradation the Lord taught

73 A year later they asked the same question again, and the Lord taught them the gradation of Vaiṣṇavas:

*The Lord indicates the marks of the uttama-adhikārī, or mahā-bhāgavata —*

যাঁহার দর্শনে মুখে আইসে কৃষ্ণনাম । তাঁহারে জানিহ তুমি 'বৈষ্ণব-প্রধান' ॥ ৭৪ ॥

yāṁhāra darśane mukhe āise kṛṣṇa-nāma whose at the sight to the mouth comes the name of Kṛṣṇa tāṁhāre jāniha tumi 'vaiṣṇava-pradhāna' him know you the foremost Vaiṣṇava

74 "One whose very sight brings the name of Kṛṣṇa to the lips — know him to be the foremost Vaiṣṇava."

Anubhāṣya.

Know the Vaiṣṇava at whose sight the name of Kṛṣṇa comes naturally to the viewer's lips to be a mahā-bhāgavata, perfect in his very nature (svarūpa-siddha). The activity of his consciousness is fully awakened, kindled, uncovered; in other words, he is wholly engaged in serving Kṛṣṇa in pure, unmixed prema. Therefore he always remains in the waking state. Endowed with knowledge and realisation of Bhagavān (jñāna and vijñāna), he sees Kṛṣṇa, or what belongs to Kṛṣṇa, everywhere; from his holy mouth the pure name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa constantly and beautifully resounds. Himself possessed of divine vision, he is able to open the closed eyes of ignorance of other jīvas who sleep the sleep of delusion — forgetfulness of Kṛṣṇa, that is, aversion to Kṛṣṇa. In other words, he can free them from inertness, give them divine vision, awaken the activity of their consciousness and engage them forever in the service of Kṛṣṇa and of what belongs to Kṛṣṇa. Sayings such as "Each of them holds the power to deliver the universe" and "Until a touchstone turns iron into gold by its touch, no one can recognise it as a touchstone" (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya 6.279) are spoken of just such devotees. Śrī Rūpa Gosvāmī writes in the Upadeśāmṛta: "And one who is expert in bhajana, exclusively devoted, and whose heart is free from blaming others and the like should be honoured with service, for his company is the gain one longs for." He follows completely the verse tṛṇād api sunīcena, spoken by the Lord's holy mouth. According to Madhya 9.36–37, he is Kṛṣṇa in the form of the shelter (āśraya), that is, a mahā-bhāgavata; he alone performs pure Hari-kīrtana. Therefore the intermediate bhāgavata should always long to hear from just such a person — one who does not see high and low in the material world, whose heart is free from blaming others — and satisfy him by every kind of service. Then at last, by the power of his mercy, that madhyama-adhikārī will gain the good fortune to become an uttama-adhikārī. "He who sees in all beings the love for Bhagavān that lives in his own soul, and sees all beings in Bhagavān, the Soul of all, is the best of bhāgavatas." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 11.2.45) In the instructions to Sanātana (Madhya 22): "One who has faith is qualified for devotion. According to faith, devotees are ‘highest,’ ‘intermediate’ and ‘junior.’ One who is expert in the reasoning of the scriptures and whose faith is firm is an ‘uttama-adhikārī’; he delivers the world.” (Caitanya-caritāmṛta, Madhya 22.64–65) Towards the three realities — “Bhagavān,” “devotion” and “the devotee” — the mahā-bhāgavata has a transcendental, unrestricted vision full of prema; apart from this he has no other vision: “he knows only this: everyone worships Kṛṣṇa.” Therefore he is one whom Kṛṣṇa Himself has accepted as His own.

*The Lord indicates the marks of the Vaiṣṇava on three levels (adhikāra) —*

ক্রম করি’ কহে প্রভু ‘বৈষ্ণব’-লক্ষণ । ‘বৈষ্ণব’, ‘বৈষ্ণবতর’, আর ‘বৈষ্ণবতম’ ॥ ৭৫ ॥

krama kari’ kahe prabhu ‘vaiṣṇava’-lakṣaṇa in order making speaks the Lord of a Vaiṣṇava the marks ‘vaiṣṇava’, ‘vaiṣṇavatara’, āra ‘vaiṣṇavatama’
Vaiṣṇava a higher Vaiṣṇava and the highest Vaiṣṇava

75 Step by step the Lord described the marks of a Vaiṣṇava: the Vaiṣṇava, the higher Vaiṣṇava (vaiṣṇavatara) and the highest Vaiṣṇava (vaiṣṇavatama).

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The residents of Kulīnagrāma had heard the answer to their question the year before: “Anyone from whose mouth I hear the name of Kṛṣṇa even once,” and so on. Yet this time they asked the same question again, and the Lord said, “Know the one from whose mouth you hear the name of Kṛṣṇa constantly to be the best of Vaiṣṇavas, and serve his feet constantly.” The next year the residents of Kulīnagrāma asked the very same question, and this time the Lord answered, “Know the one at whose mere sight the name of Kṛṣṇa comes naturally to the viewer’s mouth to be the foremost Vaiṣṇava.” If we consider these three answers given in three years, the Lord’s words yield the marks of three kinds of Vaiṣṇavas: the vaiṣṇava, the vaiṣṇavatara (the better Vaiṣṇava) and the vaiṣṇavatama (the best Vaiṣṇava). To serve all three kinds of Vaiṣṇavas is the duty of a Vaiṣṇava householder. The purport of the Lord’s words is this: one who has merely received Vaiṣṇava initiation but has never once chanted the name of Kṛṣṇa without offence is not to be served as a Vaiṣṇava; he need only be honoured as a “well-wisher” and a “guest.”

vidyānidhi se vatsara nīlādri rahilā Vidyānidhi that year in Nīlādri stayed

76 In this way all the Vaiṣṇavas returned to Gauḍa. That year Vidyānidhi stayed on in Nīlādri.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Vidyānidhi is Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi.

The friendship of Puṇḍarīka and Svarūpa —

স্বরূপ-সহিত তাঁর হয় সখ্য-প্রীতি । দুই-জনায় কৃষ্ণ-কথায় একত্রই স্থিতি ॥ ৭৭ ॥

svarūpa-sahita tāṁra haya sakhya-prīti with Svarūpa his is friendly affection dui-janāya kṛṣṇa-kathāya ekatrai sthiti of the two in talks of Kṛṣṇa together the abiding

77 He had a loving friendship with Svarūpa, and the two of them stayed together, absorbed in talks about Kṛṣṇa.

Prema-nidhi again gives the mantra to Gadādhara and sees the Oḍana-ṣaṣṭhī —

গদাধর-পণ্ডিতে তিঁহো পুনঃ মন্ত্র দিল । ওড়ন-ষষ্ঠীর দিনে যাত্রা যে দেখিল ॥ ৭৮ ॥

gadādhara-paṇḍite tiṁho punaḥ mantra dila to Gadādhara Paṇḍita he again mantra gave oḍana-ṣaṣṭhīra dine yātrā ye dekhila of Oḍana-ṣaṣṭhī on the day the festival which he saw

78 He gave the mantra to Gadādhara Paṇḍita a second time, and he saw the festival on the day of Oḍana-ṣaṣṭhī.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Oḍana-ṣaṣṭhī. The first ṣaṣṭhī after the onset of the cold season is called Oḍana-ṣaṣṭhī. On that day warm cloth is put on the body of Jagannāthadeva. This warm cloth is māṛuyā, that is, a weaver's unwashed cloth with starch (māṛ) in it. Because the Deity was given a starched cloth, Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi "found fault" a little on this account and showed some disdain for the devotees of Utkala. Therefore he received what he deserved.

Anubhāṣya.

See the Caitanya-bhāgavata, Antya-khaṇḍa, chapter 11.

The story of Puṇḍarīka and Jagannātha's starched cloth —

জগন্নাথ পরেন তথা 'মাড়ুয়া' বসন । দেখিয়া সঘৃণ হৈল বিদ্যানিধির মন ॥ ৭৯ ॥

jagannātha parena tathā 'māḍuyā' vasana Jagannātha wears there starched cloth dekhiyā saghṛṇa haila vidyānidhira mana seeing disgusted became Vidyānidhi's mind

79 There Jagannātha is dressed in starched (māḍuyā) cloth, and when Vidyānidhi saw this, he felt disgust.

সেই রাত্র্যে জগন্নাথ-বলাই আসিয়া । দুই-ভাই চড়া'ন তাঁরে হাসিয়া হাসিয়া ॥ ৮০ ॥

sei rātrye jagannātha-balāi āsiyā that night Jagannātha and Balāi coming dui-bhāi caḍā'na tāṁre hāsiyā hāsiyā
the two brothers slap him laughing laughing

80 That night Jagannātha and Balāi came to him, and the two brothers slapped him, laughing all the while.

*This is described in the Caitanya-bhāgavata —*

গাল ফুলিল, আচার্য্য অন্তরে উল্লাস । বিস্তারি' বর্ণিয়াছেন বৃন্দাবন-দাস ॥ ৮১ ॥

gāla phulila, ācārya antare ullāsa
the cheeks swelled the Ācārya's in the heart joy vistāri' varṇiyāchena vṛndāvana dāsa
in detail has described Vṛndāvana dāsa

81 His cheeks swelled, but the Ācārya (Vidyānidhi) rejoiced at heart. Vṛndāvana dāsa has described this in detail.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

See the Caitanya-bhāgavata, Antya-khaṇḍa, chapters 10 and 11.

Anubhāṣya.

Balāi is Śrī Balarāma; ācārya is Ācāryanidhi.[11]

Every year the Gauḍīya devotees come and see the festivals and so on —

এইমত প্রত্যব্দ আইসে গৌড়ের ভক্তগণ । প্রভু-সঙ্গে রহি' করে যাত্রা-দরশন ॥ ৮২ ॥

ei mata pratyabda āise gauḍera bhakta-gaṇa in this way every year come of Gauḍa the devotees prabhu-saṅge rahi' kare yātrā-daraśana with the Lord staying do of the festival seeing 82 In this way the devotees of Gauḍa came every year, stayed with the Lord and saw the festival.

The author promises to describe the special events of those years —

তার মধ্যে যে যে বর্ষে আছয়ে বিশেষ । বিস্তারিয়া আগে তাহা কহিব নিঃশেষ ॥ ৮৩ ॥

tāra madhye ye ye varṣe āchaye viśeṣa that among in which which years there is something special vistāriyā āge tāhā kahiba niḥśeṣa in detail later that I shall tell fully 83 Whatever was special in particular years, I shall relate fully and in detail later on.

Four years of pastimes in Nīlācala with the devotees, two years for the journey south and back —

এইমত মহাপ্রভুর চারি বৎসর গেল । দক্ষিণ যাঞা আসিতে দুই বৎসর লাগিল ॥ ৮৪ ॥

ei mata mahāprabhura cāri vatsara gela in this way of Mahāprabhu four years passed dakṣiṇa yāñā āsite dui vatsara lāgila to the south going to come back two years it took 84 So four years of Mahāprabhu's life passed. Going south and coming back took two years.

For two more years the Lord wishes to go to Vṛndāvana, but Rāya's efforts hold Him back —

আর দুই বৎসর চাহে বৃন্দাবন যাইতে । রামানন্দ-হঠে প্রভু না পারে চলিতে ॥ ৮৫ ॥

āra dui vatsara cāhe vṛndāvana yāite another two years He wants to Vṛndāvana to go rāmānanda-haṭhe prabhu nā pāre calite through Rāmānanda's insistence the Lord not can set out

85 For another two years He wanted to go to Vṛndāvana, but because of Rāmānanda's insistence the Lord could not set out.

Anubhāṣya.
Haṭha means the use of force, compulsion.

In the fifth year the Gauḍīya devotees see the chariot festival and return to Gauḍa —

পঞ্চম বৎসরে গৌড়ের ভক্তগণ আইলা । রথ দেখি' না রহিলা, গৌড়েরে চলিলা ॥ ৮৬ ॥ pañcama vatsare gauḍera bhakta-gaṇa āilā in the fifth year of Gauḍa the devotees came ratha dekhi' nā rahilā, gauḍere calilā

the chariot seeing not stayed to Gauḍa went 86 In the fifth year the devotees of Gauḍa came; they saw the Ratha-yātrā, but they did not stay and returned to Gauḍa.

The Lord asks the Bhaṭṭācārya and Rāya for consent to go to Vṛndāvana by way of Gauḍa —

তবে প্রভু সার্ব্বভৌম-রামানন্দ-স্থানে । আলিঙ্গন করি' কহে মধুর-বচনে ॥ ৮৭ ॥

tabe prabhu sārvabhauma-rāmānanda-sthāne
then the Lord to Sārvabhauma and Rāmānanda āliṅgana kari' kahe madhura-vacane embrace making speaks with sweet words

87 Then the Lord embraced Sārvabhauma and Rāmānanda and spoke to them sweetly:

বহুত উৎকণ্ঠা মোর যাইতে বৃন্দাবন । তোমার হঠে দুই বৎসর না কৈলুঁ গমন ॥ ৮৮ ॥

bahuta utkaṇṭhā mora yāite vṛndāvana great eagerness Mine to go to Vṛndāvana tomāra haṭhe dui vatsara nā kailuṁ gamana your through insistence two years not I made departure

88 "I long very much to go to Vṛndāvana, but because of your insistence I have not gone for two years.

অবশ্য চলিব, দুঁহে করহ সম্মতি । তোমা-দুঁহা বিনা মোর নাহি অন্য গতি ॥ ৮৯ ॥

avaśya caliba, duṁhe karaha sammati certainly I shall go both give consent tomā-duṁhā vinā mora nāhi anya gati
you two without Mine there is no other refuge

89 I shall certainly go now; please, both of you, give your consent. I have no refuge but you two.

The Lord's two objects of reverence in Gauḍa: (1) Śacīdevī and (2) Gaṅgā-devī

গৌড়-দেশে হয় মোর 'দুই সমাশ্রয়' ।
'জননী' 'জাহ্নবী', — এই দুই দয়াময় ॥ ৯০ ॥

gauḍa-deśe haya mora 'dui samāśraya' in Gauḍa-deśa are Mine two shelters
'jananī' 'jāhnavī', — ei dui dayāmaya mother Jāhnavī — these two all-merciful

90 In Gauḍa-deśa I have two shelters, My mother and the Jāhnavī (Gaṅgā); both are all-merciful.

গৌড়-দেশ দিয়া যাব তাঁ-সবা দেখিয়া । তুমি দুঁহে আজ্ঞা দেহ' পরসন্ন হঞা ॥ ৯১ ॥

gauḍa-deśa diyā yāba tāṁ-sabā dekhiyā through Gauḍa-deśa I shall go them seeing tumi duṁhe ājñā deha' parasanna hañā you both permission give pleased becoming

91 I shall go by way of Gauḍa-deśa and see them both. Be pleased, both of you, and give Me leave."

The Bhaṭṭācārya and Rāya consent, but because of the rains ask Him to wait until Vijayā-daśamī —

শুনিয়া প্রভুর বাণী মনে বিচারয় । প্রভু-সনে অতি হঠ কভু ভাল নয় ॥ ৯২ ॥

śuniyā prabhura vāṇī mane vicāraya hearing of the Lord the words in the mind they consider prabhu-sane ati haṭha kabhu bhāla naya with the Lord too much insistence ever good not is

92 Hearing the Lord's words, they reflected, "To press the Lord too hard is never good."

দুঁহে কহে, — এবে বর্ষা, চলিতে নারিবা । বিজয়া-দশমী আইলে অবশ্য চলিবা ॥ ৯৩ ॥

duṁhe kahe, — ebe varṣā, calite nāribā both say — now the rains to travel You will not be able vijayā-daśamī āile avaśya calibā
Vijayā-daśamī when it comes certainly You will go

93 They both said, "Now it is the rainy season; You cannot travel. When Vijayā-daśamī comes, You will certainly go."

The Lord waits out the rains and on the day of Vijayā-daśamī sets out for Vṛndāvana —

আনন্দে মহাপ্রভু বর্ষা কৈল সমাধান । বিজয়া-দশমী-দিনে করিল পয়ান ॥ ৯৪ ॥

ānande mahāprabhu varṣā kaila samādhāna in joy Mahāprabhu the rainy season made completion vijayā-daśamī-dine karila payāna on the day of Vijayā-daśamī made departure

94 Mahāprabhu happily saw the rainy season through, and on the day of Vijayā-daśamī He set out.

Anubhāṣya.
Payāna means prayāṇa, setting out on a journey.

The Lord takes along Jagannātha's prasāda and other things —

জগন্নাথের প্রসাদ প্রভু যত পাঞাছিল । কড়ার চন্দন, ডোর, সব সঙ্গে লৈল ॥ ৯৫ ॥

jagannāthera prasāda prabhu yata pāñāchila of Jagannātha the prasāda the Lord as much as had received kaḍāra candana, ḍora, saba saṅge laila kaḍāra sandalwood ropes all with He took

95 He took with Him all the prasāda of Jagannātha that He had received — kaḍāra ointment, sandalwood paste and ropes.

Anubhāṣya.
Kaṛāra: of a tawny colour; an ointment (?); ḍora: a rope.

The Lord sets out in the morning; the devotees of Purī follow Him —

জগন্নাথে আজ্ঞা মাগি' প্রভাতে চলিলা । ওড়িয়া ভক্তগণ সঙ্গে পাছে চলি' আইলা ॥ ৯৬ ॥

jagannāthe ājñā māgi' prabhāte calilā from Jagannātha permission begging at dawn He set out oḍiyā bhakta-gaṇa saṅge pāche cali' āilā
the Oḍiyā devotees together behind going came 96 He begged leave of Jagannātha and set out at dawn, and the Oḍiyā devotees came following behind Him.

Stopping the devotees of Purī, the Lord comes with His associates to Bhavānīpura —

ওড়িয়া-ভক্তগণে প্রভু যত্নে নিবারিলা । নিজগণ সঙ্গে প্রভু 'ভবানীপুর' আইলা ॥ ৯৭ ॥

oḍiyā-bhakta-gaṇe prabhu yatne nivārilā
the Oḍiyā devotees the Lord with effort stopped
nija-gaṇa saṅge prabhu 'bhavānīpura' āilā
His own associates with the Lord to Bhavānīpura came 97 With some effort the Lord made the Oḍiyā devotees turn back, and with His own associates He came to Bhavānīpura.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Bhavānīpura is Jānakādeipura; that is, "Bhavānīpura" lies before Jānakīdevīpura.

Rāya comes after Him; Vāṇīnātha sends prasāda —

রামানন্দ আইলা পাছে দোলায় চড়িয়া । বাণীনাথ বহু প্রসাদ দিল পাঠাঞা ॥ ৯৮ ॥

rāmānanda āilā pāche dolāya caḍiyā Rāmānanda came behind in a palanquin riding vāṇīnātha bahu prasāda dila pāṭhāñā Vāṇīnātha much prasāda gave sending 98 Rāmānanda came after Him, riding in a palanquin, and Vāṇīnātha sent a great deal of prasāda.

A night's stay there; in the morning the Lord comes to Bhuvaneśvara —

প্রসাদ ভোজন করি' তথায় রহিলা । প্রাতঃকালে চলি' প্রভু 'ভুবনেশ্বর' আইলা ॥ ৯৯ ॥

prasāda bhojana kari' tathāya rahilā prasāda eating having done there He stayed prātaḥ-kāle cali' prabhu 'bhuvaneśvara' āilā in the morning going the Lord to Bhuvaneśvara came 99 After taking the prasāda He stayed there, and setting out in the morning, the Lord came to Bhuvaneśvara.

From there the Lord comes to Kaṭaka and sees Sākṣi-gopāla —

'কটকে' আসিয়া কৈল 'গোপাল' দরশন । স্বপ্নেশ্বর-বিপ্র কৈল প্রভুর নিমন্ত্রণ ॥ ১০০ ॥

'kaṭake' āsiyā kaila 'gopāla' daraśana to Kaṭaka coming He made of Gopāla darśana svapneśvara-vipra kaila prabhura nimantraṇa
the brāhmaṇa Svapneśvara made of the Lord invitation

100 Coming to Kaṭaka, He had darśana of Gopāla, and the brāhmaṇa Svapneśvara invited the Lord for a meal.

Rāya invites the Lord's devotees; the Lord stays in a garden —

রামানন্দ-রায় সব-গণে নিমন্ত্রিল । বাহির উদ্যানে আসি, প্রভু বাসা কৈল ॥ ১০১ ॥

rāmānanda-rāya saba-gaṇe nimantrila Rāmānanda Rāya all the associates invited bāhira udyāne āsi, prabhu vāsā kaila in an outer garden coming the Lord residence made

101 Rāmānanda Rāya invited all the associates, and the Lord came to a garden outside the town and stayed there.

While the Lord rests under a tree, Rāya informs Pratāparudra —

ভিক্ষা করি' বকুল-তলে করিলা বিশ্রাম । প্রতাপরুদ্র-ঠাঞি রায় করিল পয়ান ॥ ১০২ ॥

bhikṣā kari' bakula-tale karilā viśrāma
the meal having taken under a bakula tree made rest pratāparudra-ṭhāñi rāya karila payāna to Pratāparudra Rāya made departure

102 After His meal He rested under a bakula tree, and Rāmānanda Rāya went to Pratāparudra.

The king comes at once, bows down to the Lord and offers prayers —

শুনি' আনন্দিত রাজা অতিশীঘ্র আইলা । প্রভু দেখি' দণ্ডবৎ ভূমেতে পড়িলা ॥ ১০৩ ॥

śuni' ānandita rājā ati-śīghra āilā hearing delighted the king very quickly came prabhu dekhi' daṇḍavat bhūmete paḍilā
the Lord seeing like a rod on the ground fell

103 Delighted at the news, the king came at once, and seeing the Lord, he fell flat on the ground like a rod.

পুনঃ উঠে, পুনঃ পড়ে প্রণয়-বিহ্বল । স্তুতি করে, পুলকাঙ্গ, পড়ে অশ্রুজল ॥ ১০৪ ॥

punaḥ uṭhe, punaḥ paḍe praṇaya-vihvala again he rises again he falls overwhelmed by love stuti kare, pulakāṅga, paḍe aśru-jala prayers he offers with hair standing on end fall tears

104 Overwhelmed by love, he rose and fell again and again; he offered prayers, the hair of his body stood on end, and tears flowed from his eyes.

Seeing the king's pure devotion, the Lord embraces him —

তাঁর ভক্তি দেখি' প্রভুর তুষ্ট হৈল মন । উঠি' মহাপ্রভু তাঁরে কৈলা আলিঙ্গন ॥ ১০৫ ॥

tāṁra bhakti dekhi' prabhura tuṣṭa haila mana his devotion seeing of the Lord pleased became the mind uṭhi' mahāprabhu tāṁre kailā āliṅgana rising Mahāprabhu him made embrace

105 Seeing his devotion, the Lord was pleased at heart. Mahāprabhu rose and embraced him.

পুনঃ স্তুতি করি' রাজা করয়ে প্রণাম । প্রভু-কৃপা-অশ্রুতে তাঁর দেহ হৈল স্নান ॥ ১০৬ ॥

punaḥ stuti kari' rājā karaye praṇāma again prayers offering the king makes obeisance prabhu-kṛpā-aśrute tāṁra deha haila snāna in the tears of the Lord's mercy his body became bathed

106 Again the king offered prayers and bowed down, and his body was bathed in tears of the Lord's mercy.

Anubhāṣya.
Snāna here means bathed.

Rāya consoles the king; the Lord is merciful to him without pretence —

সুস্থ করি, রামানন্দ রাজারে বসাইলা । কায়মনোবাক্যে প্রভু তাঁরে কৃপা কৈলা ॥ ১০৭ ॥

sustha kari, rāmānanda rājāre vasāilā calm making Rāmānanda the king seated kāya-mano-vākye prabhu tāṁre kṛpā kailā in body, mind and words the Lord to him mercy showed 107 Rāmānanda calmed the king and seated him, and the Lord showed him mercy in body, mind and words.

From then on the Lord's name is "Pratāparudra-saṁtrātā" (the Savior of Pratāparudra) —

ঐছে তাঁহারে কৃপা কৈল গৌররায় ।
'প্রতাপরুদ্র-সংত্রাতা' নাম হৈল যায় ॥ ১০৮ ॥

aiche tāṁhāre kṛpā kaila gaurarāya such to him mercy showed Gaurarāya
'pratāparudra-saṁtrātā' nāma haila yāya the Saviour of Pratāparudra the name became by which 108 Gaurarāya showed him such mercy that He came to be called “the Saviour of Pratāparudra.”

Anubhāṣya.
Yāya means “by which,” “for which reason.”

The retinue bows to the Lord; the king takes leave of the Lord —

রাজ-পাত্রগণ কৈল প্রভুর বন্দন । রাজারে বিদায় দিলা শচীর নন্দন ॥ ১০৯ ॥

rāja-pātra-gaṇa kaila prabhura vandana
the royal ministers made of the Lord homage rājāre vidāya dilā śacīra nandana to the king leave gave of Śacī the son

109 The king’s ministers paid homage to the Lord, and Śacī’s son gave the king leave to go.

The king circulates an edict throughout his kingdom —

বাহিরে আসি’ রাজা আজ্ঞা-পত্র লেখাইল । নিজ-রাজ্যে যত ‘বিষয়ী’, তাহারে পাঠাইল ॥ ১১০ ॥

bāhire āsi’ rājā ājñā-patra lekhāila outside coming the king a written order had written nija-rājye yata ‘viṣayī’, tāhāre pāṭhāila in his own kingdom as many revenue officers to them sent 110 Coming outside, the king had an order drawn up and sent it to all the revenue officers (viṣayī) of his kingdom:

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
A viṣayī is a royal officer who collects the revenue of the villages.

‘গ্রামে-গ্রামে’ নূতন আবাস করিবা ।
পাঁচ-সাত গৃহ, সব সামগ্রে ভরিবা ॥ ১১১ ॥

‘grāme-grāme’ nūtana āvāsa karibā in village after village new lodgings you shall make pāṁca-sāta gṛha, saba sāmagrye bharibā five or seven houses with all provisions you shall fill 111 “In every village build new lodgings; fill five or seven houses with all provisions.

আপনি প্রভুকে লঞা তাঁহা উত্তরিবা । রাত্রি-দিবা বেত্রহস্তে সেবায় রহিবা ॥ ১১২ ॥

āpani prabhuke laña tāṁhā uttaribā yourselves the Lord taking there you shall lodge rātri-dibā vetra-haste sevāya rahibā night and day cane in hand in service you shall remain

112 Escort the Lord there yourselves and lodge Him, and stay in His service night and day, cane in hand.”

*The order to the two mahāpātras —*

দুই মহাপাত্র, — ‘হরিচন্দন’, ‘মঙ্গরাজ’ । তাঁরে আজ্ঞা দিল রাজা — করিহ সর্ব্ব কাজ ॥ ১১৩ ॥

dui mahā-pātra, — ‘haricandana’, ‘maṅgarāja’ two great ministers — Haricandana Maṅgarāja tāṁre ājñā dila rājā — kariha sarva kāja to them order gave the king — do every task

113 The king gave this order to two of his chief ministers, Haricandana and Maṅgarāja: “See to everything.

Anubhāṣya.
Maṅgarāja: “Mardarāja” (?).

এক নব্য-নৌকা আনি’ রাখহ নদী-তীরে । যাঁহা স্নান করি’ প্রভু যা’ন নদী-পারে ॥ ১১৪ ॥

eka navya-naukā āni' rākhaha nadī-tīre
one new boat bringing keep on the river bank yāṁhā snāna kari' prabhu yā'na nadī-pāre
where bath having taken the Lord goes across the river

114 Bring a new boat and keep it at the river bank where the Lord will bathe and cross the river.

The king's deep love for Gaura —

তাঁহা স্তম্ভ রোপণ কর 'মহাতীর্থ' করি' । নিত্য স্নান করিহ তাঁহা, তাঁহা যেন মরি ॥ ১১৫ ॥

tāṁhā stambha ropaṇa kara 'mahā-tīrtha' kari' there a pillar erecting do a great tīrtha making nitya snāna kariha tāṁhā, tāṁhā yena mari daily bath take there there may I die

115 Erect a pillar there and make it a great tīrtha. Bathe there every day — and may I leave my body there.[5]

The king asks Rāmānanda to go to the Lord —

চতুর্দ্বারে করহ উত্তম নব্য বাস । রামানন্দ, যাহ তুমি মহাপ্রভু-পাশ ॥ ১১৬ ॥

caturdvāre karaha uttama navya vāsa in Caturdvāra build excellent new lodgings rāmānanda, yāha tumi mahāprabhu-pāśa
Rāmānanda go you to Mahāprabhu's side

116 Build excellent new lodgings in Caturdvāra. And you, Rāmānanda, go to Mahāprabhu."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Caturdvāra. From Kaṭaka, after crossing the Mahānadī, one comes to the village of Caturdvāra; it is commonly called "Caudār."

Anubhāṣya.

Navya-vāsa means a new house fit to live in.

In the evening the queens watch the Lord pass by —

সন্ধ্যাতে চলিবে প্রভু, — নৃপতি শুনিল । হস্তী-উপর তাম্বুগৃহে স্ত্রীগণে চড়াইল ॥ ১১৭ ॥

sandhyāte calibe prabhu, — nṛpati śunila in the evening will set out the Lord — the king heard hastī-upara tāmbu-gṛhe strī-gaṇe caḍāila on elephants in tents the women he seated

117 The king heard that the Lord would set out in the evening, and he had the royal ladies seated in tents on the backs of elephants.

In the evening the Lord leaves Kaṭaka —

প্রভুর চলিবার পথে রহে সারি হঞা । সন্ধ্যাতে চলিলা প্রভু নিজগণ লঞা ॥ ১১৮ ॥

prabhura calibāra pathe rahe sāri hañā of the Lord of the going on the road they stay in a row forming sandhyāte calilā prabhu nija-gaṇa lañā in the evening set out the Lord His own associates taking 118 They stood in a row along the road the Lord was to take, and in the evening the Lord set out with His associates.

Bathing in the Mahānadī; the queens' obeisances —

'চিত্রোৎপলা-নদী' আসি' ঘাটে কৈল স্নান । মহিষীসকল দেখে, করয়ে প্রণাম ॥ ১১৯ ॥

'citrotpalā-nadī' āsi' ghāṭe kaila snāna to the river Citrotpalā coming at the ghāṭ made bath mahiṣī-sakala dekhe, karaye praṇāma
the queens all see make obeisance

119 Coming to the river Citrotpalā, He bathed at the ghāṭ, and all the queens watched Him and bowed down.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The river Citrotpalā. The place where one comes out from Kaṭaka to the Mahānadī is called "the river Citrotpalā." The paṇḍitas of Utkala, citing some tantra, say: "In the Kali age the Citrotpalā is the Gaṅgā."

On seeing the Lord, all are overwhelmed with divine emotion —

প্রভুর দরশনে সবে হৈল প্রেমময় ।
'কৃষ্ণ' 'কৃষ্ণ' কহে, নেত্র অশ্রু বরিষয় ॥ ১২০ ॥

prabhura daraśane sabe haila premamaya of the Lord at the sight all became full of love
'kṛṣṇa' 'kṛṣṇa' kahe, netra aśru variṣaya
Kṛṣṇa Kṛṣṇa they say the eyes tears shower

120 At the sight of the Lord they were all filled with love; they cried "Kṛṣṇa! Kṛṣṇa!" and tears streamed from their eyes.

The wondrous embodiment of compassion —

এমন কৃপালু নাহি শুনি ত্রিভুবনে । কৃষ্ণপ্রেমা হয় যাঁর দূর দরশনে ॥ ১২১ ॥

emana kṛpālu nāhi śuni tribhuvane such merciful not I hear in the three worlds kṛṣṇa-premā haya yāṁra dūra daraśane love for Kṛṣṇa arises whose from afar at the sight

121 Nowhere in the three worlds have I heard of one so merciful: love for Kṛṣṇa awakens even in those who see Him from afar.

Having crossed the river and come to Caturdvāra, the Lord partakes of

*Jagannātha's prasāda, sent every day by the paḍichā —*

নৌকাতে চড়িয়া প্রভু হৈল নদী পার । জ্যোৎস্নাবতী রাত্র্যে চলি' আইলা চতুর্দ্বার ॥ ১২২ ॥

naukāte caḍiyā prabhu haila nadī pāra

The incomparable love for Gaura of Gadādhara, to whom separation from the Lord for even a moment is agony —

Gadādhara Paṇḍita when along set out kṣetra-sannyāsa nā chāḍiha — prabhu niṣedhilā
the kṣetra-sannyāsa not give up — the Lord forbade

130 When Gadādhara Paṇḍita set out with them, the Lord forbade him: “Do not give up your kṣetra-sannyāsa.”

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Kṣetra-sannyāsa. Some leave their former homes and live — alone or with their families — in some special (Viṣṇu-) tīrtha, that is, in Puruṣottama-kṣetra, in Navadvīpa-dhāma, in Mathurā-maṇḍala and similar places, regarding this as the highest goal. Their āśrama is called kṣetra-sannyāsa. This very āśrama is the vānaprastha-dharma suited to the age of Kali. Sārvabhauma Bhaṭṭācārya's kṣetra-sannyāsa of this kind has been spoken of before.

*Longing for the Lord's company, the Paṇḍita unhesitatingly gives up even his kṣetra-sannyāsa, his residence in the dhāma —*

পণ্ডিত কহে, — যাঁহা তুমি, সেই নীলাচল । ক্ষেত্রসন্ন্যাস মোর যাউক রসাতল ॥ ১৩১ ॥

paṇḍita kahe, — yāṁhā tumi, sei nīlācala
the Paṇḍita says — where You that Nīlācala

kṣetra-sannyāsa my let go to Rasātala

131 The Paṇḍita said, "Wherever You are, that is Nīlācala. Let my kṣetra-sannyāsa go to Rasātala!"

Longing for the Lord's company, the Paṇḍita unhesitatingly gives up his service and breaks his vow of service —

প্রভু কহে, — ইঁহা কর গোপীনাথ সেবন । পণ্ডিত কহে, — কোটি-সেবা ত্বৎপাদ-দর্শন ॥ ১৩২ ॥

prabhu kahe, — iṁhā kara gopīnātha sevana
the Lord says — here do Gopīnātha's service paṇḍita kahe, — koṭi-sevā tvat-pāda-darśana
the Paṇḍita says — ten million services the sight of Your feet

132 The Lord said, "Stay here and serve Gopīnātha." The Paṇḍita said, "Seeing Your feet is worth ten million services."

Showing that He fears future blame on Himself, the Lord forbids the Paṇḍita to follow Him from Purī —

প্রভু কহে, — সেবা ছাড়িবে, আমায় লাগে দোষ । ইঁহা রহি' সেবা কর, — আমার সন্তোষ ॥ ১৩৩ ॥

prabhu kahe, — sevā chāḍibe, āmāya lāge doṣa
the Lord says — the service you will give up to Me attaches the fault iṁhā rahi' sevā kara, — āmāra santoṣa here staying service do — My satisfaction

133 The Lord said, "If you give up the service, the fault will fall on Me. Stay here and serve — that will please Me."

Gadādhara's loving pique —

পণ্ডিত কহে, — সব দোষ আমার উপর । তোমা-সঙ্গে না যাইব, যাইব একেশ্বর ॥ ১৩৪ ॥

paṇḍita kahe, — saba doṣa āmāra upara the Paṇḍita says — all fault me upon tomā-saṅge nā yāiba, yāiba ekeśvara with You not I shall go I shall go alone

134 The Paṇḍita said, "All the fault will fall on me. I shall not go with You; I shall go alone.

Anubhāṣya.
Ekeśvara: to this day in the Caṭṭagrāma region the word aśvara, a corruption of ekeśvara, is used in the sense of "alone." For the sake of Śrī Gaurāṅga's company Gadādhara made void his vow — to serve the form of Śrī Gopīnātha, who grants the fulfilment of every aim in life — and was ready to abandon lightly, without the least effort, even the service of Bhagavān. Śrī Gadādhara's love for Śrī Gaurāṅga is beyond the understanding of any devotee other than intimate friends who know the heart as he does.

'আই'কে দেখিতে যাইব, না যাইব তোমা লাগি' ।
'প্রতিজ্ঞা'-'সেবা'-ত্যাগ-দোষ, — তার আমি ভাগী ॥ ১৩৫ ॥

'āi'ke dekhite yāiba, nā yāiba tomā lāgi' Āi to see I shall go not I shall go You for the sake of 'pratijñā'-'sevā'-tyāga-doṣa, — tāra āmi bhāgī of giving up the vow and the service the fault — of that I the bearer

135 I shall go to see Āi (Mother Śacī), not for Your sake. The fault of giving up my vow and my service — that I shall bear myself."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Having received the service of Śrī Gopīnātha, Śrī Gadādhara Paṇḍita Gosvāmī had vowed to spend his whole life in that service. Had he gone with the Lord to Gauḍa, he would have committed two faults: "the fault of breaking a vow" and "the fault of abandoning service." On the path of anurāga great souls take all such faults upon themselves.

Having come from Purī to Kaṭaka, the Lord calls the Paṇḍita to Him —

এত বলি' পণ্ডিত-গোসাঞি পৃথক্ চলিলা । কটক আসি' প্রভু তাঁরে সঙ্গে আনাইলা ॥ ১৩৬ ॥

so saying Paṇḍita Gosāñi separately went to Kaṭaka coming the Lord him with had brought 136 Saying this, Paṇḍita Gosāñi travelled on separately. When the Lord reached Kaṭaka, He had him brought to Him.

*Gadādhara's pure love for Gaura alone is beyond those enchanted by majesty (aiśvarya) —*

137 The Paṇḍita's love for Gaurāṅga is beyond understanding: he gave up his vow and the service of Śrī Kṛṣṇa as though they were a blade of grass.

The Lord is pleased at heart but outwardly speaks with feigned anger —

তাঁহার চরিত্রে প্রভু অন্তরে সন্তোষ ।

tāṁhāra hāte dhari' kahe, kari' praṇaya-roṣa his by the hand taking He says making loving anger

138 Inwardly the Lord was pleased with his conduct, but He took him by the hand and spoke with loving anger:

So far the Paṇḍita's aim has been fulfilled; now the Lord adjures him to go back to Purī and serve Gopīnātha —

'প্রতিজ্ঞা', 'সেবা' ছাড়িবে, — এ তোমার 'উদ্দেশ' ।

143 The Lord ordered Sārvabhauma to take the Paṇḍita back with him. The Bhaṭṭācārya said, "Get up — such is the Lord's līlā.

The Bhaṭṭācārya consoles the Paṇḍita —

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"I shall not take up weapons in the battle of Kurukṣetra" — this promise of His Kṛṣṇacandra gave up. Wishing to make my promise true, He got down from the chariot, seized a wheel and, His upper cloth falling away, rushed forward to kill me.

Anubhāṣya.

Bhīṣmadeva, a mahā-bhāgavata who could choose the hour of his own passing, had described bhāgavata-dharma and the other, general dharmas to the Pāṇḍavas headed by Yudhiṣṭhira, who had come with Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Then, seeing that the time of uttarāyaṇa had come and understanding that his departure was near, he offers prayers to Śrī Kṛṣṇa, who stands before him:

sva-nigamam (His own promise: "I shall protect the Pāṇḍavas without taking up weapons") apahāya (giving up) mat-pratijñāṁ (my promise, the resolve "I shall make Śrī Kṛṣṇa take up a weapon") ṛtam (true) adhi (all the more) kartum (to make) ratha-sthaḥ (standing on the chariot) avaplutaḥ (suddenly getting down) dhṛta-ratha-caraṇaḥ (He who seized a chariot wheel) calad-guḥ (He by whose fury the earth trembled) gatottarīyaḥ (He whose upper cloth, by that same fury, fell on the road) ibham (an elephant) hantum (to kill) hariḥ (a lion) iva (like) abhyayāt (rushed forward; it connects with the next verse: "may He be my Lord").

The Lord protects the Paṇḍita's vow —

এইমত প্রভু তোমার বিচ্ছেদ সহিয়া । তোমার প্রতিজ্ঞা রক্ষা কৈল যত্ন করিয়া ॥ ১৪৬ ॥

ei mata prabhu tomāra viccheda sahiyā

tomāra pratijñā rakṣā kaila yatna kariyā

146 In the same way the Lord endured separation from you and took great pains to protect your vow."

The Bhaṭṭācārya comes to Purī with the Paṇḍita —

ei mata kahi' tāṁre prabodha karilā

the two stricken with grief to Nīlācala came 147 With these words the Bhaṭṭācārya consoled the Paṇḍita, and the two of them, stricken with grief, came back to Nīlācala.

For Kṛṣṇa's sake the devotee easily gives up his own dharma, and for this Kṛṣṇa is in his debt —

148 For the Lord's sake the devotees give up their religious duties and works, yet the Lord cannot bear to see a devotee's duty suffer.

*For the devotee to suffer in separation from Bhagavān is natural, but Bhagavān's suffering in separation from the devotee is prema-vivarta (the paradox of love); whoever hears of it attains Caitanya —*

*At Yājapura the Lord bids farewell to the two mahāpātras —*

'yājapura' āsi' prabhu tāre dilena vidāya

150 When the Lord came to Yājapura, He bade farewell to the two royal officers who were travelling with Him.

Anubhāṣya.

Yājapura is a subdivision of Kaṭaka district, situated on the southern bank of the river Vaitaraṇī. The place got the name "Yājapura" from the sacrifices (yajña) that the sages performed on the left bank; according to some, the name "Yājapura" comes from "Yayāti-nagara." The Mahābhārata, Vana-parva, chapter 114: "Here are the Kaliṅgas, O son of Kuntī, where the river Vaitaraṇī flows. Here even Dharma, taking shelter of the gods, offered sacrifice to them. Here too in ancient times the sages and others worshipped with sacrifices." There are countless forms of the gods here; among them the form of Śrī Varāhadeva is especially worshipped. Worshippers of Śakti worship the Mothers — Vārāhī, Vaiṣṇavī, Indrāṇī and others. There are also many forms of Śiva and the Daśāśvamedha-ghāṭa. This place is also called Nābhi-gayā, Virajā-kṣetra and so on.

The Lord talks of Kṛṣṇa constantly with His companion Rāya —

প্রভু বিদায় দিল, রায় যায় তাঁর সনে । কৃষ্ণকথা রামানন্দ-সনে রাত্রি দিনে ॥ ১৫১ ॥

prabhu vidāya dila, rāya yāya tāṁra sane

151 The Lord sent them back, but Rāya went on with Him, and night and day He talked of Kṛṣṇa with Rāmānanda.

By the king's order, the royal officers receive the Lord in every village —

প্রতিগ্রামে রাজ-আজ্ঞায় রাজভৃত্যগণ । নব্য-গৃহে নানা-দ্রব্যে করয়ে সেবন ॥ ১৫২ ॥

prati-grāme rāja-ājñāya rāja-bhṛtya-gaṇa

navya-gṛhe nānā-dravye karaye sevana

152 In every village, by royal order, the king's servants served Him with a new house and all kinds of provisions.

At Remuṇā (?) the Lord lets Rāya go —

এইমত চলি' প্রভু 'রেমুণা' আইলা । তথা হৈতে রামানন্দ-রায়ে বিদায় দিলা ॥ ১৫৩ ॥

ei mata cali' prabhu 'remuṇā' āilā in this way travelling the Lord to Remuṇā came tathā haite rāmānanda-rāye vidāya dilā from there to Rāmānanda Rāya leave gave 153 Travelling in this way, the Lord came to Remuṇā, and from there He sent Rāmānanda Rāya back.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Many accounts describe that Mahāprabhu, travelling in this way together with Rāmānanda Rāya, let Rāmānanda Rāya go from Bhadraka — before He reached Remuṇā near Bāleśvara.

Anubhāṣya.

"From there": another reading has "from Bhadraka." If "from there" is taken to mean "from Remuṇā," it disagrees with the reading of Madhya 1.149: "Rāmānanda Rāya accompanied Him as far as Bhadraka." Some hold that Remuṇā then belonged to the Bhadraka district, but there is no evidence for this. Others hold that in the verse just mentioned "Remuṇā" is the right reading in place of "Bhadraka." It seems more likely, however, that Rāya turned back from Bhadraka. Bhadraka lies four yojanas south of Bāleśvara, and Remuṇā about half a yojana (5 miles) to its west.

Rāya faints; the Lord weeps —

ভূমেতে পড়িলা রায় নাহিক চেতন ।
রায়ে কোলে করি' প্রভু করয়ে ক্রন্দন ॥ ১৫৪ ॥

154 Rāya fell to the ground unconscious, and the Lord took him on His lap and wept.

Rāya's grief at parting from the Lord is beyond description —

রায়ের বিদায়-ভাব না যায় সহন । কহিতে না পারি এই তাহার বর্ণন ॥ ১৫৫ ॥

rāyera vidāya-bhāva nā yāya sahana Rāya's feelings at parting not can be borne

155 Rāya's grief at parting was unbearable; I cannot describe it.

The Lord reaches the border of Orissa; a royal officer serves the Lord —

156 Then the Lord came to the border of the land of Oḍhra, and there the king's governor met Him.

Anubhāṣya.

The border of Oḍra-deśa. The Suvarṇarekhā river forms the border between Bengal and Utkala; it flows past the śrīpāṭa of Gopīvallabhapura and on into Orissa.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Pichaladā is a village named Pichaladā on the bank of the Rūpanārāyaṇa river, near Tamluk (?).

He promises to help the Lord continue His journey once he has made peace with the Muslim ruler —

tabe sukhe naukāte karāiba gamane
then comfortably by boat I shall arrange the journey

160 Stay here a few days. I will make a truce with him, and then I will send You on comfortably by boat."

A spy of the Muslim ruler tells his master what the Lord and His companions do and how great they are —

সেই কালে সে যবনের এক অনুচর । ওড়িয়া-কটকে আইলা করি' বেশান্তর ॥ ১৬১ ॥

sei kāle se yavanera eka anucara at that time that yavana's one follower oḍiyā-kaṭake āilā kari' veśāntara to the Oriyā camp came making a change of dress

161 At that time one of that yavana's men came to the Oriyā camp in disguise.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The Oriyā kaṭaka is the "army camp" (sainya-kaṭaka), that is, the encampment on the frontier of the Utkala king's realm; it is what the verse calls the "Oriyā kaṭaka."

Anubhāṣya.

"In disguise": that is, though himself a Yavana, he exchanged a Yavana's dress for a Hindu's.

প্রভুর সেই অদ্ভুত চরিত্র দেখিয়া । হিন্দু-চর কহে, সেই যবন-পাশ গিয়া ॥ ১৬২ ॥

the Hindu spy says to that yavana going

162 Seeing the Lord's wonderful ways, the spy in his Hindu guise went back to the yavana and said,

Anubhāṣya.

A cara (spy) is one who secretly learns all the inner affairs, whether of the enemy or of one's own subjects. He hides who he is, passes himself off as someone else, and brings exact news to the one who employed or sent him.

167 It is not something one can describe; one knows it only by seeing it. Such is His power that I accept Him as God (Īśvara)."

The spy is overcome by prema —

এত কহি' সেই চর 'হরি' 'কৃষ্ণ' গায়। হাসে, কান্দে, নাচে, গায় বাউলের প্রায় ॥ ১৬৮ ॥

eta kahi' sei cara 'hari' 'kṛṣṇa' gāya

Hearing about the Lord from the spy, the Muslim ruler sends his minister to the Lord —

এত শুনি' যবনের মন ফিরি' গেল। আপন 'বিশ্বাস' ওড়িয়া স্থানে পাঠাইল ॥ ১৬৯ ॥ eta śuni' yavanera mana phiri' gela this hearing the yavana's mind turning went āpana 'viśvāsa' oḍiyā sthāne pāṭhāila his own secretary (viśvāsa) of the Oriyā to the place sent 169 Hearing this, the yavana had a change of heart, and he sent his own secretary (viśvāsa) to the Oriyā officer.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Viśvāsa. The Yavana ruler of the land of Gauḍa had a department (daptar) called the viśvāsa-khānā. Only the most trustworthy Kāyasthas were given posts in it. Whenever the king had important business somewhere, Kāyastha viśvāsas were sent there.

The minister bows at the Lord's feet and is overcome by prema —

'বিশ্বাস' আসিয়া প্রভুর চরণ বন্দিল ।
'কৃষ্ণ' 'কৃষ্ণ' কহি' প্রেমে বিহ্বল হইল ॥ ১৭০ ॥

'viśvāsa' āsiyā prabhura caraṇa vandila

170 The secretary came and bowed at the Lord's feet, and, crying "Kṛṣṇa! Kṛṣṇa!", he was overwhelmed with love.

He humbly addresses the royal officer and asks for peace —

ধৈর্য্য হঞা ওড়িয়াকে কহে নমস্করি' ।

The royal officer marvels that the Lord has changed the Muslim ruler's heart

174 Hearing this, the Mahāpātra was amazed and said, "Who could make the heart of a drunken yavana like this?

175 It is Mahāprabhu Himself who has changed his heart: the whole world is delivered by seeing Him and by remembering Him."

এত বলি' বিশ্বাসেরে কহিল বচন । ভাগ্য তাঁর — আসি' করুক প্রভু দরশন ॥ ১৭৬ ॥

eta bali' viśvāsere kahila vacana
this saying to the secretary spoke words bhāgya tāṁra — āsi' karuka prabhu daraśana

176 Saying this, he told the secretary, "It is his good fortune. Let him come and see the Lord.

177 I will trust him if he comes unarmed, bringing only five or seven servants with him."

The minister brings this joyful news; the Muslim comes to see the Lord disguised as a Hindu —

'বিশ্বাস' যাঞা তাঁহারে সকল কহিল । হিন্দুবেশ ধরি' সেই যবন আইল ॥ ১৭৮ ॥

'viśvāsa' yāñā tāṁhāre sakala kahila

179 Seeing the Lord from afar, he fell to the ground in prostrate obeisance, in tears and with his hair standing on end.

Coming before the Lord, the Muslim utters the name of Kṛṣṇa —

মহাপাত্র আনিল তাঁরে করিয়া সম্মান । যোড়-হাতে প্রভু-আগে লয় কৃষ্ণনাম ॥ ১৮০ ॥

mahā-pātra ānila tāṁre kariyā sammāna
the Mahāpātra brought him showing honour yoḍa-hāte prabhu-āge laya kṛṣṇa-nāma with joined palms before the Lord he takes the name of Kṛṣṇa

180 The Mahāpātra brought him forward with honour, and with joined palms he chanted the name of Kṛṣṇa before the Lord:

অধম যবনকুলে কেন জন্ম হৈল । বিধি মোরে হিন্দুকুলে কেনে না জন্মাইল ॥ ১৮১ ॥

adhama yavana-kule kena janma haila
in a low yavana family why birth took place vidhi more hindu-kule kene nā janmāila
Providence me in a Hindu family why not caused to be born

181 “Why was I born in a low yavana family? Why did Providence not have me born in a Hindu family?

Without attaining the Lord’s feet he longs for death —

‘হিন্দু’ হৈলে পাইতাম তোমার চরণ-সন্নিধান ।
ব্যর্থ মোর এই দেহ, যাউক পরাণ ॥ ১৮২ ॥

‘hindu’ haile pāitāma tomāra caraṇa-sannidhāna

vyartha mora ei deha, yāuka parāṇa useless my this body let it go life

182 Had I been a Hindu, I would have gained a place near Your feet. This body of mine is useless — let my life go!”

Hearing his lament, the royal officer too offers prayers to the Lord —

এত শুনি’ মহাপাত্র আবিষ্ট হঞা । প্রভুকে করেন স্তুতি চরণে ধরিয়া ॥ ১৮৩ ॥

eta śuni’ mahā-pātra āviṣṭa hañā this hearing the Mahāpātra overwhelmed becoming prabhuke karena stuti caraṇe dhariyā to the Lord offers praise the feet clasping

183 Hearing this, the Mahāpātra was overwhelmed with feeling; clasping the Lord’s feet, he praised Him:

চণ্ডাল — পবিত্র, যাঁর শ্রীনাম-শ্রবণে । হেন-তোমার এই জীব পাইল দর্শনে ॥ ১৮৪ ॥

caṇḍāla — pavitra, yāṁra śrī-nāma-śravaṇe an outcaste is purified whose holy name by hearing hena-tomāra ei jīva pāila darśane such You this soul has obtained sight

184 "By hearing Your holy name even a caṇḍāla becomes pure — and this soul has gained the sight of such a Lord as You!

That the Muslim was delivered by seeing the Lord is not so astonishing —

ইঁহার যে এই গতি, ইথে কি বিস্ময় ?
তোমার দর্শন-প্রভাব এইমত হয় ॥ ১৮৫ ॥

iṁhāra ye ei gati, ithe ki vismaya?
his that this state in this what wonder tomāra darśana-prabhāva ei mata haya
Your sight's power this way is 185 What wonder is there in his coming to such a state? Such is the power of seeing You."

*Hearing, chanting or remembering the Lord's name purifies even an antyaja — what then of seeing Him face to face — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 3.33.6) —*

যন্নামধেয়শ্রবণানুকীর্ত্তনাদ্- যৎপ্রহ্বণাদ্যৎস্মরণাদপি ক্বচিৎ ।

yan-nāmadheya-śravaṇānukīrtanād whose name from hearing and chanting yat-prahvaṇād yat-smaraṇād api kvacit to whom from bowing of whom from remembering even once śvādo 'pi sadyaḥ savanāya kalpate a dog-eater even at once for Vedic sacrifice becomes fit kutaḥ punas te bhagavan nu darśanāt how much more then You O Lord indeed from seeing

186 “O Lord, if even a dog-eater hears and chants Your name, bows down to You or remembers You but once, he is instantly made fit to perform Vedic sacrifice. How much more, then, one who sees You!” (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.33.6)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

O Bhagavān, even one born in a family of caṇḍālas or Yavanas at once becomes fit for the savana sacrifice as soon as he hears Your name, repeats it after hearing it, bows to You and remembers You. Such a Lord You are — what does the sight of You not bestow?

Anubhāṣya.

When mother Devahūti heard from Śrī Kapiladeva about the yoga of pure bhakti, the covering of delusion fell away from her, and she offers prayers to Bhagavān Śrī Kapiladeva, the founder of pure sāṅkhya knowledge:

bhagavan (O Bhagavān), kvacit yan-nāmadheya-śravaṇānukīrtanāt (by first hearing the name of You, Bhagavān, and then — anu — chanting it), yat-prahvaṇāt (by bowing one’s head to You), yat-smaraṇāt (by remembering You, Bhagavān) ca śvādaḥ (one born in a family of dog-eaters, the lowest of all) api sadyaḥ (at once) savanāya (for the soma sacrifice) kalpate (becomes fit); te (Your) darśanāt punaḥ kutaḥ nu (what need is there to say; the sense is, “I have attained the goal”).

The Lord mercifully tells the Muslim ruler to chant the name of Kṛṣṇa —

তবে মহাপ্রভু তাঁরে কৃপা-দৃষ্টি করি’ ।
আশ্বাসিয়া কহে, — তুমি কহ ‘কৃষ্ণ’ ‘হরি’ ॥ ১৮৭ ॥

tabe mahāprabhu tāṁre kṛpā-dṛṣṭi kari’ then Mahāprabhu on him a merciful glance casting āśvāsiyā kahe, — tumi kaha ‘kṛṣṇa’ ‘hari’ reassuring says you say “Kṛṣṇa” “Hari”

187 Then Mahāprabhu cast a merciful glance on him and, reassuring him, said, “Chant ‘Kṛṣṇa’ and ‘Hari’.”

Anubhāṣya.

*The mleccha ruler asks to be freed from his sins and to be given service to the Lord —*

সেই কহে, — মোরে যদি কৈলা অঙ্গীকার । এক আজ্ঞা দেহ, — সেবা করি যে তোমার ॥ ১৮৮ ॥

sei kahe, — more yadi kailā aṅgīkāra
he says me if You have made acceptance eka ājñā deha, — sevā kari ye tomāra one order give service I may do that Your 188 He said, “If You have accepted me, give me one order, so that I may serve You.

গো-ব্রাহ্মণ-বৈষ্ণবে হিংসা কর্যাছি অপার । সেই পাপ হইতে মোর হউক নিস্তার ॥ ১৮৯ ॥

go-brāhmaṇa-vaiṣṇave hiṁsā karyāchi apāra to cows, brāhmaṇas and Vaiṣṇavas violence I have done boundless sei pāpa haite mora hauka nistāra that sin from my may there be deliverance

Mukunda asks him to help on the journey of the Lord, who is playing the part of an ordinary man —

তবে মুকুন্দ দত্ত কহে, — শুন, মহাশয় । গঙ্গাতীর যাইতে মহাপ্রভুর মন হয় ॥ ১৯০ ॥

tabe mukunda datta kahe, — śuna, mahāśaya then Mukunda Datta says listen good sir gaṅgā-tīra yāite mahāprabhura mana haya to the bank of the Gaṅgā to go Mahāprabhu’s mind is 190 Then Mukunda Datta said, “Listen, good sir: Mahāprabhu wishes to go to the bank of the Gaṅgā.

তাঁহা যাইতে কর তুমি সহায়-প্রকার । এই বড় আজ্ঞা, এই বড় উপকার ॥ ১৯১ ॥

tāṁhā yāite kara tumi sahāya-prakāra
there to go give you of help some form ei baḍa ājñā, ei baḍa upakāra
this the great order this the great service

191 Help Him in some way to get there. That is the great order, and that will be a great service."

*The mleccha ruler agrees, bows humbly to everyone and takes his leave —*

তবে সেই মহাপ্রভুর চরণ বন্দিয়া । সবার চরণ বন্দি' চলে হৃষ্ট হঞা ॥ ১৯২ ॥

tabe sei mahāprabhura caraṇa vandiyā
then he Mahāprabhu's feet worshipping sabāra caraṇa vandi' cale hṛṣṭa hañā everyone's feet worshipping goes joyful becoming 192 Then he bowed at Mahāprabhu's feet and at the feet of all, and went away rejoicing.

Anubhāṣya.
"He": the mleccha ruler.

He embraces the royal officer and makes friends with him —

মহাপাত্র তাঁর সনে কৈল কোলাকুলি । অনেক সামগ্রী দিয়া করিল মিতালি ॥ ১৯৩ ॥

mahāpātra tāṁra sane kaila kolākuli the Mahāpātra him with exchanged embraces aneka sāmagrī diyā karila mitāli
many gifts giving made friendship

193 The Mahāpātra embraced him and, giving him many gifts, made friends with him.

Anubhāṣya.

Mitāli: friendship sealed with gifts and the like.

প্রাতঃকালে সেই বহু নৌকা সাজাঞা ।

194 In the morning the yavana fitted out many boats and sent his secretary to bring the Lord.

*The Lord comes with the royal officer, and the mleccha bows at the Lord's feet —*

the mleccha coming made the Lord's feet worship

195 The Mahāpātra came along with Mahāprabhu, and the mleccha came and worshipped the Lord's feet.

He gives the Lord a new boat with every comfort —

এক নবীন নৌকা, তার মধ্যে ঘর ।

196 There was one new boat with a cabin in the middle, and the Lord went on board with His companions.

On the riverbank the Lord bids farewell to the royal officer, who weeps —

197 Mahāprabhu bade the Mahāpātra farewell, and he stood weeping on the bank, gazing after Him.

*That mleccha, now a devotee of the Lord, guards Him, takes Him across the Mantreśvara river and accompanies Him as far as Pichaladā —*

198 For fear of river pirates the yavana went along too, taking many soldiers with him in ten boats.

'pichaldā' paryanta yei yavana āila Picchaldā as far as who yavana came

199 He brought them across the dangerous Mantreśvara river, and the yavana came with them all the way to Picchaldā.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Mantreśvara is the name of a large river near Diamond Harbour. Along this river the boat came to the village of Pichaladā on the bank of the Rūpanārāyaṇa; on one side the village of Pichaladā borders the Mantreśvara (?).

Anubhāṣya.
The dangerous river (duṣṭa-nada): a hard waterway infested with river pirates. It is hard also because the river is very wide and swift.

At Pichaladā the Lord lets him go; his wondrous grief —

তাঁরে বিদায় দিল প্রভু সেই গ্রাম হৈতে । সে-কালে তাঁর প্রেম-চেষ্টা না পারি বর্ণিতে ॥ ২০০ ॥

tāṁre vidāya dila prabhu sei grāma haite

se-kāle tāṁra prema-ceṣṭā nā pāri varṇite at that time his signs of love not I can describe 200 From that village the Lord bade him farewell. I cannot describe the signs of love he showed then.

Only one who hears of Caitanya's pastimes has made his birth fruitful —

অলৌকিক লীলা করে শ্রীকৃষ্ণচৈতন্য । যেই ইহা শুনে, তাঁর জন্ম, দেহ ধন্য ॥ ২০১ ॥

alaukika līlā kare śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya beyond this world pastimes performs Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya yei ihā śune, tāṁra janma, deha dhanya whoever this hears his birth body are blessed

201 Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya performs pastimes beyond this world. Whoever hears of them is blessed in his birth and in his body.

In that boat the Lord arrives at Pāṇihāṭi, at Rāghava's house, and shows mercy to the boatman —

সেই নৌকা চড়ি' প্রভু আইলা 'পানিহাটি' । নাবিকেরে পরাইল প্রভু নিজ-কৃপা-সাটী ॥ ২০২ ॥

sei naukā caḍi' prabhu āilā 'pānihāṭi' that boat riding the Lord came to Pāṇihāṭi nāvikere parāila prabhu nija-kṛpā-sāṭī
the boatman clothed the Lord in the cloth of His own mercy

202 Riding in that boat, the Lord came to Pāṇihāṭi, and He clothed the boatman in the cloth of His own mercy.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Pāṇihāṭi is the village of Pāṇihāṭi on the bank of the Gaṅgā, not far from the śrīpāṭa of Khaḍadaha.

Crowds gather at the Lord's arrival —

প্রভু আইলা বলি' লোকে হৈল কোলাহল । মনুষ্য ভরিল সব, কিবা জল, স্থল ॥ ২০৩ ॥

prabhu āilā bali' loke haila kolāhala
the Lord has come saying among the people arose an uproar manuṣya bharila saba, kibā jala, sthala with people filled everything whether water land

203 At the news that the Lord had come a great clamour arose, and land and water alike were filled with people.

Because of the crowds Rāghava brings the Lord to his home with great difficulty —[12]

রাঘব-পণ্ডিত আসি' প্রভু লঞা গেলা । পথে যাইতে লোকভিড়ে কষ্টে-সৃষ্ট্যে আইলা ॥ ২০৪ ॥

rāghava-paṇḍita āsi' prabhu lañā gelā Rāghava Paṇḍita coming the Lord taking went pathe yāite loka-bhiḍe kaṣṭe-sṛṣṭye āilā on the way going in the crowd with great difficulty they came 204 Rāghava Paṇḍita came and took the Lord with him, but because of the crowds on the way they got there only with great difficulty.

After staying one day in Rāghava's house, the Lord comes to Kumārahaṭṭa, to Śrīvāsa's house —

একদিন প্রভু তথা করিয়া নিবাস । প্রাতে কুমারহট্টে আইলা, — যাঁহা শ্রীনিবাস ॥ ২০৫ ॥

ekadina prabhu tathā kariyā nivāsa one day the Lord there making stay prāte kumārahaṭṭe āilā, — yāṁhā śrīnivāsa
in the morning to Kumārahaṭṭa He came where Śrīnivāsa

205 The Lord stayed there one day, and in the morning He came to Kumārahaṭṭa, where Śrīnivāsa lived.

Then, close by, He comes first to Śivānanda's house and afterwards to Vāsudeva's —

তাঁহা হৈতে আগে গেলা শিবানন্দ-ঘর । বাসুদেব-গৃহে পাছে আইলা ঈশ্বর ॥ ২০৬ ॥

tāṁhā haite āge gelā śivānanda-ghara
from there next He went to Śivānanda's house

206 From there He went on to Śivānanda's house, and after that the Lord came to the house of Vāsudeva.

Next the Lord comes to Vidyānagara, to the house of Vidyā-vācaspati, and, seeing the huge crowds, goes secretly to Kuliyā —

207 Then the Lord stayed in Vācaspati's house, and for fear of the crowds He went on to Kuliyā.

Anubhāṣya.

The Lord stayed five days in Vācaspati's house — see Madhya 1.151.

Vācaspati's house was in "Vidyānagara," within Jahnu-dvīpa, near Koladvīpa; Devānanda Paṇḍita lived there — see Caitanya-bhāgavata, Madhya 21 and Antya 3.

Kuliyā. In the Śrī Caitanya-candrodaya-nāṭaka, Act 9 (the words spoken to the king by the men whom Rāya had sent and who returned from Navadvīpa to Kaṭaka): "Then He came to Kumārahaṭṭa, to the house of Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita.  Then He came to Advaita's house, where Haridāsa greeted Him, and likewise, by the river route, He landed across from Navadvīpa, in the village named Kuliyā, at the house of Mādhava dāsa. Having stayed there seven days in this way, He set out again along the bank." In the Śrī Caitanya-carita-mahākāvya: "On the next day the beautiful Lord came to a certain place on the western bank of the Gaṅgā, across from the land of Śrī Navadvīpa, and with His whole form gave full joy to the eyes of all living beings." Caitanya-bhāgavata, Antya 3: "With all His associates Śrī Gaurasundara came unexpectedly and stayed at his (Vidyā-vācaspati's) house. In Navadvīpa and all around the news spread: 'The crest-jewel of sannyāsīs has come to Vācaspati's house!' Countless multitudes, crying 'Hari! Hari!', set out to see Gaurāṅga Śrī Hari. In the crowd no one could find a path; breaking the branches of the forest, people went in every direction. Wherever there was forest, the crowd passed through it, and in a moment it all became fine roads. In a moment all the people reached the ferry, and the ferrymen did not know how to take them across. Vācaspati Mahāśaya came quickly and gathered many boats. But no one waited for the boats any more; they crossed in various ways, each as he could. In this way everyone crossed the Gaṅgā, and all of them clasped Vācaspati's feet. The Lord went secretly to the town of Kuliyā — the Lord of Vaikuṇṭha came to Kuliyā. All the people, crying 'Hari,' at once set out with Vācaspati in great delight. 'The jewel of sannyāsīs has come to the town of Kuliyā!' — at that moment a great cry rose on every side. Between Nadīyā and Kuliyā there is only the Gaṅgā: as soon as they heard, all the people ran there in great joy. However great the crowds had been in Vācaspati's village (Vidyānagara), millions of times more now filled the whole place. Hundreds of thousands of boats came from who knows where; I do not know how many crossed, and in how many ways. Hundreds of thousands of people floated in the waters of the Jāhnavī, all crossing in great eagerness. Having crossed the Gaṅgā on their own, they all embraced one another and raised the cry of Hari. In a moment the village of Kuliyā — the town and the fields around it — was so full that no space was left. In a moment Vācaspati Mahāśaya came, but he could not find where the Lord was staying.  All the sinners there were when the Lord revealed Himself in Kuliyā — the high, the middling and the low — were all delivered. When Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya came to the village of Kuliyā, there was no one whom the Lord did not bless."

Nityānanda Prabhu's saṅkīrtana with His associates while He lived in Navadvīpa (Caitanya-bhāgavata, Antya 6): "Khānāyoḍā, Baḍagāchi and Do-gāchiyā; at times He crosses the Gaṅgā to Kuliyā." In the Caitanya-maṅgala: "After bathing in the Gaṅgā, the Lord went through Rāḍha-deśa and in due course arrived at the town of Kuliyā. At His mother's word He went again to Navadvīpa — to Bārakoṇā Ghāṭa, near His own house." Premadāsa: "In the midst of Nadīyā, as everyone knows, is a place called 'Kuliyā-Pāhāḍapura.'" In the Bhakti-ratnākara of Śrī Narahari Cakravartī, or Ghanaśyāma dāsa (wave 12): "Look, Śrīnivāsa, at Kuliyā Pāhāḍapura; formerly it was known as 'Koladvīpa-parvata.'" In his Navadvīpa-parikramā: "The village of Kuliyā-Pāhāḍapura; formerly it was called Koladvīpa-parvata." What was Kuliyā is the place still known as "Bāhir-dvīpa" — the present town of Navadvīpa — together with Koler Gañj, Kola-āmāda, Koler Daha, Gadakhāli and other places. Therefore the village that in recent times has been fancied to be "Kuliyār Pāṭ" can by no means be the "ancient Kuliyā."

In Kuliyā the Lord stays at Mādhava dāsa's house, and countless people receive His darśana —

Anubhāṣya.

Mādhava dāsa. Yudhiṣṭhira Caṭṭopādhyāya was born in the family of Śrīkara Caṭṭopādhyāya. He and his kinsmen moved from the village of Bilva-grāma and from Pāṭuli to "Kuliyā-Pāhāḍapura," or "Pāḍapura," within Navadvīpa. Yudhiṣṭhira's eldest son was Mādhava dāsa, the middle one Haridāsa, and the youngest Kṛṣṇasampati Caṭṭopādhyāya; their everyday names were "Chakaḍi," "Tinakaḍi" and "Dukaḍi" respectively. The descendants of Mādhava dāsa's grandson Vaṁśīvadana, and of his grandson Rāmacandra and others, live to this day in Bāghnāpāḍā, Baiṁci and other places.

*The Lord delivered many offenders in Kuliyā, so Kuliyā is "the pāṭa of Aparādha-bhañjana," the place where offences were forgiven —*

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The present name of Kumārahaṭṭa is "Hālisahara." Soon after Mahāprabhu took sannyāsa, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita left his home in Navadvīpa and built a house in Kumārahaṭṭa. From Kumārahaṭṭa the Lord went to Kāñcanapallī, that is, to Kāñcaḍāpāḍā, to the house of Śivānanda Sena, and then to the house of Vāsudeva Datta, near Śivānanda's house. From there the Lord went to Śrī Vidyānagara on the western bank of Śrī Navadvīpa. (Because of the crowds) He came from Vidyānagara to the village of Kuliyā and stayed in the house of Mādhava dāsa. Staying there seven days, He freed Devānanda and others from their offences. Because Kavirāja Gosvāmī mentions here the Lord's coming in this way to the house of the Ācārya of Śāntipura, many people suspect that there must be some "Kuliyā" near Kāñcaḍāpāḍā. One may surmise that this false notion gave rise to some "new Kuliyār Pāṭ." In fact Mahāprabhu went to the house of the Ācārya of Śāntipura straight from Vāsudeva's house. That from there He went to the other (western) bank of Navadvīpa — to Vidyānagara, to the house of Vidyā-vācaspati, and to the village of Kuliyā — is clearly described in the Śrī Caitanya-bhāgavata, the Śrī Caitanya-maṅgala, the Śrī Caitanya-candrodaya-nāṭaka, Premadāsa's Bengali rendering, and the Śrī Caitanya-carita-kāvya. Śrī Kavirāja Gosvāmī did not describe this journey in order, and this is the root of all these disturbances and doubts.

217 Hiraṇya and Govardhana were two brothers, masters of twelve lakhs of coins in Saptagrāma.

Anubhāṣya.

Hiraṇya and Govardhana were two brothers of a Kāyastha family by birth, residents of the village of Śrī Kṛṣṇapura near Saptagrāma in Hugalī district. Their family title is not known for certain, but they were sat-kulīna (of a noble family). The elder was named Hiraṇya Majumadāra and the younger Govardhana Majumadāra. Govardhana's son was Śrī Raghunātha dāsa. Their purohita (family priest) was Balarāma Ācārya, who received the mercy of Śrī Haridāsa Ṭhākura (Antya 3.165–166), and their guru-purohita was Yadunandana Ācārya, who received the mercy of Śrī Vāsudeva Datta (Antya 6.161). For other facts about them see Antya 3.165, 171–174, 188–189, 198, 201 and 206, and Antya 6.17–34, 37–40. For the Lord's own description of their conduct, see Antya 6.195–198.

Saptagrāma is an ancient port and town on the bank of the Sarasvatī river, near Triśabighā railway station on the E.I.R. line, in Hugalī district. In 1592 the Pathans plundered it, and in 1632, when the Sarasvatī's current was blocked, this very ancient port was all but ruined. It is said that even in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries Portuguese sailors came here by ship to trade. In the southern Bengal of those days Saptagrāma was famous as a prominent and prosperous town. Here lived the two brothers Hiraṇya and Govardhana, masters of enormous wealth. At that time they collected twelve lakhs of coins in revenue each year. See the first part of the Anubhāṣya on Ādi 11.41, on Uddhāraṇa Datta.

Anubhāṣya.
Although in Śrī Mahāprabhu's time Navadvīpa was a wealthy town, it was simply the home of brāhmaṇas devoted to learning, who depended on Hiraṇya and Govardhana. These pure brāhmaṇas lived under the brothers' care: with the money, land, villages and so on that Hiraṇya and Govardhana gave them, they taught and supported themselves. The brothers held brāhmaṇas in extraordinary esteem and never hesitated to give to them with an open hand.

238 Do not make a show of monkey renunciation (markaṭa-vairāgya) for people to see. Accept worldly things as is fitting, but without attachment.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Markaṭa-vairāgya (monkey renunciation). Thoughts of sense objects in the heart and secret relations with women, while outwardly wearing a kaupīna, an outer cloth (bahirvāsa) and the other marks of renunciation — all these are the signs of a "markaṭa-vairāgī."

Anubhāṣya.

Markaṭa-vairāgya (monkey renunciation). Monkeys, though bent on enjoyment, seem to live without houses or clothes, and so they may be taken as the "equals" of men endowed with detachment; yet they never stop gratifying their senses. Such renunciation "for show" is called markaṭa-vairāgya. There is a renunciation that does not arise from pure bhakti, born together with it, but springs from the frustration of desires or longings for things other than Kṛṣṇa. It does not remain for life as a support of pure bhakti but proves “momentary,” or phalgu; this is śmaśāna-vairāgya (cremation-ground renunciation), or markaṭa-vairāgya. But if a person, for the sake of service to Kṛṣṇa, merely accepts what is strictly unavoidable among worldly things and lives without absorption in them, he does not fall under the sway of the fruits of karma. The words of the Nārada Purāṇa cited in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu (Pūrva-vibhāga, 2nd Laharī): “One who knows the true goal should accept [worldly things] only as much as is needed to maintain himself. By taking more or less, he falls away from the highest goal.” In his commentary Durgama-saṅgamanī Śrī Jīva Prabhu explains the word sva-nirvāhaḥ (“maintaining oneself”) in this verse as sva-sva-bhakti-nirvāhaḥ, “maintaining one’s own bhakti.” Further, in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu (Pūrva-vibhāga, 2nd Laharī, 125 and 126),[14] on phalgu-vairāgya: “When those who seek liberation reject things connected with Hari, regarding them as worldly, that renunciation is called phalgu (worthless).” That is: “To reject as ‘worldly’ what is favourable to service of Śrī Hari is a mistake.” On yukta-vairāgya: “When one uses worldly things as is fitting, without attachment, and holds firmly to their connection with Kṛṣṇa, that is called yukta-vairāgya.” That is: “Worldly things, free of attachment and in their connection [with Kṛṣṇa], are all Mādhava.”

antare niṣṭhā kara, bāhye loka vyavahāra within firm faith keep outwardly worldly conduct acirāt kṛṣṇa tomāya karibe uddhāra very soon Kṛṣṇa you will make deliverance

239 Keep firm faith within, and outwardly behave as people do in the world. Very soon Kṛṣṇa will deliver you.

Anubhāṣya.

Show people the conduct that society ordinarily considers proper, while in your heart you give up absorption in material things and, fixed in Me, serve Bhagavān with devotion. If you serve Kṛṣṇa in this way with a guileless heart, Kṛṣṇa Himself will free you from the bonds of saṁsāra. The words “Be steadfast within, and outwardly behave as people do” simply explain the earlier words “Enjoy worldly things as is fitting, without attachment.” Niṣṭhā means steadfastness in Kṛṣṇa, that is, abiding resolutely in unmotivated cultivation of Kṛṣṇa, having given up desire and thirst for anything other than Kṛṣṇa. “Behave as people do”: the Pañcarātra text cited in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu (Pūrva-vibhāga, 2nd Laharī): “One who desires bhakti, O sage, should perform only those acts, worldly or Vedic, that are favourable to service of Hari.”

The Lord tells him to come to Him when He has returned from Vṛndāvana and is staying in Nīlācala —

বৃন্দাবন দেখি’ যবে আসিব নীলাচলে । তবে তুমি আমা-পাশ আসিহ কোন ছলে ॥ ২৪০ ॥

tabe tumi āmā-pāśa āsiha kona chale then you to Me come some on pretext

240 When I have seen Vṛndāvana and come back to Nīlācala, then come to Me on some pretext.

Only Kṛṣṇa’s causeless mercy makes one fit to attain Kṛṣṇa —

সে ছল সেকালে কৃষ্ণ স্ফুরাবে তোমারে ।
কৃষ্ণকৃপা যাঁরে, তাঁরে কে রাখিতে পারে ॥ ২৪১ ॥

Kṛṣṇa’s mercy on whom him who to hold back can

241 At that time Kṛṣṇa Himself will show you that pretext. Who can hold back one who has Kṛṣṇa’s mercy?”

*Having taken leave of the Lord, he practises yukta-vairāgya at home —*

243 Giving up all his outward renunciation and madness, he did his duties as was fitting, without attachment.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Raghunātha dāsa came back from Śāntipura to Saptagrāma and began to follow Mahāprabhu's teaching. He kept his renunciation within his heart; outwardly he no longer showed any renunciation or madness, and without attachment he took up the household duties that befitted him.

Anubhāṣya.
He gave up the madness in which, before people's eyes, he had refused to accept anything worldly, and without attachment began to carry out suitable duties in a way favourable to service of Kṛṣṇa.

His parents rejoice at Raghunātha's conduct, and the guard around him slackens —

দেখি' তাঁর পিতা-মাতা বড় সুখ পাইল । তাঁহার আবরণ কিছু শিথিল হইল ॥ ২৪৪ ॥

seeing his father and mother great happiness felt tāṁhāra āvaraṇa kichu śithila haila his guard somewhat slack became 244 Seeing this, his father and mother were very happy, and the watch over him was somewhat relaxed.

Anubhāṣya.
When his parents saw that Śrī Raghunātha's outward marks of renunciation had slackened, their hearts, inclined to family life, rejoiced greatly. They no longer thought it necessary to keep around Raghunātha a cordon (veṣṭana) of eleven people — five foot guards, four servants and two brāhmaṇas. Seeing him gradually take on responsibilities in the household, they reduced the number of guards.

Anubhāṣya.

In the material world you are “the very best,” yet you consider yourselves “the lowest of all.” Therefore, although you are yourselves eternally perfect associates of Kṛṣṇa in Vraja, Kṛṣṇa will soon free you from this “bondage of saṁsāra” (?) and engage you in His eternal service: only to the external vision of worldly people, to knowledge gained through the senses, do you play the role of conditioned souls.[15]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Praheli: a prahelikā, a riddle (tarjā).

It is not fitting to go to Vṛndāvana with a crowd of people who have all kinds of purposes —

266 'When hundreds of thousands, even millions of people go along with one, that is not the way to go to Vṛndāvana.'

Even so the Lord travels with the crowd; later, reflecting on Sanātana's words, He leaves it —[16]

*The Paṇḍita, full of gentle (dakṣiṇa) feeling towards the Lord, speaks words of love and humility —*

tabu vṛndāvana yāha' loka śikhāite still to Vṛndāvana You go people to teach seita karibe, tomāra yei laya citte that very thing You will do Your which takes heart

281 Still, You go to Vṛndāvana to teach people. You will do just what Your heart decides.

Anubhāṣya.

Śrīman Mahāprabhu had already revealed His own mood among His associates while dancing before the chariot. Śrī Mahāprabhu's heart itself is Vṛndāvana, the land of Śrī Rādhākānta's pastimes. Even so, to teach people, He goes to the earthly (bhauma) Vṛndāvana manifested in the material world. Ordinary people, whose vision is mundane and who are intoxicated with sense enjoyment, think that the earthly Vṛndāvana is not transcendental: that it is a particular place like any other material land, which even senses bent on enjoyment can reach with the help of money, the means of enjoyment. Just as association with other such material things gives rise to material moods, so, if one goes to see "Vṛndāvana" (?) with the idea that it is an object of sense enjoyment, or with material intelligence, one gains no spiritual, eternal good — that is, service to Śrī Kṛṣṇa, the nondual Truth. This is proved by Śrī Mahāprabhu's words "My mind is Vṛndāvana" (Madhya 13.137) and by the Bhāgavatam verse āhuś ca te (“They say that Your [lotus feet]…”).[18] (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.84.8)[19]: “One who takes this corpse-like body made of three elements for the self, who takes his wife and others for his own, who sees the object of worship in what is earthly and the holy place in water, but never in those who know the truth — he is like an ox or an ass.” In reality Mahāprabhu enacted the pastimes of travelling to Vṛndāvana, the Lord’s transcendental place of pastimes, and of seeing it, only to teach materialistic people. If a conditioned soul forgets this and takes Vṛndāvana to be one of the “places of enjoyment” of the material world, he will be going against Mahāprabhu’s teaching. The prākṛta-sahajiyās form their own idea of the holy dhāma, pride themselves on being “Vrajavāsīs” or “dhāma-vāsīs,” and proclaim it. In fact, instead of living in the spiritual Vṛndāvana, they live in dreadful saṁsāra, the field of their own sense gratification, and only multiply the rubbish. Pure bhāgavatas have no such mood or idea. Śrī Dāmodara Svarūpa is an eternal resident of Vraja, yet nothing is heard in his life of his going to the earthly Vṛndāvana. Nor does any book record such a journey by Śrī Puṇḍarīka Vidyānidhi, Śrī Haridāsa Ṭhākura, Śrīvāsa Paṇḍita, Śrī Śivānanda Sena, Śrī Rāmānanda Rāya, Śrī Śikhi Māhiti, Śrī Mādhavī Devī, Śrī Gadādhara Paṇḍita Gosvāmī and others. On the other hand, people commonly tell of many prākṛta-sahajiyās, karmīs, jñānīs and those with other desires — all devoid of pure bhakti — living in the earthly Vṛndāvana, seeing it or going there. Residence in the holy dhāma may give those without bhakti heaven or liberation, or the fruits that are won by sin, piety or renunciation; but only the pure devotee, endowed with the divine, spotless eyes meant in the verse premāñjana-cchurita-bhakti-vilocanena (“with eyes of devotion tinged with the salve of love”),[20] truly and really lives in the transcendental holy dhāma Vṛndāvana. In a later age Ṭhākura Narottama in the village of Kheturi and Śrīnivāsa Ācārya in the village of Yājigrāma, and in the age after them Śrī Jagannātha dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja in Gauḍa-deśa, Śrī Bhagavān dāsa in Kālnā, Śrīmad Gaurakiśora dāsa Bābājī Mahārāja in Navadvīpa-dhāma, Śrī Śrīmad Bhaktivinoda Ṭhākura in Calcutta and other devotees wholly devoted to the holy name certainly never lived in any dhāma other than Śrī Vṛndāvana.

The Lord is asked to spend the four months of the rains in Purī —

এই আগে আইলা, প্রভু, বর্ষার চারি মাস । এই চারি মাস কর নীলাচলে বাস ॥ ২৮২ ॥

ei āge āilā, prabhu, varṣāra cāri māsa
now ahead have come Lord of the rains four months ei cāri māsa kara nīlācale vāsa
these four months make in Nīlācala residence

282 Lord, the four months of the rains are almost upon us. Spend these four months in Nīlācala.

After that the independent Lord may go wherever He likes: the devotees will not object —

পাছে সেই আচরিবা, যেই তোমার মন । আপন-ইচ্ছায় চল, রহ, — কে করে বারণ ॥ ২৮৩ ॥

pāche sei ācaribā, yei tomāra mana afterwards that You will do which Your mind āpana-icchāya cala, raha, — ke kare vāraṇa
by Your own will go stay who makes prohibition

283 Afterwards do whatever You have in mind. Go or stay as You please — who could stop You?"

This is the request of all the devotees —

শুনি' সব ভক্ত কহে প্রভুর চরণে । সবাকার ইচ্ছা পণ্ডিত কৈল নিবেদনে ॥ ২৮৪ ॥

śuni' saba bhakta kahe prabhura caraṇe hearing all the devotees say the Lord's at the feet sabākāra icchā paṇḍita kaila nivedane of everyone the desire the Paṇḍita has made submission

284 Hearing this, all the devotees said at the Lord's feet, "The Paṇḍita has put forward what we all desire."

At everyone's wish the Lord stays in Purī for four months —

সবার ইচ্ছায় প্রভু চারিমাস রহিলা । শুনিয়া প্রতাপরুদ্র আনন্দিত হৈলা ॥ ২৮৫ ॥

sabāra icchāya prabhu cārimāsa rahilā everyone's by the desire the Lord four months stayed śuniyā pratāparudra ānandita hailā hearing Pratāparudra delighted became 285 At everyone's wish the Lord stayed for the four months, and when Pratāparudra heard this, he was delighted.

The Paṇḍita feeds the Lord at his own home in Ṭoṭā —

সেই দিন গদাধর কৈল নিমন্ত্রণ । তাঁহা ভিক্ষা কৈল প্রভু লঞা ভক্তগণ ॥ ২৮৬ ॥

sei dina gadādhara kaila nimantraṇa that day Gadādhara made invitation tāṁhā bhikṣā kaila prabhu lañā bhakta-gaṇa
there meal took the Lord taking the devotees

286 That day Gadādhara invited Him, and the Lord took His meal there with the devotees.

The Paṇḍita's love and the Lord's submission to it are inconceivable for mortals —

ভিক্ষাতে পণ্ডিতের স্নেহ, প্রভুর আস্বাদন । মনুষ্যের শক্ত্যে দুই না যায় বর্ণন ॥ ২৮৭ ॥

bhikṣāte paṇḍitera sneha, prabhura āsvādana at the meal the Paṇḍita's affection the Lord's relishing manuṣyera śaktye dui nā yāya varṇana by human power the two not can be described

287 No human being could describe the Paṇḍita's affection at that meal, or how the Lord relished it.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The love that Gadādhara Paṇḍita showed when he fed the Lord, and the way the Lord relished that loving prasāda — neither can be described by human power.

Thus ends the sixteenth chapter of the "Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya."

এই মত গৌরলীলা — অনন্ত, অপার । সংক্ষেপে কহিয়ে, কহা না যায় বিস্তার ॥ ২৮৮ ॥

ei mata gaura-līlā — ananta, apāra in this way the pastimes of Gaura endless boundless saṅkṣepe kahiye, kahā nā yāya vistāra in brief I tell; to tell not goes in full

288 Such are Gaura's pastimes, endless and boundless. I tell them in brief, for they cannot be told in full.[9]

Even Ananta Himself cannot find the end of Gaura's pastimes —

সহস্র-বদনে কহে আপনে 'অনন্ত' । তবু এক লীলার তেঁহো নাহি পায় অন্ত ॥ ২৮৯ ॥

sahasra-vadane kahe āpane 'ananta' with a thousand mouths tells Himself Ananta tabu eka līlāra teṁho nāhi pāya anta still of one pastime He not reaches the end

289 Ananta Himself tells of them with His thousand mouths, yet He cannot reach the end of even one pastime.

Anubhāṣya.

Thus ends the sixteenth chapter of the "Anubhāṣya."

শ্রীরূপ-রঘুনাথ-পদে যার আশ । চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত কহে কৃষ্ণদাস ॥ ২৯০ ॥

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa Śrī Rūpa's, Raghunātha's at the feet whose hope caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa
"Caitanya-caritāmṛta" narrates Kṛṣṇadāsa

290 Praying at the feet of Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Raghunātha, I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, narrate the Caitanya-caritāmṛta.[10]
