“Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta”

Madhya-līlā

Chapter 24

Mercy to Sanātana: The Explanation of the Ātmārāma Verse

(English translation from the Bengali, following the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition and the Anubhāṣya, 2026)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya

Summary. At Sanātana’s request Mahāprabhu gave sixty-one meanings of the verse ātmārāmāś ca munayaḥ. He explained each word separately and drew out all these meanings by joining them with the senses of the words ca and api. At the end, explaining the verse, He established its conclusive meaning: jñānīs, karmīs and yogīs all give up their own faults and, along with that, worship Kṛṣṇa. In the course of the explanation He told the story of Nārada and a hunter and spoke of the glory of the company of sādhus: Nārada brought the sage Parvata and showed him the hunter’s devotion to Hari. Then the Lord heard the prayer (stava) in which Sanātana glorified Him and revealed the purport and glory of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam. Last of all, as Sanātana wished, Mahāprabhu told him the outlines (sūtras) of the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa.

*A prayer for the blessing of Gaura, who destroys false arguments through the verse ātmārāmāś ca —*

আত্মারামেতি পদ্যার্কস্যার্থাংশূন্ যঃ প্রকাশয়ন্ । জগত্তমো জহারাব্যাৎ স চৈতন্যোদয়াচলঃ ॥ ১ ॥

ātmārāmeti padyārkasy-
the ātmārāma (verse) of the sun-verse ārthāṁśūn yaḥ prakāśayan
of the meaning the rays who revealing
jagat-tamo jahārāvyāt
of the world the darkness dispelled may He protect sa caitanyodayācalaḥ
He Caitanya the mountain of sunrise

1 Śrī Caitanya is the eastern mountain where the sun of the ātmārāma verse rose; revealing the rays of its meanings, He dispelled the darkness of the world. May He protect us.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya revealed the rays of meaning of the sun that is the ātmārāma verse and dispelled the darkness of the world. May He, who is like the mountain of sunrise (Udayācala), protect the world.

Anubhāṣya.
yaḥ (Caitanyadeva) ātmārāmeti (of the Bhāgavatam verse ātmārāmāś ca) padyārkasya (of the sun that is the verse) arthāṁśūn (the meanings, that is, the rays) prakāśayan (revealing) jagat-tamaḥ (the darkness of false conclusions) jahāra (destroyed), sa caitanyodayācalaḥ (Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya Himself is the Udayācala, for He is the place where the sun rises) avyāt (may protect).

জয় জয় শ্রীচৈতন্য জয় নিত্যানন্দ । জয়াদ্বৈতচন্দ্র জয় গৌরভক্তবৃন্দ ॥ ২ ॥

jaya jaya śrī-caitanya jaya nityānanda glory glory to Śrī Caitanya glory to Nityānanda jayādvaita-candra jaya gaura-bhakta-vṛnda glory to Advaitacandra glory to Gaura's devotees host

2 Glory, glory to Śrī Caitanya! Glory to Nityānanda! Glory to Advaitacandra, and glory to all the devotees of Gaura![1]

Sanātana's prayer at the Lord's feet —

তবে সনাতন প্রভুর চরণে ধরিয়া । পুনরপি কহে কিছু বিনয় করিয়া ॥ ৩ ॥

tabe sanātana prabhura caraṇe dhariyā
then Sanātana the Lord's feet clasping punarapi kahe kichu vinaya kariyā
once more says something humility showing

3 Then Sanātana clasped the Lord's feet and once more humbly spoke:

*The wish to hear the eighteen explanations of the verse ātmārāmāś ca that the Lord had given earlier before Sārvabhauma —*

পূর্ব্বে শুনিয়াছোঁ, তুমি সার্ব্বভৌম-স্থানে । এক শ্লোকের আঠার অর্থ কৈরাছ ব্যাখ্যানে ॥ ৪ ॥

pūrve śuniyāchoṁ, tumi sārvabhauma-sthāne
before I have heard You at Sārvabhauma's place
eka ślokera āṭhāra artha kairācha vyākhyāne
one of a verse eighteen meanings You gave in explanation

4 "I have heard that once, at Sārvabhauma's place, You explained a single verse in eighteen ways.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 1, Chapter 7, verse 10)*

আত্মারামাশ্চ মুনয়ো নির্গ্রন্থা অপ্যুরুক্রমে ।
কুর্ব্বন্ত্যহৈতুকীং ভক্তিমিত্থম্ভূতগুণো হরিঃ ॥ ৫ ॥

ātmārāmāś ca munayo
delighting in the ātmā and the sages nirgranthā apy urukrame
free from knots even to Urukrama
kurvanty ahaitukīṁ bhaktim perform causeless devotion itttham-bhūta-guṇo hariḥ
of such qualities is Hari

5 "Even sages who delight in the ātmā and are free from the knots of the heart render causeless devotion to Urukrama, for such are the qualities of Hari." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.10)[2]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 6.186.

আশ্চর্য্য শুনিয়া মোর উৎকণ্ঠিত মন ৷ কৃপা করি' কহ যদি, জুড়ায় শ্রবণ ॥ ৬ ॥

āścarya śuniyā mora utkaṇṭhita mana
the wonder having heard my eager mind
kṛpā kari' kaha yadi, juḍāya śravaṇa mercy showing You tell if are soothed ears

6 Having heard of this wonder, I am filled with longing. If You kindly tell me, my ears will be soothed."

*Calling Himself a transcendental madman (bāula), the Lord tries to hide Himself under the cover of humility —*

প্রভু কহে, — আমি বাতুল, আমার বচনে ৷ সার্ব্বভৌম বাতুলতা সত্য করি' মানে ॥ ৭ ॥

prabhu kahe, — āmi vātula, āmāra vacane
the Lord says I am a madman in My words sārvabhauma vātulatā satya kari' māne
Sārvabhauma madness as truth taking accepts

7 The Lord said, “I am a madman, and Sārvabhauma takes the madness in My words to be the truth.

The Lord, who leads the kīrtana, honours Sanātana as a worthy listener, sets aside the eighteen earlier explanations and gives new ones —

কিবা প্রলাপিলাঙ, তার নাহি কিছু মনে । তোমার সঙ্গ-বলে যদি কিছু হয় মনে ॥ ৮ ॥

kibā pralāpilāṅa, tāra nāhi kichu mane
what I babbled of that there is not anything in My memory tomāra saṅga-bale yadi kichu haya mane
your by the strength of the company if something comes to mind

8 I do not remember anything of what I babbled then. Yet by the strength of your company something may come to My mind.

সহজে আমার কিছু অর্থ নাহি ভাসে । তোমা-সবার সঙ্গ-বলে যে কিছু প্রকাশে ॥ ৯ ॥

sahaje āmāra kichu artha nāhi bhāse of itself to Me any meaning does not appear tomā-sabāra saṅga-bale ye kichu prakāśe of you all by the strength of the company whatever is revealed

9 No meaning comes to Me of itself; whatever is revealed comes by the strength of the company of all of you.”[3]

*In the verse ātmārāmāś ca there are eleven words in all —*

একাদশ পদ এই শ্লোকে সুনির্ম্মল । পৃথক্ পৃথক্ নানা অর্থ পদে করে ঝলমল ॥ ১০ ॥

ekādaśa pada ei śloke sunirmala
eleven words in this verse perfectly pure pṛthak pṛthak nānā artha pade kare jhalamala separately separately various meanings in the words make glitter

10 This verse has eleven perfectly pure words, and in each of them, taken separately, many different meanings shine brightly.

Anubhāṣya.

The eleven words: (1) ātmārāmāḥ, (2) ca, (3) munayaḥ, (4) nirgranthāḥ, (5) api, (6) urukrame, (7) kurvanti, (8) ahaitukīm, (9) bhaktim, (10) itthaṁ-bhūta-guṇaḥ, (11) hariḥ.

*(1) The seven meanings of the word ātmā —*

‘আত্মা’-শব্দে ব্রহ্ম, দেহ, মন, যত্ন, ধৃতি ।
বুদ্ধি, স্বভাব, — এই সাত অর্থ-প্রাপ্তি ॥ ১১ ॥

‘ātmā’-śabde brahma, deha, mana, yatna, dhṛti
by the word ātmā Brahman body mind effort steadfastness
buddhi, svabhāva, — ei sāta artha-prāpti intelligence nature these seven meanings are found

11 The word ātmā has seven meanings: Brahman, the body, the mind, effort (yatna), steadfastness (dhṛti), intelligence (buddhi) and nature (svabhāva).

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The word ātmā means the body, the mind, Brahman, one’s nature (svabhāva), steadfastness (dhṛti), intelligence (buddhi) and effort (yatna).

*Evidence — (Viśva-prakāśa) —*

আত্মা দেহমনোব্রহ্মস্বভাবধৃতিবুদ্ধিষু প্রযত্নে চ ॥ ১২ ॥

ātmā deha-mano-brahma-svabhāvaātmā body mind Brahman nature
dhṛti-buddhiṣu, prayatne ca steadfastness intelligence (in the senses of) effort and 12 “The word ātmā is used for the body, the mind, Brahman, nature, steadfastness and intelligence, and also for effort.” (Viśva-prakāśa)

*According to the meaning of the word ārāma, ātmārāmas are of seven kinds —*

এই সাতে রমে যেই, সেই আত্মারামগণ । আত্মারামগণের আগে করিয়ে গণন ॥ ১৩ ॥

ei sāte rame yei, sei ātmārāma-gaṇa
in these seven delights who they are the ātmārāmas ātmārāma-gaṇera āge kariye gaṇana
of the ātmārāmas later I shall make the enumeration

13 Those who delight in these seven are ātmārāmas. I shall enumerate the kinds of ātmārāmas later.

*(2) The seven meanings of the word muni —*

'মুনি'-আদি শব্দের অর্থ শুন, সনাতন । পৃথক্ পৃথক্ অর্থ করি, পাছে করিব মিলন ॥ ১৪ ॥

'muni'-ādi śabdera artha śuna, sanātana of muni and the other words the meanings hear Sanātana
pṛthak pṛthak artha kari, pāche kariba milana separately separately meanings I shall give afterwards I shall make the combination 14 Hear, Sanātana, the meanings of the word muni and the others. I shall first give the meaning of each separately and afterwards combine them.

'মুনি' শব্দে মননশীল, আর কহে মৌনী । তপস্বী, ব্রতী, যতি, আর ঋষি, মুনি ॥ ১৫ ॥

'muni' śabde manana-śīla, āra kahe maunī
by the word muni given to contemplation also it means one who is silent tapasvī, vratī, yati, āra ṛṣi, muni an ascetic one who keeps vows a renunciant and a seer a sage

15 The word muni means one given to contemplation (manana-śīla). It also means one who is silent, an ascetic, one who keeps vows, a renunciant (yati), a seer (ṛṣi) and a sage (muni).

*(3) The meanings of the word nirgrantha —*

'নির্গ্রন্থ'-শব্দে কহে, অবিদ্যা-গ্রন্থি-হীন । বিধি-নিষেধ-বেদশাস্ত্র-জ্ঞানাদি-বিহীন ॥ ১৬ ॥

'nirgrantha'-śabde kahe, avidyā-granthi-hīna
by the word nirgrantha is meant of ignorance the knot free from vidhi-niṣedha-veda-śāstra-jñānādi-vihīna of injunctions of prohibitions of the Vedic scriptures knowledge and so on devoid of 16 The word nirgrantha means one free from the knot of ignorance, and also one devoid of knowledge of the Vedic scriptures with their injunctions and prohibitions.

মূর্খ, নীচ, ম্লেচ্ছ আদি শাস্ত্ররিক্তগণ । ধনসঞ্চয়ী — নির্গ্রন্থ আর যে নির্ধন ॥ ১৭ ॥

mūrkha, nīca, mleccha ādi śāstra-rikta-gaṇa fools the low mlecchas and others of scripture devoid people dhana-sañcayī — nirgrantha āra ye nirdhana
of wealth a hoarder nirgrantha and who is without wealth

17 Fools, the low-born, mlecchas and others who are devoid of scripture; one who hoards wealth; and one who has no wealth — all these are also called nirgrantha.

*Evidence for the meanings of the prefix nir and the word grantha — (Viśva-prakāśa) —*

নির্নিশ্চয়ে নিষ্ক্রমার্থে নির্নির্ম্মাণ-নিষেধয়োঃ । গ্রন্থো ধনেঽথ সন্দর্ভে বর্ণসংগ্রথনেঽপি চ ॥ ১৮ ॥

nir niścaye niṣ kramārthe
nir in the sense of certainty niṣ in the sense of sequence nir nirmāṇa-niṣedhayoḥ
nir of construction of prohibition (in the senses)
grantho dhane 'tha sandarbhe grantha in the sense of wealth then of a literary work varṇa-saṅgrathane 'pi ca
of the stringing of letters into words also and

18 "The prefix nir is used in the senses of certainty, sequence, construction and prohibition. The word grantha means wealth, a literary work, and also the stringing of letters into words." (Viśva-prakāśa)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The prefix nir is used in the senses of certainty, sequence, construction and prohibition. The word grantha is used in the senses of wealth, a literary work, and the stringing of letters into words.

*(4) The meaning of the word urukrama (uru + krama) —*

'উরুক্রম'-শব্দে কহে, বড় যাঁর ক্রম ।
'ক্রম'-শব্দে কহে, এই পাদবিক্ষেপণ ॥ ১৯ ॥

'urukrama'-śabde kahe, baḍa yāṁra krama
by the word urukrama is meant great whose step
'krama'-śabde kahe, ei pāda-vikṣepaṇa
by the word krama is meant this the placing of the foot

19 The word urukrama means He whose step (krama) is great. The word krama means a step, the placing forward of the foot.

শক্তি কম্পযুক্ত পরিপাট্যে আক্রমণ । চরণ চালনে কাঁপাইল ত্রিভুবন ॥ ২০ ॥

śakti kampa-yukta paripāṭye ākramaṇa
power with trembling orderly arrangement stepping forth caraṇa cālane kāṁpāila tribhuvana
of the feet by the movement He made tremble the three worlds

20 Krama also means power, trembling, orderly arrangement and stepping forth (ākramaṇa). By the movement of His feet He made the three worlds tremble.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

In the word urukrama, uru means "very great," and krama means a step, as well as trembling and the like (the original causes of power). So the word urukrama indicated Viṣṇu in the form of Vāmana, for with His great strides He made the world tremble.

*Even for the best of those who can count the subtlest atoms of the material world, Vāmana's prowess is immeasurable — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 2, Chapter 7, verse 40) —*

বিষ্ণোর্নু বীর্য্যগণনাং কতমোঽর্হতীহ যঃ পার্থিবান্যপি কবির্বিমমে রজাংসি ৷
চস্কম্ভ যঃ স্বরংহসাস্খলতা ত্রিপৃষ্ঠং যস্মাত্রিসাম্যসদনাদুরুকম্পয়ানম্ ॥ ২১ ॥

viṣṇor nu vīrya-gaṇanāṁ katamo 'rhatīha of Viṣṇu indeed of the powers the counting who is able here
yaḥ pārthivāny api kavir vimame rajāṁsi
who earthly even a learned man has counted the atoms caskambha yaḥ sva-raṁhasāskhalatā tri-pṛṣṭhaṁ held fast who by His own speed unchecked Satyaloka yasmāt tri-sāmya-sadanād uru kampayānam from which of the three (guṇas) of the equilibrium from the abode greatly shaking

21 "Who in this world could count the mighty deeds of Viṣṇu — even a sage who has counted the atoms of the earth? His unchecked stride shook the universe from pradhāna, where the three guṇas rest in balance, up to Satyaloka, and it was He who held it fast." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.7.40)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Even if someone could count all the dust of the earth, who could count Viṣṇu's mighty deeds? In the form of Vāmana, with the unchecked speed of His stride, He shook [everything] from the root of prakṛti, made of the three guṇas, up to Tripṛṣṭha (Satyaloka) — and held it fast.

Anubhāṣya.

Brahmā tells his disciple, the divine sage Nārada, of the deeds, purposes and powers of Bhagavān Viṣṇu's līlā-avatāras, and describes the immeasurable glory of the prowess of Bhagavān Vāmanadeva:

iha (in this world) yaḥ kaviḥ (a learned man) pārthivāni rajāṁsi api (even the atoms of the earth) vimame (has counted), (even such a man) katamaḥ nu (a question) viṣṇoḥ vīrya-gaṇanāṁ (to count Viṣṇu's mighty deeds) arhati (is able? — no one; that is the sense), yaḥ (Viṣṇu) yasmāt (for that reason, in the avatāra of Trivikrama) askhalatā (unobstructed) sva-raṁhasā (by the speed of His own stride) tri-sāmya-sadanāt (the sadana, or abode, is the state of equilibrium of the three guṇas, pradhāna; from there onward) uru kampayānam (violently shaking) tri-pṛṣṭhaṁ (Satyaloka) caskambha (held fast). The mantra (Ṛg Veda, maṇḍala 1, sūkta 154): "Oṁ. Which of Viṣṇu's mighty deeds shall I proclaim? He measured out the earthly regions; He propped up the higher abode, the wide-striding one, taking His three steps."

*The different manifestations of the Lord's power, or prowess, in the two realms — where the wealth of the svarūpa-śakti is displayed and where the wealth of the māyā-śakti —*

বিভুরূপে ব্যাপে, শক্ত্যে ধারণ-পোষণ ।
মাধুর্য্যশক্ত্যে গোলোক, ঐশ্বর্য্যে পরব্যোম ॥ ২২ ॥

vibhu-rūpe vyāpe, śaktye dhāraṇa-poṣaṇa in His all-pervading form He pervades by His potency sustaining nourishing
mādhurya-śaktye goloka, aiśvarye paravyoma
by the potency of sweetness Goloka by majesty Paravyoma

22 In His all-pervading form He fills everything, and by His potency He sustains and nourishes it. By His potency of sweetness (mādhurya-śakti) He upholds Goloka, and by His majesty (aiśvarya) the spiritual sky, Paravyoma.

মায়া-শক্ত্যে ব্রহ্মাণ্ডাদি পরিপাটী-সৃজন ।
'উরুক্রম'-শব্দের এই অর্থ নিরূপণ ॥ ২৩ ॥

māyā-śaktye brahmāṇḍādi paripāṭī-sṛjana
by the potency of māyā the universes and so on orderly creation
'urukrama'-śabdera ei artha nirūpaṇa
of the word urukrama this of the meaning the determination

23 By His potency of māyā He creates the universes and all else in orderly succession. This is the meaning of the word urukrama.

Anubhāṣya.
As the all-pervading Lord (Vibhu) He pervades the three worlds and by His power holds and nourishes them. By the potency of sweetness (mādhurya-śakti) He holds and nourishes Goloka, by the potency of majesty (aiśvarya-śakti) Paravyoma, and by the māyā-śakti He creates the universes and all else in their orderly arrangement.

*Synonyms of the word krama — (Viśva-prakāśa) —*

ক্রমঃ শক্তৌ পরিপাট্যাং ক্রমশ্চালনকম্পয়োঃ ॥ ২৪ ॥

kramaḥ śaktau paripāṭyāṁ
krama in the sense of power of orderly arrangement kramaś cālana-kampayoḥ
krama of movement of trembling (in the senses)

24 "Krama means power and orderly arrangement; krama also means movement and trembling." (Viśva-prakāśa)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The word krama means power, orderly arrangement (paripāṭī), movement and trembling.

*(5) Why the verb kurvanti is in the parasmaipada —*

'কুর্ব্বন্তি'-পদ এই পরস্মৈপদ হয় ।
কৃষ্ণসুখনিমিত্ত ভজনে তাৎপর্য্য কহয় ॥ ২৫ ॥

‘kurvanti’-pada ei parasmaipada haya kurvanti the word this in the parasmaipada is kṛṣṇa-sukha-nimitta bhajane tātparya kahaya of Kṛṣṇa’s happiness for the sake of in worship the purport it expresses 25 The word kurvanti is in the parasmaipada, the voice used when an action is done for another. It shows that the worship is meant for Kṛṣṇa’s happiness.

Anubhāṣya.
Kurvanti is in the parasmaipada. Had the fruit of the action been meant for the agent himself, the ātmanepada would have been used. But here they worship Kṛṣṇa for Kṛṣṇa’s happiness; the word is used in that sense, and so kurvanti is in the parasmaipada.

Evidence — (from Pāṇini) —

স্বরিতঞিতঃ কর্ত্রভিপ্রায়ে ক্রিয়াফলে ॥ ২৬ ॥

svarita-ñitaḥ kartrsvarita-accented marked with ñ (roots) of the agent
abhiprāye kriyā-phale
in the intention of the action the fruit (when it is)

26 “Roots marked with the svarita accent or with the indicatory letter ñ take the ātmanepada endings when the fruit of the action is meant for the agent himself.” (Pāṇini, 1.3.72)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
A root that takes both voices (ubhayapadī) is marked with the svarita accent and the indicatory letter ñ (it). If the fruit of the action is meant for the agent himself, the ātmanepada is used. Here that is not so, and therefore the parasmaipada is used.

*(6) The three philosophical meanings of the word hetu within the word*

ahaitukī —

‘হেতু’-শব্দে কহে — ভুক্তি-আদি বাঞ্ছান্তরে ।
ভুক্তি, সিদ্ধি, মুক্তি, — মুখ্য এই তিন প্রকারে ॥ ২৭ ॥

‘hetu’-śabde kahe — bhukti-ādi vāñchāntare
by the word hetu is meant enjoyment and so on other desires bhukti, siddhi, mukti, — mukhya ei tina prakāre enjoyment perfection liberation chief these three kinds

27 The word hetu (motive) means other desires, beginning with the desire for enjoyment. They are chiefly of three kinds: enjoyment (bhukti), mystic perfection (siddhi) and liberation (mukti).

*The difference between bhukti, siddhi and mukti —*

এক ভুক্তি কহে, ভোগ — অনন্ত প্রকার । সিদ্ধি — অষ্টাদশ, মুক্তি — পঞ্চবিধাকার ॥ ২৮ ॥

eka bhukti kahe, bhoga — ananta prakāra
one bhukti is called enjoyment of endless kinds siddhi — aṣṭādaśa, mukti — pañca-vidhākāra siddhis eighteen mukti of five kinds

28 Bhukti, enjoyment, is of endless kinds; the siddhis are eighteen; and mukti is of five kinds.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Siddhi: the eighteen siddhis, beginning with aṇimā (see Bhāgavatam, Canto 11, Chapter 15).

*The meaning of the word ahaitukī —*

এই যাঁহা নাহি, সেই ভক্তি — ‘অহৈতুকী’ । যাহা হৈতে বশ হয় শ্রীকৃষ্ণ কৌতুকী ॥ ২৯ ॥

ei yāṁhā nāhi, sei bhakti — 'ahaitukī'
these where are not that bhakti causeless
yāhā haite vaśa haya śrī-kṛṣṇa kautukī
by which subdued becomes Śrī Kṛṣṇa the playful

29 Devotion in which these are absent is ahaitukī, causeless. By it the playful Śrī Kṛṣṇa comes under control.

*(7) The meaning of the word bhakti; its ten kinds —*

'ভক্তি'-শব্দের অর্থ হয় দশবিধাকার । এক — 'সাধন', 'প্রেমভক্তি' — নব প্রকার ॥ ৩০ ॥

'bhakti'-śabdera artha haya daśa-vidhākāra
of the word bhakti the meaning is of ten kinds eka — 'sādhana', 'prema-bhakti' — nava prakāra
one sādhana prema-bhakti nine kinds

30 The word bhakti has ten meanings: one is sādhana-bhakti, and prema-bhakti is of nine kinds.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Prema-bhakti is of nine kinds: rati, prema, sneha, māna, praṇaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva and mahābhāva — these nine.

'রতি'-লক্ষণা, 'প্রেম'-লক্ষণা, ইত্যাদি প্রচার । ভাবরূপা, মহাভাব-লক্ষণরূপা আর ॥ ৩১ ॥

'rati'-lakṣaṇā, 'prema'-lakṣaṇā, ityādi pracāra
rati marked by prema marked by and so on is proclaimed bhāva-rūpā, mahābhāva-lakṣaṇa-rūpā āra in the form of bhāva of mahābhāva by the marks in the form of and 31 It is spoken of as bhakti marked by rati, by prema and so on, and as bhakti in the form of bhāva and of mahābhāva.

Anubhāṣya.
One kind of characteristic of sādhana-bhakti, and nine kinds of characteristic of prema-bhakti: bhakti marked by rati (bhāva-bhakti), and bhakti marked by

prema, sneha, māna, praṇaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva and mahābhāva.

*The limit of bhakti in śānta-rasa and dāsya-rasa —*

শান্ত-ভক্তের রতি বাড়ে ‘প্রেম’-পর্য্যন্ত । দাস্য-ভক্তের রতি হয় ‘রাগ’দশা-অন্ত ॥ ৩২ ॥

śānta-bhaktera rati bāḍe ‘prema’-paryanta of the śānta devotee rati increases prema up to dāsya-bhaktera rati haya ‘rāga’-daśā-anta
of the dāsya devotee rati is of rāga the stage up to the end

32 The rati of devotees in śānta-rasa grows up to prema; the rati of devotees in dāsya-rasa reaches the stage of rāga.

*The limit of bhakti in sakhya-rasa and vātsalya-rasa —*

সখাগণের রতি হয় ‘অনুরাগ’ পর্য্যন্ত । পিতৃ-মাতৃ-স্নেহ আদি ‘অনুরাগ’-অন্ত ॥ ৩৩ ॥

sakhā-gaṇera rati haya ‘anurāga’ paryanta of the friends rati is anurāga up to pitṛ-mātṛ-sneha ādi ‘anurāga’-anta
of father of mother affection and so on anurāga up to the end

33 The rati of His friends reaches up to anurāga, and the affection of His father, mother and other elders likewise reaches anurāga.

*The limit of bhakti in madhura-rasa —*

কান্তাগণের রতি পায় ‘মহাভাব’-সীমা । ‘ভক্তি’-শব্দে কহিলুঁ এই অর্থের মহিমা ॥ ৩৪ ॥

kāntā-gaṇera rati pāya ‘mahābhāva’-sīmā
of the beloveds rati reaches mahābhāva the limit ‘bhakti’-śabde kahiluṁ ei arthera mahimā
by the word bhakti I have told of this meaning the glory

34 The rati of His beloveds reaches the limit of mahābhāva. Thus I have described the glorious meaning of the word bhakti.

*(8) The explanation of the word itthaṁ-bhūta-guṇa (itthaṁ-bhūta + guṇa) —*

'ইত্থম্ভূতগুণঃ'-শব্দের শুনহ ব্যাখ্যান ।
'ইত্থম্ভূত'-শব্দের ভিন্ন অর্থ, 'গুণ'-শব্দের আন ॥ ৩৫ ॥

'ittham-bhūta-guṇaḥ'-śabdera śunaha vyākhyāna
of the word ittham-bhūta-guṇaḥ hear the explanation
'ittham-bhūta'-śabdera bhinna artha, 'guṇa'-śabdera āna
of the word ittham-bhūta separate meaning of the word guṇa another 35 Now hear the explanation of the words ittham-bhūta-guṇaḥ. The word ittham-bhūta has its own meaning, and the word guṇa another.

*The meaning of the word itthaṁ-bhūta —*

'ইত্থম্ভূত'-শব্দের অর্থ — পূর্ণানন্দময় । যাঁর আগে ব্রহ্মানন্দ তৃণপ্রায় হয় ॥ ৩৬ ॥

'ittham-bhūta'-śabdera artha — pūrṇānandamaya
of the word ittham-bhūta the meaning full of perfect bliss
yāṁra āge brahmānanda tṛṇa-prāya haya whom before the bliss of Brahman like a straw becomes 36 The word ittham-bhūta means He who is full of perfect bliss, before whom the bliss of Brahman is like a blade of grass.

*(Hari-bhakti-sudhodaya, Chapter 14, verse 36)*

ত্বৎসাক্ষাৎকরণাহ্লাদবিশুদ্ধাব্ধিস্থিতস্য মে । সুখানি গোষ্পদায়ন্তে ব্রাহ্মাণ্যপি জগদ্গুরো ॥ ৩৭ ॥

tvat-sākṣāt-karaṇāhlādafrom seeing You face to face the joy
viśuddhābdhi-sthitasya me in the pure ocean situated for me sukhāni goṣ-padāyante joys become like a calf's hoofprint
brāhmāṇy api jagad-guro
of Brahman even O Guru of the world

37 "O Guru of the world, now that I am immersed in the pure ocean of joy that comes from seeing You face to face, all other joys — even the bliss of Brahman — seem to me like the water in a calf's hoofprint." (Hari-bhakti-sudhodaya, 14.36)[4]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 7.98.

By the sweetness of His form He irresistibly conquers everyone —

সর্ব্বাকর্ষক, সর্ব্বাহ্লাদক, মহারসায়ন । আপনার বলে করে সর্ব্ব-বিস্মারণ ॥ ৩৮ ॥

sarvākarṣaka, sarvāhlādaka, mahā-rasāyana
attracting all delighting all the great elixir āpanāra bale kare sarva-vismāraṇa
by His own power He brings about of everything forgetting 38 He attracts all, delights all and is the great elixir of rasa. By His own power He makes one forget everything else.

*By the power of Kṛṣṇa's mercy, cheating (kaitava) is destroyed —*

ভুক্তি-মুক্তি-সিদ্ধি-সুখ ছাড়য় যার গন্ধে । অলৌকিক শক্তি-গুণে কৃষ্ণকৃপায় বান্ধে ॥ ৩৯ ॥

bhukti-mukti-siddhi-sukha chāḍaya yāra gandhe
of enjoyment of liberation of perfection the happiness makes one give up whose by the scent
alaukika śakti-guṇe kṛṣṇa-kṛpāya bāndhe extraordinary by the power of the qualities by Kṛṣṇa's mercy He binds

39 The merest scent of Him makes one give up the happiness of enjoyment, liberation and mystic perfection. By the extraordinary power of His qualities He binds the heart through His mercy.

শাস্ত্রযুক্তি নাহি ইঁহা সিদ্ধান্ত-বিচার । এই স্বভাব-গুণে, যাতে মাধুর্য্যের সার ॥ ৪০ ॥

śāstra-yukti nāhi iṁhā siddhānta-vicāra
of scripture reasoning there is not here of conclusions deliberation
ei svabhāva-guṇe, yāte mādhuryera sāra
this by the quality of His nature in which of sweetness the essence

40 Here there is no scriptural reasoning or weighing of conclusions. This happens by the very nature of His qualities, in which lies the essence of sweetness.

*The meaning of the word guṇa; the incomparable, unfailing power of Kṛṣṇa's endless qualities —*

'গুণ' শব্দের অর্থ — কৃষ্ণের গুণ অনন্ত । সচ্চিদ্রূপে-গুণে সর্ব্ব পূর্ণানন্দ ॥ ৪১ ॥

'guṇa' śabdera artha — kṛṣṇera guṇa ananta
of the word guṇa the meaning Kṛṣṇa's qualities endless
sac-cid-rūpe-guṇe sarva pūrṇānanda
in His form of eternity and consciousness in His qualities all perfect bliss

41 The word guṇa means Kṛṣṇa's qualities, which are endless. In His form, eternal and conscious, and in His qualities, everything is perfect bliss.

ঐশ্বর্য্য-মাধুর্য্য-কারুণ্যে স্বরূপ-পূর্ণতা । ভক্তবাৎসল্যে আত্মা-পর্য্যন্ত বদান্যতা ॥ ৪২ ॥

aiśvarya-mādhurya-kāruṇye svarūpa-pūrṇatā
in majesty sweetness compassion of His own nature the fullness bhakta-vātsalye ātmā-paryanta vadānyatā
in His affection for His devotees Himself up to generosity

42 His own nature is full of majesty, sweetness and compassion. In His affection for His devotees His generosity goes so far that He gives even Himself.

By each single quality He conquers one devotee or another —

অলৌকিক রূপ, রস, সৌরভাদি গুণ । কারো মন কোন গুণে করে আকর্ষণ ॥ ৪৩ ॥

alaukika rūpa, rasa, saurabhādi guṇa extraordinary form taste fragrance and other qualities kāro mana kona guṇe kare ākarṣaṇa someone's mind by some quality makes attraction

43 He has extraordinary qualities — His form, His rasa, His fragrance and others — and by one quality or another He attracts each one's mind.

By the fragrance of His lotus feet He attracts the four Sanas (the Kumāras), and by the sweetness of His pastimes, Śukadeva —

সনকাদির মন হরিল সৌরভাদি গুণে । শুকদেবের মন হরিল লীলা-শ্রবণে ॥ ৪৪ ॥

sanakādira mana harila saurabhādi guṇe of Sanaka and the others the mind He stole by fragrance and other qualities śukadevera mana harila līlā-śravaṇe of Śukadeva the mind He stole by the hearing of His pastimes

44 He stole the minds of Sanaka and the other Kumāras by His fragrance and other qualities, and He stole Śukadeva's mind through hearing of His pastimes.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 3, Chapter 15, verse 43)*

তস্যারবিন্দনয়নস্য পদারবিন্দ-কিঞ্জল্কমিশ্রতুলসীমকরন্দবায়ুঃ ।
অন্তর্গতঃ স্ববিবরেণ চকার তেষাং
সংক্ষোভমক্ষরজুষামপি চিত্ততন্বোঃ ॥ ৪৫ ॥

tasyāravinda-nayanasya padāravinda-
of Him the lotus-eyed of the lotus feet
kiñjalka-miśra-tulasī-makaranda-vāyuḥ
with the filaments mixed of tulasī of the nectar the breeze
antar-gataḥ sva-vivareṇa cakāra teṣāṁ
having entered within through its own passage caused in them
saṅkṣobham akṣara-juṣām api citta-tanvoḥ
agitation devoted to the imperishable Brahman even of mind and body

45 "The breeze that bore the fragrance of tulasī, mingled with the pollen of the lotus-eyed Lord's lotus feet, entered their nostrils and stirred both their minds and their bodies, though they were devoted to the imperishable Brahman." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.15.43)[5]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 17.142.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 2, Chapter 1, verse 9)*

পরিনিষ্ঠিতোঽপি নৈর্গুণ্যে উত্তমঃশ্লোকলীলয়া । গৃহীতচেতা রাজর্ষে আখ্যানং যদধীতবান্ ॥ ৪৬ ॥

parinisṭhito 'pi nairguṇye firmly established though in transcendence of the guṇas uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā
of Uttamaśloka by the pastimes
gṛhīta-cetā rājarṣe captivated in mind O royal sage ākhyānaṁ yad adhītavān
the narration which I studied

46 "O royal sage, although I was firmly established in transcendence of the guṇas, my mind was captivated by the pastimes of Uttamaśloka, and so I studied this narration." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.1.9)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"O saintly king, although I was firmly established in transcendence of the guṇas (nairguṇya), Śrī Kṛṣṇa's pastimes attracted me, and I studied the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam."

Anubhāṣya.
Greatly honouring Parīkṣit's question, "What should a dying man do?", Śrīla Śukadeva glorifies the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, which is full of the kīrtana of Śrī Hari and of narrations about Him, and describes the power of Śrī Hari's qualities:

he rājarṣe, nairguṇye (in Brahman, beyond the guṇas) parinisṭhitaḥ (fixed in mind) api aham (I, the son of Vyāsa) uttamaḥ-śloka-līlayā (by the sweetness of Kṛṣṇa's qualities) gṛhīta-cetāḥ (my mind attracted) yat ākhyānaṁ (the narration called the Bhāgavatam) adhītavān — (that I shall tell you; this is the connection with the next verse).

By the sweetness of His body He steals the minds of the gopīs, and by the sweetness of His form and qualities, the mind of Rukmiṇī —

শ্রীঅঙ্গ-রূপে হরে গোপিকার মন । রূপ-গুণ শ্রবণে রুক্মিণ্যাদির আকর্ষণ ॥ ৪৭ ॥

śrī-aṅga-rūpe hare gopikāra mana of His divine body by the beauty He steals of the gopīs the minds
rūpa-guṇa-śravaṇe rukmiṇy-ādira ākarṣaṇa of form of qualities by hearing of Rukmiṇī and the others the attraction 47 By the beauty of His divine body He steals the minds of the gopīs; Rukmiṇī and the other queens are attracted by hearing of His beauty and qualities.

*The gopīs, enchanted by the sweetness of Kṛṣṇa's body, face and smile, offer themselves to Him — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 29, verse 39)*

বীক্ষ্যালকাবৃতমুখং তব কুণ্ডলশ্রী- গণ্ডস্থলাধরসুধং হসিতাবলোকম্ ৷ দত্তাভয়ঞ্চ ভুজদণ্ডযুগং বিলোক্য বক্ষঃ শ্রিয়ৈকরমণঞ্চ ভবাম দাস্যঃ ॥ ৪৮ ॥

vīkṣyālakāvṛta-mukhaṁ tava kuṇḍala-śrī-having seen by locks framed face Your by the beauty of earrings
gaṇḍa-sthalādhara-sudhaṁ hasitāvalokam
of the cheeks of the lips the nectar smiling glance
dattābhayaṁ ca bhuja-daṇḍa-yugaṁ vilokya granting fearlessness and of arms the pair having beheld vakṣaḥ śriyaika-ramaṇaṁ ca bhavāma dāsyaḥ
the chest for Śrī the sole delight and we become maidservants

48 "Seeing Your face framed by curling locks and graced by the beauty of Your earrings, Your cheeks, the nectar of Your lips and Your smiling glance, and beholding Your two arms that grant fearlessness and Your chest, the sole delight of Śrī, we have become Your maidservants." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.29.39)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"O Kṛṣṇa, we have seen Your face framed by locks of hair, adorned with earrings, cheeks and the nectar of Your lips, Your glance with a gentle smile, Your two arms that grant fearlessness, and Your chest adorned by Śrī alone — and we have become Your maidservants."

Anubhāṣya.
On an autumn night bathed in moonlight, the young cowherd maidens of Vraja (gopa-vadhūs), wholly drawn by the sound of Śrī Kṛṣṇa's flute, forgot themselves and came to Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Wishing to increase their anurāga still more, He told them to go home. The gopīs, whose very life is in Kṛṣṇa, grew sorrowful, and with choked voices, faltering, they speak to Kṛṣṇa:

(he puruṣa-bhūṣaṇa, O ornament of men) tava alakāvṛta-mukham (Your face framed by locks of hair) kuṇḍala-śrī-gaṇḍa-sthalādhara-sudhaṁ (the face on whose cheeks is the beauty of earrings and on whose lips is nectar) hasitāvalokam (the face whose glance comes with a smile) vīkṣya (having seen), dattābhayaṁ (granting fearlessness) bhuja-daṇḍa-yugaṁ (Your two arms) śriyaika-ramaṇaṁ (giving delight to Śrī, Lakṣmī, alone, her one and principal source of delight) vakṣaḥ ca vilokya, vayaṁ dāsyaḥ eva bhavāma (we become Your maidservants).

*Rukmiṇī, attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, offers herself to Him — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 52, verse 37)*

শ্রুত্বা গুণান্ ভুবনসুন্দর শৃণ্বতাং তে
নির্ব্বিশ্য কর্ণবিবরৈর্হরতোঽঙ্গতাপম্ ।
রূপং দৃশাং দৃশিমতামখিলার্থলাভং ত্বয্যচ্যুতাবিশতি চিত্তমপত্রপং মে ॥ ৪৯ ॥

śrutvā guṇān bhuvana-sundara śṛṇvatāṁ te having heard qualities O beauty of the worlds of those who hear Your nirviśya karṇa-vivarair harato 'ṅga-tāpam having entered of the ears through the openings removing of the body the distress rūpaṁ dṛśāṁ dṛśimatām akhilārtha-lābhaṁ form for the eyes of those who see of all goals the attainment tvayy acyutāviśati cittam apatrapaṁ me into You O Acyuta enters heart shameless my

49 "O beauty of the worlds, Your qualities enter the ears of those who hear of them and remove the distress of their bodies, and Your form is, for the eyes of those who see, the attainment of every goal. Having heard of them, O Acyuta, my heart, casting off shame, enters into You." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.52.37)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

“O most beautiful in all the worlds, Your qualities enter the ears of those who hear of them and destroy the sufferings of their bodies. Those who have eyes attain all the aims of life by seeing Your form. O Acyuta, hearing of these qualities, my heart has cast off shame and is entering into You.”

Anubhāṣya.

Answering Parīkṣit’s question, Śrī Śuka describes how Bhagavān Śrī Kṛṣṇa married Śrīmatī Rukmiṇī, the daughter of Bhīṣmaka, who is Mahālakṣmī herself. Hearing from people about Śrī Kṛṣṇa’s host of good qualities, she had chosen Him in her heart as her husband. But her elder brother Rukmī, hostile to Kṛṣṇa, was fixing Caidya Śiśupāla as her bridegroom. Hearing of this, she wrote a letter full of love in solitude, gave it to a trusted brāhmaṇa and at once sent him to Śrī Kṛṣṇa. The brāhmaṇa reached Dvārakā; Śrī Kṛṣṇa received him with due honour, and then, with Śrī Kṛṣṇa’s permission, the brāhmaṇa began to read Rukmiṇī’s letter:

he acyuta, he bhuvana-sundara, śṛṇvatāṁ (of those who hear) karṇa-vivaraiḥ (through the openings of the ears [entering within]) aṅga-tāpaṁ harataḥ te (Your) guṇān, dṛśimatāṁ (of those who have eyes) dṛśāṁ (of the eyes) akhilārtha-lābhaṁ (granting the essence of all aims) rūpaṁ ca śrutvā, me (my) cittam apatrapaṁ (from which shame has gone, shameless) tvayi āviśati (clings — sinks into You without a second thought).

By the song of His flute He attracts Lakṣmī, the consort of Nārāyaṇa, and by the sweetness of His flute and His form, all His beloveds —

বংশী-গীতে হরে কৃষ্ণ লক্ষ্ম্যাদির মন ৷ যোগ্যভাবে জগতের যত যুবতীর গণ ॥ ৫০ ॥

vaṁśī-gīte hare kṛṣṇa lakṣmy-ādira mana of the flute by the song steals Kṛṣṇa of Lakṣmī and the others the minds
yogya-bhāve jagatera yata yuvatīra gaṇa
in a fitting mood of the world all of young women the host

50 By the song of His flute Kṛṣṇa steals the minds of Lakṣmī and others, and of all the young women of the world, each in a fitting mood.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 16, verse 36)*

কস্যানুভাবোঽস্য ন দেব বিদ্মহে
তবাঙ্ঘ্রিরেণুস্পর্শাধিকারঃ ।
যদ্বাঞ্ছয়া শ্রীর্ললনাচরত্তপো বিহায় কামান্ সুচিরং ধৃতব্রতা ॥ ৫১ ॥

kasyānubhāvo 'sya na deva vidmahe of what merit his not O Lord we know tavāṅghri-reṇu-sparśādhikāraḥ
of Your feet of the dust of the touch the right
yad-vāñchayā śrīr lalanācarat tapo
for which longing Śrī the best of women performed austerity vihāya kāmān su-ciraṁ dhṛta-vratā giving up desires for a very long time holding vows

51 "O Lord, we do not know by what merit this one has gained the right to touch the dust of Your feet. Longing for it, Śrī, the best of women, renounced all desires and practised austerities, keeping her vows for a very long time." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.16.36)[6]

Anubhāṣya.

See Madhya 8.146.[54]

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 29, verse 40)*

কাস্ত্র্যঙ্গ তে কলপদামৃতবেণুগীত-সম্মোহিতার্য্যচরিতান্ন চলেত্রিলোক্যাম্ ।
ত্রৈলোক্যসৌভগমিদঞ্চ নিরীক্ষ্য রূপং যদ্গোদ্বিজদ্রুমমৃগাঃ পুলকান্যবিভ্রন্ ॥ ৫২ ॥

kā stry aṅga te kala-padāmṛta-veṇu-gītawhat woman O dear one Your of sweet words by the nectar of the flute by the song sammohitārya-caritān na calet tri-lokyām enchanted from the conduct of the noble not would stray in the three worlds trailokya-saubhagam idaṁ ca nirīkṣya rūpaṁ of the three worlds the beauty this and having seen form
yad go-dvija-druma-mṛgāḥ pulakāny abibhran
which cows birds trees deer thrills of rapture bore

52 "O Kṛṣṇa, what woman in the three worlds, enchanted by the song of Your flute with its sweet, nectarean notes, would not stray from the conduct of the noble? Seeing this form of Yours, the beauty of the three worlds, even cows, birds, trees and deer bristle with rapture." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.29.40)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

"O Kṛṣṇa, what woman in the three worlds, enchanted by the nectar of the sweet words of Your flute-song, would not swerve from the conduct of the Āryans (dharma)? Seeing this form of Yours, the beauty of the three worlds, even the cows, birds, trees and beasts bristle with rapture."

Anubhāṣya.

On an autumn night flooded with moonlight (kaumudī), the young cowherd maidens of Vraja, wholly drawn by the sound of Śrī Kṛṣṇa's muralī, forgot themselves and came to Śrī Kṛṣṇa. Intending to increase their anurāga still more, He told them each to go back to her home. The cowherd maidens, whose thoughts dwell on Kṛṣṇa, grew sorrowful, and with choked voices, faltering, they speak to Kṛṣṇa:

he aṅga (Kṛṣṇa), tri-lokyām (in the three worlds) kā strī (what woman, that is, what gopī) — yā te (Your) kala-padāmṛta-veṇu-gīta-sammohitā (by the song of the flute, full of sweet words and made of nectar; there is also the reading kala-padāyata-mūrcchitena: by the song in which the sweet words are drawn out [āyata] with special modulations of the voice [mūrcchita]) — sammohitā (her heart attracted) — trailokya-saubhagaṁ (enchanting the hearts of all who dwell in the three worlds, above, below and in between; Your beautiful) idaṁ rūpaṁ ca — yat (on seeing which form) go-dvija-druma-mṛgāḥ (all living beings, moving and nonmoving) pulakāni abibhran (bristled with rapture) — tat nirīkṣya (having seen) ārya-caritāt (from the dharma prescribed for each) na calet (would not stray)?

*In vātsalya-rasa He attracts the mothers, and in sakhya-, dāsya- and other rasas the male friends and servants —*

গুরুতুল্য স্ত্রীগণের বাৎসল্যে আকর্ষণ । দাস্য-সখ্যাদি-ভাবে পুরুষাদি গণ ॥ ৫৩ ॥

guru-tulya strī-gaṇera vātsalye ākarṣaṇa
like elders of the women in parental love attraction
dāsya-sakhyādi-bhāve puruṣādi gaṇa
in the moods of servitude friendship and so on men and others the host 53 Women who are like elders He attracts in parental love (vātsalya), and men in the moods of servitude, friendship and others.

*In śānta-rasa He attracts everything moving and nonmoving in His abode —*

পক্ষী, মৃগ, বৃক্ষ, লতা, চেতনাচেতন । প্রেমে মত্ত করি' আকর্ষয়ে কৃষ্ণগুণ ॥ ৫৪ ॥

pakṣī, mṛga, vṛkṣa, latā, cetanācetana birds beasts trees creepers moving unmoving preme matta kari' ākarṣaye kṛṣṇa-guṇa
with love mad making attract Kṛṣṇa's qualities

54 Kṛṣṇa's qualities attract birds, beasts, trees and creepers — all that moves and all that does not — and make them mad with love (prema).

*(9) The meaning of the word hari; two kinds of taking away: (a) the secondary and (b) the principal characteristic —*

'হরিঃ'-শব্দে নানার্থ, দুই — মুখ্যতম । সর্ব্ব অমঙ্গল হরে, প্রেম দিয়া হরে মন ॥ ৫৫ ॥

'hariḥ'-śabde nānārtha, dui — mukhyatama
by the word hariḥ many meanings two foremost sarva amaṅgala hare, prema diyā hare mana all inauspiciousness He takes away love giving He steals the mind

55 The word hariḥ has many meanings, two of which are foremost: He takes away all that is inauspicious, and, bestowing love (prema), He steals the mind.

*(1) The quality that removes the anarthas which cover the jīva: (a) the destruction of all sufferings —*

যৈছে তৈছে যোহি কোহি করয়ে স্মরণ । চারিবিধ তাপ তার করে সংহরণ ॥ ৫৬ ॥

yaiche taiche yohi kohi karaye smaraṇa somehow or other whoever anyone does remembering cāri-vidha tāpa tāra kare saṁharaṇa
of four kinds distress his He makes removal

56 He frees from the four kinds of distress anyone who remembers Him, in whatever way.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The four kinds of suffering are the sufferings of the four kinds of sin: (1) pātaka, (2) urupātaka, (3) mahāpātaka and (4) atipātaka.

*Devotion to Kṛṣṇa destroys the three kinds of affliction (kleśa): sin, the seed of sin and ignorance (avidyā) — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 11, Chapter 14, verse 19)*

যথাগ্নিঃ সুসমৃদ্ধার্চ্চিঃ করোত্যেধাংসি ভস্মসাৎ । তথা মদ্বিষয়া ভক্তিরুদ্ধবৈনাংসি কৃৎস্নশঃ ॥ ৫৭ ॥

yathāgniḥ su-samṛddhārciḥ
as fire brightly blazing karoty edhāṁsi bhasma-sāt makes firewood into ashes
tathā mad-viṣayā bhaktir
so towards Me directed devotion
uddhavaināṁsi kṛtsnaśaḥ
O Uddhava sins entirely

57 "As a blazing fire turns firewood to ashes, so, O Uddhava, devotion to Me burns up all sins." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.14.19)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"O Uddhava, as fire turns wood to ashes, so devotion to Bhagavān at once destroys all the sins of the jīva."

Anubhāṣya.
Śrī Uddhava wished to learn still more deeply about bhakti-yoga, the best of all sādhanas that lead to the highest good, and Bhagavān says to him:

he uddhava, yathā su-samṛddhārciḥ (one whose flames blaze high) agniḥ edhāṁsi (firewood) bhasma-sāt karoti (destroys), tathā mad-viṣayā bhaktiḥ kṛtsnaśaḥ (all) enāṁsi (sins, both those that have begun to bear fruit [prārabdha] and those that have not [aprārabdha]) (destroys).

*(b) The destruction of ignorance and avidyā; when hearing, kīrtana and the rest are performed out of the desire to please Kṛṣṇa, self-luminous, eternally perfect love for Kṛṣṇa dawns in the pure heart —*

তবে করে ভক্তিবাধক কর্ম্ম, অবিদ্যা নাশ । শ্রবণাদ্যের ফল 'প্রেমা' করয়ে প্রকাশ ॥ ৫৮ ॥

tabe kare bhakti-bādhaka karma, avidyā nāśa
then He makes obstructing devotion karma of ignorance destruction śravaṇādyera phala 'premā' karaye prakāśa of hearing and so on the fruit prema He makes manifestation

58 Then He destroys ignorance and the karma that obstructs devotion, and He manifests prema, the fruit of hearing and the other practices.

(2) He attracts with love the uncovered, pure nature of the jīva —

নিজ-গুণে তবে হরে দেহেন্দ্রিয়মন । ঐছে কৃপালু কৃষ্ণ, ঐছে তাঁর গুণ ॥ ৫৯ ॥

nija-guṇe tabe hare dehendriya-mana
by His own qualities then He steals body senses mind aiche kṛpālu kṛṣṇa, aiche tāṁra guṇa
so merciful Kṛṣṇa such His qualities

59 After that, by His own qualities He steals the body, the senses and the mind. So merciful is Kṛṣṇa, and such are His qualities.

Hari, or love for Hari, spurns the four goals of life and steals every heart —

চারি পুরুষার্থ ছাড়ায়, হরে সবার মন ।
'হরি'-শব্দের এই মুখ্য কহিলুঁ লক্ষণ ॥ ৬০ ॥

cāri puruṣārtha chāḍāya, hare sabāra mana four goals of life makes one give up He steals everyone's mind
'hari'-śabdera ei mukhya kahiluṁ lakṣaṇa
of the word hari this chief I have told characteristic

60 He makes one give up the four goals of human life and steals everyone's mind. Thus I have told the chief meaning of the word hari.

Anubhāṣya.

Bhagavān Śrī Hari frees the jīva from the thirst to attain the four goals of life (puruṣārthas) — dharma, artha, kāma and mokṣa. He steals everyone's heart and draws them with love to Himself.

*The meanings of (10) the word ca and (11) the word api —*

'চ', 'অপি' — দুই শব্দ তাতে 'অব্যয়' হয় ।
যেই অর্থ লাগাইয়ে, সেই অর্থ হয় ॥ ৬১ ॥

‘ca’, ‘api’ — dui śabda tāte ‘avyaya’ haya
ca api two words among them indeclinables are yei artha lāgāiye, sei artha haya whatever meaning one applies that meaning it becomes

61 The two words ca and api are indeclinables (avyaya): whatever meaning one applies to them, that meaning they take.

*The seven meanings of the word ca and the seven meanings of the word api —*

তথাপি চ-কারের কহে মুখ্য অর্থ সাত । অপি-শব্দে মুখ্য অর্থ সাত বিখ্যাত ॥ ৬২ ॥

tathāpi ca-kārera kahe mukhya artha sāta still of the word ca they give chief meanings seven api-śabde mukhya artha sāta vikhyāta
of the word api chief meanings seven well known

62 Still, ca is given seven chief meanings, and api has seven well-known ones.

*Where the word ca is used; evidence — (Viśva-prakāśa) —*

চান্বাচয়ে সমাহারেঽন্যোঽন্যার্থে চ সমুচ্চয়ে । যত্নান্তরে তথা পাদপূরণেঽপ্যবধারণে ॥ ৬৩ ॥

cānvācaye samāhāre
ca in the sense of adding a secondary item of combining into a whole ‘nyo ‘nyārthe ca samuccaye of reciprocity in the sense and of conjunction yatnāntare tathā pāda-
of another effort likewise of the foot of a verse
pūraṇe ‘py avadhāraṇe
of filling also of certainty

63 “Ca is used in the senses of anvācaya (adding a secondary item), samāhāra (combining into a whole), anyonya (reciprocity), samuccaya (conjunction), yatnāntara (another effort), pāda-pūraṇa (filling out the foot of a verse) and avadhāraṇa (certainty).” (Viśva-prakāśa)[7]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The word ca is used in the senses of anvācaya (that is, adding something secondary), samāhāra (combining into a whole), anyonya (mutuality), samuccaya (conjunction), yatnāntara (another effort), pāda-pūraṇa (filling out the metrical line) and avadhāraṇa, that is, certainty.

*Where the word api is used (according to the Viśva-prakāśa); evidence —*

অপি সম্ভাবনা-প্রশ্ন-শঙ্কা-গর্হা-সমুচ্চয়ে । তথা যুক্তপদার্থেষু কামচারক্রিয়াসু চ ॥ ৬৪ ॥

api sambhāvanā-praśnaapi of possibility of question
śaṅkā-garhā-samuccaye
of doubt of censure of conjunction (in the senses)
tathā yukta-padārtheṣu
likewise in fitting application
kāma-cāra-kriyāsu ca
in actions at will and

64 “Api is used in the senses of sambhāvanā (possibility), praśna (question), śaṅkā (doubt), garhā (censure) and samuccaya (conjunction), as well as for fitting application (yukta-padārtha) and for action at will (kāmacāra-kriyā).” (Viśva-prakāśa)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The word api is used in the senses of sambhāvanā (possibility), praśna (question), śaṅkā (doubt), garhā (censure), samuccaya (conjunction), yukta-padārtha (fitting application) and kāmacāra-kriyā (acting at will).

So far the meanings of the words have been determined; now, through them,

the meaning of the verse is determined —

এই ত' একাদশ পদের অর্থ-নির্ণয় । এবে শ্লোকার্থ করি, যথা যে লাগয় ॥ ৬৫ ॥

ei ta' ekādaśa padera artha-nirṇaya
this indeed of the eleven words of the meanings the determination ebe ślokārtha kari, yathā ye lāgaya
now the meaning of the verse I shall give as whatever fits 65 Thus I have determined the meanings of the eleven words. Now I shall give the meaning of the verse, applying each meaning as it fits.

*First, the explanation of the word ātmā within the word ātmārāma (1) in the sense of "Brahman" —*

'ব্রহ্ম'-শব্দের অর্থ — তত্ত্ব সর্ব্ব-বৃহত্তম । স্বরূপ-ঐশ্বর্য্য করি' নাহি যাঁর সম ॥ ৬৬ ॥

'brahma'-śabdera artha — tattva sarva-bṛhattama of the word brahma the meaning the truth of all the greatest svarūpa-aiśvarya kari' nāhi yāṁra sama
in nature in majesty by there is no whose equal

66 The word brahma means the Truth that is greater than all; in His own nature and majesty no one is His equal.

*The definition of Brahman; evidence from the śāstra — (Viṣṇu Purāṇa, Part 1, Chapter 12, verse 57)*

বৃহত্ত্বাদ্বৃংহণত্বাচ্চ তদ্ব্রহ্ম পরমং বিদুঃ । তস্মৈ নমস্তে সর্ব্বাত্মন্ যোগিচিন্ত্যাবিকারবৎ ॥ ৬৭ ॥

bṛhattvād bṛṁhaṇatvāc ca
because of greatness because of the power to nourish and tad brahma paramaṁ viduḥ
that as Brahman supreme they know
tasmai namas te sarvātman to Him obeisance to You O Soul of all yogi-cintyāvikāravat
by the yogīs meditated upon unchanging

67 "Because of His greatness (bṛhattva) and His power to nourish and expand all (bṛṁhaṇatva), the wise know Him as the Supreme Brahman. O Soul of all, unchanging One on whom the yogīs meditate, obeisance unto You." (Viṣṇu Purāṇa, 1.12.57)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The Truth to which bṛhattva and bṛṁhaṇatva — that is, the power to make things grow — belong is called the "Supreme Brahman." "O Self of all, You are the one on whom the yogīs meditate, the Unchanging. Obeisance to You."

Anubhāṣya.
(budhāḥ, the wise) bṛhattvāt (because He pervades everything) bṛṁhaṇatvāt ca (and because He makes everything grow, or nourishes it) tat paramaṁ brahma viduḥ (know); sarvātman, te (Your) yogi-cintyāvikāravat (the form that enchants the wise [sūris]) — tasmai namaḥ.

*The all-pervasiveness (ātatatva) contained in the word ātmā is itself the nature of Brahman — (a statement of the tantra quoted by Śrīdhara Svāmī in his explanation of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 11, Chapter 2, verse 45)*

আততত্বাচ্চ মাতৃত্বাদাত্মা হি পরমো হরিঃ ॥ ৬৮ ॥

ātatatvāc ca mātṛtvād
because of pervading all and because of being the progenitor of all
ātmā hi paramo hariḥ
Ātmā indeed supreme Hari

68 "Because He pervades all (ātatatva) and is the progenitor of all (mātṛtva), Hari is the Supreme Ātmā." (words of a Tantra quoted by Śrīdhara Svāmī in his commentary on Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45)[8]

Anubhāṣya.

ātatatvāt (because He pervades everything) mātṛtvāt (because He gives birth to everything) ca hariḥ hi paramaḥ ātmā.

*In its direct sense (abhidhā-vṛtti) the word "Brahman" means Bhagavān, the full realisation of the Truth —*

সেই ব্রহ্ম-শব্দে কহে স্বয়ংভগবান্ । অদ্বিতীয়-জ্ঞান, যাঁহা বিনা নাহি আন ॥ ৬৯ ॥

sei brahma-śabde kahe svayaṁbhagavān
by that the word brahma is meant Svayam Bhagavān advitīya-jñāna, yāṁhā vinā nāhi āna
non-dual knowledge whom without there is not anything else

69 That word brahma means Svayam Bhagavān, the Lord Himself, the non-dual Knowledge, without whom nothing else exists.

*Evidence from the śāstra — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 1, Chapter 2, verse 11)*

বদন্তি তত্তত্ত্ববিদস্তত্ত্বং যজ্‌জ্ঞানমদ্বয়ম্ । ব্রহ্মেতি পরমাত্মেতি ভগবানিতি শব্দ্যতে ॥ ৭০ ॥

vadanti tat tattva-vidas
they call that of truth the knowers
tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam
the Truth which knowledge non-dual
brahmeti paramātmeti
Brahman thus Paramātmā thus
bhagavān iti śabdyate
Bhagavān thus is named

70 "The knowers of the Truth call the non-dual knowledge the Truth; it is named Brahman, Paramātmā and Bhagavān." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11)[9]

Kṛṣṇa is Bhagavān Himself, the Reality true in all three phases of time —

সেই অদ্বয়-তত্ত্ব কৃষ্ণ — স্বয়ং ভগবান্ । তিনকালে সত্য তিঁহো, শাস্ত্র-প্রমাণ ॥ ৭১ ॥

sei advaya-tattva kṛṣṇa — svayaṁ bhagavān that non-dual Truth Kṛṣṇa Svayam Bhagavān
tina-kāle satya tiṁho, śāstra-pramāṇa
in the three times real He of the scriptures the evidence

71 That non-dual Truth is Kṛṣṇa, Svayam Bhagavān. He is real in all three phases of time; the scriptures are the evidence.

*Kṛṣṇa eternally exists both before creation and after it — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 2, Chapter 9, verse 32)*

অহমেবাসমেবাগ্রে নান্যদ্যৎ সদসৎপরম্ । পশ্চাদহং যদেতচ্চ যোঽবশিষ্যেত সোঽস্ম্যহম্ ॥ ৭২ ॥

aham evāsam evāgre
I alone was indeed before (creation)
nānyad yat sad-asat-param
nothing else which effect cause beyond paścād ahaṁ yad etac ca afterwards I what this (world) also yo 'vaśiṣyeta so 'smy aham
what remains that am I

72 "Before creation I alone existed; there was nothing else — neither effect, nor cause, nor That which is beyond them. After creation this whole world is not other than Me, and what remains after its dissolution is also I." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.9.32)[10]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 1.53.

*The word ātmā means the all-pervading (vibhu) Kṛṣṇa —*

‘আত্মা’-শব্দে কহে কৃষ্ণ বৃহত্ত্বস্বরূপ ।
সর্ব্বব্যাপক, সর্ব্বসাক্ষী, পরমস্বরূপ ॥ ৭৩ ॥

‘ātmā’-śabde kahe kṛṣṇa bṛhattva-svarūpa
by the word ātmā is meant Kṛṣṇa whose nature is greatness
sarva-vyāpaka, sarva-sākṣī, parama-svarūpa
all-pervading witness of all the supreme form

73 By the word ātmā is meant Kṛṣṇa, whose very nature is greatness: He pervades all, witnesses all, and is the supreme form.

*(A statement of the tantra quoted by Śrīdhara Svāmī in his explanation of Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 11, Chapter 2, verse 45)*

আততত্বাচ্চ মাতৃত্বাদাত্মা হি পরমো হরিঃ ॥ ৭৪ ॥

ātatatvāc ca mātṛtvād
because of pervading all and because of being the progenitor of all
ātmā hi paramo hariḥ
Ātmā indeed supreme Hari

74 “Because He pervades all (ātatatva) and is the progenitor of all (mātṛtva), Hari is the Supreme Ātmā.” (words of a Tantra quoted by Śrīdhara Svāmī in his commentary on Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.45)[11]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Hari, to whom extension (vistṛtatva) and the power to give birth (prasavitṛtva) belong, is Himself the Paramātmā.

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 24.68.

*The three paths (abhidheyas) give three kinds of realisation of Kṛṣṇa: (1) Brahman, (2) Paramātmā and (3) Bhagavān —*

সেই কৃষ্ণপ্রাপ্তি-হেতু ত্রিবিধ ‘সাধন’ । জ্ঞান, যোগ, ভক্তি, — তিনের পৃথক্ লক্ষণ ॥ ৭৫ ॥

sei kṛṣṇa-prāpti-hetu trividha 'sādhana'
of that Kṛṣṇa attainment for the sake of three kinds of sādhana
jñāna, yoga, bhakti, — tinera pṛthak lakṣaṇa
jñāna yoga bhakti of the three separate characteristics

75 For attaining that Kṛṣṇa there are three kinds of sādhana — jñāna, yoga and bhakti — each with its own characteristics.

তিন সাধনে ভগবান্ তিন স্বরূপে ভাসে । ব্রহ্ম, পরমাত্মা, ভগবত্তা, — ত্রিবিধ প্রকাশে ॥ ৭৬ ॥

tina sādhane bhagavān tina svarūpe bhāse
in the three sādhanas Bhagavān in three forms appears brahma, paramātmā, bhagavattā, — trividha prakāśe Brahman Paramātmā Bhagavān Himself in three ways is manifest

76 Through the three sādhanas Bhagavān appears in three forms: He is manifest as Brahman, as Paramātmā and as Bhagavān Himself.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 1, Chapter 2, verse 11)*

বদন্তি তত্তত্ত্ববিদস্তত্ত্বং যজ্‌জ্ঞানমদ্বয়ম্ ।
ব্রহ্মেতি পরমাত্মেতি ভগবানিতি শব্দ্যতে ॥ ৭৭ ॥

vadanti tat tattva-vidas
they call that of truth the knowers
tattvaṁ yaj jñānam advayam
the Truth which knowledge non-dual
brahmeti paramātmeti
Brahman thus Paramātmā thus
bhagavān iti śabdyate
Bhagavān thus is named

77 "The knowers of the Truth call the non-dual knowledge the Truth; it is named Brahman, Paramātmā and Bhagavān." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.11)[12]

Anubhāṣya.

See Ādi 2.11.

‘ব্রহ্ম-আত্মা’-শব্দে যদি কৃষ্ণেরে কহয়।
‘রূঢ়িবৃত্ত্যে’ নির্ব্বিশেষ অন্তর্য্যামী কয় ॥ ৭৮ ॥

‘brahma-ātmā’-śabde yadi kṛṣṇere kahaya
by the words brahma and ātmā though Kṛṣṇa they denote ‘rūḍhi-vṛttye’ nirviśeṣa antaryāmī kaya
by conventional usage the featureless the indwelling Lord they denote 78 Though the words brahma and ātmā denote Kṛṣṇa, in their conventional usage (rūḍhi-vṛtti) they mean the featureless Brahman and the indwelling Lord (Antaryāmī).

*On the path of knowledge He is realised as Brahman, consciousness (cit) alone; on the path of yoga, as the Paramātmā, made of being and consciousness (sat and cit) —*

জ্ঞানমার্গে — নির্ব্বিশেষ-ব্রহ্ম প্রকাশে। যোগমার্গে — অন্তর্য্যামী-স্বরূপেতে ভাসে ॥ ৭৯ ॥

jñāna-mārge — nirviśeṣa-brahma prakāśe
on the path of knowledge the featureless Brahman is manifest yoga-mārge — antaryāmi-svarūpete bhāse on the path of yoga of the indwelling Lord in the form He appears 79 On the path of knowledge He is manifest as the featureless Brahman; on the path of yoga He appears in the form of the Antaryāmī, the indwelling Lord.

*By the two kinds of bhakti — that filled with rāga and vaidhī — one attains the two forms of Bhagavān: Kṛṣṇa Himself and His manifestation —*

রাগভক্তি, বিধিভক্তি হয় দুইরূপ। ‘স্বয়ংভগবান্’, ‘ভগবান্’ — দুই ত’ ‘স্বরূপ’ ॥ ৮০ ॥

rāga-bhakti, vidhi-bhakti haya dui-rūpa
rāga-bhakti vidhi-bhakti are of two kinds ‘svayaṁbhagavān’, ‘bhagavān’ — dui ta’ ‘svarūpa’
Svayam Bhagavān Bhagavān two indeed forms

80 Devotion is of two kinds, rāga-bhakti and vidhi-bhakti; and the Lord’s forms are two: Svayam Bhagavān, the Lord Himself, and Bhagavān.

*The perfection of rāgānugā-bhakti is Vrajendranandana in Vraja; the perfection of vaidhī-bhakti is service to Nārāyaṇa in Vaikuṇṭha —*

রাগভক্ত্যে ব্রজে স্বয়ং-ভগবানে পায় । বিধিভক্ত্যে পার্ষদ-দেহে বৈকুণ্ঠকে যায় ॥ ৮১ ॥

rāga-bhaktye vraje svayaṁ-bhagavāne pāya
by rāga-bhakti in Vraja Svayam Bhagavān one attains vidhi-bhaktye pārṣada-dehe vaikuṇṭhake yāya
by vidhi-bhakti of an associate in the body to Vaikuṇṭha one goes

81 By rāga-bhakti one attains Svayam Bhagavān in Vraja; by vidhi-bhakti one goes to Vaikuṇṭha in the body of an associate (pārṣada).

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 9, verse 21)*

নায়ং সুখাপো ভগবান্ দেহিনাং গোপিকাসুতঃ । জ্ঞানিনাঞ্চাত্মভূতানাং যথা ভক্তিমতামিহ ॥ ৮২ ॥

nāyaṁ sukhāpo bhagavān
not this easily attained Bhagavān
dehināṁ gopikā-sutaḥ
for the embodied of the gopī the son jñānināṁ cātma-bhūtānāṁ
for the jñānīs and for those who realised the self yathā bhaktimatām iha
as for those who have devotion here

82 “This Bhagavān, the son of the gopī, is not so easily attained by the embodied, nor by the jñānīs, nor by those who have realised the self, as He is

by those who have devotion." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.9.21)[13]

Anubhāṣya.

See Madhya 8.227.[55]

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 3, Chapter 15, verse 25)*

যচ্চ ব্রজন্ত্যনিমিষামৃষভানুবৃত্ত্যা
দূরে-যমা হ্যুপরি নঃ স্পৃহণীয়শীলাঃ ।
ভর্ত্তুর্মিথঃ সুযশসঃ কথনানুরাগ-বৈক্লব্যবাষ্পকলয়া পুলকীকৃতাঙ্গাঃ ॥ ৮৩ ॥

yac ca vrajanty animiṣām ṛṣabhānuvṛttyā to which and they go of the gods the Lord by following dūre-yamā hy upari naḥ spṛhaṇīya-śīlāḥ far away (have left) yama indeed above us desirable in nature bhartur mithaḥ su-yaśasaḥ kathanānurāga-of their Lord together the glorious from speaking of anurāga
vaiklavya-bāṣpa-kalayā pulakī-kṛtāṅgāḥ
of the agitation of tears by the drops thrilling with rapture in their limbs

83 "Those whose limbs thrill with rapture and are wet with tears of loving agitation as they speak together of the glories of their Lord; who follow the Lord of the gods and have left yama and the other disciplines far behind; whose nature we ourselves long to have — they go to Vaikuṇṭha, which is above us." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.15.25)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Those whose bodies bristle with rapture, wet with drops of tears born of the agitation of anurāga, when they tell one another about Kṛṣṇa, follow Kṛṣṇa, the God of gods, and cast yama, niyama and the like far away. With a character that makes us long to be like them, they go to Vaikuṇṭha, above us.

Anubhāṣya.

The sage Śrī Maitreya, the friend of Vyāsa, tells Śrī Vidura how Brahmā told the gods, frightened by Diti's pregnancy, the past history of the two asuras in her womb. Describing in that connection how the four Sanas (the Kumāras) went to Vaikuṇṭha, he glorifies Vaikuṇṭha:

animiṣām (of the gods, who are not subject to time) ṛṣabhānuvṛttyā (by following the best, Śrī Hari) dūre-yamāḥ (those from whom yama is far, or who have cast yama and niyama far away) spṛhaṇīya-śīlāḥ (those whose character — compassion and the like — makes others long to be like them) bhartuḥ (of Hari) su-yaśasaḥ (of Him whose pastimes and qualities are auspicious) mithaḥ (to one another) kathanānurāga-vaiklavya-bāṣpa-kalayā (with the anurāga that arises in telling of Him, with the agitation it brings and with drops of tears) pulakīkṛtāṅgāḥ (those whose bodies bristle with rapture) ca naḥ (us) upari (above) yat ca (to Vaikuṇṭha) vrajanti (go; "having reached that Vaikuṇṭha, the sages attained the highest joy" — this is the connection with the next verse).

The three kinds of worshippers —

সেই উপাসক হয় ত্রিবিধ প্রকার । অকাম, মোক্ষকাম, সর্ব্বকাম আর ॥ ৮৪ ॥

sei upāsaka haya trividha prakāra
these worshippers are of three kinds akāma, mokṣa-kāma, sarva-kāma āra without desire desiring liberation with every desire and 84 These worshippers are of three kinds: those without desire (akāma), those who desire liberation (mokṣa-kāma) and those who have every kind of desire (sarva-kāma).

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 2, Chapter 3, verse 10)*

অকামঃ সর্ব্বকামো বা মোক্ষকাম উদারধীঃ ।
তীব্রেণ ভক্তিযোগেন যজেত পুরুষং পরম্ ॥ ৮৫ ॥

akāmaḥ sarva-kāmo vā
without desire full of all desires or
mokṣa-kāma udāra-dhīḥ
desiring liberation of broad intelligence
tīvreṇa bhakti-yogena
with intense bhakti-yoga
yajeta puruṣaṁ param
should worship the Person Supreme

85 "Whether he is without desire, full of every desire, or desirous of liberation, a person of broad intelligence should worship the Supreme Person with intense bhakti-yoga." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.3.10)[14]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.36.

*The meaning of the word udāra-dhī —*

বুদ্ধিমান্ অর্থে — যদি 'বিচারজ্ঞ' হয়। নিজ-কাম লাগিহ তবে কৃষ্ণেরে ভজয় ॥ ৮৬ ॥

buddhimān arthe — yadi 'vicāra-jña' haya intelligent in the sense if discerning he is nija-kāma lāgiha tabe kṛṣṇere bhajaya
of his own desire for the sake even then Kṛṣṇa he worships

86 Udāra-dhīḥ means intelligent: if a person can discern, then even for the sake of his own desires he worships Kṛṣṇa.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
This verse says that if one is udāra-dhī, that is, intelligent and able to reason, one will worship Kṛṣṇa even while having desires.

*Every sādhana depends on bhakti; bhakti alone depends on nothing —*

ভক্তি বিনা কোন সাধন দিতে নারে ফল। সব ফল দেয় ভক্তি স্বতন্ত্র প্রবল ॥ ৮৭ ॥

bhakti vinā kona sādhana dite nāre phala
bhakti without any sādhana to give cannot fruit saba phala deya bhakti svatantra prabala
all fruits gives bhakti independent powerful

87 Without bhakti no sādhana can give its fruit. Bhakti, independent and powerful, gives every fruit.

*Without the shelter of bhakti all other sādhanas are fruitless —*

অজাগলস্তন-ন্যায় অন্য সাধন । অতএব হরি ভজে বুদ্ধিমান্ জন ॥ ৮৮ ॥

ajā-gala-stana-nyāya anya sādhana
of a goat on the neck of the teats like other sādhanas ataeva hari bhaje buddhimān jana therefore Hari worships intelligent person

88 Other sādhanas are like the teats on a goat's neck. Therefore an intelligent person worships Hari.

Anubhāṣya.
Without bhakti, other sādhanas are utterly fruitless: they can never bear fruit. The teats on a goat's neck give no milk; they only mislead ignorant people. In the same way, without bhakti the practice of jñāna and karma yields no fruit at all.

*The pious (sukṛtas) burdened with anarthas are of four kinds, divided into bubhukṣus and mumukṣus; yet even these four kinds of desire are not the cause of desireless bhakti — (Bhagavad-gītā, Chapter 7, verse 16)*

চতুর্ব্বিধা ভজন্তে মাং জনাঃ সুকৃতিনোঽর্জ্জুন । আর্ত্তো জিজ্ঞাসুরর্থার্থী জ্ঞানী চ ভরতর্ষভ ॥ ৮৯ ॥

catur-vidhā bhajante mām
of four kinds worship Me
janāḥ sukṛtino 'rjuna people pious O Arjuna
ārto jijñāsur arthārthī
the distressed the inquisitive the seeker of wealth
jñānī ca bharatarṣabha
the one with knowledge and O best of the Bhāratas

89 "O Arjuna, best of the Bhāratas, four kinds of pious people worship Me: the distressed, the inquisitive, the seeker of wealth, and the one who has knowledge." (Bhagavad-gītā, 7.16)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"O Arjuna, the distressed, the inquisitive, the seeker of wealth and the jñānī — these four kinds of people, when they gain pious merit and turn towards bhakti, give up their particular desires and worship Me."

Anubhāṣya.
he arjuna, he bharatarṣabha, sukṛtinaḥ (devoted to the dharma marked by the conduct of varṇāśrama) janāḥ māṁ bhajante; te ca catur-vidhāḥ: ārtaḥ (the afflicted, one in distress — Gajendra and others), jijñāsuḥ (one who wishes to know the nature of the self — Śaunaka and others), arthārthī (one who desires happiness and prosperity — Dhruva and others; these three have desires [sakāma]), jñānī (one who has gained understanding — Śuka and others; he is without desires [niṣkāma]) ca.

*The distressed and the seeker of wealth are bubhukṣus (who crave enjoyment), and the inquisitive and the jñānī are mumukṣus (who crave liberation) —*

আর্ত্ত, অর্থার্থী, — দুই সকাম-ভিতরে গণি । জিজ্ঞাসু, জ্ঞানী, — দুই মোক্ষকামী মানি ॥ ৯০ ॥

ārta, arthārthī, — dui sakāma-bhitare gaṇi
the distressed the seeker of wealth two among those with desires I count jijñāsu, jñānī, — dui mokṣa-kāmī māni
the inquisitive the one with knowledge two as desiring liberation I regard 90 The distressed and the seeker of wealth I count among those with desires (sakāma); the inquisitive and the one who has knowledge I regard as desirous of liberation (mokṣa-kāma).

Only by giving up the four kinds of desire does one become fit to attain pure bhakti —

এই চারি সুকৃতি হয় মহাভাগ্যবান্ । তত্তৎকামাদি ছাড়ি, হয় শুদ্ধভক্তিমান্ ॥ ৯১ ॥

ei cāri sukṛti haya mahā-bhāgyavān
these four pious ones are greatly fortunate tat-tat-kāmādi chāḍi, haya śuddha-bhaktimān their respective desires and so on giving up become possessed of pure devotion

91 These four pious ones are greatly fortunate. Giving up their respective desires, they come to possess pure devotion.

The four kinds of desire are themselves bad association; by the mercy of the sādhu, the guru and Kṛṣṇa one is freed from it —

সাধুসঙ্গ-কৃপা কিম্বা কৃষ্ণের কৃপায় । কামাদি 'দুঃসঙ্গ' ছাড়ি' শুদ্ধভক্তি পায় ॥ ৯২ ॥

sādhu-saṅga-kṛpā kimvā kṛṣṇera kṛpāya
of the company of saints by the mercy or Kṛṣṇa's by the mercy
kāmādi 'duḥsaṅga' chāḍi' śuddha-bhakti pāya desires and so on bad company giving up pure devotion they attain

92 By the mercy of the company of saints, or by Kṛṣṇa's mercy, they give up the "bad company" of desires and the like and attain pure devotion.

*The power of the company of saintly devotees — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 1, Chapter 10, verse 11)*

সৎসঙ্গান্মুক্ত-দুঃসঙ্গো হাতুং নোৎসহতে বুধঃ । কীর্ত্ত্যমানং যশো যস্য সকৃদাকর্ণ্য রোচনম্ ॥ ৯৩ ॥

sat-saṅgān mukta-duḥsaṅgo
through the company of saints freed from bad company
hātuṁ notsahate budhaḥ
to give up is not able the wise one kīrtyamānaṁ yaśo yasya
being sung the glory of whom sakṛd ākarṇya rocanam
once having heard captivating

93 "A wise person who has been freed from bad company through the company of saints can never give up the captivating glory of the Lord once he has heard it sung." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.10.11)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Through the company of saintly devotees a wise person gives up bad association. Having once heard the delightful glory of the One who is glorified, he can never give it up.

Anubhāṣya.
After installing Dharmarāja Yudhiṣṭhira on the throne, Śrī Kṛṣṇa stayed for some months in Hastināpura. Then, wishing to go to Dvārakā, He duly and fittingly greeted all the men and women of the Kuru and Pāṇḍava families, took leave of them and mounted His chariot. Describing to the sages headed by Śaunaka how the Pāṇḍavas could not bear separation from Kṛṣṇa, Śrī Sūta speaks of the sweetness of the company of sādhus:

sat-saṅgāt (through association with Kṛṣṇa's devotees) mukta-duḥsaṅgaḥ (one who has given up bad association — association whose object is the desire for jñāna, karma and the rest, or sons and the like) budhaḥ (the wise) kīrtyamānam (being sung) yasya (of Śrī Kṛṣṇa) rocanam (delightful) yaśaḥ sakṛt ākarṇya (having heard) hātuṁ (to give up the company of saintly devotees) na utsahate (how, then, could the Pārthas bear separation from Him? — this is the connection with the next verse).

The meaning of "bad association" —

'দুঃসঙ্গ' কহিয়ে — 'কৈতব', — 'আত্মবঞ্চনা' । কৃষ্ণ, কৃষ্ণভক্তি বিনা অন্য কামনা ॥ ৯৪ ॥

'duḥsaṅga' kahiye — 'kaitava', — 'ātma-vañcanā'
bad company I call deceit self-deception
kṛṣṇa, kṛṣṇa-bhakti vinā anya kāmanā than Kṛṣṇa devotion to Kṛṣṇa other desire

94 By "bad company" I mean deceit (kaitava), self-deception: the desire for anything other than Kṛṣṇa and devotion to Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
"Bad association" is simply deceiving oneself with trickery. Every desire other than the desire for Kṛṣṇa and for kṛṣṇa-bhakti is "bad association."

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 1, Chapter 1, verse 2)*

ধর্ম্মঃ প্রোজ্ঝিত-কৈতবোঽত্র পরমো নির্ম্মৎসরাণাং সতাং
বেদ্যং বাস্তবমত্র বস্তু শিবদং তাপত্রয়োন্মূলনম্ ।
শ্রীমদ্ভাগবতে মহামুনিকৃতে কিংবা পরৈরীশ্বরঃ
সদ্যো হৃদ্যবরুধ্যতেঽত্র কৃতিভিঃ শুশ্রূষুভিস্তৎক্ষণাৎ ॥ ৯৫ ॥

dharmaḥ projjhita-kaitavo 'tra paramo nirmatsarāṇāṁ satāṁ dharma wholly-cast-out deceit here supreme of the non-envious of the saints vedyaṁ vāstavam atra vastu śiva-daṁ tāpa-trayonmūlanam to be known real here substance bestowing good the threefold miseries uprooting śrīmad-bhāgavate mahā-muni-kṛte kiṁ vā parair īśvaraḥ in the beautiful Bhāgavata by the great sage composed what by others? the Lord sadyo hṛdy avarudhyate 'tra kṛtibhiḥ śuśrūṣubhis tat-kṣaṇāt
at once in the heart is captured here by the pious who wish to hear that very moment

95 "In this beautiful Bhāgavatam, composed by the great sage, is taught the supreme dharma of the saintly who are free from envy, from which all deceit has been cast out. Here is known the true Reality, which bestows good and uproots the threefold miseries. What need is there of other scriptures? As soon as the pious wish to hear it, the Lord is at once captured within their hearts." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.2)[15]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 1.91.

*Śrīdhara Svāmipāda's explanation of the word kaitava —*

'প্র'-শব্দে — মোক্ষবাঞ্ছা কৈতবপ্রধান । এই শ্লোকে শ্রীধরস্বামী করিয়াছেন ব্যাখ্যান ॥ ৯৬ ॥

'pra'-śabde — mokṣa-vāñchā kaitava-pradhāna
by the prefix pra of liberation the desire of deceit the chief ei śloke śrīdhara-svāmī kariyāchena vyākhyāna
this verse Śrīdhara Svāmī has given the explanation

96 By the prefix pra (in projjhita) the desire for liberation is shown to be the chief deceit. So Śrīdhara Svāmī has explained this verse.

সকাম ভক্তে 'অজ্ঞ' জানি' দয়ালু ভগবান্ । স্ব-চরণ দিয়া করে ইচ্ছার পিধান ॥ ৯৭ ॥

sakāma bhakte 'ajña' jāni' dayālu bhagavān
having desires the devotee ignorant knowing merciful Bhagavān
sva-caraṇa diyā kare icchāra pidhāna
His own feet giving makes of desire the covering

97 Knowing a devotee with desires to be ignorant, the merciful Bhagavān gives him His own feet and so covers over his desires.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Covering the desire" (icchāra pidhāna) means fulfilling it.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 5, Chapter 19, verse 26)*

সত্যং দিশত্যর্থিতমর্থিতো নৃণাং
নৈবার্থদো যৎ পুনরর্থিতা যতঃ ।
স্বয়ং বিধত্তে ভজতামনিচ্ছতা- মিচ্ছাপিধানং নিজপাদপল্লবম্ ॥ ৯৮ ॥

satyaṁ diśaty arthitam arthito nṛṇāṁ
truly He grants what is asked when asked to men
naivārtha-do yat punar arthitā yataḥ
not indeed giver of that which again asking from which svayaṁ vidhatte bhajatām anicchatām
Himself He grants to those who worship though not desiring
icchā-pidhānaṁ nija-pāda-pallavam
covering all desires His own feet like tender shoots

98 "It is true that when men ask, the Lord grants what they ask for; but He does not give what would make them ask again. To those who worship Him, though they do not desire it, He Himself gives His own feet, tender as new shoots, which put an end to all other desires." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.19.26)[16]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.40.

*Only through the company of pure devotees, service and Kṛṣṇa's mercy are anarthas removed and perfection attained —*

সাধুসঙ্গ, কৃষ্ণকৃপা, ভক্তির স্বভাব । এ তিনে সব ছাড়ায়, করে কৃষ্ণে 'ভাব' ॥ ৯৯ ॥

sādhu-saṅga, kṛṣṇa-kṛpā, bhaktira svabhāva
the company of saints Kṛṣṇa's mercy of bhakti the nature
e tine saba chāḍāya, kare kṛṣṇe 'bhāva'
these three everything make one give up awaken for Kṛṣṇa bhāva

99 The company of saints, Kṛṣṇa's mercy and the very nature of bhakti — these three make one give up everything else and awaken bhāva for Kṛṣṇa.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The desireless (akāma), the one full of desires (sarvakāma) and the one who desires liberation (mokṣakāma) — these three give up the fault of their particular desires and attain pure bhakti for Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.

"By these three": by the company of Kṛṣṇa's people, by Kṛṣṇa's mercy and by kṛṣṇa-bhakti. These three — the company of Kṛṣṇa's devotees and the rest — free one from all the good fortune māyā bestows, from other desires and from the inclination to karma, jñāna and yoga, and produce bhāva for Kṛṣṇa.

This should be kept in mind in all the explanations that follow —

আগে যত যত অর্থ ব্যাখ্যান করিব । কৃষ্ণগুণাস্বাদের এই হেতু জানিব ॥ ১০০ ॥

āge yata yata artha vyākhyāna kariba further however many meanings explanation I shall make kṛṣṇa-guṇāsvādera ei hetu jāniba
of Kṛṣṇa's qualities of the relishing this the cause know

100 In all the meanings I shall explain from here on, know this to be the cause of relishing Kṛṣṇa's qualities.

শ্লোকব্যাখ্যা লাগি' এই করিলুঁ আভাস । এবে করি শ্লোকের মূলার্থ প্রকাশ ॥ ১০১ ॥

śloka-vyākhyā lāgi' ei karilum̐ ābhāsa
of the verse of the explanation for the sake this I have made outline
ebe kari ślokera mūlārtha prakāśa
now I make of the verse of the root meaning revelation

101 I have given this outline for the sake of explaining the verse. Now I shall reveal the verse's basic meaning.

*The two kinds of jñānī —*

জ্ঞানমার্গে উপাসক — দুই ত' প্রকার । কেবল-ব্রহ্মোপাসক, মোক্ষাকাঙ্ক্ষী আর ॥ ১০২ ॥

jñāna-mārge upāsaka — dui ta' prakāra
on the path of knowledge worshippers of two indeed kinds kevala-brahmopāsaka, mokṣākāṅkṣī āra worshippers of Brahman alone those who long for liberation and 102 On the path of knowledge the worshippers are of two kinds: those who worship Brahman alone (kevala-brahmopāsaka) and those who long for liberation (mokṣākāṅkṣī).

(1) Those who know Brahman alone — of three kinds —

কেবল ব্রহ্মোপাসক তিন ভেদ হয় । সাধক, ব্রহ্মময়, আর প্রাপ্ত-ব্রহ্মলয় ॥ ১০৩ ॥

kevala brahmopāsaka tina bheda haya of Brahman alone worshippers three kinds are sādhaka, brahmamaya, āra prāpta-brahma-laya
the sādhaka the brahmamaya and the prāpta-brahma-laya

103 Those who worship Brahman alone are of three kinds: the sādhaka (beginner), the brahmamaya (absorbed in Brahman) and the prāpta-brahma-laya (merged in Brahman).

*Only by practicing knowledge that rests on bhakti does the sādhaka become brahma-bhūta —*

ভক্তি বিনা কেবল জ্ঞানে ‘মুক্তি’ নাহি হয় । ভক্তি সাধন করে যেই ‘প্রাপ্ত-ব্রহ্মলয়’ ॥ ১০৪ ॥

bhakti vinā kevala jñāne ‘mukti’ nāhi haya bhakti without by knowledge alone liberation not there is bhakti sādhana kare yei ‘prāpta-brahma-laya’
of bhakti the sādhana performs who (he is) prāpta-brahma-laya

104 Without bhakti, by knowledge alone, there is no liberation. It is one who practises the sādhana of bhakti who reaches merging in Brahman (prāpta-brahma-laya).

Only by submission to the true Reality — or as the fruit of bhakti — does one attain "brāhmaṇa-hood," and by joining it with service, "Vaiṣṇava-hood" —

ভক্তির স্বভাব, — ব্রহ্ম হৈতে করে আকর্ষণ । দিব্য দেহ দিয়া করায় কৃষ্ণের ভজন ॥ ১০৫ ॥

bhaktira svabhāva, — brahma haite kare ākarṣaṇa
of bhakti the nature from Brahman makes attraction
divya deha diyā karāya kṛṣṇera bhajana
divine body giving makes one do Kṛṣṇa's worship

105 The nature of bhakti is that it draws one away from Brahman; giving one a divine body, it makes one worship Kṛṣṇa.

Even after becoming a Vaiṣṇava he engages in the service of Kṛṣṇa —

ভক্তদেহ পাইলে হয় গুণের স্মরণ । গুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা করে নির্ম্মল ভজন ॥ ১০৬ ॥

bhakta-deha pāile haya guṇera smaraṇa
the body of a devotee on obtaining there is of the qualities remembrance
guṇākṛṣṭa hañā kare nirmala bhajana
attracted by the qualities becoming he does pure worship

106 On obtaining the body of a devotee, one remembers Kṛṣṇa's qualities; attracted by those qualities, one worships Him with pure devotion.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Those who worship on the path of knowledge are of two kinds: kevala-brahmopāsakas (who worship Brahman alone) and mokṣākāṅkṣīs (who aspire to liberation). One who worships Brahman with the desire for kaivalya is a kevala-brahmopāsaka. They have three stages: the sādhaka (beginner), the (eternally perfect) brahmamaya (absorbed in Brahman), and the prāpta-brahma-laya (merged in Brahman, that is, the brahma-bhūta). Without bhakti, knowledge cannot give liberation. Only one who has attained merging in Brahman (that is, has become brahma-bhūta) can practice bhakti. When the practice of bhakti appears, the nature of bhakti appears too. By this nature of hers, bhakti gradually draws him away from Brahman, gives him a divine body and engages him in the worship of Kṛṣṇa. Having received the body of his choice in which he serves the Lord, the devotee remembers all of Kṛṣṇa's qualities and, attracted by them, worships Him with pure worship.

*Even the liberated serve Bhagavān in transcendental perfected bodies — (the explanation of the author of the Sarvajña-bhāṣya, quoted by Śrīdhara on Bhāgavatam 10.87.21) —*

মুক্তা অপি লীলয়া বিগ্রহং কৃত্বা ভগবন্তং ভজন্তে ॥ ১০৭ ॥

muktā api līlayā vigrahaṁ
the liberated even by līlā a form
kṛtvā bhagavantaṁ bhajante
having assumed Bhagavān worship

107 "Even the liberated, assuming a form (vigraha) by the Lord's līlā, worship Bhagavān." (words of the author of the Sarvajña-bhāṣya, quoted by Śrīdhara Svāmī in his commentary on Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.87.21)[17]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Even the liberated, assuming a form (vigraha) in līlā, worship Bhagavān.

*Even Śuka and the four Sanas, who are absorbed in Brahman (brahmamaya), are attracted by Kṛṣṇa and devote themselves to His worship —*

জন্ম হৈতে শুক সনকাদি 'ব্রহ্মময়' । কৃষ্ণগুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা কৃষ্ণেরে ভজয় ॥ ১০৮ ॥

janma haite śuka-sanakādi 'brahmamaya' birth from Śuka Sanaka and the others absorbed in Brahman
kṛṣṇa-guṇākṛṣṭa hañā kṛṣṇere bhajaya
by Kṛṣṇa's qualities attracted becoming Kṛṣṇa they worship

108 From birth Śuka, Sanaka and the others were brahmamaya, absorbed in Brahman; attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, they worship Kṛṣṇa.

The four Sanas, attracted by the fragrance of Kṛṣṇa's feet, devote themselves to pure bhakti —

সনকাদ্যের কৃষ্ণকৃপায় সৌরভে হরে মন ।
গুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা করে নির্ম্মল ভজন ॥ ১০৯ ॥

sanakādyera kṛṣṇa-kṛpāya saurabhe hare mana of Sanaka and the others by Kṛṣṇa's mercy by the fragrance is stolen the mind
guṇākṛṣṭa hañā kare nirmala bhajana
attracted by the qualities becoming they do pure worship

109 By Kṛṣṇa's mercy the minds of Sanaka and the others were stolen by the fragrance of His feet; attracted by His qualities, they worship Him with pure devotion.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 3, Chapter 15, verse 43)*

তস্যারবিন্দনয়নস্য পদারবিন্দ-
কিঞ্জল্কমিশ্রতুলসীমকরন্দবায়ুঃ ।
অন্তর্গতঃ স্ববিবরেণ চকার তেষাং
সংক্ষোভমক্ষরজুষামপি চিত্ততন্বোঃ ॥ ১১০ ॥

tasyāravinda-nayanasya padāravinda-
of Him the lotus-eyed of the lotus feet
kiñjalka-miśra-tulasī-makaranda-vāyuḥ
with the filaments mixed of tulasī of the nectar the breeze
antar-gataḥ sva-vivareṇa cakāra teṣāṁ
having entered within through its own passage caused in them
saṅkṣobham akṣara-juṣām api citta-tanvoḥ
agitation devoted to the imperishable Brahman even of mind and body

110 "The breeze that bore the fragrance of tulasī, mingled with the pollen of the lotus-eyed Lord's lotus feet, entered their nostrils and stirred both their minds and their bodies, though they were devoted to the imperishable Brahman." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.15.43)[18]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 17.142.

By Vyāsa's mercy his disciple Śuka, attracted by Kṛṣṇa's pastimes, devotes himself to pure bhakti —

ব্যাসকৃপায় শুকদেবের লীলাদি-স্মরণ । কৃষ্ণগুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা করেন ভজন ॥ ১১১ ॥

vyāsa-kṛpāya śukadevera līlādi-smaraṇa
by Vyāsa's mercy of Śukadeva of the pastimes and so on remembrance
kṛṣṇa-guṇākṛṣṭa hañā karena bhajana
by Kṛṣṇa's qualities attracted becoming he does worship

111 By Vyāsa's mercy Śukadeva came to remember Kṛṣṇa's pastimes; attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, he worships Him.

*Attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, Śuka, who follows the path of the Śruti, studies the Bhāgavatam under Vyāsa — (Bhāgavatam 1.7.11)*

হরের্গুণাক্ষিপ্তমতির্ভগবান্ বাদরায়ণিঃ । অধ্যগান্মহদাখ্যানং নিত্যং বিষ্ণুজনপ্রিয়ঃ ॥ ১১২ ॥

harer guṇākṣipta-matir
by Hari's qualities captivated in mind
bhagavān bādarāyaṇiḥ
the great son of Bādarāyaṇa
adhyagān mahad-ākhyānaṁ studied the great narration nityaṁ viṣṇu-jana-priyaḥ
ever to the devotees of Viṣṇu dear

112 "His mind captivated by the qualities of Hari, the great Śukadeva, son of Bādarāyaṇa, who is ever dear to the devotees of Viṣṇu, studied this great narration." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.7.11)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The mind of Bhagavān Śukadeva, dear to the Vaiṣṇavas, was captivated by Hari's qualities, and he studied this great narration.

Anubhāṣya.

“Why did Śrī Śukadeva — devoted to renunciation, indifferent to everything, an ātmārāma, a knower of Brahman — study the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam?” Answering this question of Śaunaka’s, Śrī Sūta explains the reason:

nityaṁ viṣṇu-jana-priyaḥ (one to whom Viṣṇu’s people are dear) bhagavān bādarāyaṇiḥ (Śrī Śuka, the son of Vyāsa) hareḥ guṇākṣipta-matiḥ (one whose mind is captivated by [Hari’s] qualities, his heart attracted by the descriptions of Hari’s qualities) mahad-ākhyānam (this great Purāṇa, the Śrī Bhāgavatam) adhyagāt (studied).

The nine Yogendras, knowers of Brahman on the path of the Śruti, hear of Kṛṣṇa’s qualities and worship Him —

নব-যোগীশ্বর জন্ম হৈতে ‘সাধক’ জ্ঞানী । বিধি-শিব-নারদ-মুখে কৃষ্ণগুণ শুনি’ ॥ ১১৩ ॥

nava-yogīśvara janma haite ‘sādhaka’ jñānī
nine Yogendras birth from sādhakas jñānīs vidhi-śiva-nārada-mukhe kṛṣṇa-guṇa śuni’
of Brahmā Śiva Nārada from the mouths Kṛṣṇa’s qualities having heard

113 The nine Yogendras were sādhaka jñānīs from birth. Having heard of Kṛṣṇa’s qualities from the mouths of Brahmā, Śiva and Nārada, গুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা করে কৃষ্ণের ভজন । একাদশ-স্কন্ধে তাঁর ভক্তি-বিবরণ ॥ ১১৪ ॥

guṇākṛṣṭa hañā kare kṛṣṇera bhajana attracted by the qualities becoming they do Kṛṣṇa’s worship
ekādaśa-skandhe tāṁra bhakti-vivaraṇa
in the Eleventh Canto their devotion the description

114 they were attracted by those qualities and worshipped Kṛṣṇa. Their devotion is described in the Eleventh Canto.

*Evidence from the śāstra — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Paścima-vibhāga,* “Śānta-bhakti-laharī,” verse 20)

অক্লেশাং কমলভুবঃ প্রবিশ্য গোষ্ঠীং কুর্ব্বন্তঃ শ্রুতিশিরসাং শ্রুতিং শ্রুতজ্ঞাঃ ৷
উত্তুঙ্গং যদুপুরসঙ্গমায় রঙ্গং যোগীন্দ্রাঃ পুলকভৃতো নবাপ্যবাপুঃ ॥ ১১৫ ॥

akleśāṁ kamala-bhuvaḥ praviśya goṣṭhīṁ
free from distress of the lotus-born having entered the assembly
kurvantaḥ śruti-śirasāṁ śrutiṁ śruta-jñāḥ performing of the Upaniṣads the hearing knowers of the Śruti uttuṅgaṁ yadu-pura-saṅgamāya raṅgaṁ lofty to the city of Yadu for meeting the raṅga yogīndrāḥ pulaka-bhṛto navāpy avāpuḥ
the Yogendras thrilling with rapture nine even reached

115 “Entering the assembly of the lotus-born Brahmā, which is free from all distress, the nine Yogendras, knowers of the Śruti, heard the Upaniṣads there; yet, their bodies thrilling with rapture, they went to the lofty raṅga-kṣetra to meet the Lord in the city of the Yadus.” (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Paścima-vibhāga, Śānta-bhakti-laharī, 20)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The nine Yogendras entered Brahmā’s assembly, which is free from distress, and heard the Upaniṣads. Having become knowers of the Śruti and bristling with rapture, they (in order to go to Dvārakā, the city of the Yadus) reached the raṅga-kṣetra.

Anubhāṣya.
śruta-jñāḥ (learned in the Vedas) nava yogīndrāḥ (the nine Yogendras, the sons of Jayantī) kamala-bhuvaḥ (of the lotus-born [Brahmā]) akleśāṁ (free from distress) goṣṭhīṁ (assembly) praviśya, śruti-śirasāṁ (of the Upaniṣads) śrutiṁ (hearing) kurvantaḥ api yadu-pura-saṅgamāya (that is, in order to go to Dvārakā) pulaka-bhṛtaḥ (their bodies bristling with rapture) uttuṅgaṁ (very lofty) raṅgaṁ (the raṅga-kṣetra) avāpuḥ (reached).

*(2) The three kinds of those who aspire to liberation (mokṣākāṅkṣīs) —*

মোক্ষাকাঙ্ক্ষী জ্ঞানী হয় তিনপ্রকার । মুমুক্ষু, জীবন্মুক্ত, প্রাপ্তস্বরূপ আর ॥ ১১৬ ॥

mokṣākāṅkṣī jñānī haya tina-prakāra
who long for liberation jñānīs are of three kinds mumukṣu, jīvan-mukta, prāpta-svarūpa āra
the mumukṣu the jīvan-mukta the prāpta-svarūpa and 116 Jñānīs who long for liberation are of three kinds: the mumukṣu (seeker of liberation), the jīvan-mukta (liberated while living) and the prāpta-svarūpa (one who has attained his true nature).

*(a) The mumukṣus — people attached to worldly things — worship Kṛṣṇa by taking shelter of bhakti —*

'মুমুক্ষু' জগতে অনেক সংসারী জন ।
'মুক্তি' লাগি' ভক্ত্যে করে কৃষ্ণের ভজন ॥ ১১৭ ॥

'mumukṣu' jagate aneka saṁsārī jana mumukṣus in the world many attached to worldly life people
'mukti' lāgi' bhaktye kare kṛṣṇera bhajana
liberation for the sake with devotion they do Kṛṣṇa's worship

117 In the world there are many mumukṣus, people attached to worldly life, who worship Kṛṣṇa with devotion for the sake of liberation.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 1, Chapter 2, verse 26)*

মুমুক্ষবো ঘোররূপান্ হিত্বা ভূতপতীনথ । নারায়ণ-কলাঃ শান্তা ভজন্তি হ্যনসূয়বঃ ॥ ১১৮ ॥

mumukṣavo ghora-rūpān
those who seek liberation terrible in form hitvā bhūta-patīn atha
having given up the lords of beings therefore nārāyaṇa-kalāḥ śāntā
of Nārāyaṇa the partial forms peaceful bhajanti hy anasūyavaḥ
worship indeed free from envy

118 "Those who seek liberation give up the lords of beings, whose forms are terrible, though they bear them no envy; peaceful, they worship the partial forms (kalā) of Nārāyaṇa." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.2.26)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The mumukṣus give up the lords of the bhūtas, whose forms are terrible, yet without hostility towards them, and worship the portions (kalās) of Nārāyaṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
It is the wise who seek the highest good (niḥśreyasa) who worship Adhokṣaja Viṣṇu or His avatāras, and it is worshippers who have desires and no peace who worship other gods besides Viṣṇu. This Śrī Sūta tells the sages headed by Śaunaka:

("But are not some seen to worship others as well?" "True: the mumukṣus do not worship others; those with desires do" — so he says:) atha (therefore) ghora-rūpān (terrible in form) bhūta-patīn (the Pitṛs, the lords of the bhūtas, the Prajāpatis and others) hitvā (giving up) mumukṣavaḥ (the jñānīs who seek the highest good) anasūyavaḥ (vowed to nonviolence, not reviling other gods) śāntāḥ (saints without desires) nārāyaṇa-kalāḥ (the aṁśa-avatāras of Nārāyaṇa) hi bhajanti.

In the company of sādhus they give up the desire for liberation —

সেই সবের সাধুসঙ্গে গুণ স্ফুরায় । কৃষ্ণভজন করায়, 'মুমুক্ষা' ছাড়ায় ॥ ১১৯ ॥

sei sabera sādhu-saṅge guṇa sphurāya of those all in the company of sādhus the qualities (of Kṛṣṇa) reveals kṛṣṇa-bhajana karāya, 'mumukṣā' chāḍāya of Kṛṣṇa worship makes them do the desire for liberation makes them give up

119 In the company of sādhus, Kṛṣṇa's qualities are revealed to all of them; that company leads them to worship Kṛṣṇa and makes them give up the desire for liberation.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Having shown that the four Sanas and Śukadeva were absorbed in Brahman (brahmamaya) and that the nine Yogendras were sādhakas, the Lord considers the three kinds of jñānīs who aspire to liberation: the mumukṣu (seeker of liberation), the jīvan-mukta (liberated while living) and the prāpta-svarūpa (one who has attained his true nature). First He speaks of the mumukṣus: in the company of sādhus Bhagavān's qualities manifest in them, and so these mumukṣus give up the desire for liberation and worship Kṛṣṇa.

*The virtue and glory of the company of saintly devotees — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Paścima-vibhāga, "Prīti-bhakti-laharī," verse 27)*

অহো মহাত্মন্ বহুদোষদুষ্টোঽ-প্যেকেন ভাত্যেষ ভবো গুণেন ৷ সৎসঙ্গমাখ্যেন সুখাবহেন কৃতাদ্য নো যেন কৃশা মুমুক্ষা ॥ ১২০ ॥

aho mahātman bahu-doṣa-duṣṭo
O great soul by many faults corrupted
'py ekena bhāty eṣa bhavo guṇena
though by one shines this worldly existence quality sat-saṅgamākhyena sukhāvahena called the company of saints bringing happiness
kṛtādya no yena kṛśā mumukṣā
made today our by which weak desire for liberation

120 "O great soul, this worldly existence is corrupted by many faults, yet it shines with one quality, called the company of saints, which brings happiness; through it our desire for liberation has today grown weak." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Paścima-vibhāga, Prīti-bhakti-laharī, 27)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

“O great soul, though this worldly existence has many faults, it has one great virtue — the company of sādhus. This one virtue brings happiness, and by it our desire for liberation has today grown weak.”

Anubhāṣya.

he mahātman, aho eṣaḥ bhavaḥ (human birth) bahu-doṣa-duṣṭaḥ (a mine of countless faults) api sukhāvahena (bestowing wealth, granting eternal welfare) sat-saṅgamākhyena (called the company of sādhus) ekena guṇena bhāti (shines), yena (by which virtue) adya naḥ (our) mumukṣā (desire for liberation) kṛśā kṛtā (has been weakened).

*The inquisitive mumukṣus — Śaunaka and others — give up the desire for liberation in the company of a pure devotee —*

নারদের সঙ্গে শৌনকাদি মুনিগণ । মুমুক্ষা ছাড়িয়া কৈলা কৃষ্ণের ভজন ॥ ১২১ ॥

nāradera saṅge śaunakādi muni-gaṇa of Nārada in the company Śaunaka and the others the sages
mumukṣā chāḍiyā kailā kṛṣṇera bhajana
the desire for liberation giving up performed of Kṛṣṇa worship

121 In the company of Nārada, Śaunaka and the other sages gave up the desire for liberation and worshipped Kṛṣṇa.[19]

Sometimes by seeing Kṛṣṇa, sometimes by Kṛṣṇa’s mercy, they give up the desire for liberation and attain pure bhakti —

কৃষ্ণের দর্শনে, কারো কৃষ্ণের কৃপায় । মুমুক্ষা ছাড়িয়া গুণে ভজে তাঁর পা’য় ॥ ১২২ ॥

kṛṣṇera darśane, kāro kṛṣṇera kṛpāya of Kṛṣṇa by the sight some of Kṛṣṇa by the mercy
mumukṣā chāḍiyā guṇe bhaje tāṁra pā’ya
the desire for liberation giving up (drawn) by His qualities worship His feet

122 Some on seeing Kṛṣṇa, and some by Kṛṣṇa’s mercy, give up the desire for liberation and, drawn by His qualities, worship His feet.

*Having attained pure kṛṣṇa-bhakti, they regret their former efforts on the path of knowledge — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, "Śānta-bhakti-laharī," verse 34)*

অস্মিন্ সুখঘনমূর্ত্তৌ পরমাত্মনি বৃষ্ণিপত্তনে স্ফুরতি ৷ আত্মারামতয়া মে বৃথা গতো বত চিরং কালঃ ॥ ১২৩ ॥

asmin sukha-ghana-mūrtau
this of bliss concentrated form
param-ātmani vṛṣṇi-pattane sphurati
the Supreme Self in Vṛṣṇi-pattana (Dvārakā) when He appeared ātmārāmatayā me vṛthā
by being an ātmārāma my in vain
gato bata ciraṁ kālaḥ
has passed alas long time

123 "Now that Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Self, whose form is concentrated bliss, has appeared here in Vṛṣṇi-pattana, I see — alas! — how long my days have passed in vain while I clung to being an ātmārāma." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Paścima-vibhāga, Śānta-bhakti-laharī, 34)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"When here in Vṛṣṇi-pattana, Dvārakā, Kṛṣṇa — the embodiment of dense spiritual bliss — appeared to me, happiness dawned within me. Alas, I clung to being an ātmārāma, and many of my days have passed in vain!"

Anubhāṣya.
bata (with regret) vṛṣṇi-pattane (in the city of Dvārakā) sukha-ghana-mūrtau (in the form of dense spiritual bliss) paramātmani asmin (in Śrī Kṛṣṇa) sphurati (when He appears), ātmārāmatayā (through devotion to the impersonal Brahman) ciraṁ me (my) kālaḥ vṛthā gataḥ (lost).

*(b) The two kinds of jīvan-muktas —*

'জীবন্মুক্ত' অনেক, সেই দুই ভেদ জানি ৷
'ভক্ত্যে জীবন্মুক্ত', 'জ্ঞানে জীবন্মুক্ত' মানি ॥ ১২৪ ॥

'jīvan-mukta' aneka, sei dui bheda jāni
those liberated while living many of them two kinds I know
'bhaktye jīvan-mukta', 'jñāne jīvan-mukta' māni
by devotion liberated while living by knowledge liberated while living I hold 124 There are many who are liberated while living (jīvan-mukta), and I know them to be of two kinds: those liberated through devotion and those liberated through knowledge.

*The devotee who has become a jīvan-mukta as the fruit of bhakti follows the descending path (avaroha) and attains the bliss of serving Kṛṣṇa; but one who follows the ascending path (āroha) and, as the fruit of knowledge, merely imagines himself liberated, falls down —*

'ভক্ত্যে জীবন্মুক্ত' গুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা ভজে । শুষ্কজ্ঞানে জীবন্মুক্ত অপরাধে অধো মজে ॥ ১২৫ ॥

'bhaktye jīvan-mukta' guṇākṛṣṭa hañā bhaje
by devotion liberated while living attracted by the qualities becoming worships śuṣka-jñāne jīvan-mukta aparādhe adho maje
by dry knowledge liberated while living through offences down sinks

125 One liberated while living through devotion is attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities and worships Him; but one "liberated while living" through dry knowledge sinks down because of his offences.[20]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Because of offence they sink down": the jīvan-muktas produced by dry knowledge fall because of offences and sink, that is, they are ruined.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 2, verse 32)*

যেঽন্যেঽরবিন্দাক্ষ বিমুক্তমানিন-
স্ত্বয্যস্তভাবাদবিশুদ্ধবুদ্ধয়ঃ ।
আরুহ্য কৃচ্ছ্রেণ পরং পদং ততঃ
পতন্ত্যধোঽনাদৃতযুষ্মদঙ্ঘ্রয়ঃ ॥ ১২৬ ॥

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas
those who others O lotus-eyed Lord who think themselves liberated
tvayy asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ
towards You for want of love of impure intelligence
āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ
having risen with hardship to the supreme position from there
patanty adho 'nādṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ
fall down having neglected Your feet

126 "O lotus-eyed Lord, others think themselves liberated, but their intelligence is impure, for they have no love for You. Though they rise with great hardship to the supreme position, they fall down from there, having neglected Your feet." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32)[21]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.30.

*(Bhagavad-gītā, Chapter 18, verse 54)*

ব্রহ্মভূতঃ প্রসন্নাত্মা ন শোচতি ন কাঙ্ক্ষতি । সমঃ সর্ব্বেষু ভূতেষু মদ্ভক্তিং লভতে পরাম্ ॥ ১২৭ ॥

brahma-bhūtaḥ prasannātmā
one who has realised Brahman serene in self na śocati na kāṅkṣati
not grieves not desires samaḥ sarveṣu bhūteṣu equal to all beings
mad-bhaktiṁ labhate parām
for Me devotion attains supreme

127 "One who has realised Brahman and is serene within neither grieves nor desires. Equal to all beings, he attains supreme devotion to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 18.54)[22]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 8.65.

*(The words of Bilvamaṅgala in the Śrī Kṛṣṇa-karṇāmṛta)*

অদ্বৈতবীথীপথিকৈরুপাস্যাঃ স্বানন্দসিংহাসনলব্ধদীক্ষাঃ ।
শঠেন কেনাপি বয়ং হঠেন দাসীকৃতা গোপবধূবিটেন ॥ ১২৮ ॥

advaita-vīthī-pathikair upāsyāḥ
of nondualism the path by travellers worshipped svānanda-siṁhāsana-labdha-dīkṣāḥ
on the throne of self-bliss having received initiation śaṭhena kenāpi vayaṁ haṭhena
by a cunning certain we by force
dāsī-kṛtā gopa-vadhū-viṭena
maidservants made of the cowherd wives by the lover

128 "I was worshipped by those who walk the path of non-dualism, and I had received initiation on the throne of the bliss of the self; yet a certain rogue, a lover of the cowherd maidens, has forcibly made me a maidservant." (Śrī Kṛṣṇa-karṇāmṛta)[23]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 10.178.

*(c) The devotee who has attained his svarūpa worships Kṛṣṇa in a body of consciousness and bliss —*

ভক্তিবলে 'প্রাপ্তস্বরূপ' দিব্যদেহ পায় । কৃষ্ণগুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা ভজে কৃষ্ণ-পা'য় ॥ ১২৯ ॥

bhakti-bale 'prāpta-svarūpa' divya-deha pāya of bhakti by the strength one who has attained his true nature a divine body receives kṛṣṇa-guṇākṛṣṭa hañā bhaje kṛṣṇa-pā'ya
by Kṛṣṇa's qualities attracted becoming worships Kṛṣṇa's feet

129 By the strength of bhakti, one who has attained his true nature (prāpta-svarūpa) receives a divine body. Attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, he worships Kṛṣṇa's feet.

*The characteristics of nirodha and mukti, two of the ten characteristics [of a Purāṇa] — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 2, Chapter 10, verse 6)*

নিরোধোঽস্যানুশয়নমাত্মনঃ সহ শক্তিভিঃ । মুক্তির্হিত্বান্যথারূপং স্বরূপেণ ব্যবস্থিতিঃ ॥ ১৩০ ॥

nirodho 'syānu śayanam
nirodha of it following lying down to rest ātmanaḥ saha śaktibhiḥ
of the self together with its potencies
muktir hitvānyathā-rūpaṁ liberation having given up the other form svarūpeṇa vyavasthitiḥ
in one's own true nature being established

130 "Nirodha is the self's lying down to rest with all its potencies, after the Lord enters His mystic slumber (yoga-nidrā). Mukti is giving up the alien form and abiding in one's own true nature (svarūpa)." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.10.6)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

When the ātmā, together with the potencies (śaktis), lies down to rest (anuśayana), this is called the jīva's nirodha. To give up the other form and to be established (situated in a special way) in one's own svarūpa is what is called mukti.

Anubhāṣya.

Śrī Śukadeva tells Parīkṣit of the ten characteristics of a mahā-purāṇa: sarga, visarga, sthāna, poṣaṇa, ūti, manvantara, īśa-kathā, nirodha, mukti and āśraya. These ten are described so that one may know the pure truth of Bhagavān, the tenth subject, the āśraya (the shelter). Setting out to describe them, in this verse he states the nature, or characteristics, of two of them, nirodha and mukti:

(śrī-hareḥ yoga-nidrām, Śrī Hari's yoga-nidrā) anu (after) asya ātmanaḥ (of the jīva) śaktibhiḥ (with his upādhis) śayanam (merging) — nirodhaḥ (is so called); tathā anyathā-rūpaṁ (the sense of being the doer and the like, superimposed by avidyā) hitvā (giving up) svarūpeṇa (in the pure nature of the jīva serving Bhagavān) vyavasthitiḥ (abiding in a special way, that is, directly realising one's svarūpa) — muktiḥ.

Through the desire for enjoyment — that is, through māyā — the jīva turns away from Kṛṣṇa; through service to Kṛṣṇa, or by turning towards Kṛṣṇa, comes freedom from māyā —

কৃষ্ণ-বহির্ম্মুখতা-দোষ মায়া হৈতে হয় ।
কৃষ্ণোন্মুখী মুক্তি হৈতে মায়া-মুক্তি হয় ॥ ১৩১ ॥

kṛṣṇa-bahirmukhatā-doṣa māyā haite haya from Kṛṣṇa of turning away the fault from māyā comes is kṛṣṇonmukhī mukti haite māyā-mukti haya turned towards Kṛṣṇa liberation from from māyā freedom comes

131 The fault of turning away from Kṛṣṇa comes from māyā, and freedom from māyā comes from liberation that is turned towards Kṛṣṇa.[24]

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 11, Chapter 2, verse 37)*

ভয়ং দ্বিতীয়াভিনিবেশতঃ স্যা- দীশাদপেতস্য বিপর্য্যয়োঽস্মৃতিঃ ।
তন্মায়য়াতো বুধ আভজেত্তং ভক্ত্যৈকয়েশং গুরুদেবতাত্মা ॥ ১৩২ ॥

bhayaṁ dvitīyābhiniveśataḥ syād fear from absorption in what is other arises
īśād apetasya viparyayo 'smṛtiḥ
from the Lord for one turned away misconception forgetfulness tan-māyayāto budha ābhajet taṁ
by His māyā therefore the wise one should worship Him
bhaktyaikayeśaṁ guru-devatātmā with devotion exclusive the Lord seeing the guru as his deity and his self

132 "For one who has turned away from the Lord, fear arises from absorption in what is other than Him; by His māyā come forgetfulness of the Lord and a false idea of oneself. Therefore the wise, seeing the guru as his worshipful deity and his very self, should worship the Lord with exclusive devotion." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.37)[25]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 20.119.

*(Bhagavad-gītā, Chapter 7, verse 14)*

দৈবী হ্যেষা গুণময়ী মম মায়া দুরত্যয়া ।
মামেব যে প্রপদ্যন্তে মায়ামেতাং তরন্তি তে ॥ ১৩৩ ॥

daivī hy eṣā guṇa-mayī
divine indeed this made of the guṇas mama māyā duratyayā
My māyā hard to overcome
mām eva ye prapadyante
to Me alone those who surrender māyām etāṁ taranti te māyā this cross over they

133 "This divine māyā of Mine, made of the guṇas, is hard to overcome. But those who surrender to Me alone cross beyond this māyā." (Bhagavad-gītā, 7.14)[26]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 20.121.

Only by the power of bhakti comes liberation, and once liberated, one has bhakti for Kṛṣṇa —

ভক্তি বিনা মুক্তি নাহি, ভক্ত্যে মুক্তি হয়। ভক্ত্যে মুক্তি পাইলে অবশ্য কৃষ্ণ ভজয় ॥ ১৩৪ ॥

bhakti vinā mukti nāhi, bhaktye mukti haya bhakti without liberation there is not by bhakti liberation comes bhaktye mukti pāile avaśya kṛṣṇa bhajaya
by bhakti liberation having attained certainly Kṛṣṇa worships

134 Without bhakti there is no liberation; liberation comes through bhakti. And one who has attained liberation through bhakti surely worships Kṛṣṇa.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 14, verse 4)*

শ্রেয়ঃসৃতিং ভক্তিমুদস্য তে বিভো ক্লিশ্যন্তি যে কেবল-বোধলব্ধয়ে।
তেষামসৌ ক্লেশল এব শিষ্যতে নান্যদ্ যথা স্থূলতুষাবঘাতিনাম্ ॥ ১৩৫ ॥

śreyaḥ-sṛtiṁ bhaktim udasya te vibho
the path to the highest good bhakti having rejected Your O almighty Lord kliśyanti ye kevala-bodha-labdhaye toil those who for attaining mere knowledge teṣām asau kleśala eva śiṣyate for them this toil only remains nānyad yathā sthūla-tuṣāvaghātinām
nothing else as for those who pound empty husks

135 "O almighty Lord, bhakti to You is the path to the highest good. Those who reject it and toil only to gain knowledge are left with nothing but their toil, like those who pound empty husks." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.14.4)[27]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.22.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 2, verse 32)*

যেঽন্যেঽরবিন্দাক্ষ বিমুক্তমানিন-
স্ত্বয্যস্তভাবাদবিশুদ্ধবুদ্ধয়ঃ ।
আরুহ্য কৃচ্ছ্রেণ পরং পদং ততঃ
পতন্ত্যধোঽনাদৃতযুষ্মদঙ্ঘ্রয়ঃ ॥ ১৩৬ ॥

ye 'nye 'ravindākṣa vimukta-māninas
those who others O lotus-eyed Lord who think themselves liberated
tvayy asta-bhāvād aviśuddha-buddhayaḥ
towards You for want of love of impure intelligence
āruhya kṛcchreṇa paraṁ padaṁ tataḥ
having risen with hardship to the supreme position from there
patanty adho 'nādṛta-yuṣmad-aṅghrayaḥ
fall down having neglected Your feet

136 "O lotus-eyed Lord, others think themselves liberated, but their intelligence is impure, for they have no love for You. Though they rise with great hardship to the supreme position, they fall down from there, having neglected Your feet." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.2.32)[28]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.30.

*(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 11, Chapter 5, verse 3)*

য এষাং পুরুষং সাক্ষাদাত্মপ্রভবমীশ্বরম্ ।
ন ভজন্ত্যবজানন্তি স্থানাদ্ভ্রষ্টাঃ পতন্ত্যধঃ ॥ ১৩৭ ॥

ya eṣāṁ puruṣaṁ sākṣād who of them the Puruṣa directly ātma-prabhavam īśvaram
their own source the Lord
na bhajanty avajānanti
not worship disregard sthānād bhraṣṭāḥ patanty adhaḥ
from their position fallen they fall down

137 “Those among them who do not worship the Puruṣa, their own source and Lord, but disregard Him, fall from their position and sink into the depths.” (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.5.3)[29]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.28.

মুক্তা অপি লীলয়া বিগ্রহং কৃত্বা ভগবন্তং ভজন্তে ॥ ১৩৮ ॥

muktā api līlayā vigrahaṁ
the liberated even by līlā a form
kṛtvā bhagavantaṁ bhajante
having assumed Bhagavān worship

138 “Even the liberated, assuming a form (vigraha) by the Lord’s līlā, worship Bhagavān.” (words of the author of the Sarvajña-bhāṣya, quoted by Śrīdhara Svāmī in his commentary on Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.87.21)[30]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 24.107.

*The service to Kṛṣṇa of the six kinds of ātmārāmas named above —*

এই ছয় আত্মারাম কৃষ্ণেরে ভজয়। পৃথক্ পৃথক্ চ-কারে ইহা ‘অপি’র অর্থ কয় ॥ ১৩৯ ॥

ei chaya ātmārāma kṛṣṇere bhajaya
these six ātmārāmas Kṛṣṇa worship
pṛthak pṛthak ca-kāre ihā ‘api’ra artha kaya separately separately by the word ca here of api the meaning expresses 139 These six kinds of ātmārāmas worship Kṛṣṇa. The word ca, joined to each of them separately, here expresses the sense of api (“also”).

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The six kinds of ātmārāmas — the sādhaka (the beginner), the brahmamaya (one absorbed in Brahman) and the prāpta-brahma-laya (one merged in Brahman), and the mumukṣu (the seeker of liberation), the jīvan-mukta (one liberated while living) and the prāpta-svarūpa (one who has attained his true nature) — these six kinds[53] are "ātmārāmas."

*The service to Kṛṣṇa of the ātmārāmas, the sages (munis) and the nirgranthas —*

'আত্মারামাশ্চ অপি' করে কৃষ্ণে অহৈতুকী ভক্তি ।
'মুনয়ঃ সন্তঃ' ইতি কৃষ্ণমননে আসক্তি ॥ ১৪০ ॥

'ātmārāmāś ca api' kare kṛṣṇe ahaitukī bhakti
the ātmārāmas and also render to Kṛṣṇa causeless devotion
'munayaḥ santaḥ' iti kṛṣṇa-manane āsakti
sages being thus (means) in contemplation of Kṛṣṇa attachment

140 "Ātmārāmāś ca api": even the ātmārāmas render causeless devotion to Kṛṣṇa. "Munayaḥ santaḥ" — "being sages" — means that they become attached to contemplating Kṛṣṇa.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Munayaḥ santaḥ" means attachment to contemplating Kṛṣṇa: all the ātmārāmas become sages (munis) and grow attached to contemplating Kṛṣṇa.

'নির্গ্রন্থাঃ' — অবিদ্যাহীন, কেহ — বিধিহীন । যাঁহা যেই যুক্ত, সেই অর্থের অধীন ॥ ১৪১ ॥

'nirgranthāḥ' — avidyā-hīna, keha — vidhi-hīna
nirgranthāḥ free from ignorance some free from rules
yāṁhā yei yukta, sei arthera adhīna
where whichever fits of that meaning dependent on 141 "Nirgranthāḥ" means free from ignorance (avidyā), and for some it means free from rules (vidhi). Wherever a meaning fits, the word takes that meaning.

Another meaning —

চ-শব্দে করি যদি ‘ইতরেতর’ অর্থ । আর এক অর্থ কহে পরম সমর্থ ॥ ১৪২ ॥

ca-śabde kari yadi ‘itaretara’ artha
to the word ca I give if of mutual connection (itaretara) the meaning āra eka artha kahe parama samartha
another one meaning it expresses most cogent

142 If I give the word ca the sense of itaretara (mutual connection), it yields yet another most cogent meaning.

‘আত্মারামাশ্চ আত্মারামাশ্চ’ করি’ বার ছয় ।
পঞ্চ আত্মারাম, ছয়ে চ-কারে লুপ্ত হয় ॥ ১৪৩ ॥

“ātmārāmāś ca ātmārāmāś ca” kari’ bāra chaya ātmārāmas and ātmārāmas and making times six pañca ātmārāma chaye ca-kāre lupta haya five ātmārāmas of the six with the word ca dropped are 143 When “ātmārāmāś ca ātmārāmāś ca” is said six times, five of the six ātmārāmas drop out together with their ca.

এক ‘আত্মারামঃ’-শব্দ অবশেষ রহে । এক ‘আত্মারামঃ’-শব্দে ছয়জন কহে ॥ ১৪৪ ॥

eka ‘ātmārāmaḥ’-śabda avaśeṣa rahe
one ātmārāmaḥ word as the remainder stays
eka ‘ātmārāmaḥ’-śabde chaya-jana kahe
by one ātmārāmaḥ word six persons it denotes

144 A single word ātmārāmaḥ remains, and that one word denotes all six.

An example —

সরূপাণামেকশেষ একবিভক্তৌ উক্তার্থানামপ্রয়োগঃ । রামশ্চ রামশ্চ রামশ্চ রামা ইতিবৎ ॥ ১৪৫ ॥

sarūpāṇām eka-śeṣa eka-vibhaktau
of words of the same form one remains in the same case
uktārthānām aprayogaḥ
of words whose meaning is already expressed non-use
rāmaś ca rāmaś ca rāmaś ca rāmā itivat Rāma and Rāma and Rāma and Rāmas as in

145 "Of words of the same form in the same case only one remains (eka-śeṣa); words whose meaning has already been expressed are not used: thus 'rāmaś ca rāmaś ca rāmaś ca' becomes 'rāmāḥ'." (Viśva-prakāśa)[31]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
When several words have the same form and one remaining word (ekaśeṣa) with one case ending expresses their meaning, one form is kept and all the others are dropped. Thus instead of "rāmaś ca, rāmaś ca, rāmaś ca" a single "rāmāḥ" is used.

তবে যে চ-কার, সেই 'সমুচ্চয়' কয় ।
'আত্মারামাশ্চ মুনয়শ্চ' কৃষ্ণেরে ভজয় ॥ ১৪৬ ॥

tabe ye ca-kāra, sei 'samuccaya' kaya
then that word ca it conjunction (samuccaya) expresses
"ātmārāmāś ca munayaś ca" kṛṣṇere bhajaya
ātmārāmas and sages and Kṛṣṇa worship

146 The word ca that then remains expresses conjunction (samuccaya): "the ātmārāmas and the sages (ātmārāmāś ca munayaś ca)" worship Kṛṣṇa.

Seven meanings —

'নির্গ্রন্থা অপি'র এই 'অপি' — সম্ভাবনে । এই সাত অর্থ প্রথমে করিলুঁ ব্যাখ্যানে ॥ ১৪৭ ॥

'nirgranthā api'ra ei 'api' — sambhāvane
of nirgranthā api this api in the sense of possibility ei sāta artha prathame karilun̐ vyākhyāne
these seven meanings first I have given in explanation

147 In "nirgranthā api," this api has the sense of possibility (sambhāvanā). These are the first seven meanings I have explained.

*Two kinds of ātmārāmas devoted to the Paramātmā —*

অন্তর্য্যামি-উপাসকে 'আত্মারাম' কয় । সেই আত্মারাম যোগীর দুই ভেদ হয় ॥ ১৪৮ ॥

antaryāmi-upāsake 'ātmārāma' kaya
the worshipper of the Antaryāmī ātmārāma is called sei ātmārāma yogīra dui bheda haya of those ātmārāma yogīs two kinds there are

148 One who worships the Antaryāmī, the Lord within the heart, is also called an ātmārāma, and these ātmārāma yogīs are of two kinds.

*(1) Sagarbha yogīs and (2) nirgarbha yogīs, each of three kinds —*

সগর্ভ, নিগর্ভ, — এই হয় দুই ভেদ । এক এক তিন ভেদে ছয় বিভেদ ॥ ১৪৯ ॥

sagarbha, nigarbha, — ei haya dui bheda sagarbha nirgarbha these are two kinds eka eka tina bhede chaya vibheda
each one in three kinds six subdivisions

149 Sagarbha and nirgarbha — these are the two kinds. Each of them is of three kinds, and so there are six divisions.[32]

Anubhāṣya.

Sagarbha yogīs are those who rely on meditation on the form of the One they worship, and the like. Nirgarbha yogīs are those devoted to meditation on the void and the like, who have no support. The six divisions are: (1) the sagarbha-yogārurukṣu, (2) the nirgarbha-yogārurukṣu, (3) the sagarbha-yogārūḍha, (4) the nirgarbha-yogārūḍha, (5) the sagarbha-prāpta-siddhi, and (6) the nirgarbha-prāpti-siddhi.

Meditation on the third Puruṣa, Kṣīrodaśāyī —

কেচিৎ স্বদেহান্তর্হৃদয়াবকাশে প্রাদেশমাত্রং পুরুষং বসন্তম্ ।
চতুর্ভুজং কঞ্জরথাঙ্গশঙ্খ-গদাধরং ধারণয়া স্মরন্তি ॥ ১৫০ ॥

kecit sva-dehāntar hṛdayāvakāśe
some of their own body within in the space of the heart prādeśa-mātraṁ puruṣaṁ vasantam
a span in size the Person dwelling catur-bhujaṁ kañja-rathāṅga-śaṅkhafour-armed lotus disc conch
gadā-dharaṁ dhāraṇayā smaranti mace holding by concentration they remember

150 “Some, by concentration (dhāraṇā), remember the Person who dwells in the space of the heart within their own body: He is a span in size, four-armed, and holds the lotus, the disc, the conch and the mace.” (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.2.8)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Some yogīs, by fixed concentration (dhāraṇā), remember the Puruṣa who dwells in the heart within their own body: He is the size of a span (prādeśa), has four arms, and holds conch, disc, club and lotus. This is the mark of the sagarbha yogī.

Anubhāṣya.

Speaking to Parīkṣit, Śrī Śukadeva condemned the enjoyment of sense objects in the gross world and described the yogī who has turned away from it and is fixed in meditation on the universal form (vairāja-dhāraṇā). Now he describes a yogī superior to that one — the one who meditates on the form, full of spirit, of the Antaryāmī dwelling in each individual being (the vyaṣṭi-antaryāmī).

kecit (a rare few) sva-dehāntar-hṛdayāvakāśe (sva-dehasya, of one's own body; antaḥ, within, that is, in the heart; in its space) vasantam (dwelling there as the Antaryāmī) prādeśa-mātram (a prādeśa is the span from thumb to forefinger; He whose measure is such — for He is meditated upon in a heart the size of a prādeśa; yet even in a space of that size He, by His inconceivable potency, has the stature of a youth of fifteen) catur-bhujaṁ kañja-rathāṅga-śaṅkha-gadā-dharam (holding lotus, disc, conch and club) puruṣam (Kṣīrodaśāyī, the third Puruṣa) dhāraṇayā smaranti.

Devotion mixed with the yoga of meditation brings perfection —

এবং হরৌ ভগবতি প্রতিলব্ধভাবো
ভক্ত্যা দ্রবদ্হৃদয় উৎপুলকঃ প্রমোদাৎ ৷
ঔৎকণ্ঠ্যবাষ্পকলয়া মুহুরর্দ্যমান-স্তচ্চাপি চিত্তবড়িশং শনকৈর্বিয়ুঙ্‌ক্তে ॥ ১৫১ ॥

evaṁ harau bhagavati pratilabdha-bhāvo
thus for Hari Bhagavān having gained bhāva bhaktyā dravad-dhṛdaya utpulakaḥ pramodāt
by devotion his heart melting his hair standing on end from joy autkaṇṭhya-bāṣpa-kalayā muhur ardyamānas of longing of tears by the stream again and again overwhelmed tac cāpi citta-baḍiśaṁ śanakair viyuṅkte
that and also of the mind the hook gradually withdraws

151 "Having thus gained bhāva for Bhagavān Hari, his heart melting with devotion and the hair of his body standing on end with joy, again and again overwhelmed by streams of tears of longing, the yogī gradually withdraws even the hook of his mind (from the object of meditation)." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.28.34)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Having thus attained bhāva for Bhagavān Hari, the yogī feels his heart melt with devotion, and the hairs of his body stand on end with bliss. Again and again streams of tears of bliss, born of longing, overwhelm him — he is drowning in bliss. Then, little by little, he draws his meditating mind away from holding the object of meditation, as one draws out a hook (baḍiśa) used to catch fish. This is an example of the nirgarbha yogī.

Anubhāṣya.

Lord Śrī Kapiladeva explained to the surrendered Devahūti that the nirgarbha yogī must meditate on each limb and feature of the transcendental form of Śrī Bhagavān. Now He speaks of the fruit of meditation: control of the mind.

evam (on the path of meditation) bhagavati harau pratilabdha-bhāvaḥ (one who has attained bhāva, love) bhaktyā (with faith) dravad-dhṛdayaḥ (one whose heart melts, as if growing moist) pramodāt (from the excess of joy) utpulakaḥ (one whose hairs have risen — with the hairs of his body standing on end) autkaṇṭhya-bāṣpa-kalayā (with streams of tears born of longing) muhuḥ (again and again) ardyamānaḥ (drowning in a flood of bliss) ca tat api citta-baḍiśam (even that mind which served as the means to catch the hard-to-catch Bhagavān, like a hook for catching fish) śanakaiḥ (little by little — from the object of meditation) viyuṅkte (withdraws — he slackens his effort to hold Him in the mind).

*Three kinds of yogīs: (a) ārurukṣu, (b) ārūḍha, and (c) prāpta-siddhi —*

‘যোগারুরুক্ষু’, ‘যোগারূঢ়’, ‘প্রাপ্তসিদ্ধি’ আর ।
এই তিন ভেদে হয় ছয় প্রকার ॥ ১৫২ ॥

‘yogārurukṣu’, ‘yogārūḍha’, ‘prāpta-siddhi’ āra wishing to rise to yoga risen to yoga having attained perfection and ei tina bhede haya chaya prakāra
these three in divisions there are six kinds

152 Yogārurukṣu (one who wishes to rise to yoga), yogārūḍha (one who has risen to yoga) and prāpta-siddhi (one who has attained perfection): by these three divisions there are six kinds.

The testimony of scripture —

আরুরুক্ষোর্মুনের্যোগং কর্ম্ম কারণমুচ্যতে ৷ যোগারূঢ়স্য তস্যৈব শমঃ কারণমুচ্যতে ॥ ১৫৩ ॥

ārurukṣor muner yogaṁ
of the one wishing to ascend of the sage to yoga
karma kāraṇam ucyate action the means is said to be yogārūḍhasya tasyaiva
of one who has risen to yoga of him indeed
śamaḥ kāraṇam ucyate
tranquillity the means is said to be

153 "For the sage who wishes to ascend to yoga, action is said to be the means; for that same sage, once he has risen to yoga, tranquillity (śama) is said to be the means." (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.3)

Anubhāṣya.
yogam (jñāna-yoga) ārurukṣoḥ (of one who wishes to attain) muneḥ (in order to ascend to it) karma kāraṇam (the means) ucyate; yogārūḍhasya (but for one who has already ascended to jñāna-yoga) tasya (for him, fixed in knowledge) eva śamaḥ (when knowledge has ripened, the cessation of the actions that distract the mind from samādhi) kāraṇam ucyate.

যদা হি নেন্দ্রিয়ার্থেষু ন কর্ম্মস্বনুষজ্জতে ৷ সর্ব্বসংকল্পসন্ন্যাসী যোগারূঢ়স্তদোচ্যতে ॥ ১৫৪ ॥

yadā hi nendriyārtheṣu
when indeed not to the objects of the senses
na karmasv anuṣajjate
not to actions he is attached
sarva-saṅkalpa-sannyāsī
of all intentions the renouncer
yogārūḍhas tadocyate risen to yoga then he is called

154 “When one is attached neither to the objects of the senses nor to actions, and has renounced all intentions (saṅkalpa), he is then called yogārūḍha, one who has risen to yoga.” (Bhagavad-gītā, 6.4)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

One who wishes to ascend to the stage of yoga is an “ārurukṣu.” For such an ārurukṣu sage, the “cause,” the means, is action: yama, niyama, āsana and prāṇāyāma. For one who has already ascended to yoga, the “cause” is tranquillity (śama): dhyāna, dhāraṇā and pratyāhāra. And when the yogī has no attachment to sense objects or to actions, he gives up all intentions (saṅkalpas) and becomes “absorbed in samādhi,” or “yogārūḍha” (one who has ascended to yoga).

Anubhāṣya.

yadā hi indriyārtheṣu (in the objects of the senses — sound and the rest, which the senses enjoy — and in the means of obtaining them) karmasu na anuṣajjate (is not attached), tadā sarva-saṅkalpa-sannyāsī (one whose nature is to renounce all intentions, the root of attachment to objects of enjoyment and to works) yogārūḍhaḥ (liberated) ucyate.

In the company of sādhus, the six kinds of yogīs abandon the path of yoga and attain devotion to Kṛṣṇa —

এই ছয় যোগী সাধুসঙ্গাদি-হেতু পাঞা । কৃষ্ণ ভজে কৃষ্ণগুণে আকৃষ্ট হঞা ॥ ১৫৫ ॥

ei chaya yogī sādhu-saṅgādi-hetu pāñā these six yogīs the company of sādhus and the like the cause obtaining kṛṣṇa bhaje kṛṣṇa-guṇe ākṛṣṭa hañā Kṛṣṇa worship by Kṛṣṇa’s qualities attracted becoming 155 Through the company of sādhus and other such causes, these six kinds of yogīs become attracted by Kṛṣṇa’s qualities and worship Him.

চ-শব্দে ‘অপি’র অর্থ ইহাও কহয় ।
‘মুনি’, ‘নির্গ্রন্থ’-শব্দের পূর্ব্ববৎ অর্থ হয় ॥ ১৫৬ ॥

ca-śabde ‘api’ra artha ihāo kahaya
the word ca of api the meaning this too expresses ‘muni’, ‘nirgrantha’-śabdera pūrvavat artha haya
muni nirgrantha of the words as before the meaning is 156 Here too the word ca expresses the meaning of api, and the words muni and nirgrantha have the same meanings as before.

Here are thirteen meanings —

উরুক্রমে অহৈতুকী কাঁহা কোন অর্থ । এই তের অর্থ কহিলুঁ পরম সমর্থ ॥ ১৫৭ ॥

urukrame ahaitukī kāṁhā kona artha urukrame ahaitukī where which meaning ei tera artha kahiluṁ parama samartha
these thirteen meanings I have told most cogent

157 The words urukrame and ahaitukī take whichever meaning fits each case. Thus I have told you thirteen most cogent meanings.

Anubhāṣya.
These are the thirteen: (1) the sādhaka, (2) the brahmamaya, (3) the prāpta-brahma-laya, (4) the mumukṣu, (5) the jīvan-mukta, (6) the prāpta-svarūpa — these are the six kinds of ātmārāmas; and (7) the nirgrantha-muni, (8) the sagarbha-yogārurukṣu, (9) the nirgarbha-yogārurukṣu, (10) the sagarbha-yogārūḍha, (11) the nirgarbha-yogārūḍha, (12) the sagarbha-prāpta-siddhi, and (13) the nirgarbha-prāpta-siddhi.

এই সব শান্ত যবে ভজে ভগবান্ । ‘শান্ত’ ভক্ত করি’ তবে কহি তাঁর নাম ॥ ১৫৮ ॥

ei saba śānta yabe bhaje bhagavān
these all śāntas when worship Bhagavān ‘śānta’ bhakta kari’ tabe kahi tāṁra nāma
śānta devotees considering them then I call their name

158 When all these peaceful ones (śānta) worship Bhagavān, I then call them śānta devotees.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

"When all these śāntas serve" — that is, when all these yogīs have risen to śānta-rasa and serve the Lord.

*The explanation by (3) the meaning "mind" of the word ātmā within the word ātmārāmāḥ —*

'আত্মা' শব্দে 'মন' কহে, — মনে যেই রমে । সাধুসঙ্গে সেই ভজে শ্রীকৃষ্ণচরণে ॥ ১৫৯ ॥

'ātmā' śabde 'mana' kahe, — mane yei rame
by the word ātmā the mind is meant in the mind who delights sādhu-saṅge sei bhaje śrī-kṛṣṇa-caraṇe
in the company of sādhus he worships Śrī Kṛṣṇa's feet

159 The word ātmā also means the mind (mana). One who delights in the mind worships Śrī Kṛṣṇa's feet in the company of sādhus.

One who controls the mind attains the supreme abode —

উদরমুপাসতে য ঋষিবর্ত্মসু কূর্পদৃশঃ
পরিসরপদ্ধতিং হৃদয়মারুণয়ো দহরম্ ।
তত উদগাদনন্ত তব ধাম শিরঃ পরমং
পুনরিহ যৎ সমেত্য ন পতন্তি কৃতান্তমুখে ॥ ১৬০ ॥

udaram upāsate ya ṛṣi-vartmasu kūrpa-dṛśaḥ
the belly (udara) worship those who on the paths of the ṛṣis of gross vision
parisara-paddhatiṁ hṛdayam āruṇayo daharam
from which the channels branch out the heart the Āruṇis subtle (dahara)
tata udagād ananta tava dhāma śiraḥ paramaṁ
from there rises O Ananta Your abode the head supreme
punar iha yat sametya na patanti kṛtānta-mukhe
again here which having reached not they fall of death into the mouth

160 “Following the paths of the ṛṣis, those of gross vision worship Brahman in the belly (udara), while the Āruṇis worship the subtle Brahman (dahara) in the heart, from which the channels branch out. From there, O Ananta, the path rises to the head, Your supreme abode; having reached it, they no longer fall into the jaws of death in this world.” (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.87.18)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

On the path followed by the sampradāyas of the ṛṣis, some, in karma-yoga, worship the “udara,” that is, Brahman situated in the maṇipūra: these are the Śārkarākṣa ṛṣis, “kūrpa-dṛk,” that is, of gross vision. The Āruṇi ṛṣis, also followers of a sampradāya of ṛṣis, worship subtle Brahman in the “dahara,” that is, in the space of the heart, where the nāḍīs spread out. O Ananta! Higher than this is the path that leads to the head: beginning from the mūlādhāra, it passes through the heart and rises to the head, up to the brahma-randhra. This is the suṣumnā — the place where You are realised, the thousand-petalled lotus, the supreme, effulgent abode. Having risen there, yogīs no longer fall into saṁsāra, into the jaws of death.

Anubhāṣya.

On Janaloka, at the brahma-satra sacrifice, Sanandana, a brahmarṣi and one of the four Kumāras, recited to sages eager to hear this hymn to Bhagavān, which the personified Śrutis had sung. Later the original ṛṣi Śrī Nārāyaṇa recounts it to Nārada.

ṛṣi-vartmasu (on the paths of the ṛṣis, the paths of the sampradāyas) ye kūrpa-dṛśaḥ (kūrpa is gravel dust; those who have it in their eyes — that is, those whose sight is covered with dust: the Śārkarākṣas, men of gross vision) udaram (Brahman in the maṇipūra, whose support is the belly) upāsate (meditate upon); āruṇayaḥ (the ṛṣis called Āruṇi) parisara-paddhatim (the parisaras are the nāḍīs, because they spread out in all directions; their paddhati is their path, the place where they spread) hṛdayam daharam (worship subtle Brahman, whose support is the space [of the heart]); he ananta tataḥ (from the heart) tava paramam (best, effulgent) dhāma (the place of realisation, the suṣumnā) śiraḥ (to the head) udagāt (rose — that is, it rises from the mūlādhāra, through the heart, up to the brahma-randhra); yat (Your abode)

sametya (having reached) iha kṛtānta-mukhe (into the jaws of Kṛtānta — Time, death — into saṁsāra) na patanti.[56]

Sages who have controlled the mind are drawn by Kṛṣṇa's qualities and attain pure bhakti —

এই কৃষ্ণগুণাকৃষ্ট মহামুনি হঞা । অহৈতুকী ভক্তি করে নির্গ্রন্থ হঞা ॥ ১৬১ ॥

ei kṛṣṇa-guṇākṛṣṭa mahā-muni hañā these by Kṛṣṇa's qualities attracted great sages becoming ahaitukī bhakti kare nirgrantha hañā causeless devotion render nirgranthas becoming

161 Attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, they become great sages, nirgranthas, and render Him causeless devotion.

*The explanation by (4) the meaning "effort" of the word ātmā within the word ātmārāmāḥ —*

'আত্মা'-শব্দে 'যত্ন' কহে — যত্ন করিয়া ।
'মুনয়োঽপি' কৃষ্ণ ভজে নির্গ্রন্থ হঞা ॥ ১৬২ ॥

'ātmā'-śabde 'yatna' kahe — yatna kariyā
by the word ātmā effort is meant effort making
'munayo 'pi' kṛṣṇa bhaje nirgrantha hañā
sages also Kṛṣṇa worship nirgranthas becoming 162 The word ātmā also means effort (yatna). Making effort, even sages (munayo 'pi) become nirgrantha and worship Kṛṣṇa.

One must strive to attain the eternal, true Reality —

তস্যৈব হেতোঃ প্রযতেত কোবিদো
ন লভ্যতে যদ্ভ্রমতামুপর্য্যধঃ ।
তল্লভ্যতে দুঃখবদন্যতঃ সুখং কালেন সর্ব্বত্র গভীর-রংহসা ॥ ১৬৩ ॥

tasyaiva hetoḥ prayateta kovido
of that indeed for the sake should strive the wise
na labhyate yad bhramatām upary adhaḥ
not is obtained which by those who wander above below
tal labhyate duḥkha-vad anyataḥ sukhaṁ
that is obtained like suffering by other means happiness kālena sarvatra gabhīra-raṁhasā
by time everywhere of irresistible force

163 "The wise should strive for that alone which is not obtained by those who wander through the worlds above and below. Happiness, like suffering, comes of itself everywhere, brought by time, whose course is irresistible." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.5.18)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
There is a rare treasure that cannot be gained even by wandering through the higher worlds — Satyaloka, or Brahmaloka, and the rest — and the lower ones — Sutala, Atala and the rest. For that alone the wise should strive. For all the happiness found above and below, in all fourteen worlds, comes of itself, without effort, just as suffering does: time brings it, time whose course cannot be resisted.

Anubhāṣya.
Śrī Vyāsadeva had performed much austerity, compiled all the scriptures and done much else, yet he had not found satisfaction of the soul. On the bank of the river Sarasvatī he indulged in his mind in various idle arguments and grieved. Then his guru, who knew his heart, Śrī Nārada Gosvāmī, came to him. Vyāsadeva asked him why his soul found no satisfaction. Śrī Nārada spoke to him of the glory of devotion to Hari and of narrations about Hari, and he tells him to strive for devotion to Kṛṣṇa, the eternal Truth.

upari adhaḥ (above, up to Brahmaloka; below, down to the immobile beings) bhramatām (a genitive in the sense of the instrumental: by jīvas who wander) yat (happiness) na labhyate (is never attained), kovidaḥ (one of discernment) tasya eva (for that very happiness) hetoḥ (for the sake of) prayateta (should strive); gabhīra-raṁhasā (irresistibly swift) kālena duḥkha-vat (just as unwanted sufferings come to embodied beings, so too) tat sukham (the happiness of sense pleasure) anyataḥ (from something else — from past karma) sarvatra (in every species of life, even without effort) labhyate (is attained).

সদ্ধর্ম্মস্যাববোধায় যেষাং নির্ব্বন্ধিনী মতিঃ ।
অচিরাদেব সর্ব্বার্থঃ সিধ্যত্যেষামভীপ্সিতঃ ॥ ১৬৪ ॥

sad-dharmasyāvabodhāya
of true religion for the understanding yeṣāṁ nirbandhinī matiḥ
of whom persistent the mind
acirād eva sarvārthaḥ
soon indeed every aim sidhyaty eṣām abhīpsitaḥ
is fulfilled of those desired

164 "Those whose minds are set with perseverance on understanding true religion soon attain every aim they desire." (Nārada-purāṇa; Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, Sādhana-bhakti-laharī, 103)[33]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 20.106.

Perfection in bhakti comes from eager longing, or zeal, and resolve —

চ শব্দে অপি-অর্থে, 'অপি' — অবধারণে । যত্নাগ্রহ বিনা ভক্তি না জন্মায় প্রেমে ॥ ১৬৫ ॥

ca śabde api-arthe, 'api' — avadhāraṇe
by the word ca in the sense of api api in the sense of certainty yatnāgraha vinā bhakti nā janmāya preme eager longing without bhakti does not give birth to love

165 The word ca has the sense of api, and api the sense of certainty (avadhāraṇa): without eager longing (yatnāgraha), bhakti does not give birth to love (prema).

Āsaṅga* is itself eager longing —*

সাধনৌঘৈরনাসঙ্গৈরলভ্যা সুচিরাদপি । হরিণা চাশ্বদেয়েতি দ্বিধা সা স্যাৎ সুদুর্ল্লভা ॥ ১৬৬ ॥

sādhanaughair anāsaṅgair
by multitudes of sādhanas without āsaṅga alabhyā su-cirād api unattainable for a very long time even hariṇā cāśv adeyeti
by Hari and quickly not given thus dvidhā sā syāt su-durlabhā
in two ways it is very hard to attain

166 "Bhakti is very hard to attain in two ways: by multitudes of sādhanas performed without āsaṅga, eager longing, it cannot be attained even in a very long time; and Hari does not give it quickly." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.1.35)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Bhakti is very hard to attain in two ways. Without āsaṅga (longing for Kṛṣṇa's love) it is not gained quickly even by thousands upon thousands of spiritual practices (sādhanas); and Kṛṣṇa, too, does not give bhakti readily.

Anubhāṣya.
anāsaṅgaiḥ (without attachment) sādhanaughaiḥ (by a multitude of practices) sucirāt (for a long time) api (bhakti) alabhyā (cannot be obtained); hariṇā (by Bhagavān) āśu (quickly) adeyā (is not given — according to the words: "He sometimes grants liberation, but not bhakti-yoga" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 5.6.18)) ca iti — sā su-durlabhā (bhakti) dvidhā syāt (that is, it is hard to attain in two ways).

Constant connection is itself eager longing —

তেষাং সততযুক্তানাং ভজতাং প্রীতিপূর্ব্বকম্ ।
দদামি বুদ্ধিযোগং তং যেন মামুপয়ান্তি তে ॥ ১৬৭ ॥

teṣāṁ satata-yuktānāṁ
to them ever longing (for Me)
bhajatāṁ prīti-pūrvakam
worshipping with love
dadāmi buddhi-yogaṁ taṁ
I give understanding that yena mām upayānti te
by which to Me come they

167 "To those who are ever devoted to Me and worship Me with love, I give the understanding that brings them to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 10.10)[34]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 1.49.

*The explanation by (5) the meaning "steadfastness" (dhṛti) of the word ātmā within the word ātmārāmāḥ —*

'আত্মা'-শব্দে 'ধৃতি' কহে, — ধৈর্য্যে যেই রমে । ধৈর্য্যবন্ত হঞা তবে করয় ভজনে ॥ ১৬৮ ॥

'ātmā'-śabde 'dhṛti' kahe, — dhairye yei rame
by the word ātmā steadfastness is meant in steadfastness who delights dhairyavanta hañā tabe karaya bhajane steadfast becoming then he performs worship

168 The word ātmā also means steadfastness (dhṛti). One who delights in steadfastness becomes steadfast and then worships Kṛṣṇa.

*The meanings of the words muni and nirgrantha; by the mercy of Viṣṇu and the Vaiṣṇavas both attain bhakti —*

'মুনি'-শব্দে — পক্ষী, ভৃঙ্গ; 'নির্গ্রন্থে' — মূর্খজন । কৃষ্ণকৃপায় সাধুকৃপায় দোঁহার ভজন ॥ ১৬৯ ॥

'muni'-śabde — pakṣī, bhṛṅga; 'nirgranthe' — mūrkha-jana
by the word muni a bird a bumblebee by nirgrantha a foolish person kṛṣṇa-kṛpāya sādhu-kṛpāya doṁhāra bhajana
by Kṛṣṇa's mercy by the sādhus' mercy of both the worship

169 The word muni also means a bird or a bumblebee, and nirgrantha a foolish person. By the mercy of Kṛṣṇa and the mercy of the sādhus, both of them worship Kṛṣṇa.

The birds of Vraja, too, are sages devoted to Kṛṣṇa —

প্রায়ো বতাম্ব মুনয়ো বিহগা বনেঽস্মিন্
কৃষ্ণেক্ষিতং তদুদিতং কলবেণুগীতম্ ।
আরুহ্য যে দ্রুমভুজান্ রুচিরপ্রবালান্ শৃণ্বন্তি মীলিতদৃশো বিগতান্যবাচঃ ॥ ১৭০ ॥

prāyo batāmba munayo vihagā vane 'smin almost indeed O mother sages the birds in forest this kṛṣṇekṣitaṁ tad-uditaṁ kala-veṇu-gītam
to see Kṛṣṇa sung by Him sweet of the flute the song
āruhya ye druma-bhujān rucira-pravālān having risen who onto the branches of the trees with lovely shoots śṛṇvanti mīlita-dṛśo vigatānya-vācaḥ
they hear with eyes closed all other sounds silenced

170 "O mother, the birds of this forest are almost sages: they rise onto the branches of the trees, lovely with fresh shoots, to see Kṛṣṇa, and with eyes closed and all other sounds silenced, they listen to the sweet song of the flute that flows from Him." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.21.14)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
O mother! The birds of this forest fly up onto the branches of the trees, adorned with lovely young shoots, close their eyes, fall silent, and listen to the sweet song of the flute that flows from Kṛṣṇa's lips. They too are much like sages.

Anubhāṣya.
When autumn came to Vraja, Kṛṣṇa began to wander from forest to forest playing His flute. Hearing the sound of His flute, the gopīs, longing to be with Kṛṣṇa, sing:

he amba (O mother), asmin vane ye vihagāḥ (birds), te prāyaḥ (for the most part) munayaḥ eva, for te (the birds) kṛṣṇekṣitam (so as to see Kṛṣṇa with no screen of flowers, fruits and the like between) rucira-pravālān (having rucira, beautiful, pravālas, shoots — that is, with many-coloured young twigs) druma-bhujān (the branches of the trees) āruhya (with an indescribable happiness) mīlita-dṛśaḥ (closing their eyes) vigatānya-vācaḥ (giving up all other sounds) tad-uditam (manifested by Kṛṣṇa Himself) kala-veṇu-gītam (the sweet melody of the muralī) śṛṇvanti.

The bees of Vraja, too, are sages devoted to Kṛṣṇa —

এতেঽলিনস্তব যশোঽখিল-লোকতীর্থং
গায়ন্ত আদিপুরুষানুপথং ভজন্তে ৷
প্রায়ো অমী মুনিগণা ভবদীয়মুখ্যা গূঢ়ং বনেঽপি ন জহত্যনঘাত্মদৈবম্ ॥ ১৭১ ॥

ete 'linas tava yaśo 'khila-loka-tīrtham̐
these bees Your glory for all the worlds a holy place
gāyanta ādi-puruṣānupatham̐ bhajante singing O original Person following Your path serve prāyo amī muni-gaṇā bhavadīya-mukhyā probably these sages Your foremost (devotees)
gūḍham̐ vane 'pi na jahaty anaghātma-daivam hidden in the forest though not they leave O sinless one their own deity

171 (Śrī Kṛṣṇa said to Balarāma:) "O original Person, these bees sing Your glory, which purifies all the worlds, and serve You by following You along Your path. They must be sages, the foremost of Your devotees: though You are hidden in the forest, O sinless one, they do not leave You, the Lord of their hearts." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.15.6)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

O sinless one, O Original Person! These bees sing Your glory, which purifies all the worlds, and serve You (following You along Your path). These sages in the guise of bees do not leave You — their Lord, the Deity of their hearts — even though Your form is hidden.

Anubhāṣya.

Having entered the paugaṇḍa age, Bhagavān Śrī Kṛṣṇa once went with Śrī Balarāma into the Kusumākara forest. Seeing the beauty all around, He wished to sport, and praising His elder brother He says:

he ādi-puruṣa (the form endowed with the sandhinī potency, the cause of the existence of all beings), ete alinaḥ (bees) tava akhila-loka-tīrtham (purifying all the worlds) yaśaḥ gāyantaḥ anupatham (on every path) bhajante; he anagha (the form of the Lord of pure sattva), amī bhavadīya-mukhyāḥ (the foremost of Your own) muni-gaṇāḥ vane gūḍham (unrecognised) api ātma-daivam (their own Lord, You) prāyaḥ na jahati (do not leave; that is, while You are hidden in a human form, the sages, also hidden in the form of bees, serve You).

Here, in another reading, the verse "nṛtyanty amī śikhina…" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.15.7) is found. Its meaning: "O worshipable one! Seeing that You have come to their home, the peacocks dance in supreme bliss; the does, like the gopīs, cast their glances at You, and the cuckoos please You with sweet song. Blessed are the residents of Vṛndāvana, for such is the nature of sādhus — to offer what is their own."

*The swans, sārasa cranes and other birds of Vraja, too, are sages devoted to Kṛṣṇa —*

সরসি সারসহংসবিহঙ্গা- শ্চারুগীতহৃতচেতস এত্য ।
হরিমুপাসত তে যতচিত্তা হন্ত মীলিতদৃশো ধৃতমৌনাঃ ॥ ১৭২ ॥

sarasi sārasa-haṁsa-vihaṅgāś
in the lake cranes swans birds

cāru-gīta-hṛta-cetasa etya
by the lovely song stolen their hearts approaching

harim upāsata te yata-cittā Hari worshipped they with minds controlled

hanta mīlita-dṛśo dhṛta-maunāḥ
ah with eyes closed keeping silence

172 “The cranes, swans and other birds of the lake, their hearts stolen by His lovely song, came near and, with minds controlled — ah! — with eyes closed and keeping silence, worshipped Hari.” (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.35.11)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
When Śrī Kṛṣṇa plays the flute, the birds — sārasa cranes, swans and others — are drawn by its sound, close their eyes and worship Him.

Anubhāṣya.
When Kṛṣṇa goes to the forest by day, the gopīs, burning in separation, sing this song to one another:

(“yarhi adhare kṛṣṇaḥ saṁhita-veṇuḥ bhavati tarhi” — so it is construed with the preceding verse.) sarasi (in the lake) ye sārasa-haṁsa-vihaṅgāḥ cāru-gīta-hṛta-cetasaḥ (whose hearts were stolen, drawn by the lovely song of the flute) etya (having come) hanta (alas) yata-cittāḥ (with controlled minds) dhṛta-maunāḥ (silent) mīlita-dṛśaḥ (with eyes closed) harim upāsata (served Him, or sat down beside Him).

By the mercy of pure devotees even impure castes are purified —

কিরাতহূনান্ধ্রপুলিন্দপুক্কশা
আভীরশুম্ভা যবনাঃ খশাদয়ঃ ।
যেঽন্যে চ পাপা যদুপাশ্রয়াশ্রয়াঃ
শুদ্ধ্যন্তি তস্মৈ প্রভবিষ্ণবে নমঃ ॥ ১৭৩ ॥

kirāta-hūnāndhra-pulinda-pukkaśā
Kirātas Hūṇas Andhras Pulindas Pukkaśas
ābhīra-śumbhā yavanāḥ khaśādayaḥ
Ābhīras Śuhmas Yavanas Khaśas and others
ye ‘nye ca pāpā yad-upāśrayāśrayāḥ
who others and sinful of those who have taken shelter of Him taking shelter
śuddhyanti tasmai prabhaviṣṇave namaḥ
are purified to Him the all-powerful obeisance

173 “The Kirātas, Hūṇas, Andhras, Pulindas, Pukkaśas, Ābhīras, Śuhmas, Yavanas, Khaśas and other tribes, and all other sinful people as well, are purified by taking shelter of those who have taken shelter of Him. Obeisance to that all-powerful Lord!" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.4.18)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The Kirātas, Hūṇas, Andhras, Pulindas, Pukkaśas, Ābhīras, (Śuhmas,) Yavanas, Khaśas and others — all who are born in sinful castes — become purified by taking shelter of the Vaiṣṇavas who have taken shelter of Him. I bow down to Viṣṇu, who possesses such power.

Anubhāṣya.

Having heard narrations of Hari from the lips of Śrī Śuka, Parīkṣit fixed his mind exclusively on Śrī Kṛṣṇa and asked how Bhagavān, the Lord of Māyā, creates the world, and about His other pastimes. In reply Śrī Śuka first bows to Bhagavān and offers a maṅgalācaraṇa:

kirāta-hūṇāndhra-pulinda-pukkaśāḥ ābhīra-śumbhāḥ yavanāḥ khaśādayaḥ (born in sinful castes) anye ye pāpāḥ (born in sinful castes because of their own past karma) yad-upāśrayāśrayāḥ (the upāśrayas of Bhagavān are the bhāgavata Vaiṣṇavas who have taken shelter of Him; those who take shelter of them — that is, by taking shelter of the devotees) śudhyanti (are purified), tasmai prabhaviṣṇave (to the all-powerful Bhagavān Viṣṇu) namaḥ.

*Another meaning of the word dhṛti —*

কিম্বা 'ধৃতি'-শব্দে নিজপূর্ণতাদি-জ্ঞান কয়। দুঃখাভাবে উত্তমপ্রাপ্ত্যে মহাপূর্ণ হয় ॥ ১৭৪ ॥

kimvā 'dhṛti'-śabde nija-pūrṇatādi-jñāna kaya or by the word dhṛti one's own fullness and so on awareness is meant duḥkhābhāve uttama-prāptye mahā-pūrṇa haya
by the absence of suffering of the highest by the attainment completely full one becomes 174 Or the word dhṛti means the awareness of one's own fullness: through the absence of suffering and the attainment of the highest, one becomes completely full.

*The definition of dhṛti —*

ধৃতিঃ স্যাৎ পূর্ণতা-জ্ঞানং দুঃখাভাবোত্তমাপ্তিভিঃ । অপ্রাপ্তাতীতনষ্টার্থানভিসংশোচনাদিকৃৎ ॥ ১৭৫ ॥

dhṛtiḥ syāt pūrṇatā-jñānaṁ
dhṛti is of fullness the awareness duḥkhābhāvottamāptibhiḥ
through the absence of suffering through the attainment of the highest aprāptātīta-naṣṭārthā-
for what is not attained past lost objects nabhisaṁśocanādi-kṛt absence of lamentation and so on producing

175 "Dhṛti is the awareness of fullness that comes from the absence of suffering and the attainment of the highest. It frees one from lamenting over objects not attained, past or lost." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.4.144)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Dhṛti is freedom from suffering through attaining the highest, and the awareness of fullness. When something desired is not obtained, or something once obtained is lost, grief comes — and it is dhṛti that removes it.

Anubhāṣya.
duḥkhābhāvottamāptibhiḥ (duḥkhābhāva, the absence of suffering; uttama, that from which darkness has departed, that is, premā; and attaining that premā, the supreme goal of life — āpti) pūrṇatā-jñānam (the experience of the soul's satisfaction; that itself) dhṛtiḥ; (it is) aprāptātīta-naṣṭārthānabhisaṁśocanādi-kṛt (that which makes one not grieve over things unattained, past or lost — that is, by it grief is absent).

The meaning of the verse —

কৃষ্ণভক্ত — দুঃখহীন, বাঞ্ছান্তর-হীন । কৃষ্ণপ্রেম-সেবা-পূর্ণানন্দ-প্রবীণ ॥ ১৭৬ ॥

kṛṣṇa-bhakta — duḥkha-hīna, vāñchāntara-hīna of Kṛṣṇa the devotee free from suffering free from other desires kṛṣṇa-prema-sevā-pūrṇānanda-pravīṇa
to Kṛṣṇa in love in service in full bliss versed

176 A devotee of Kṛṣṇa is free from suffering and free from other desires; he knows the full bliss of loving service to Kṛṣṇa.

The devotee is satisfied by service to Kṛṣṇa alone; he has no other desires born of dissatisfaction —

মৎসেবয়া প্রতীতং তে সালোক্যাদিচতুষ্টয়ম্ । নেচ্ছন্তি সেবয়া পূর্ণাঃ কুতোঽন্যৎ কালবিপ্লুতম্ ॥ ১৭৭ ॥

mat-sevayā pratītaṁ te by My service attained they sālokyādi-catuṣṭayam
sālokya and the rest the fourfold
necchanti sevayā pūrṇāḥ
do not desire by service fulfilled
kuto 'nyat kāla-viplutam
how much less anything else destroyed by time

177 "Fulfilled by serving Me, My devotees do not desire even the four kinds of liberation — sālokya, sārūpya, sāmīpya and sārṣṭi — that such service brings them of itself. How then would they seek worldly pleasures, or merging in Brahman? For all that is swept away by time." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 9.4.67)[35]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 4.208.

Only the devotee who constantly serves Kṛṣṇa with all his senses is wise and steady —

হৃষীকেশে হৃষীকাণি যস্য স্থৈর্য্যগতানি হি । স এব ধৈর্য্যমাপ্নোতি সংসারে জীবচঞ্চলে ॥ ১৭৮ ॥

hṛṣīkeśe hṛṣīkāṇi
in Hṛṣīkeśa the senses
yasya sthairya-gatāni hi
whose steadiness have attained indeed sa eva dhairyam āpnoti
he alone steadfastness attains
saṁsāre jīva-cañcale
in saṁsāra where living beings are unsteady

178 "In this world of birth and death (saṁsāra), where all living beings are unsteady, he alone attains steadfastness whose senses have become steady in Hṛṣīkeśa, the Lord of the senses." (Words of the Gosvāmipāda)[36]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
In this world where every living being is unsteady, that is, in transient saṁsāra, only one whose senses are fixed in Hṛṣīkeśa, Kṛṣṇa, has attained steadiness.

Anubhāṣya.
yasya hṛṣīkāṇi (senses) hṛṣīkeśe (in Bhagavān, the Controller of all) sthairya-gatāni (have attained calm), saḥ eva jīva-cañcale (transient) saṁsāre dhairyam āpnoti.

Ātmārāmāḥ* — the steadfast; munayaḥ — birds; nirgranthāḥ — the unintelligent*

'চ' — অবধারণে, ইহা 'অপি' — সমুচ্চয়ে । ধৃতিমন্ত হঞা ভজে পক্ষী-মূর্খ-চয়ে ॥ ১৭৯ ॥

'ca' — avadhāraṇe, ihā 'api' — samuccaye
ca in the sense of certainty here api in the sense of conjunction dhṛtimanta hañā bhaje pakṣī-mūrkha-caye steadfast becoming worship of birds of fools the multitude

179 Here ca has the sense of certainty (avadhāraṇa), and api the sense of conjunction (samuccaya): birds and foolish people in great numbers become steadfast and worship Kṛṣṇa.

*The explanation by (6) the meaning "intelligence" of the word ātmā within the word ātmārāmāḥ —*

'আত্মা'-শব্দে 'বুদ্ধি' কহে বুদ্ধিবিশেষ । সামান্যবুদ্ধিযুক্ত যত জীব অশেষ ॥ ১৮০ ॥

'ātmā'-śabde 'buddhi' kahe buddhi-viśeṣa
by the word ātmā intelligence is meant special intelligence sāmānya-buddhi-yukta yata jīva aśeṣa with ordinary intelligence endowed all living beings countless 180 The word ātmā also means intelligence (buddhi), that is, special intelligence; and all the countless living beings are endowed with ordinary intelligence.

Buddhy-ārāmas* are of two kinds: the learned and the unintelligent —*

বুদ্ধ্যে রমে আত্মারাম — দুই ত' প্রকার ।
'পণ্ডিত' মুনিগণ, নির্গ্রন্থ 'মূর্খ' আর ॥ ১৮১ ॥

buddhye rame ātmārāma — dui ta' prakāra
in intelligence delights ātmārāma of two indeed kinds
'paṇḍita' muni-gaṇa, nirgrantha 'mūrkha' āra learned the sages the nirgranthas foolish and 181 The ātmārāma who delights in intelligence is of two kinds: the sages, who are learned (paṇḍita), and the nirgranthas, who are foolish (mūrkha).

By the mercy of the sādhus and Kṛṣṇa one gains good intelligence and serves Kṛṣṇa —

কৃষ্ণকৃপায় সাধুসঙ্গে রতি-বুদ্ধি পায় । সব ছাড়ি' কৃষ্ণভক্তি শুদ্ধবুদ্ধ্যে পায় ॥ ১৮২ ॥

kṛṣṇa-kṛpāya sādhu-saṅge rati-buddhi pāya
by Kṛṣṇa's mercy in the company of sādhus attachment (rati) intelligence obtains saba chāḍi' kṛṣṇa-bhakti śuddha-buddhye pāya everything giving up devotion to Kṛṣṇa with pure intelligence attains

182 By Kṛṣṇa's mercy, in the company of sādhus, one gains attachment (rati) and good intelligence. Giving up everything, with pure intelligence one attains devotion to Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
In another reading: "Giving up everything, he serves Kṛṣṇa's feet with pure bhakti; by Kṛṣṇa's mercy, in the company of sādhus, he gains the intelligence that discerns."

অহং সর্ব্বস্য প্রভবো মত্তঃ সর্ব্বং প্রবর্ত্ততে ৷ ইতি মত্বা ভজন্তে মাং বুধা ভাবসমন্বিতাঃ ॥ ১৮৩ ॥

ahaṁ sarvasya prabhavo
I of everything the source
mattaḥ sarvaṁ pravartate
from Me everything proceeds iti matvā bhajante māṁ
thus knowing worship Me
budhā bhāva-samanvitāḥ
the wise with bhāva endowed

183 "I am the source of everything; everything proceeds from Me. Knowing this, the wise, endowed with bhāva, worship Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 10.8)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"I am the source (the place of origin) of all, and everything proceeds from Me." Knowing this, the wise, endowed with bhakti, worship Me.

Anubhāṣya.
aham (Kṛṣṇa) sarvasya (of Brahmā, Rudra and the whole manifest world) prabhavaḥ (the cause, the source of birth); mattaḥ (since I am the cause of all causes) sarvam (everything) pravartate (acts in dependence on Me) — iti matvā

budhāḥ (those who know the taste of Kṛṣṇa) bhāva-samanvitāḥ (endowed with premā) mām bhajante.

By the mercy of devotees, following the path of the Śrutis, even low castes and animals are freed from Māyā —

তে বৈ বিদন্ত্যতিতরন্তি চ দেবমায়াং স্ত্রীশূদ্রহূনশবরা অপি পাপজীবাঃ ।
যদ্যদ্ভুতক্রমপরায়ণ-শীল-শিক্ষা- স্তির্য্যগ্ জনা অপি কিমু শ্রুতধারণা যে ॥ ১৮৪ ॥

te vai vidanty atitaranti ca deva-māyāṁ
they indeed know cross beyond and the divine māyā
strī-śūdra-hūna-śabarā api pāpa-jīvāḥ women śūdras Hūṇas Śabaras even sinful beings
yady adbhuta-krama-parāyaṇa-śīla-śikṣās
if of Adbhuta-krama (Urukrama) of those devoted in the conduct trained tiryag janā api kim u śruta-dhāraṇā ye animal beings even what then holding to the Śruti those who

184 "Women, śūdras, Hūṇas, Śabaras and other sinful beings — even animals and birds — come to know (the Lord) and cross beyond the divine māyā if they learn the conduct of those devoted to Adbhuta-krama, the Lord of wondrous deeds. What then to speak of those who hold to the Śruti!" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.7.46)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Women, śūdras, Hūṇas, Śabaras and other sinful beings, and even beings of animal species — birds and others — receive instruction from those wholly devoted to Adbhuta-krama (Bhagavān Śrī Urukrama), that is, they follow the conduct of pure devotees and themselves become devotees of Bhagavān. Then they are delivered from (insurmountable, divine) Māyā. What, then, to speak of those who follow the path of the Śrutis?

Anubhāṣya.
Brahmā told his disciple Nārada of the deeds, purposes and glories of the līlā-avatāras of Bhagavān Viṣṇu, and named the devotees of high birth who surrendered to Him and were freed from His insurmountable Māyā. Now he speaks of how even people of low birth are fit to attain liberation on the path of the Śrutis:

yadi strī-śūdra-hūṇa-śabarāḥ pāpa-jīvāḥ (born in sinful castes), tathā tiryak-janāḥ api adbhuta-krama-parāyaṇa-śīla-śikṣāḥ (adbhuta, causing wonder; krama, the steps of the feet; Hari, whose steps are such; parāyaṇa, those devoted to Him, Hari's servants; those who learn from their śīla, their nature — that is, if, becoming disciples of pure devotees, they have their character formed in the company of Kṛṣṇa's devotees; if they are such), te api deva-māyām vai vidanti (come to know) atitaranti (cross over) ca, (then) ye (the devotees) śruta-dhāraṇāḥ (those who, by the path of the Śrutis, hold in their hearts the truth they have heard about Bhagavān's name, form, qualities, pastimes and so on), (of them) kim u (what more need be said?) — that is, they certainly come to know Māyā and cross over it.

Kṛṣṇa is attained only by serving Him with good intelligence, discerning the eternal from the temporary —

বিচার করিয়া যবে ভজে কৃষ্ণ-পায় । সেই বুদ্ধি দেন তাঁরে, যাতে কৃষ্ণ পায় ॥ ১৮৫ ॥

vicāra kariyā yabe bhaje kṛṣṇa-pāya
having reflected when one worships Kṛṣṇa's feet sei buddhi dena tāṁre, yāte kṛṣṇa pāya that intelligence He gives to him by which Kṛṣṇa he attains

185 When, after careful reflection, one worships Kṛṣṇa's feet, the Lord gives him the intelligence by which he attains Him.

তেষাং সততযুক্তানাং ভজতাং প্রীতিপূর্ব্বকম্ ।
দদামি বুদ্ধিযোগং তং যেন মামুপয়ান্তি তে ॥ ১৮৬ ॥

teṣāṁ satata-yuktānāṁ
to them ever longing (for Me)
bhajatāṁ prīti-pūrvakam
worshipping with love
dadāmi buddhi-yogaṁ taṁ
I give understanding that
yena mām upayānti te
by which to Me come they

186 "To those who are ever devoted to Me and worship Me with love, I give the understanding that brings them to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 10.10)[37]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 1.49.

*The five best kinds of spiritual practice (sādhana) —*

সৎসঙ্গ, কৃষ্ণসেবা, ভাগবত, নাম । ব্রজে বাস, — এই পঞ্চসাধন প্রধান ॥ ১৮৭ ॥

sat-saṅga, kṛṣṇa-sevā, bhāgavata, nāma
the company of saints to Kṛṣṇa service the Bhāgavata the Name
vraje vāsa, — ei pañca sādhana pradhāna
in Vraja living these five sādhanas principal 187 The company of saints, service to Kṛṣṇa, the Bhāgavata, the holy Name and living in Vraja — these five are the principal sādhanas.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Bhāgavata" and "nāma" are the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and the name of Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
The company of Kṛṣṇa's devotees, service to Kṛṣṇa, the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam — the embodiment of narrations about Kṛṣṇa — the name of Kṛṣṇa, and residence in Vraja, Kṛṣṇa's abode: these five are the chief sādhanas.

Love for Kṛṣṇa comes even from the slightest practice of one of the five

sādhanas —

এই পঞ্চ-মধ্যে এক ‘স্বল্প’ যদি হয় । সুবুদ্ধি জনের হয় কৃষ্ণপ্রেমোদয় ॥ ১৮৮ ॥

ei-pañca-madhye eka ‘svalpa’ yadi haya of these five among one slight if there is subuddhi janera haya kṛṣṇa-premodaya of a sensible person there comes for Kṛṣṇa of love the awakening

188 If a sensible person has even the slightest connection with one of these five, love for Kṛṣṇa awakens in him.

দুরূহাদ্ভুতবীর্য্যেঽস্মিন্ শ্রদ্ধা দূরেঽস্তু পঞ্চকে । যত্র স্বল্পোঽপি সম্বন্ধঃ সদ্ধিয়াং ভাবজন্মনে ॥ ১৮৯ ॥

durūhādbhuta-vīrye ‘smin
hard to grasp wondrous in power in this śraddhā dūre ‘stu pañcake faith far away let it be in the group of five yatra sv-alpo ‘pi sambandhaḥ
where slight even connection sad-dhiyāṁ bhāva-janmane
for those of good understanding for the birth of bhāva

189 “The power of these five limbs is wondrous and hard to grasp. Let alone faith in them: even the slightest connection with them gives birth to bhāva in those of good understanding, who are free from offence.” (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, Sādhana-bhakti-laharī, 238)[38]

Anubhāṣya.

See Madhya 22.129.[57]

*Even one full of anarthas and selfish desires constantly serves Kṛṣṇa because of good intelligence; as the fruit of this service he gives up desires,* serves selflessly and attains perfection. Yet even so, devotion with selfish desires is not the "cause" of selfless service —

উদার মহতী যাঁর সর্ব্বোত্তমা বুদ্ধি । নানা কামে ভজে, তবু পায় ভক্তিসিদ্ধি ॥ ১৯০ ॥

udāra mahatī yāṁra sarvottamā buddhi
broad great whose best of all intelligence
nānā kāme bhaje, tabu pāya bhakti-siddhi
with various desires worships still attains of bhakti perfection

190 One whose intelligence is broad, great and best of all may worship with various desires, yet he still attains perfection in bhakti.

অকামঃ সর্ব্বকামো বা মোক্ষকাম উদারধীঃ ।
তীব্রেণ ভক্তিযোগেন যজেত পুরুষং পরম্ ॥ ১৯১ ॥

akāmaḥ sarva-kāmo vā
without desire full of all desires or
mokṣa-kāma udāra-dhīḥ
desiring liberation of broad intelligence
tīvreṇa bhakti-yogena
with intense bhakti-yoga
yajeta puruṣaṁ param
should worship the Person Supreme

191 "Whether he is without desire, full of every desire, or desirous of liberation, a person of broad intelligence should worship the Supreme Person with intense bhakti-yoga." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.3.10)[39]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.36.

*By the power of constant service, desires, or anarthas, cease, and pure*

service is attained —

ভক্তি-প্রভাব, — সেই কাম ছাড়াঞা । কৃষ্ণপদে ভক্তি করায় গুণে আকর্ষিয়া ॥ ১৯২ ॥

bhakti-prabhāva, — sei kāma chāḍāñā
of bhakti the power those desires making one give up kṛṣṇa-pade bhakti karāya guṇe ākarṣiyā to Kṛṣṇa's feet devotion makes one render by His qualities attracting 192 Such is the power of bhakti: it makes one give up those desires and, attracting one by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, makes one render devotion to His feet.

সত্যং দিশত্যর্থিতমর্থিতো নৃণাং
নৈবার্থদো যৎ পুনরর্থিতা যতঃ ।
স্বয়ং বিধত্তে ভজতামনিচ্ছতা-
মিচ্ছা-পিধানং নিজপাদপল্লবম্ ॥ ১৯৩ ॥

satyaṁ diśaty arthitam arthito nṛṇāṁ
truly He grants what is asked when asked to men
naivārtha-do yat punar arthitā yataḥ
not indeed giver of that which again asking from which svayaṁ vidhatte bhajatām anicchatām
Himself He grants to those who worship though not desiring
icchā-pidhānaṁ nija-pāda-pallavam
covering all desires His own feet like tender shoots

193 "It is true that when men ask, the Lord grants what they ask for; but He does not give what would make them ask again. To those who worship Him, though they do not desire it, He Himself gives His own feet, tender as new shoots, which put an end to all other desires." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.19.26)[40]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.40.

*The explanation by (7) the meaning "nature" of the word ātmā within the word ātmārāmāḥ —*

'আত্মা'-শব্দে 'স্বভাব' কহে, তাতে যেই রমে । আত্মারাম জীব যত স্থাবর-জঙ্গমে ॥ ১৯৪ ॥

'ātmā'-śabde 'svabhāva' kahe, tāte yei rame
by the word ātmā nature is meant in it who delights ātmārāma jīva yata sthāvara-jaṅgame ātmārāmas living beings all stationary moving

194 The word ātmā also means one's nature (svabhāva), and one who delights in it is an ātmārāma. Thus all living beings, stationary and moving, are ātmārāmas.

The nature of the jīva's pure, uncovered self and of the covered self; the pure "I" and the impure "I" —

জীবের স্বভাব — কৃষ্ণে 'দাস'-অভিমান । দেহে আত্ম-জ্ঞানে আচ্ছাদিত সেই 'জ্ঞান' ॥ ১৯৫ ॥

jīvera svabhāva — kṛṣṇe 'dāsa'-abhimāna
of the jīva the nature towards Kṛṣṇa servant self-conception dehe ātma-jñāne ācchādita sei 'jñāna'
in the body by the notion of self covered that awareness

195 The nature of the jīva is to know himself as Kṛṣṇa's servant; that awareness becomes covered when he takes the body to be the self.

চ-শব্দে 'এব', 'অপি'-শব্দ সমুচ্চয়ে ।
'আত্মারামা এব' হঞা শ্রীকৃষ্ণ ভজয়ে ॥ ১৯৬ ॥

ca-śabde 'eva', 'api'-śabda samuccaye
by the word ca eva api the word in the sense of conjunction 'ātmārāmā eva' haña śrī-kṛṣṇa bhajaye
ātmārāmas indeed being Śrī Kṛṣṇa worship

196 Here ca means eva (“indeed”), and api has the sense of conjunction (samuccaya): it is precisely as ātmārāmas (ātmārāmā eva) that they worship Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

*Examples of ātmārāmas — jīvas of pure nature — and of nirgranthas —*

এই জীব — সনকাদি সব মুনিজন ।
‘নির্গ্রন্থ’ — মূর্খ, নীচ, স্থাবর-জঙ্গম ॥ ১৯৭ ॥

ei jīva — sanakādi saba muni-jana these jīvas Sanaka and the others all sages ‘nirgrantha’ — mūrkha, nīca, sthāvara-jaṅgama
the nirgranthas the foolish the low stationary moving

197 These jīvas include all the sages (munis), Sanaka and the rest; and the nirgranthas are the foolish, the low, and all beings, stationary and moving.

*The service to Kṛṣṇa of liberated jīvas such as Vyāsa is well known; a description of the service of the nirgranthas, that is, the unintelligent —*

ব্যাস-শুক-সনকাদির প্রসিদ্ধ ভজন । ‘নির্গ্রন্থ’ স্থাবরাদির শুন বিবরণ ॥ ১৯৮ ॥

vyāsa-śuka-sanakādira prasiddha bhajana of Vyāsa of Śuka of Sanaka and the others well known the worship ‘nirgrantha’ sthāvarādira śuna vivaraṇa
of the nirgranthas of the stationary and the rest hear the account

198 The worship of Vyāsa, Śuka, Sanaka and the others is well known. Now hear the account of the nirgranthas — the stationary beings and the rest.

By Kṛṣṇa’s mercy everyone serves Kṛṣṇa —

কৃষ্ণকৃপাদি-হেতু হৈতে স্বভাব উদয় । কৃষ্ণগুণাকৃষ্ট হঞা তাঁহারে ভজয় ॥ ১৯৯ ॥

kṛṣṇa-kṛpādi-hetu haite svabhāva udaya Kṛṣṇa's mercy and other causes from nature awakens
kṛṣṇa-guṇākṛṣṭa hañā tāṁhāre bhajaya
by Kṛṣṇa's qualities attracted becoming Him they worship

199 Through such causes as Kṛṣṇa's mercy, their true nature (svabhāva) awakens, and, attracted by Kṛṣṇa's qualities, they worship Him.

Blessed is the earth touched by Kṛṣṇa's feet; blessed are the gopīs who touch His chest, which even Lakṣmī longs for —

ধন্যেয়মদ্য ধরণী তৃণ-বীরুধস্ত্বৎ-পাদস্পৃশো দ্রুমলতাঃ করজাভিমৃষ্টাঃ ৷
নদ্যোঽদ্রয়ঃ খগমৃগাঃ সদয়াবলোকৈ- র্গোপ্যোঽন্তরেণ ভুজয়োরপি যৎস্পৃহা শ্রীঃ ॥ ২০০ ॥

dhanyeyam adya dharaṇī tṛṇa-vīrudhas tvat-blessed this today the earth grasses shrubs Your pāda-spṛśo druma-latāḥ karajābhimṛṣṭāḥ feet touching trees creepers touched by Your fingers
nadyo 'drayaḥ khaga-mṛgāḥ sadayāvalokair rivers mountains birds beasts by Your merciful glances gopyo 'ntareṇa bhujayor api yat-spṛhā śrīḥ
the gopīs between Your arms even longed for by whom Śrī

200 "Today this earth is blessed; blessed are the grasses and shrubs that touch Your feet, the trees and creepers touched by Your fingers, the rivers, mountains, birds and beasts on whom You cast Your merciful glances, and the gopīs held between Your arms — a place for which even Śrī (Lakṣmī) longs." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.15.8)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

This land (the land of Vraja) has today become blessed. Blessed are the grasses and creepers that Your feet touch; blessed are the trees and vines that Your fingers touch; blessed are the rivers, hills, birds and beasts on whom You cast Your merciful glance. And blessed are all the gopīs, for they have gained the place between Your arms — which even Lakṣmī longs for.

Anubhāṣya.

Having entered the paugaṇḍa age, Śrī Kṛṣṇa once went with Śrī Baladeva into the Kusumākara forest. Seeing the beauty of Vraja, He wished to sport, and, as if praising His elder brother, He praises Himself:

adya (by the touch of Your feet) iyam dharaṇī dhanyā; (likewise) tvat-pāda-spṛśaḥ (since they touch Your feet) tṛṇa-vīrudhaḥ (grasses, shrubs and the like), karajābhimṛṣṭāḥ (touched by the nails) druma-latāḥ (trees and creepers), sadayāvalokaiḥ (by merciful glances) nadyaḥ adrayaḥ (hills) khaga-mṛgāḥ (birds — khagas — and beasts — mṛgas) ca (are blessed); śrīḥ api yat-spṛhā (that which even Lakṣmī longs for) bhujayoḥ antareṇa (by the chest) gopyaḥ ca dhanyāḥ.

The sound of Kṛṣṇa's flute gives moving beings the quality of the immobile, and the immobile the quality of moving beings —

গা গোপকৈরনুবনং নয়তোরুদার-বেণুস্বনৈঃ কলপদৈস্তনুভৃৎসু সখ্যঃ । অস্পন্দনং গতিমতাং পুলকস্তরূণাং নির্য্যোগপাশকৃতলক্ষণয়োর্বিচিত্রম্ ॥ ২০১ ॥

gā gopakair anu-vanaṁ nayator udāra-
the cows with the cowherd boys from forest to forest of the two who lead generous

veṇu-svanaiḥ kala-padais tanu-bhṛtsu sakhyaḥ of the flute by the sounds by the sweet notes among embodied beings O friends

aspandanaṁ gatimatāṁ pulakas tarūṇāṁ stillness of moving beings thrill of the trees

niryoga-pāśa-kṛta-lakṣaṇayor vicitram marked by ropes and nooses of the two wondrous 201 "O friends, as the two Brothers, marked by the ropes and nooses for tying the cows, lead the cows with the cowherd boys from forest to forest, the generous, sweet notes of Their flutes work wonders among embodied beings: those that move become still, and the trees thrill with ecstasy." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.21.19)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

O friends! Kṛṣṇa and Baladeva go from forest to forest with the cows and the cowherd boys, bearing as Their marks the ropes and nooses for tying the cows, and so on. Their wondrous flute-playing and songs make the moving beings among the embodied grow stunned, while the motionless trees break out in "gooseflesh." All this is truly wonderful.

Anubhāṣya.

When autumn came to Vraja, Śrī Kṛṣṇa began to wander from forest to forest playing the flute, as if to herd the cows. Hearing the flute, the gopīs, longing to be with Kṛṣṇa, wander everywhere and sing of His qualities:

he sakhyaḥ, gopakaiḥ (with the cowherd boys) anu-vanam (to every forest) gāḥ nayatoḥ (of the two who lead), niryoga-pāśa-kṛta-lakṣaṇayoḥ (the niryoga is that by which cows are tied: the rope for binding their legs at milking time; the pāśas are nooses for pulling unruly cows; of the two for whom these are a lakṣaṇa, a mark: of Rāma and Kṛṣṇa, resplendent in cowherd dress, for They wrap the niryoga around Their heads and carry [the nooses] on Their shoulders) kala-padaiḥ (with sweet sounds) udāra-veṇu-svanaiḥ (with the mighty sounds of the flute) tanu-bhṛtsu (among those who bear bodies, the embodied) gatimatām (of those who move) aspandanam (immobility, the quality of the immobile) tarūṇām pulakaḥ (the quality of moving beings) — iti tu vicitram (is truly wonderful).

বনলতাস্তরব আত্মনি বিষ্ণুং
ব্যঞ্জয়ন্ত্য ইব পুষ্পফলাঢ্যাঃ ।
প্রণতভারবিটপা মধুধারাঃ প্রেমহৃষ্টতনবো ববৃষুঃ স্ম ॥ ২০২ ॥

vana-latās tarava ātmani viṣṇum
the forest creepers the trees within themselves Viṣṇu vyañjayantya iva puṣpa-phalāḍhyāḥ revealing as if with flowers with fruits rich praṇata-bhāra-viṭapā madhu-dhārāḥ bowed with the weight their branches of honey streams prema-hṛṣṭa-tanavo vavṛṣuḥ sma
with love thrilled bodies showered indeed

202 "The forest creepers and trees, rich with flowers and fruits, their branches bowed with the weight and their bodies thrilled with love, poured down streams of honey, as if revealing Viṣṇu within themselves." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.35.9)[41]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 8.275.

কিরাতহূনান্ধ্র-পুলিন্দ পুক্কশাঃ
আভীরশুম্ভা যবনাঃ খশাদয়ঃ ।
যেঽন্যে চ পাপা যদুপাশ্রয়াশ্রয়াঃ
শুদ্ধ্যন্তি তস্মৈ প্রভবিষ্ণবে নমঃ ॥ ২০৩ ॥

kirāta-hūnāndhra-pulinda pukkaśāḥ
Kirātas Hūṇas Andhras Pulindas Pukkaśas
ābhīra-śumbhā yavanāḥ khaśādayaḥ
Ābhīras Śuhmas Yavanas Khaśas and others
ye 'nye ca pāpā yad-upāśrayāśrayāḥ
who others and sinful of those who have taken shelter of Him taking shelter
śuddhyanti tasmai prabhaviṣṇave namaḥ
are purified to Him the all-powerful obeisance

203 "The Kirātas, Hūṇas, Andhras, Pulindas, Pukkaśas, Ābhīras, Śuhmas, Yavanas, Khaśas and other tribes, and all other sinful people as well, are purified by taking shelter of those who have taken shelter of Him. Obeisance to that all-powerful Lord!" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.4.18)[42]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 24.173.

Here are nineteen meanings —

আগে 'তের' অর্থ করিলুঁ, আর 'ছয়' এই । ঊনবিংশতি অর্থ হইল মিলি' এই দুই ॥ ২০৪ ॥

āge 'tera' artha karilum̐, āra 'chaya' ei before thirteen meanings I gave and six these ūnaviṁśati artha haila mili' ei dui nineteen meanings there are combined these two 204 Earlier I gave thirteen meanings, and now these six: together they make nineteen.

Anubhāṣya.
For the earlier thirteen meanings, see the Anubhāṣya on verse 157 of Madhya 24, above. And these are the six: 1) "one who delights in the mind" (verse 159); 2) "one who delights in effort" (verse 162); 3) "one who delights in steadfastness" (verse 168); 4) "the buddhy-ārāma, the learned muni" (verse 181); 5) "the buddhy-ārāma, the nirgrantha, the unintelligent" (verse 181); 6) the ātmārāma "endowed with the nature of a servant of Kṛṣṇa (kṛṣṇa-dāsa)" (verse 195).

*The explanation by (2) the meaning "body" of the word ātmā within the word ātmārāmāḥ —*

এই ঊনিশ অর্থ করিলুঁ, আগে শুন আর ।
'আত্মা'-শব্দে 'দেহ' কহে, — চারি অর্থ তার ॥ ২০৫ ॥

ei ūniśa artha karilum̐, āge śuna āra
these nineteen meanings I have given further hear more
'ātmā'-śabde 'deha' kahe, — cāri artha tāra
by the word ātmā the body is meant four meanings of it

205 I have given these nineteen meanings; now hear more. The word ātmā also means the body (deha), and this gives four meanings.

Anubhāṣya.
Its four meanings are: (1) the body as conditioned Brahman (verse 206); (2) the karma-body of the sacrificer devoted to karma (verse 208); (3) the body of austerity (verse 210); (4) the body full of all desires (verse 212).

*Through the company of sādhus, even one who identifies with the body, or a vivarta-vādī, gives up the notion of vivarta and attains devotion to Kṛṣṇa*

—

দেহারামী দেহে ভজে ‘দেহোপাধি ব্রহ্ম’ । সৎসঙ্গে সেহ করে কৃষ্ণের ভজন ॥ ২০৬ ॥

dehārāmī dehe bhaje ‘dehopādhi brahma’
one who delights in the body in the body worships conditioned by the body Brahman
sat-saṅge seha kare kṛṣṇera bhajana
in the company of saints he too performs of Kṛṣṇa worship

206 One who delights in the body (dehārāmī) worships in the body a Brahman conditioned by the body; in the company of saints, he too comes to worship Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
The dehārāmī (one who delights in the body), taking the body to be a conditioned form of Brahman, serves his own body. But in the company of sādhus he gives up this notion of vivarta and serves Kṛṣṇa.

উদরমুপাসতে য ঋষিবর্ত্মসু কূর্পদৃশঃ
পরিসরপদ্ধতিং হৃদয়মারুণয়ো দহরম্ ।
তত উদগাদনন্ত তব ধাম শিরঃ পরমং
পুনরিহ যৎ সমেত্য ন পতন্তি কৃতান্তমুখে ॥ ২০৭ ॥

udaram upāsate ya ṛṣi-vartmasu kūrpa-dṛśaḥ
the belly (udara) worship those who on the paths of the ṛṣis of gross vision
parisara-paddhatiṁ hṛdayam āruṇayo daharam
from which the channels branch out the heart the Āruṇis subtle (dahara)
tata udagād ananta tava dhāma śiraḥ paramaṁ
from there rises O Ananta Your abode the head supreme
punar iha yat sametya na patanti kṛtānta-mukhe
again here which having reached not they fall of death into the mouth

207 “Following the paths of the ṛṣis, those of gross vision worship Brahman in the belly (udara), while the Āruṇis worship the subtle Brahman (dahara) in the heart, from which the channels branch out.

From there, O Ananta, the path rises to the head, Your supreme abode; having reached it, they no longer fall into the jaws of death in this world." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.87.18)[43]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 24.160.

*Through the company of sādhus even the dehārāmī devoted to karma gives up karma and attains pure bhakti —*

দেহারামী কর্ম্মনিষ্ঠ — যাজ্ঞিকাদি জন । সৎসঙ্গে 'কর্ম্ম' ত্যজি' করয় ভজন ॥ ২০৮ ॥

dehārāmī karma-niṣṭha — yājñikādi jana
those who delight in the body devoted to karma performers of sacrifice and the like people
sat-saṅge 'karma' tyaji' karaya bhajana
in the company of saints karma giving up perform worship

208 Those who delight in the body and are devoted to karma — performers of sacrifice and the like — give up karma in the company of saints and worship Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
The dehārāmī devoted to karma is one wholly engaged in sacrifices and the like. Yet he too, by his sukṛti, in the company of devotees gives up sacrifice — his attachment to karma — and serves Kṛṣṇa.

*Śaunaka and the others condemn karma-kāṇḍa and praise Śrī Sūta's eagerness to speak about Hari —*

কর্ম্মণ্যস্মিন্ননাশ্বাসে ধূমধূম্রাত্মনাং ভবান্ । আপায়য়তি গোবিন্দপাদপদ্মাসবং মধু ॥ ২০৯ ॥

karmaṇy asminn anāśvāse
in work this unreliable
dhūma-dhūmrātmanāṁ bhavān
by smoke blackened in body you āpāyayati govindagive to drink of Govinda
pāda-padmāsavaṁ madhu
of the feet lotus the nectar (āsava) honeyed

209 "In this sacrificial work, whose fruit is never certain, we have been blackened by the smoke; but you give us to drink the honeyed nectar (āsava) of Govinda's lotus feet." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.18.12)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
(O Sūta!) On this path of karma there is nothing to rely on (that is, no hope of a sure result), and we have been blackened by smoke. Yet you are giving us to drink the honeyed nectar (āsava) of Govinda's lotus feet.

Anubhāṣya.
When the mahā-bhāgavata Śrī Sūta Gosvāmī began to recite the Bhāgavatam, full of narrations about Hari, before Śaunaka and the others who were eager to hear, the ṛṣis condemn their own petty rites of karma-kāṇḍa:

asmin anāśvāse (untrustworthy) karmaṇi (in the sacrifice) dhūma-dhūmrātmanām (of those whose ātmās — bodies and minds — have become dhūmra, darkened, by smoke — of us) bhavān madhu (sweet) govinda-pāda-padmāsavam (the nectar of Śrī Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet, that is, the nectar of narrations about Śrī Hari) āpāyayati (makes us hear).

*In the company of sādhus the dehārāmī — the ascetic absorbed in the world — gives up the enjoyment that takes the form of austerity and attains pure bhakti —*

'তপস্বী' প্রভৃতি যত দেহারামী হয়। সাধুসঙ্গে তপ ছাড়ি' শ্রীকৃষ্ণ ভজয় ॥ ২১০ ॥

'tapasvī' prabhṛti yata dehārāmī haya ascetics and the like all who delight in the body are sādhu-saṅge tapa chāḍi' śrī-kṛṣṇa bhajaya
in the company of sādhus austerity giving up Śrī Kṛṣṇa worship

210 Ascetics (tapasvī) and the like are all dehārāmīs, those who delight in the body; in the company of sādhus they give up austerity and worship Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
Dehārāmīs — ascetics and others — give up austerity in the company of Kṛṣṇa's devotees and serve Kṛṣṇa.

The testimony of scripture —

যৎপাদসেবাভিরুচিস্তপস্বিনা- মশেষজন্মোপচিতং মলং ধিয়ঃ । সদ্যঃ ক্ষিণোত্যন্বহমেধতী সতী যথা পদাঙ্গুষ্ঠবিনিঃসৃতা সরিৎ ॥ ২১১ ॥

yat-pāda-sevābhirucis tapasvinām
whose of the feet for the service taste of ascetics
aśeṣa-janmopacitaṁ malaṁ dhiyaḥ
in countless births accumulated the impurity of the mind sadyaḥ kṣiṇoty anv-aham edhatī satī
at once destroys day by day increasing being yathā padāṅguṣṭha-viniḥsṛtā sarit
as from the toe of His foot flowing the river

211 "The taste for serving His feet, pure and increasing day by day, at once destroys the impurity that has gathered in the minds of ascetics through countless births, as does the river (Gaṅgā) that flows from the toe of His foot." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 4.21.31)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The taste for serving His feet, like the Gaṅgā flowing from the great toe of Kṛṣṇa's foot, grows day by day. At once it destroys the impurity of the intelligence that (worldly) ascetics have accumulated over countless births.

Anubhāṣya.

In ancient times Pṛthu Mahārāja, lord of the earth, performed a great sacrifice. Standing before the gods, ṛṣis and kings assembled there, he speaks of service to Viṣṇu, followed by the mahājanas of the past, as a duty and a necessity:

yat-pāda-sevābhirucih̟ (the taste for serving Hari's feet), yathā (His, Hari's) padāṅguṣṭha-viniḥsṛtā (arising from His lotus feet) sarit (river, that is, the Gaṅgā), anvaham (from day to day, every day) edhatī (increasing) satī (being pure, sāttvika) tapasvinām (of the sacrificers) aśeṣa-janmopacitam (accumulated in previous births) dhiyaḥ (of the intelligence) malam (impurity — the impressions of desire and the like) sadyaḥ kṣiṇoti (destroys); (it is construed with the third [verse]: "Him you should worship with your duties").

*By Kṛṣṇa's mercy even the dehārāmī full of desires gives up desires, that is, becomes selfless, and serves Kṛṣṇa purely —*

দেহারামী, সর্ব্বকাম — সব আত্মারাম । কৃষ্ণকৃপায় কৃষ্ণ ভজে ছাড়ি' সব কাম ॥ ২১২ ॥

dehārāmī, sarva-kāma — saba ātmārāma
those who delight in the body full of desires all ātmārāmas
kṛṣṇa-kṛpāya kṛṣṇa bhaje chāḍi' saba kāma
by Kṛṣṇa's mercy Kṛṣṇa worship giving up all desires

212 Those who delight in the body and are full of desires are all ātmārāmas; by Kṛṣṇa's mercy they give up all desires and worship Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.

Ātmārāmas — dehārāmīs full of all desires — give up the anartha of desire and, by the power of Kṛṣṇa's mercy, serve Kṛṣṇa.

স্থানাভিলাষী তপসি স্থিতোঽহং
ত্বাং প্রাপ্তবান্ দেবমুনীন্দ্রগুহ্যম্ ।
কাচং বিচিন্বন্নপি দিব্যরত্নং স্বামিন্ কৃতার্থোঽস্মি বরং ন যাচে ॥ ২১৩ ॥

sthānābhilāṣī tapasi sthito 'haṁ desiring a position in austerity engaged I tvāṁ prāptavān deva-munīndra-guhyam
You have attained hidden from the gods and the best of sages
kācaṁ vicinvann api divya-ratnaṁ glass searching for though a divine jewel svāmin kṛtārtho 'smi varaṁ na yāce
O Master fulfilled I am a boon not I ask

213 "Desiring a high position, I engaged in austerities, and I have attained You, who are hidden even from the gods and the greatest sages. I was searching for a piece of glass and found a divine jewel. O Master, my purpose is fulfilled; I ask for no boon." (Hari-bhakti-sudhodaya, 7.28)[44]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.42.

Here are twenty-three meanings —

এই চারি অর্থ সহ হইল 'তেইশ' অর্থ । আর তিন অর্থ শুন পরম সমর্থ ॥ ২১৪ ॥

ei cāri artha saha haila 'teiśa' artha
these four meanings together with there are twenty-three meanings
āra tina artha śuna parama samartha
further three meanings hear most cogent

214 Together with these four, there are twenty-three meanings. Now hear three more meanings, all most cogent.

Anubhāṣya.
If these four kinds of "dehārāma" are added to the earlier nineteen meanings of the word ātmārāma, there are "twenty-three" meanings. And the three further meanings are (1) the anvācaya meaning of the word ca; (2) the eva meaning of the word ca together with the garhā (censure) meaning of the word api; and (3) the nirdhana (pauper) meaning of the word nirgrantha.

*The explanation by the samuccaya meaning of the word ca —*

চ-শব্দে ‘সমুচ্চয়ে’, আর অর্থ কয় । ‘আত্মারামাশ্চ মুনয়শ্চ’ কৃষ্ণেরে ভজয় ॥ ২১৫ ॥

ca-śabde ‘samuccaye’, āra artha kaya
the word ca in the sense of conjunction another meaning expresses ‘ātmārāmāś ca munayaś ca’ kṛṣṇere bhajaya
ātmārāmas and sages and Kṛṣṇa worship

215 When ca has the sense of conjunction (samuccaya), the ātmārāmas and the sages (ātmārāmāś ca munayaś ca) worship Kṛṣṇa; but ca has yet another meaning.

Anubhāṣya.
The samuccaya (conjunction) meaning of the word ca has already been explained above: by it, the “ātmārāmas” and the “munis” serve Kṛṣṇa. “Another meaning” — that is, a meaning other than samuccaya.

‘নির্গ্রন্থাঃ’ হঞা ইঁহা ‘অপি’ — নির্দ্ধারণে ।
‘রামশ্চ কৃষ্ণশ্চ’ যথা বিহরয়ে বনে ॥ ২১৬ ॥

‘nirgranthāḥ’ hañā iṁhā ‘api’ — nirdhāraṇe nirgranthas becoming here api in the sense of specification ‘rāmaś ca kṛṣṇaś ca’ yathā viharaye vane
Rāma and Kṛṣṇa and as roam in the forest

216 “Becoming nirgranthas”: here api has the sense of specification (nirdhāraṇa), as in “rāmaś ca kṛṣṇaś ca roam in the forest.”

Anubhāṣya.
“Api” is used in the sense of nirdhāraṇa (specification); “nirgranthāḥ” is the “qualifier” of both, of the ātmārāmas and of the munis; “ihā” means “in this case.” Thus, if one says, “Rāma and Kṛṣṇa sport in the forest,” it means that both of Them sport in the forest.

*The explanation by the anvācaya meaning of the word ca —*

চ-শব্দে ‘অন্বাচয়ে’ অর্থ কহে আর । ‘বটো, ভিক্ষামট, গাঞ্চানয়’ যৈছে প্রকার ॥ ২১৭ ॥

ca-śabde ‘anvācaye’ artha kahe āra
the word ca in the sense of anvācaya a meaning expresses another ‘baṭo, bhikṣām aṭa, gāṁ cānaya’ yaiche prakāra
O boy for alms go the cow and bring as in the manner

217 The word ca gives yet another meaning in the sense of anvācaya — adding something secondary to what is principal — as in: “Baṭo, bhikṣām aṭa, gāṁ cānaya” (“O boy, go for alms, and bring the cow too”).

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

“Baṭo, bhikṣām aṭa, gāṁ cānaya” — “O baṭu, go and beg alms, and bring the cow as well.” Just as in this sentence the word ca has the meaning of anvācaya, so take it in the ātmārāma verse.

*In this meaning the service of the sage is primary, and the service of the ātmārāma secondary —*

কৃষ্ণমননে মুনি কৃষ্ণে সর্ব্বদা ভজয় । ‘আত্মারামা অপি’ ভজে, — গৌণ অর্থ কয় ॥ ২১৮ ॥

kṛṣṇa-manane muni kṛṣṇe sarvadā bhajaya
in contemplation of Kṛṣṇa the sage Kṛṣṇa always worships ‘ātmārāmā api’ bhaje, — gauṇa artha kaya
ātmārāmas also worship secondary meaning it expresses

218 The sage, absorbed in contemplating Kṛṣṇa, always worships Kṛṣṇa; and “the ātmārāmas also (ātmārāmā api)” worship Him — this expresses the secondary meaning.

Anubhāṣya.

The word ca in the meaning of anvācaya, that is, the primacy of one thing and the secondary place of another. As an example one may say: “O brāhmaṇa boy, beg alms, and if you can, bring the cow as well.” Here begging alms is primary, and bringing the cow is indicated as secondary. In the same way, the sages who contemplate Kṛṣṇa always serve Kṛṣṇa as the “primary” ones, and the ātmārāmas serve Kṛṣṇa as the “secondary” ones. This is how the anvācaya meaning is applied.

*The explanation by the eva meaning of the word ca and the garhā (censure) meaning of the word api —*

‘চ’ এবার্থে ‘মুনয়ঃ এব’ কৃষ্ণেরে ভজয় ।
“আত্মারামা অপি” — ‘অপি’ ‘গর্হা’-অর্থ কয় ॥ ২১৯ ॥

‘ca’ evārthe ‘munayaḥ eva’ kṛṣṇere bhajaya
ca in the sense of eva sages only Kṛṣṇa worship “ātmārāmā api” — ‘api’ ‘garhā’-artha kaya
ātmārāmas even api of censure the meaning expresses 219 If ca is taken in the sense of eva, then “only the sages (munayaḥ eva)” worship Kṛṣṇa; and in “ātmārāmā api” the word api expresses censure (garhā).

Anubhāṣya.
If the word ca is used in the sense of eva and the word api in the sense of censure, the meaning is this: “Even though they are ātmārāmas, the sages give up the prestige of such a position — and they alone serve Kṛṣṇa.”

*In both cases the word nirgrantha is a qualifier —*

‘নির্গ্রন্থ হঞা’ — এই দুঁহার ‘বিশেষণ’ ।
আর অর্থ শুন, যৈছে সাধুর সঙ্গম ॥ ২২০ ॥

‘nirgrantha hañā’ — ei dum̐hāra ‘viśeṣaṇa’ nirgranthas becoming this of both a qualifier
āra artha śuna, yaiche sādhura saṅgama
another meaning hear how of the sādhu the company

220 “Becoming nirgranthas” is a qualifier of both. Now hear another meaning, which shows what the company of sādhus can do.

Anubhāṣya.

"Nirgrantha" is the "qualifier" of both, of the ātmārāma and of the muni. And the other, third meaning — that is, the twenty-sixth — is what was seen in the hunter as the fruit of association with Śrī Nārada, the best of sādhus.

*The meaning of the word nirgrantha —*

নির্গ্রন্থ-শব্দে কহে তবে 'ব্যাধ', 'নির্ধন' । সাধুসঙ্গে সেহ করে শ্রীকৃষ্ণ ভজন ॥ ২২১ ॥

nirgrantha-śabde kahe tabe 'vyādha', 'nirdhana'
by the word nirgrantha is meant then a hunter a pauper sādhu-saṅge seha kare śrī-kṛṣṇa bhajana
in the company of sādhus he too performs of Śrī Kṛṣṇa worship

221 The word nirgrantha then means a hunter (vyādha) or a pauper (nirdhana); in the company of sādhus, he too worships Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.

If api with the word nirgrantha is used in the sense of nirdhāraṇa, then even an unworthy hunter, devoid of such wealth as sādhana, becomes a kṛṣṇārāma through the power of association with a sādhu like Nārada, and serves Kṛṣṇa.

*Through the company of sādhus even a hunter is freed from sin, his heart turns to Kṛṣṇa — he becomes a mahā-bhāgavata —*

'কৃষ্ণারামাশ্চ' এব কৃষ্ণ-মনন । ব্যাধ হঞা হয় পূজ্য ভাগবতোত্তম ॥ ২২২ ॥

'kṛṣṇārāmāś ca' eva kṛṣṇa-manana
those who delight in Kṛṣṇa and indeed of Kṛṣṇa contemplation vyādha hañā haya pūjya bhāgavatottama
a hunter though being becomes worshipful the best of bhāgavatas

222 "Kṛṣṇārāmāś ca" — those who delight in Kṛṣṇa — means those who contemplate Kṛṣṇa. Though a hunter, such a person becomes worshipful, the best of the bhāgavatas.

Anubhāṣya.

The meaning of the word ātmā is “Kṛṣṇa.” One who delights in Kṛṣṇa is a kṛṣṇārāma; and this kṛṣṇārāma is the one who contemplates Kṛṣṇa.

*The account of the conversation between the hunter and Nārada from the Skanda Purāṇa —*

এক ভক্ত-ব্যাধের কথা শুন সাবধানে । যাহা হৈতে হয় সৎসঙ্গ-মহিমার জ্ঞানে ॥ ২২৩ ॥

eka bhakta-vyādhera kathā śuna sāvadhāne
of one devotee hunter the story hear attentively
yāhā haite haya sat-saṅga-mahimāra jñāne which from comes of the company of saints of the glory knowledge 223 Hear attentively the story of a hunter who became a devotee; from it one comes to know the glory of the company of saints.

এক দিন শ্রীনারদ দেখি’ নারায়ণ । ত্রিবেণী স্নানে প্রয়াগ করিলা গমন ॥ ২২৪ ॥

eka dina śrī-nārada dekhi’ nārāyaṇa
one day Śrī Nārada having seen Nārāyaṇa triveṇī snāne prayāga karilā gamana
at the Triveṇī for bathing to Prayāga made his way

224 One day, after seeing Nārāyaṇa, Śrī Nārada went to Prayāga to bathe at the Triveṇī.

বনপথে দেখে মৃগ আছে ভূমে পড়ি’ । বাণ-বিদ্ধ ভগ্নপাদ করে ধড়্ফড়ি ॥ ২২৫ ॥

vana-pathe dekhe mṛga āche bhūme paḍi’
on the forest path he sees a deer is on the ground fallen bāṇa-viddha bhagna-pāda kare dhaḍ-phaḍi
pierced by an arrow with broken legs makes writhing

225 On the forest path he saw a deer lying on the ground, pierced by an arrow, its legs broken, writhing in pain.

আর কতদূরে এক দেখেন শূকর । তৈছে বিদ্ধ ভগ্নপাদ করে ধড়্ফড় ॥ ২২৬ ॥

āra kata-dūre eka dekhena śūkara
further a little way on a he sees boar taiche viddha bhagna-pāda kare dhaḍ-phaḍa likewise pierced with broken legs makes writhing

226 A little farther on he saw a boar, likewise pierced, its legs broken, writhing in pain.

ঐছে এক শশক দেখে আর কতদূরে । জীবের দুঃখ দেখি' নারদ ব্যাকুল অন্তরে ॥ ২২৭ ॥

aiche eka śaśaka dekhe āra kata-dūre likewise a rabbit he sees further a little way on jīvera duḥkha dekhi' nārada vyākula antare of the creatures the suffering seeing Nārada distressed at heart

227 Farther still he saw a rabbit in the same state. Seeing the suffering of these creatures, Nārada was distressed at heart.

কতদূরে দেখে ব্যাধে বৃক্ষে ওঁত হঞা । মৃগ মারিবারে আছে বাণ যুড়িয়া ॥ ২২৮ ॥

kata-dūre dekhe vyādhe vṛkṣe oṁta hañā
a little way on he sees the hunter behind a tree hidden (õta) being mṛga māribāre āche bāṇa yuḍiyā deer to kill he is an arrow having fitted

228 Going on a little, he saw the hunter hiding behind a tree, an arrow fitted to his bow, waiting to kill deer.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Õta" — in hiding, concealed in among [the branches].

শ্যামবর্ণ রক্তনেত্র মহাভয়ঙ্কর । ধনুর্ব্বাণ হস্তে, — যেন যম দণ্ডধর ॥ ২২৯ ॥

śyāma-varṇa rakta-netra mahā-bhayaṅkara
dark in complexion red-eyed very fearsome dhanur-bāṇa haste, — yena yama daṇḍa-dhara
bow and arrows in his hands as if Yama holding the rod

229 He was dark in complexion, red-eyed and very fearsome; with bow and arrows in his hands, he looked like Yamarāja holding his rod of punishment.

পথ ছাড়ি' নারদ তার নিকটে চলিল । নারদে দেখি' মৃগ সব পালাঞা গেল ॥ ২৩০ ॥

patha chāḍi' nārada tāra nikaṭe calila
the path leaving Nārada to him near went nārade dekhi' mṛga saba pālāñā gela
Nārada seeing the deer all fleeing went away

230 Leaving the path, Nārada went up to him, and on seeing Nārada all the deer ran away.

ক্রুদ্ধ হঞা ব্যাধ তাঁরে গালি দিতে চায় । নারদ-প্রভাবে মুখে গালি নাহি আয় ॥ ২৩১ ॥

kruddha hañā vyādha tāṁre gāli dite cāya angry becoming the hunter him abuse to give wanted nārada-prabhāve mukhe gāli nāhi āya
by Nārada's power to his mouth abuse did not come

231 The hunter grew angry and wanted to abuse him, but by Nārada's power no abuse would come to his lips.

গোসাঞি, প্রয়াণ-পথ ছাড়ি' কেনে আইলা । তোমা দেখি' মোর লক্ষ্য মৃগ পলাইলা ॥ ২৩২ ॥

gosāñi, prayāṇa-patha chāḍi' kene āilā
O Gosāñi the common road leaving why have you come tomā dekhi' mora lakṣya mṛga palāilā
you seeing my target the deer has fled

232 "Gosāñi, why have you left the road (prayāṇa-patha) and come here? Seeing you, the deer I was aiming at has fled."

Anubhāṣya.
"Prayāṇa-patha"; another reading is "pramāṇa-patha": the set road along which travellers go, that is, the common road.

নারদ কহে, — পথ ভুলি' আইলাঙ পুছিতে । মনে এক সংশয় হয়, তাহা খণ্ডাইতে ॥ ২৩৩ ॥

nārada kahe, — patha bhuli' āilāṅa puchite Nārada said the way having lost I have come to ask mane eka saṁśaya haya, tāhā khaṇḍāite
in my mind one doubt there is it to dispel

233 Nārada said, "I lost my way and have come to ask you something. There is a doubt in my mind, and I would like to dispel it.

পথে যে শূকর-মৃগ, জানি তোমার হয় । ব্যাধ কহে, — যেই কহ, সেই ত' নিশ্চয় ॥ ২৩৪ ॥

pathe ye śūkara-mṛga, jāni tomāra haya on the path which boar deer I know yours are vyādha kahe, — yei kaha, sei ta' niścaya
the hunter said what you say that indeed certain

234 The boar and the deer on the path — I take it they are yours?" The hunter said, "Yes, what you say is so."

নারদ কহে, — যদি জীবে মার' তুমি বাণ । অর্দ্ধ-মারা কর কেনে, না লও পরাণ ? ॥ ২৩৫ ॥

nārada kahe, — yadi jīve māra' tumi bāṇa Nārada says if living beings you strike you with an arrow ardha-mārā kara kene, nā lao parāṇa?
half-killed you make why not you take life

235 Nārada said, "If you shoot living beings with your arrows, why do you leave them half-dead instead of taking their lives?"

ব্যাধ কহে, — শুন, গোসাঞি, 'মৃগারি' মোর নাম । পিতার শিক্ষাতে আমি করি ঐছে কাম ॥ ২৩৬ ॥

vyādha kahe, — śuna, gosāñi, 'mṛgāri' mora nāma
the hunter says listen O Gosāñi Mṛgāri my name pitāra śikṣāte āmi kari aiche kāma
of the father by the teaching I do such work

236 The hunter replied, "Listen, Gosāñi: my name is Mṛgāri, 'enemy of the beasts.' I do this work just as my father taught me.

অর্দ্ধ মারা জীব যদি ধড়্‌ফড় করে । তবে ত' আনন্দ মোর বাড়য়ে অন্তরে ॥ ২৩৭ ॥

ardha mārā jīva yadi dhaḍ-phaḍa kare half killed creature when writhes does tabe ta' ānanda mora bāḍaye antare
then indeed joy my swells in the heart

237 "When a half-killed creature writhes and thrashes about, the joy in my heart swells."

নারদ কহে, — একবস্তু মাগি তোমা-স্থানে । ব্যাধ কহে, — মৃগাদি লহ, যেই তোমার মনে ॥ ২৩৮ ॥

nārada kahe, — eka-vastu māgi tomā-sthāne Nārada says one thing I ask from you vyādha kahe, — mṛgādi laha, yei tomāra mane
the hunter says deer and others take whichever in your mind

238 Nārada said, “I ask one thing of you.” The hunter said, “Take a deer or any other animal you like.

মৃগছাল চাহ যদি, আইস মোর ঘরে । যেই চাহ, তাহা দিব মৃগব্যাঘ্রাম্বরে ॥ ২৩৯ ॥

mṛga-chāla cāha yadi, āisa mora ghare
deerskin you want if come my to the house
yei cāha, tāhā diba mṛga-vyāghrāmbare
whatever you want that I will give among deer and tiger skins

239 “If you want a deerskin, come to my house. I will give you whatever you want — a deerskin or a tiger skin.”

নারদ কহে, — ইহা আমি কিছু নাহি চাহি । আর এক দান আমি মাগি তোমা-ঠাঞি ॥ ২৪০ ॥

nārada kahe, — ihā āmi kichu nāhi cāhi Nārada says this I any not want āra eka dāna āmi māgi tomā-ṭhāñi
another one gift I ask from you

240 Nārada said, “I want none of these. I ask another gift of you:

কালি হৈতে তুমি যেই মৃগাদি মারিবা । প্রথমেই মারিবা, অর্দ্ধ-মারা না করিবা ॥ ২৪১ ॥

kāli haite tumi yei mṛgādi māribā tomorrow from you whichever deer and others you will kill prathamei māribā, ardha-mārā nā karibā
at once kill half-killed not make

241 “From tomorrow on, whatever animals you kill, kill them outright; do not leave them half-dead.”

ব্যাধ কহে, — কিবা দান মাগিলা আমারে । অর্দ্ধ মারিলে কিবা হয়, তাহা কহ মোরে ॥ ২৪২ ॥

vyādha kahe, — kibā dāna māgilā āmāre
the hunter says what gift you asked of me ardha mārile kibā haya, tāhā kaha more half killing what happens that tell me

242 The hunter said, “What a gift to ask of me! What harm is there in half-killing them? Tell me that.”

নারদ কহে, — অর্দ্ধ মারিলে জীব পায় ব্যথা । জীবে দুঃখ দিতেছ, তোমার হইবে ঐছে অবস্থা ॥ ২৪৩ ॥

nārada kahe, — ardha mārile jīva pāya vyathā Nārada says half killing creature gets pain
jīve duḥkha ditecha, tomāra haibe aiche avasthā
to creatures pain you are giving yours will be such plight

243 Nārada said, “A half-killed creature suffers pain. You are giving pain to living beings, and the same plight will be yours.

ব্যাধ তুমি, জীব মার’ — ‘অল্প’ অপরাধ তোমার । কদর্থনা দিয়া মার’ — এ পাপ ‘অপার’ ॥ ২৪৪ ॥

vyādha tumi, jīva māra’ — ‘alpa’ aparādha tomāra hunter you creatures you kill small offence your kadarthanā diyā māra’ — e pāpa ‘apāra’
torment giving you kill this sin boundless

244 “You are a hunter and you kill animals; that is a small offence. But to torment them as you kill them is a sin without measure.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
“Kadarthanā diyā”: by inflicting torment.

কদর্থিয়া তুমি যত মারিলা জীবেরে । তারা তৈছে তোমা মারিবে জন্ম-জন্মান্তরে ॥ ২৪৫ ॥

kadarthiyā tumi yata mārilā jīvere tormenting you as many you killed creatures
tārā taiche tomā māribe janma-janmāntare
they likewise you will kill birth after birth

245 "All the creatures you have tormented to death will kill you in the same way, birth after birth."

নারদ-সঙ্গে ব্যাধের মন পরসন্ন হইল । তাঁর বাক্য শুনি' মনে ভয় উপজিল ॥ ২৪৬ ॥

nārada-saṅge vyādhera mana parasanna haila in the company of Nārada of the hunter mind pure became tāṁra vākya śuni' mane bhaya upajila
his words hearing in the mind fear arose

246 In Nārada's company the hunter's mind became clear, and on hearing his words he grew afraid.

ব্যাধ কহে, — বাল্য হৈতে এই আমার কর্ম্ম । কেমনে তরিব আমি পামর অধম ? ॥ ২৪৭ ॥

vyādha kahe, — bālya haite ei āmāra karma
the hunter says childhood from this my work
kemane tariba āmi pāmara adhama?
how will cross over I sinful fallen

247 The hunter said, "This has been my work since childhood. How can I, a sinful and fallen wretch, be delivered?

এই পাপ যায় মোর, কেমন উপায়ে ?
নিস্তার করহ মোরে, পড়োঁ তোমার পায়ে ॥ ২৪৮ ॥

ei pāpa yāya mora, kemana upāye?
this sin goes my what by means nistāra karaha more, paḍoṁ tomāra pāye deliverance do to me I fall your at the feet

248 "By what means will this sin of mine be removed? Deliver me — I fall at your feet."

নারদ কহে, — যদি ধর আমার বচন । তবে সে করিতে পারি তোমার মোচন ॥ ২৪৯ ॥

nārada kahe, — yadi dhara āmāra vacana Nārada says if you hold my word
tabe se karite pāri tomāra mocana
then only to do I can your release

249 Nārada said, "If you accept my word, then I can set you free."

ব্যাধ কহে, — যেই কহ, সেই ত' করিব । নারদ কহে, — ধনুক ভাঙ্গ, তবে সে কহিব ॥ ২৫০ ॥

vyādha kahe, — yei kaha, sei ta' kariba
the hunter says whatever you say that indeed I will do nārada kahe, — dhanuka bhāṅga, tabe se kahiba
Nārada says bow break then only I will tell

250 The hunter said, "Whatever you say, I will do." Nārada said, "Break your bow; then I will tell you."

ব্যাধ কহে, — ধনুক ভাঙ্গিলে বাঁচিব কেমনে ?
নারদ কহে, — আমি অন্ন দিব প্রতিদিনে ॥ ২৫১ ॥

vyādha kahe, — dhanuka bhāṅgile vāṁciba kemane?
the hunter says bow breaking I will live how nārada kahe, — āmi anna diba prati-dine Nārada says I food will give every day

251 The hunter said, “If I break my bow, how will I live?” Nārada said, “I will give you food every day.”

ধনুক ভাঙ্গি’ ব্যাধ তাঁর চরণে পড়িল । তারে উঠাঞা নারদ উপদেশ কৈল ॥ ২৫২ ॥

dhanuka bhāṅgi’ vyādha tāṁra caraṇe paḍila
bow breaking the hunter his at the feet fell tāre uṭhāñā nārada upadeśa kaila him raising Nārada instruction gave 252 The hunter broke his bow and fell at Nārada’s feet. Nārada raised him up and instructed him:

ঘরে গিয়া ব্রাহ্মণে দেহ’ যত আছে ধন । এক এক বস্ত্র পরি’ বাহির হও দুই জন ॥ ২৫৩ ॥

ghare giyā brāhmaṇe deha’ yata āche dhana
home going to the brāhmaṇas give whatever there is wealth
eka eka vastra pari’ bāhira hao dui jana
one one cloth wearing outside go two persons

253 “Go home and give the brāhmaṇas whatever wealth you have. Then leave home, both of you, each wearing a single cloth.

নদী-তীরে একখানি কুঁড়িয়া করিয়া । তার আগে একপিণ্ডি তুলসী রোপিয়া ॥ ২৫৪ ॥

nadī-tīre eka-khāni kuṁḍiyā kariyā
of a river on the bank one hut making tāra āge eka-piṇḍi tulasī ropiyā
it in front of on a raised mound tulasī planting

254 “Build a small hut on the bank of a river, and in front of it plant a tulasī on a raised mound.

তুলসী-পরিক্রমা কর, তুলসী-সেবন । নিরন্তর কৃষ্ণনাম করিহ কীর্ত্তন ॥ ২৫৫ ॥

tulasī-parikramā kara, tulasī-sevana
tulasī circumambulation do tulasī service
nirantara kṛṣṇa-nāma kariha kīrtana constantly Kṛṣṇa's name do chanting

255 "Walk around the tulasī and serve her, and chant the name of Kṛṣṇa without cease.

আমি তোমায় বহু অন্ন পাঠাইমু দিনে । সেই অন্ন লবে, যত খাও দুইজনে ॥ ২৫৬ ॥

āmi tomāya bahu anna pāṭhāimu dine
I to you much food will send daily sei anna labe, yata khāo dui-jane that food take as much as you eat two persons

256 "I will send you plenty of food every day. Take of it only as much as the two of you eat."

তবে সেই মৃগাদি তিনে নারদ সুস্থ কৈল । সুস্থ হঞা মৃগাদি তিনে ধাঞা পলাইল ॥ ২৫৭ ॥

tabe sei mṛgādi tine nārada sustha kaila
then those deer and others three Nārada healthy made sustha hañā mṛgādi tine dhāñā palāila healthy becoming deer and others three running fled

257 Then Nārada healed the three wounded animals, and once healed they ran off and were gone.

দেখিয়া ব্যাধের মনে হৈল চমৎকার । ঘরে গেল ব্যাধ, গুরুকে করি' নমস্কার ॥ ২৫৮ ॥

dekhiyā vyādhera mane haila camatkāra
seeing of the hunter in the mind arose wonder ghare gela vyādha, guruke kari' namaskāra home went the hunter to the guru making obeisance

258 Seeing this, the hunter was astonished. He bowed to his guru and went home.

যথা-স্থানে নারদ গেলা, ব্যাধ ঘরে আইল । নারদের উপদেশে সকল করিল ॥ ২৫৯ ॥

yathā-sthāne nārada gelā, vyādha ghare āila to his destination Nārada went the hunter home came nāradera upadeśe sakala karila
of Nārada by the instruction everything did

259 Nārada went on his way, and the hunter went home and did everything Nārada had told him.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"Nāradera upadeśe": according to Nārada's instruction.

গ্রামে ধ্বনি হৈল, — ব্যাধ 'বৈষ্ণব' হইল । গ্রামের লোক সব অন্ন আনিতে লাগিল ॥ ২৬০ ॥

grāme dhvani haila, — vyādha 'vaiṣṇava' haila
in the village word went the hunter a Vaiṣṇava became grāmera loka saba anna ānite lāgila
of the village people all food to bring began

260 Word spread through the village that the hunter had become a Vaiṣṇava, and all the villagers began to bring him food.

একদিন অন্ন আনে দশ-বিশ জনে । দিনে তত লয়, যত খায় দুই জনে ॥ ২৬১ ॥

eka-dina anna āne daśa-biśa jane
in one day food bring ten or twenty persons dine tata laya, yata khāya dui jane daily that much he takes as much as eat two persons

261 In a single day ten or twenty people would bring him food, but each day he took only as much as the two of them would eat.

একদিন নারদ কহে, — শুনহ, পর্ব্বতে । আমার এক শিষ্য আছে, চলহ দেখিতে ॥ ২৬২ ॥

ekadina nārada kahe, — śunaha, parvate
one day Nārada says listen to Parvata
āmāra eka śiṣya āche, calaha dekhite
my one disciple there is let us go to see

262 One day Nārada said to Parvata, “Listen, I have a disciple. Let us go and see him.”

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
“Śunaha, Parvate”: O sage Parvata, listen.

তবে দুই ঋষি আইলা সেই ব্যাধ-স্থানে । দূর হৈতে ব্যাধ পাইল গুরুর দরশনে ॥ ২৬৩ ॥

tabe dui ṛṣi āilā sei vyādha-sthāne
then two sages came that to the hunter’s place
dūra haite vyādha pāila gurura daraśane far from the hunter obtained of the guru sight

263 So the two sages came to the hunter’s place, and the hunter caught sight of his guru from afar.

আস্তে-ব্যস্তে ধাঞা আসে, পথ নাহি পায় । পথের পিপীলিকা ইতি-উতি ধরে পায় ॥ ২৬৪ ॥

āste-vyaste dhāñā āse, patha nāhi pāya hurriedly running he comes path not finds pathera pipīlikā iti-uti dhare pāya
of the path ants here and there touch feet

264 He came running in haste, yet he could find no place to step, for here and there the ants on the path were at his feet.

দণ্ডবৎ-স্থানে পিপীলিকারে দেখিয়া । বস্ত্রে স্থান ঝাড়ি' পড়ে দণ্ডবৎ হঞা ॥ ২৬৫ ॥

daṇḍavat-sthāne pipīlikāre dekhiyā
for prostration at the place the ants seeing vastre sthāna jhāḍi' paḍe daṇḍavat hañā with the cloth the place sweeping he falls a rod becoming 265 Seeing ants where he was to offer his prostration, he swept the place clear with his cloth and then fell flat like a rod.

নারদ কহে, — ব্যাধ, এই না হয় আশ্চর্য্য । হরিভক্ত্যে হিংসা-শূন্য হয় সাধুবর্য্য ॥ ২৬৬ ॥

nārada kahe, — vyādha, ei nā haya āścarya Nārada says hunter this not is a wonder hari-bhaktye himsā-śūnya haya sādhu-varya
by devotion to Hari of violence free becomes the best of saints

266 Nārada said, "Hunter, this is no wonder. Through devotion to Hari a person becomes free of all violence and the best of saints."

*The conversation of the hunter and Nārada told in the Skanda Purāṇa —*

এতে ন হ্যদ্ভুতা ব্যাধ তবাহিংসাদয়ো গুণাঃ । হরিভক্তৌ প্রবৃত্তা যে ন তে স্যুঃ পরতাপিনঃ ॥ ২৬৭ ॥

ete na hy adbhutā vyādha
these not indeed wonderful O hunter tavāhiṁsādayo guṇāḥ
your non-violence and the other virtues hari-bhaktau pravṛttā ye in devotion to Hari engaged who na te syuḥ para-tāpinaḥ
not they are causing pain to others

267 "O hunter, it is no wonder that you have non-violence and these other virtues: those who are engaged in devotion to Hari never cause pain to others." (Skanda-purāṇa)[45]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 22.142.

তবে সেই ব্যাধ দোঁহারে অঙ্গনে আনিল । কুশাসন আনি' দোঁহারে ভক্ত্যে বসাইল ॥ ২৬৮ ॥

tabe sei vyādha doṁhāre aṅgane ānila
then that hunter the two into the courtyard brought kuśāsana āni' doṁhāre bhaktye vasāila kuśa seats bringing the two with devotion seated

268 Then the hunter brought the two sages into his courtyard, fetched seats of kuśa grass and reverently seated them.

জল আনি' ভক্ত্যে দোঁহার পাদ প্রক্ষালিল । সেই জল স্ত্রী-পুরুষে পিয়া শিরে লইল ॥ ২৬৯ ॥

jala āni' bhaktye doṁhāra pāda prakṣālila
water bringing with devotion of the two the feet washed sei jala strī-puruṣe piyā śire laila that water wife and husband drinking on the head placed

269 He brought water and reverently washed the feet of both, and he and his wife drank that water and placed it on their heads.

কম্প-পুলকাশ্রু হৈল কৃষ্ণনাম গাঞা । ঊর্দ্ধবাহু নৃত্য করে বস্ত্র উড়াঞা ॥ ২৭০ ॥

kampa-pulakāśru haila kṛṣṇa-nāma gāñā trembling horripilation tears arose Kṛṣṇa's name singing ūrdhva-bāhu nṛtya kare vastra uḍāñā arms raised dance he does cloth waving

270 As he sang the name of Kṛṣṇa, he trembled, his hair stood on end and tears flowed; and he danced with arms raised, waving his cloth.

দেখিয়া ব্যাধের প্রেম পর্ব্বত-মহামুনি । নারদেরে কহে, — তুমি হও স্পর্শমণি ॥ ২৭১ ॥

dekhiyā vyādhera prema parvata-mahāmuni seeing of the hunter the love Parvata the great sage nāradere kahe, — tumi hao sparśa-maṇi
to Nārada says you are a touchstone

271 Seeing the hunter's love, the great sage Parvata said to Nārada, "You are a touchstone!

অহো ধন্যোঽসি দেবর্ষে কৃপয়া যস্য তৎক্ষণাৎ । নীচোঽপ্যুৎপুলকো লেভে লুব্ধকো রতিমচ্যুতে ॥ ২৭২ ॥

aho dhanyo 'si devarṣe
ah blessed you are O sage among the gods
kṛpayā yasya tat-kṣaṇāt
by the mercy of whom instantly
nīco 'py utpulako lebhe
lowly even with hair standing on end obtained lubdhako ratim acyute
a hunter love for Acyuta

272 "Ah, O sage among the gods, you are blessed! By your mercy even a lowly hunter at once attained love (rati) for Acyuta, his hair standing on end." (Skanda-purāṇa)[46]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

O devarṣi, you alone are truly blessed: by your mercy even a low lubdhaka, that is, a hunter, thrilled with ecstasy and attained rati for Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.

devarṣe (O Nārada) aho (in wonder), [tvaṁ] dhanyaḥ asi, yasya [tava] kṛpayā nīcaḥ (low in conduct) lubdhakaḥ (hunter) api utpulakaḥ (with his hair standing on end, [san]) acyute (for Bhagavān Viṣṇu) ratiṁ lebhe (attained).

নারদ কহে, — বৈষ্ণব, তোমার অন্ন কিছু আয় ?
ব্যাধ কহে, — যারে পাঠাও, সেই দিয়া যায় ॥ ২৭৩ ॥

nārada kahe, — vaiṣṇava, tomāra anna kichu āya?
Nārada says Vaiṣṇava your food any comes vyādha kahe, — yāre pāṭhāo, sei diyā yāya
the hunter says whom you send he giving goes

273 Nārada said, “Vaiṣṇava, does any food come to you?” The hunter said, “Whoever you send brings something and leaves it.

এত অন্ন না পাঠাও, কিছু কার্য্য নাই । সবে দুইজনার যোগ্য ভক্ষ্যমাত্র চাই ॥ ২৭৪ ॥

eta anna nā pāṭhāo, kichu kārya nāi
so much food not send any need there is not sabe dui-janāra yogya bhakṣya-mātra cāi
only for two persons fitting food only we want

274 “Do not send so much food; there is no need. We want only as much food as is fit for two people.”

নারদ কহে, — ঐছে রহ, তুমি ভাগ্যবান্ । এত বলি’ দুইজন হইলা অন্তর্দ্ধান ॥ ২৭৫ ॥

nārada kahe, — aiche raha, tumi bhāgyavān Nārada says thus remain you fortunate eta bali' dui-jana hailā antardhāna
this much saying the two became vanished

275 Nārada said, "Live like this — you are fortunate." With these words the two sages vanished.

From the story of the hunter one realises the glory of the company of sādhus —

এই ত' কহিলুঁ তোমায় ব্যাধের আখ্যান । যা শুনিলে হয় সাধুসঙ্গ-প্রভাব-জ্ঞান ॥ ২৭৬ ॥

ei ta' kahiluṁ tomāya vyādhera ākhyāna
this indeed I told to you of the hunter the story
yā śunile haya sādhu-saṅga-prabhāva-jñāna which hearing arises of the company of sādhus of the power knowledge

276 Thus I have told you the story of the hunter. Whoever hears it comes to know the power of the company of sādhus.

Up to here, 26 kinds of meaning —

এই আর তিন অর্থ গণনাতে পাইল । এই দুই অর্থ মিলি' 'ছাব্বিশ' অর্থ হৈল ॥ ২৭৭ ॥

ei āra tina artha gaṇanāte pāila
these further three meanings in the count were obtained ei dui artha mili' 'chābbiśa' artha haila
these two meanings combining twenty-six meanings became 277 Here are three more meanings; together with the earlier ones they make twenty-six.

Anubhāṣya.
"Ei dui artha mili": the twenty-three kinds of meaning given before and the three kinds given now together make twenty-six kinds of meaning.

Besides the 26 kinds of meaning, meanings broadly of two kinds and, in finer detail, of 32 kinds —

আর অর্থ শুন, যাহা — অর্থের ভাণ্ডার ।
স্থূলে ‘দুই’ অর্থ, সূক্ষ্মে ‘বত্রিশ’ প্রকার ॥ ২৭৮ ॥

āra artha śuna, yāhā — arthera bhāṇḍāra
another meaning hear which of meanings a storehouse sthūle ‘dui’ artha, sūkṣme ‘batriśa’ prakāra broadly two meanings in finer detail thirty-two kinds

278 Hear another meaning — a storehouse of meanings: broadly it is twofold, and in finer detail it is of thirty-two kinds.

Anubhāṣya.

“Sthūle dui” — broadly, that is, in general, of two kinds: (1) vaidha-bhaktas and (2) rāga-bhaktas.

“Sūkṣme batriśa prakāra”: if one counts the distinctions finely, in full detail, there are thirty-two kinds of meaning. The vaidha-bhaktas are of sixteen kinds, namely: (1) the pārṣada servant (dāsa), (2) the pārṣada friend (sakhā), (3) the pārṣada elder — a father and the like (guru), (4) the pārṣada beloved (kāntā), (5) the sādhana-siddha servant, (6) the sādhana-siddha friend, (7) the sādhana-siddha elder — a father and the like, (8) the sādhana-siddha beloved, (9) the jāta-rati sādhaka servant, (10) the jāta-rati sādhaka friend, (11) the jāta-rati sādhaka elder — a father and the like, (12) the jāta-rati sādhaka beloved, (13) the ajāta-rati sādhaka servant, (14) the ajāta-rati sādhaka friend, (15) the ajāta-rati sādhaka elder — a father and the like, (16) the ajāta-rati sādhaka beloved. The rāga-bhaktas are likewise of these sixteen kinds. In all there are thirty-two kinds of ātmārāma devotees.

*The word ātmā means all the avatāras of Kṛṣṇa —*

‘আত্মা’-শব্দে কহে — সর্ব্ববিধ ভগবান্ ।
এক ‘স্বয়ং ভগবান্’, আর ‘ভগবান্’-আখ্যান ॥ ২৭৯ ॥

‘ātmā’-śabde kahe — sarva-vidha bhagavān
ātmā by the word is meant of all kinds Bhagavān
eka ‘svayaṁ bhagavān’, āra ‘bhagavān’-ākhyāna
one Svayam Bhagavān others Bhagavān so named

279 The word ātmā means Bhagavān in all His forms: one is Svayam Bhagavān, the Lord Himself, and the others are called Bhagavān.

Anubhāṣya.
The word ātmā denotes Bhagavān in all His kinds. “Sarva-vidha” (“of all kinds”) means the one worshipped by pure devotees of every kind, that is, Bhagavān Himself, Kṛṣṇa, and the other Bhagavāns who are svarūpas of Kṛṣṇa. “Eka” (“one”) means the one and only, all-complete Bhagavān Himself, Śrī Kṛṣṇa — the Bhagavān even of Bhagavān as He is realised in every kind. What the jñānīs and yogīs attain, though counted in the category of Bhagavān, is not the form full of being, knowledge and bliss (sac-cid-ānanda-vigraha); it is only a conception (pratīti) of Bhagavān. Here, on the path of the rāga-bhakti of Vraja, one attains only the original form (svayaṁ-svarūpa), Vrajendranandana. All the other svarūpas of Kṛṣṇa, called by the name Bhagavān, though different from Him (Vrajendra-nandana) and forms of Bhagavān, are attained on the path of vaidha-bhakti.

*Broadly, devotees are of two kinds: (1) those who worship by rule (vidhi) and (2) those endowed with rāga —*

তাঁতে রমে যেই, সেইসব — ‘আত্মারাম’ । ‘বিধিভক্ত’, ‘রাগভক্ত’, — দুইবিধ নাম ॥ ২৮০ ॥

tāṁte rame yei, sei-saba — ‘ātmārāma’
in Him delight who all they ātmārāmas ‘vidhi-bhakta’, ‘rāga-bhakta’, — dui-vidha nāma
vidhi-bhaktas rāga-bhaktas two kinds names

280 All who delight in Him are ātmārāmas. They are known by two names: devotees who follow the rules (vidhi-bhakta) and devotees of spontaneous attachment (rāga-bhakta).

*Each of the two is of four kinds: (1) nitya-siddhas, (2) sādhana-siddhas, (3) and (4) two kinds of sādhakas —*

দুইবিধ ভক্ত হয় চারি চারি প্রকার । পারিষদ, সাধনসিদ্ধ, সাধকগণ আর ॥ ২৮১ ॥

dui-vidha bhakta haya cāri cāri prakāra
two kinds devotees are four four kinds pāriṣada, sādhana-siddha, sādhaka-gaṇa āra eternal associates perfected by practice practitioners and 281 Each of these two kinds of devotees is fourfold: the eternal associates (pārṣada), those perfected by practice (sādhana-siddha) and the practitioners (sādhaka).

Eight kinds in all —

জাত-অজাত-রতিভেদে সাধক দুই ভেদ । বিধি-রাগ-মার্গে চারি চারি — অষ্ট ভেদ ॥ ২৮২ ॥

jāta-ajāta-rati-bhede sādhaka dui bheda awakened unawakened rati by the difference practitioners two kinds vidhi-rāga-mārge cāri cāri — aṣṭa bheda
vidhi rāga on the paths four four eight kinds 282 The practitioners are of two kinds, according to whether rati has awakened in them or not. So on the paths of vidhi and rāga there are four and four — eight kinds.

*In vaidhī-bhakti each of the four kinds of devotees named is again of four kinds; sixteen kinds in all —*

বিধিভক্ত্যে, নিত্যসিদ্ধ পারিষদ — 'দাস' ।
'সখা', 'গুরু', 'কান্তাগণ', — চারিবিধ প্রকাশ ॥ ২৮৩ ॥

vidhi-bhaktye, nitya-siddha pāriṣada — 'dāsa'
in vidhi-bhakti eternally perfect associates servants
'sakhā', 'guru', 'kāntā-gaṇa', — cāri-vidha prakāśa
friends elders beloveds four kinds manifestation

283 On the path of vidhi-bhakti, the eternally perfect associates (nitya-siddha pārṣada) appear in four kinds: servants, friends, elders and beloveds.

সাধনসিদ্ধ — দাস, সখা, গুরু, কান্তাগণ । জাতরতি সাধকভক্ত — চারিবিধ জন ॥ ২৮৪ ॥

sādhana-siddha — dāsa, sakhā, guru, kāntā-gaṇa
perfected by practice servants friends elders beloveds jāta-rati sādhaka-bhakta — cāri-vidha jana with awakened rati practitioner-devotees four kinds persons

284 Those perfected by practice are servants, friends, elders and beloveds; and the practitioners in whom rati has awakened are also of four kinds.

অজাতরতি সাধকভক্ত, — এ চারি প্রকার । বিধিমার্গে ভক্তে ষোড়শ ভেদ প্রচার ॥ ২৮৫ ॥

ajāta-rati sādhaka-bhakta, — e cāri prakāra
with unawakened rati practitioner-devotees these four kinds vidhi-mārge bhakte ṣoḍaśa bheda pracāra
on the path of vidhi among devotees sixteen kinds known 285 The practitioners in whom rati has not yet awakened are of these four kinds as well. Thus on the path of vidhi there are sixteen kinds of devotees.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The pārṣadas — that is, the nitya-siddhas — the sādhana-siddhas, the jāta-rati sādhakas and the ajāta-rati sādhakas are each of four kinds, on the path of rules (vaidha) and on the path of rāga. The eternally perfect pārṣadas are again of four kinds: servants, friends, elders (gurus) and beloveds. And the sādhana-siddhas, the jāta-rati sādhakas and the ajāta-rati sādhakas each have these same four kinds as well.

Rāgamayī-bhakti*, like vaidhī-bhakti, is of sixteen kinds; therefore the ātmārāmas are of thirty-two kinds —*

রাগমার্গে ঐছে ভক্তে ষোড়শ বিভেদ । দুই মার্গে আত্মারামের বত্রিশ বিভেদ ॥ ২৮৬ ॥

rāga-mārge aiche bhakte ṣoḍaśa vibheda
on the path of rāga likewise among devotees sixteen kinds dui mārge ātmārāmera batriśa vibheda
on the two paths of ātmārāmas thirty-two kinds

286 On the path of rāga the devotees are likewise of sixteen kinds, so that on the two paths there are thirty-two kinds of ātmārāmas.

*With them are joined muni, nirgrantha, ca and api —*

‘মুনি’, ‘নির্গ্রন্থ’, ‘চ’, ‘অপি’, — চারি শব্দের অর্থ ।
যাঁহা যেই লাগে, তাহা করিয়ে সমর্থ ॥ ২৮৭ ॥

‘muni’, ‘nirgrantha’, ‘ca’, ‘api’, — cāri śabdera artha
muni nirgrantha ca api four of words meanings
yāṁhā yei lāge, tāhā kariye samartha
where which fits that I make apt

287 I apply the meanings of the four words muni, nirgrantha, ca and api wherever each of them fits.

Up to here, 58 kinds of meaning —

বত্রিশে ছাব্বিশে মিলি’ অষ্টপঞ্চাশ । আর এক ভেদ শুন অর্থের প্রকাশ ॥ ২৮৮ ॥

batriśe chābbiśe mili' aṣṭa-pañcāśa thirty-two with twenty-six combining fifty-eight āra eka bheda śuna arthera prakāśa
another one kind hear of meaning disclosure

288 The thirty-two and the twenty-six together make fifty-eight. Now hear yet another way of bringing out the meaning.

Anubhāṣya.
In the category of devotees there are thirty-two kinds, and in the category of jñānīs and yogīs twenty-six kinds; together they make fifty-eight kinds.

*Meanings by the word ca —*

ইতরেতর 'চ' দিয়া সমাস করিয়ে ।
'আটান্ন'বার আত্মারাম নাম লইয়ে ॥ ২৮৯ ॥

itaretara 'ca' diyā samāsa kariye mutual (itaretara) ca adding compound I make
'āṭānna'-bāra ātmārāma nāma laiye
fifty-eight times ātmārāma word I take

289 Joining them with ca in the sense of mutual conjunction (itaretara), I take the word ātmārāma fifty-eight times:

'আত্মারামাশ্চ আত্মারামাশ্চ' আটান্নবার । শেষে সব লোপ করি' রাখি একবার ॥ ২৯০ ॥

'ātmārāmāś ca ātmārāmāś ca' āṭānna-bāra
ātmārāmas and ātmārāmas and fifty-eight times
śeṣe saba lopa kari' rākhi eka-bāra
at the end all elision making I keep once

290 "Ātmārāmāś ca ātmārāmāś ca…" — fifty-eight times. Then, dropping all the rest, I keep the word only once.

সরূপাণামেকশেষ একবিভক্তৌ, উক্তার্থানামপ্রয়োগ ইতি ॥ ২৯১ ॥

sarūpāṇām eka-śeṣa eka-vibhaktau,
of words of the same form one remains in the same case
uktārthānām aprayoga iti
of words whose meaning is already expressed non-use thus

291 “Of words of the same form in the same case only one remains (eka-śeṣa); words whose meaning has already been expressed are not used.” (Viśva-prakāśa)[47]

আটান্ন চ-কারের সব লোপ হয় ৷ এক আত্মারাম-শব্দে আটান্ন অর্থ কয় ॥ ২৯২ ॥

āṭānna ca-kārera saba lopa haya
fifty-eight of the word ca all elision takes place
eka ātmārāma-śabde āṭānna artha kaya
one ātmārāma in the word fifty-eight meanings expresses

292 All fifty-eight occurrences of ca are elided, and the single word ātmārāma expresses fifty-eight meanings.

সরূপাণামেকশেষ এক বিভক্তৌ উক্তার্থানামপ্রয়োগঃ ॥ ২৯৩ ॥

sarūpāṇām eka-śeṣa eka vibhaktau
of words of the same form one remains in the same case
uktārthānām aprayogaḥ
of words whose meaning is already expressed non-use

293 “Of words of the same form in the same case only one remains (eka-śeṣa); words whose meaning has already been expressed are not used.” (Pāṇini)[48]

অশ্বত্থবৃক্ষাশ্চ বটবৃক্ষাশ্চ কপিত্থবৃক্ষাশ্চ আম্রবৃক্ষাশ্চ বৃক্ষাঃ ॥ ২৯৪ ॥

aśvattha-vṛkṣāś ca baṭa-vṛkṣāś ca aśvattha trees and banyan trees and kapittha-vṛkṣāś ca āmra-vṛkṣāś ca vṛkṣāḥ
kapittha trees and mango trees and trees

294 "Aśvattha trees and banyan trees and kapittha trees and mango trees — trees."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The word vṛkṣāḥ ("trees") expresses the aśvattha, the banyan, the kapittha and the mango. Therefore words whose meaning is already expressed are not used here.

'অস্মিন্ বনে বৃক্ষাঃ ফলন্তি' যৈছে হয়।
তৈছে সব আত্মারাম কৃষ্ণে ভক্তি করয় ॥ ২৯৫ ॥

'asmin vane vṛkṣāḥ phalanti' yaiche haya
in this forest trees bear fruit as it is taiche saba ātmārāma kṛṣṇe bhakti karaya
so all ātmārāmas to Kṛṣṇa devotion render

295 Just as one says, "In this forest the trees bear fruit," so all the ātmārāmas render devotion to Kṛṣṇa.

*Counting the words munayaś ca, 59 kinds of meaning —*

'আত্মারামাশ্চ' সমুচ্চয়ে কহিয়ে চ-কার।
'মুনয়শ্চ' ভক্তি করে, — এই অর্থ তার ॥ ২৯৬ ॥

'ātmārāmāś ca' samuccaye kahiye ca-kāra
ātmārāmas and in the sense of conjunction I take the word ca
'munayaś ca' bhakti kare, — ei artha tāra munis and devotion render this meaning its

296 In "ātmārāmāś ca" I take the word ca in the sense of conjunction (samuccaya), and the meaning is: "and the munis render devotion."

‘নির্গ্রন্থা এব’ হঞা, ‘অপি’ — নির্দ্ধারণে ।
এই ‘ঊনষষ্টি’ প্রকার অর্থ করিলুঁ ব্যাখ্যানে ॥ ২৯৭ ॥

‘nirgranthā eva’ hañā, ‘api’ — nirdhāraṇe nirgranthas indeed becoming api in the sense of specification ei ‘ūnaṣaṣṭi’ prakāra artha kariluṁ vyākhyāne
this fifty-ninth kind of meaning I made in the explanation

297 Taking “nirgranthā eva” — “having become nirgranthas” — and api in the sense of specification (nirdhāraṇa), I have explained the fifty-ninth kind of meaning.

Anubhāṣya.
The fifty-eight kinds of ātmārāmas and the sages (munis), having become nirgranthas, serve Kṛṣṇa with devotion — this is the fifty-ninth meaning.

One more meaning —

সর্ব্বসমুচ্চয়ে আর এক অর্থ হয় ।
‘আত্মারামাশ্চ মুনয়শ্চ নির্গ্রন্থাশ্চ’ ভজয় ॥ ২৯৮ ॥

sarva-samuccaye āra eka artha haya
in the conjunction of all further one meaning there is ‘ātmārāmāś ca munayaś ca nirgranthāś ca’ bhajaya
ātmārāmas and munis and nirgranthas and worship

298 When all are conjoined, there is one more meaning: “The ātmārāmas, the munis and the nirgranthas” all worship Kṛṣṇa.

‘অপি’-শব্দ — অবধারণে, সেই চারি বার ।
চারিশব্দ-সঙ্গে ‘এব’ করিব উচ্চার ॥ ২৯৯ ॥

‘api’-śabda — avadhāraṇe, sei cāri bāra api the word in the sense of certainty that four times
cāri-śabda-saṅge ‘eva’ kariba uccāra
four words with eva I will make utterance

299 Taking the word api in the sense of certainty (avadhāraṇa), I will pronounce eva four times, once with each of the four words:

উরুক্রমে এব ভক্তিমেব অহৈতুকীমেব কুর্ব্বন্ত্যেব ॥ ৩০০ ॥

urukrame eva bhaktim eva to Urukrama alone devotion alone ahaitukīm eva kurvanty eva causeless alone they render indeed

300 "To Urukrama alone, devotion alone, causeless devotion alone — this indeed they render."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

By adding eva to the four words urukrama, bhakti, ahaitukī and kurvanti, I shall give one more meaning.

Up to here, 60 kinds of meaning —

এই ত' কহিলুঁ শ্লোকের 'ষষ্টি'সংখ্যক অর্থ । আর এক অর্থ শুন প্রমাণে সমর্থ ॥ ৩০১ ॥

ei ta' kahiluṁ ślokera 'ṣaṣṭi'-saṅkhyaka artha
this indeed I told of the verse sixty in number meanings
āra eka artha śuna pramāṇe samartha
another one meaning hear by evidence supported

301 Thus I have told you sixty meanings of the verse. Now hear one more meaning, well supported by evidence.

Anubhāṣya.

"Sarva samuccaya": that is, the ātmārāmas, the munis and the nirgranthas all serve Kṛṣṇa. And if the word api is taken in the sense of emphasis (avadhāraṇa), that is, of certainty, sixty kinds of meaning result.

*Lastly, one more meaning: the word ātmā as "the kṣetrajña potency" —*

'আত্মা'-শব্দে কহে 'ক্ষেত্রজ্ঞ জীব'-লক্ষণ । ব্রহ্মাদি কীটপর্য্যন্ত — তাঁর শক্তিতে গণন ॥ ৩০২ ॥

'ātmā'-śabde kahe 'kṣetra-jña jīva'-lakṣaṇa
ātmā by the word denotes kṣetrajña jīva the sense
brahmādi kīṭa-paryanta — tāṁra śaktite gaṇana
Brahmā and others down to the insect His in the potency counted

302 The word ātmā also denotes the jīva, the knower of the field (kṣetrajña). All beings, from Brahmā down to the insect, are counted as His potency.

Anubhāṣya.
If the word ātmā is taken to mean "jīva," then all beings, from Brahmā down to the insect, are the jīva-śakti. These kṣetrajña jīvas, having become nirgrantha sages, serve Kṛṣṇa — this is the sixty-first meaning.

বিষ্ণুশক্তিঃ পরা প্রোক্তা ক্ষেত্রজ্ঞাখ্যা তথাপরা ।
অবিদ্যা-কর্ম্ম-সংজ্ঞান্যা তৃতীয়া শক্তিরিষ্যতে ॥ ৩০৩ ॥

viṣṇu-śaktiḥ parā proktā
Viṣṇu's potency superior is declared kṣetrajñākhyā tathā parā
called the knower of the field likewise superior avidyā-karma-saṁjñānyā called ignorance and karma another tṛtīyā śaktir iṣyate
a third potency is held to be 303 "The potency of Viṣṇu is declared to be superior; the potency called the knower of the field (kṣetrajña) is likewise superior; and the other, called ignorance and karma, is held to be a third potency." (Viṣṇu Purāṇa, 6.7.61)[49]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 7.119.

*Synonyms of kṣetrajña —*

ক্ষেত্রজ্ঞ আত্মা পুরুষঃ প্রধানং প্রকৃতিঃ স্ত্রিয়াম্ ॥ ৩০৪ ॥

kṣetra-jña ātmā puruṣaḥ
kṣetrajña ātmā puruṣa
pradhānaṁ prakṛtiḥ striyām pradhāna prakṛti in the feminine

304 "Kṣetrajña: ātmā, puruṣa, pradhāna and prakṛti (the last in the feminine)." (Amara-kośa)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The word kṣetrajña means ātmā, puruṣa, pradhāna and prakṛti.

The fruit of the company of sādhus: attaining devotion to Kṛṣṇa —

ভ্রমিতে ভ্রমিতে যদি সাধুসঙ্গ পায় । সব ত্যজি' তবে তিঁহো কৃষ্ণেরে ভজয় ॥ ৩০৫ ॥

bhramite bhramite yadi sādhu-saṅga pāya wandering wandering if of a sādhu the company he finds saba tyaji' tabe tiṁho kṛṣṇere bhajaya
everything giving up then he Kṛṣṇa worships

305 If, after wandering and wandering, such a soul finds the company of a sādhu, he gives up everything and worships Kṛṣṇa.

ষাটি অর্থ কহিলুঁ, সব — কৃষ্ণের ভজনে । সেই অর্থ হয়, এই সব উদাহরণে ॥ ৩০৬ ॥

ṣāṭi artha kahiluṁ, saba — kṛṣṇera bhajane
sixty meanings I told all Kṛṣṇa's in the worship sei artha haya, ei saba udāharaṇe
that meaning is these all in the examples

306 I have told you sixty meanings, and all of them concern the worship of Kṛṣṇa; that same meaning holds in all these examples.

Thus, up to here, sixty-one kinds of meaning have been explained —

‘একষষ্টি’ অর্থ এবে স্ফুরিল তোমা-সঙ্গে ।
তোমার ভক্তি-বশে উঠে অর্থের তরঙ্গে ॥ ৩০৭ ॥

‘eka-ṣaṣṭi’ artha ebe sphurila tomā-saṅge
sixty-first meaning now came to light in your company tomāra bhakti-vaśe uṭhe arthera taraṅge
your devotion by the power rise of meaning waves

307 Now, in your company, the sixty-first meaning has come to light. By the power of your devotion, waves of meaning rise up.

Sanātana’s wonder at hearing the sixty-one kinds of meaning, and his praise of the Lord —

অর্থ শুনি’ সনাতন বিস্মিত হঞা । স্তুতি করে মহাপ্রভুর চরণে ধরিয়া ॥ ৩০৮ ॥

artha śuni’ sanātana vismita hañā
the meanings hearing Sanātana amazed becoming stuti kare mahāprabhura caraṇe dhariyā prayers offers of Mahāprabhu the feet clasping

308 Hearing these meanings, Sanātana was amazed. Clasping Mahāprabhu’s feet, he offered prayers:

When the Lord in the form of the Puruṣa breathes out, the Vedas appear —

সাক্ষাৎ ঈশ্বর তুমি ব্রজেন্দ্রনন্দন । তোমার নিশ্বাসে সর্ব্ববেদ-প্রবর্ত্তন ॥ ৩০৯ ॥

sākṣāt īśvara tumi vrajendra-nandana directly the Lord You of the king of Vraja the son tomāra niśvāse sarva-veda-pravartana
Your by the breath of all the Vedas the coming forth

309 “You are the Lord Himself, the son of the king of Vraja. All the Vedas come forth with Your breath.

*The Lord alone, in the forms of Śeṣa and other forms of Viṣṇu, explains the Bhāgavatam and knows it —*

তুমি — বক্তা ভাগবতের, তুমি জান অর্থ । তোমা বিনা অন্য জানিতে নাহিক সমর্থ ॥ ৩১০ ॥

tumi — vaktā bhāgavatera, tumi jāna artha
You the speaker of the Bhāgavatam You know the meaning tomā vinā anya jānite nāhika samartha
You except another to know not able

310 "You are the speaker of the Bhāgavatam, and You know its meaning. No one but You is able to know it."

*The Lord glorifies the greatness of the Bhāgavatam —*

প্রভু কহে, — কেনে কর আমার স্তবন । ভাগবতের স্বরূপ কেনে না কর বিচারণ ? ॥ ৩১১ ॥

prabhu kahe, — kene kara āmāra stavana
the Lord says why you make My praise bhāgavatera svarūpa kene nā kara vicāraṇa?
of the Bhāgavatam the true nature why not you make consideration

311 The Lord said, "Why do you praise Me? Why do you not consider the true nature of the Bhāgavatam?

কৃষ্ণ-তুল্য ভাগবত — বিভু, সর্ব্বাশ্রয় ।
প্রতি-শ্লোকে প্রতি-অক্ষরে নানা অর্থ কয় ॥ ৩১২ ॥

kṛṣṇa-tulya bhāgavata — vibhu, sarvāśraya to Kṛṣṇa equal the Bhāgavatam all-pervading the shelter of all prati-śloke prati-akṣare nānā artha kaya
in every verse in every syllable many meanings expresses 312 "The Bhāgavatam is equal to Kṛṣṇa — all-pervading, the shelter of all. In every verse and every syllable it expresses many meanings.

Śrī Bhāgavatam was revealed through questions and answers — first between Śrī Parīkṣit and Śukadeva, then between Śaunaka and the other sages and Śrī Sūta —

প্রশ্নোত্তরে ভাগবতে করিয়াছে নির্দ্ধার । যাঁহার শ্রবণে লোকে লাগে চমৎকার ॥ ৩১৩ ॥

praśnottare bhāgavate kariyāche nirdhāra
in questions and answers in the Bhāgavatam has made the conclusion
yāṁhāra śravaṇe loke lāge camatkāra which at the hearing to people comes wonder

313 "In the Bhāgavatam the truth is established through questions and answers, and hearing it, people are struck with wonder.

অহং বেদ্মি শুকো বেত্তি ব্যাসো বেত্তি ন বেত্তি বা । ভক্ত্যা ভাগবতং গ্রাহ্যং ন বুদ্ধ্যা ন চ টীকয়া ॥ ৩১৪ ॥

ahaṁ vedmi śuko vetti
I know Śuka knows
vyāso vetti na vetti vā Vyāsa knows not knows or bhaktyā bhāgavataṁ grāhyaṁ
by devotion the Bhāgavatam to be grasped na buddhyā na ca ṭīkayā
not by intellect not and by commentary

314 "I know, Śuka knows, and Vyāsa may or may not know. The Bhāgavatam is to be grasped by devotion — not by the intellect, nor by commentaries." (the words of Śrī Śiva in an ancient verse)[50]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Mahādeva said: "I know, Śuka knows, and Vyāsa may know or may not." The Bhāgavatam is grasped by bhakti alone; it is never grasped by intellect or by commentaries.

Anubhāṣya.

ahaṁ ([I,] Śiva, [the scripture] Bhāgavatam) vedmi (know), śukaḥ (Vaiyāsaki) vetti (knows), vyāsaḥ vetti vā na vetti (a doubt); bhāgavataṁ (the scripture called the Pāramahaṁsī-saṁhitā) bhaktyā (only through the unbroken succession of the current of glorifying and hearing about Viṣṇu, only through service to Hari full of surrender to Viṣṇu) grāhyaṁ, na buddhyā, na ca ṭīkayā (that is, not by logic; [this follows] also from statements of śruti and smṛti such as "one who has supreme devotion to God …,"[58] "this ātmā is not [attained] by exposition …,"[59] and "know this by bowing down …"[60]).

*After Kṛṣṇa's departure, this Bhāgavatam itself is Kṛṣṇa's form as a book —*

ব্রূহি যোগেশ্বরে কৃষ্ণে ব্রহ্মণ্যে ধর্ম্মবর্ম্মণি ।
স্বাং কাষ্ঠামধুনোপেতে ধর্ম্মঃ কং শরণং গতঃ ॥ ৩১৫ ॥

brūhi yogeśvare kṛṣṇe
tell to the master of yoga to Kṛṣṇa
brahmaṇye dharma-varmaṇi
devoted to the brāhmaṇas of dharma the armour
svāṁ kāṣṭhām adhunopete
to His own abode now having gone
dharmaḥ kaṁ śaraṇaṁ gataḥ
dharma to which shelter has gone

315 "Tell us: now that Kṛṣṇa — the master of yoga, devoted to the brāhmaṇas, the armour of dharma — has gone to His own abode, to whom has dharma gone for shelter?" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.1.23)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Tell us: now that Kṛṣṇa — the Lord of yoga, Brahmaṇyadeva, the very armour of dharma — has reached His own kāṣṭhā (His eternal abode), with whom has dharma taken shelter?

Anubhāṣya.
In Naimiṣāraṇya the sages headed by Śaunaka put six questions to the mahā-bhāgavata Śrī Sūta Gosvāmī. This is the last of them, the sixth question, and in the next verse Śrī Sūta gives the answer to it:

(he sūta) yogeśvare (to the Lord of the yogas — the yogas here being the yogīs themselves — full of the six opulences) brahmaṇye (the protector of the brāhmaṇas) dharma-varmaṇi (who guards eternal dharma like armour) kṛṣṇe svāṁ kāṣṭhām (to His own direction — that is, to His own svarūpa, His own eternal abode; the sense is, to His unmanifest pastimes) upete (having reached) dharmaḥ (eternal) adhunā kaṁ śaraṇam (shelter) gataḥ (has gone to) — [on whom eternal dharma now rests,] — brūhi (tell).

কৃষ্ণে স্বধামোপগতে ধর্ম্মজ্ঞানাদিভিঃ সহ । কলৌ নষ্টদৃশামেষ পুরাণার্কোঽধুনোদিতঃ ॥ ৩১৬ ॥

kṛṣṇe sva-dhāmopagate Kṛṣṇa to His own abode having gone dharma-jñānādibhiḥ saha dharma knowledge and the rest with kalau naṣṭa-dṛśām eṣa
in Kali for those who have lost their sight this purāṇārko 'dhunoditaḥ
Purāṇa-sun now has risen

316 "Now that Kṛṣṇa has gone to His own abode together with dharma, knowledge and the rest, this Purāṇa has risen like the sun in the age of Kali for those who have lost their sight." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.3.43)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Now that Kṛṣṇa has gone to His own abode together with dharma, knowledge and the rest, this sun among the Purāṇas has risen for the good of people stricken by Kali, who have lost their sight.

Anubhāṣya.

(He says: "You asked, 'With whom has dharma taken shelter?' Know that it is this":) dharma-jñānādibhiḥ (with the six opulences) saha kṛṣṇe sva-dhāma upagate (when He, having concluded His manifest pastimes, entered His unmanifest pastimes) adhunā (now) kalau (in the age of Kali) naṣṭa-dṛśām (for the good of those bereft of knowledge of the truth of true dharma, devotion to Viṣṇu) eṣaḥ purāṇārkaḥ (the book Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, which like the sun dispels the night of irreligion) uditaḥ (has appeared, that is, has become manifest).

*Only one who, by following Caitanya, has awakened his pure spiritual nature and become mad with transcendental service to Kṛṣṇa is qualified to understand the meaning of the Bhāgavatam — this is pointed out —*

এই মত কহিলুঁ এক শ্লোকের ব্যাখ্যান । বাতুলের প্রলাপ করি' কে করে প্রমাণ ? ॥ ৩১৭ ॥

ei mata kahiluṁ eka ślokera vyākhyāna
this way I told one of the verse explanation
vātulera pralāpa kari' ke kare pramāṇa?
of a madman raving taking who makes authority

317 "In this way I have explained a single verse. Who would take a madman's raving as authority?

আমা-হেন যেবা কেহ 'বাতুল' হয় । এইদৃষ্টে ভাগবতের অর্থ জানয় ॥ ৩১৮ ॥

āmā-hena yebā keha 'vātula' haya like Me whoever anyone a madman becomes ei-dṛṣṭe bhāgavatera artha jānaya
with this vision of the Bhāgavatam the meaning knows

318 "Only one who becomes 'mad' like Me comes to know the meaning of the Bhāgavatam with such vision."

*Sanātana humbly asks the Lord about the Vaiṣṇava-smṛti and longs to hear instruction from His own lips —*

পুনঃ সনাতন কহে যুড়ি' দুই করে ।
প্রভু, আজ্ঞা দিলা 'বৈষ্ণবস্মৃতি' করিবারে ॥ ৩১৯ ॥

punaḥ sanātana kahe yuḍi' dui kare
again Sanātana says joining two palms
prabhu, ājñā dilā 'vaiṣṇava-smṛti' karibāre Lord order You gave Vaiṣṇava-smṛti to make

319 Joining his palms, Sanātana spoke again: “Lord, You ordered me to compile a Vaiṣṇava-smṛti.

Anubhāṣya.

Vaiṣṇava-smṛti: the book Śrī Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, the code of rules for the worldly conduct of Vaiṣṇavas.

মুঞি — নীচ-জাতি, কিছু না জানি বিচার । মো-হৈতে কৈছে হয় স্মৃতি-পরচার ॥ ৩২০ ॥

muñi — nīca-jāti, kichu nā jāni vicāra
I of low birth anything not I know reasoning mo-haite kaiche haya smṛti-paracāra
through me how happens of the smṛti promulgation

320 “I am of low birth and know nothing of reasoning. How can a smṛti be set forth through me?

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

“Nīca-jāti”: Sanātana said, “I am of the brāhmaṇa caste, but I have fallen through association with mlecchas.”

Anubhāṣya.

Origin (jāti) is of three kinds: śaukra (by seed), sāvitra (by Sāvitrī) and daikṣa (by initiation). Śrī Sanātana appeared in a pure family of Karṇāṭa brāhmaṇas, but in worldly eyes serving a mleccha is in itself a sign of low origin. Nowadays only birth by seed is known as jāti; in fact this only betrays ignorance.

সূত্র করি’ দিশা যদি করহ উপদেশ । আপনে করহ যদি হৃদয়ে প্রবেশ ॥ ৩২১ ॥

sūtra kari’ diśā yadi karaha upadeśa sūtras making direction if You give instruction
āpane karaha yadi hṛdaye praveśa
Yourself You make if in the heart entrance

321 “If You instruct me, showing the direction in the form of sūtras, and if You Yourself enter my heart,

Anubhāṣya.
Diśā: the method.

তবে তার দিশা স্ফুরে মো-নীচের হৃদয়ে ৷ ঈশ্বর তুমি, — যে করাহ, সেই সিদ্ধ হয়ে ॥ ৩২২ ॥

tabe tāra diśā sphure mo-nīcera hṛdaye
then its direction appears of lowly me in the heart īśvara tumi, — ye karāha, sei siddha haye
the Lord You what You cause to do that accomplished becomes 322 “then the way to write it will dawn in this lowly one’s heart. You are the Lord: whatever You have one do is accomplished.”

The Lord blesses Sanātana —

প্রভু কহে, — যে করিতে করিবা তুমি মন ৷ কৃষ্ণ সেই সেই তোমা করাবে স্ফুরণ ॥ ৩২৩ ॥

prabhu kahe, — ye karite karibā tumi mana
the Lord says what to do you will make you mind
kṛṣṇa sei sei tomā karābe sphuraṇa
Kṛṣṇa that that to you will cause revelation

323 The Lord said, “Whatever you resolve to do, Kṛṣṇa will reveal it to you.

*The Lord sets out the sūtras of the Vaiṣṇava-smṛti and lays the foundation of the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa —*

তথাপি এই সূত্রের শুন দিগ্দরশন ৷ সকারণ লিখি আদৌ গুরু আশ্রয়ণ ॥ ৩২৪ ॥

tathāpi ei sūtrera śuna dig-daraśana
still these of the sūtras hear an outline sakāraṇa likhi ādau guru āśrayaṇa
with reasons writing first of the guru taking shelter

324 "Still, hear an outline of these sūtras. First describe, with its reasons, taking shelter of a guru;

Anubhāṣya.

Another reading is "sarva-kāraṇa," that is, the cause of all. On taking shelter of the guru, see Ādi 1.35 and 1.46.

In the first vilāsa of the Śrī Hari-bhakti-vilāsa it is said: "First one should describe why [one must take shelter of a guru], and then taking shelter of Śrī Guru; the testing of guru and disciple and so on; Bhagavān and His mantras; who is qualified for a mantra; examining a mantra for siddhi and so on; the rites of purifying a mantra; dīkṣā; rising auspiciously every day in the brāhma-muhūrta; purity; remembrance at dawn and so on; awakening Kṛṣṇa with the sound of instruments and so on; first removing the nirmālya and so on, then the maṅgala-ārati; answering the calls of nature and so on, cleansing and ācamana, cleaning the teeth; bathing, the Tantric sandhyā and so on, cleaning the temple and so on; gathering tulasī and the like, bathing at home, hot water and so on; clothing, seat, ūrdhva-puṇḍra, Śrī gopī-candana and so on; the marks of the disc and the other symbols, beads; worship at home at the sandhyā; the glory of the guru, and then the glory of Kṛṣṇa; worship at the temple door and inside it; the seat for pūjā, setting out the arghya and so on, warding off obstacles; bowing to Śrī Guru and others, bhūta-śuddhi, purifying the prāṇa; the nyāsas and the five mudrās; meditation on Kṛṣṇa and inner worship; the objects of worship — the Śrī Mūrti, śālagrāma-śilās and the discs from Dvārakā; purifications; worship of [the Lord's] seat; invocation and so on and the corresponding mudrās; offering the seat and so on; bathing [the Lord], sounding the conch, the bell and so on, the thousand names, reading the Purāṇas; garments, the sacred thread, ornaments; fragrance, sandalwood paste of Śrī Tulasī wood, flowers, leaves and tulasī; worship of the aṅga, upāṅga and āvaraṇa; incense, the lamp, naivedya, drink, homa, bali; rinsing the mouth and so on, betel, divine fragrance and so on once more; the royal offerings, singing and so on, and also the mahā-nīrājana; sounding the conch and so on, nīrājana with a conch filled with water; hymns, obeisances, circumambulation, offering [to the Lord] one's actions and so on,

japa and prayer; begging pardon for offences, the various offences; accepting the nirmālya; the holy water from the conch, the worship of tulasī, her earth and so on; the dhātrī; the times when bathing is forbidden; earning one's livelihood; at midday the vaiśvadeva and so on, the śrāddha, and what may not be offered to Acyuta; the faults of eating without worship and of eating food not offered [to the Lord]; partaking of naivedya; sādhus, the company of sādhus and avoiding the company of non-sādhus; the fate of non-sādhus, the evil fruits of mocking Vaiṣṇavas, blaspheming them and so on; the true[61] scriptures of bhakti and of Viṣṇu, and the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam; narrations of the pastimes and the dharma of Bhagavān; the evening duties; how to avoid lapses in duty; especially, worship three times a day; then the night duties; how one sees the fruit of worship, siddhi and so on; gifts for Viṣṇu's sake, various offerings, making up what is lacking; putting [the Lord] to rest; the glory of [Deity] worship and also the wondrous [glory] of the holy name; offences against the name, bhakti, prema, then taking shelter and so on; the Ekādaśī of each fortnight with all its parts; the eight great Dvādaśīs; the duties in all twelve months beginning with Mārgaśīrṣa; the rites of puraścaraṇa; the marks of one perfect in a mantra; manifesting a mūrti, installing a mūrti; Kṛṣṇa's temple; restoring what has decayed; the wedding of Śrī Tulasī; and the exclusive duties (ananya-karma)."

গুরুলক্ষণ, শিষ্যলক্ষণ, দোঁহার পরীক্ষণ । সেব্য — ভগবান্, সর্ব্বমন্ত্র-বিচারণ ॥ ৩২৫ ॥

guru-lakṣaṇa, śiṣya-lakṣaṇa, doṁhāra parīkṣaṇa
guru marks disciple marks of both testing sevya — bhagavān, sarva-mantra-vicāraṇa
the object of service Bhagavān all mantras consideration

325 "the marks of a guru and of a disciple, and how each tests the other; Bhagavān as the object of service; a consideration of all the mantras;

Anubhāṣya.

The marks of a guru. (Padma Purāṇa): "The best of the mahā-bhāgavatas, a brāhmaṇa, is the guru of men. All people should worship him as they worship Hari. But one who is not a Vaiṣṇava cannot be a guru, even if he is born in a great family, initiated in all sacrifices and versed in a thousand branches [of the Veda]." Brāhmaṇas and the other varṇas are determined by the marks stated in the verse

Bhā. 7.32.11.[62] In his commentary on this verse Śrīla Śrīdhara Svāmī writes: “[With the verse] yasya … he says that one should call someone a brāhmaṇa and so forth chiefly on the basis of śama and the other qualities, not on the basis of birth alone. Yat: if [these marks] are seen even in a person of another varṇa, one should designate him by the varṇa those marks point to, not by the one his birth points to.” In his commentary on the Mahābhārata Nīlakaṇṭha says: “Even a śūdra endowed with śama and the other qualities is a brāhmaṇa. Even a brāhmaṇa endowed with lust and the rest is a śūdra.”

It is not true that anyone who calls himself a brāhmaṇa, or whom ignorant people call one, is thereby to be considered a “brāhmaṇa” fit to be a guru. Śrī Ṭhākura Narottama, Śyāmānanda and other gurus who were true brāhmaṇas were in fact pure brāhmaṇas themselves. That is exactly why brāhmaṇas by birth such as Śrī Gaṅgānārāyaṇa and Rāmakṛṣṇa recognised them as pure “brāhmaṇas” fit to be gurus. A “mahā-bhāgavata” must be understood as a brāhmaṇa who has received the five saṁskāras — tāpa, puṇḍra, a name expressing service to Viṣṇu, mantra and upāsanā (worship); who performs the nine kinds of worship (navejyā) — arcana, reciting mantras, yoga, yāga (sacrifice), vandana (prayer), nāma-saṅkīrtana, service, marking the body with [the Lord’s] signs, and worship of Vaiṣṇavas; and who knows the five subjects (artha-pañcaka) — the worshipable Bhagavān, His supreme abode, what belongs to Him, His mantra and the jīvātmā — that is, who knows the meaning of the five truths. “A brāhmaṇa who has received the five saṁskāras beginning with tāpa, who performs the nine kinds of worship and knows the five subjects is considered a mahā-bhāgavata.” Only one who has become the best among such mahā-bhāgavatas and whom people worship as they worship Hari is fit to become a “guru.” On the other hand, even a man born in a great family, initiated in all sacrifices and accomplished in a thousand branches of the Veda can never be a “guru” if he is “not a Vaiṣṇava.” Where brāhmaṇa-hood is “separate” from Vaiṣṇava-hood — that is, where a brāhmaṇa does not follow a Vaiṣṇava — such a brāhmaṇa lacks the brāhmaṇa-hood that makes one fit to be a guru. And conversely, where there is Vaiṣṇava-hood, true and pure brāhmaṇa-hood is not lacking, even if in worldly eyes the person was born in another varṇa. People of other varṇas cannot carry out an ācārya’s duties, such as teaching; therefore one who is fit to be a guru is by that very fact a brāhmaṇa. Every Vaiṣṇava is the guru of the world, and so brāhmaṇa conduct and brāhmaṇa-hood are always present with him. Many Vaiṣṇavas, showing humility outwardly, did not adopt the brāhmaṇa conduct that worldly eyes can see, but a Vaiṣṇava never lacks brāhmaṇa-hood on that account.

The marks of a disciple. "Free of pride, free of envy, capable, free of the sense of 'mine,' firm in affection, unhurried, eager to know the highest truth, not looking for faults, not speaking idly."[63] One who does not yield to worldly pride; who has given up lust, anger, greed, delusion, intoxication and envy; who is skilled in grasping reasoning about the transcendental truth of Bhagavān; who has no sense of "I" and "mine" towards worldly things; who has unfailing love for the transcendental lotus feet of the guru; who is patient and therefore steady; who is intent on knowing the highest goal (paramārtha); who is not inclined to see faults in virtues; and who is not carried away by idle talk about other desires (anyābhilāṣa), karma, jñāna and the like, but keeps his mind fixed on hari-kathā — he alone is fit to become a "disciple."

The testing of both. The disciple needs what is transcendental. When he goes, seeking it — that is, as a supplicant — to take shelter at the guru's feet, he should observe for a year whether it is present in the person fit to be a guru, and to what extent. The guru too should look carefully at how capable the disciple is of transcendental realisation, for by associating with a materialistic disciple a guru-bruva inevitably falls. If a guru-bruva sees the disciple as a yoṣā — that is, an object of enjoyment — and, by accepting worldly money and the like from him, forms with him a transient worldly relationship based on self-interest, he will fall from the highest goal like the worldly smārtas. Such people who think themselves gurus are called "cheaters," and their disciples "the cheated." Deprived of the dharma of the highest goal, they may fancy themselves adherents of the Gosvāmīs' teaching, which rests on the sampradāya of the ācāryas, but in fact they have become one of the branches of the worldly Bāuls and Sahajiyās.

The Bhagavān who is served. Bhagavān Viṣṇu alone is to be served; there is no need to worship any deity other than Viṣṇu. "One who abandons Vāsudeva and worships another deity is like one who abandons his own mother and honours a woman of the dog-eaters." "O son of Kuntī, even those who are devoted to other deities and worship them with faith in fact worship Me, but not according to the rules."[64] "But one who regards the Lord Nārāyaṇa as equal to Brahmā, Rudra and the other deities is certainly a pāṣaṇḍī (an unbeliever)." When established in viśuddha-sattva, the jīva, free of the guṇas, worships Bhagavān even when liberated. When passion is mixed with goodness, the jīva worships "Sūrya"; when ignorance is mixed with goodness, “Gaṇapati”; when ignorance is mixed with passion, “the māyā-śakti”; when he worships in ignorance alone, “Śiva”; and when passion predominates, the jīva worships all five deities (pañca-upāsya). Truly freed from the grip of the guṇas, the jīva understands that Bhagavān Viṣṇu alone is eternally to be served.

Consideration of all mantras: considering the differing power of the mantras — the twelve-syllable and the eighteen-syllable mantras, the mantras of Nārasiṁha, Rāma, Gopāla and others.

মন্ত্র-অধিকারী, মন্ত্র-সিদ্ধ্যাদি-শোধন । দীক্ষা, প্রাতঃস্মৃতি-কৃত্য, শৌচ, আচমন ॥ ৩২৬ ॥

mantra-adhikārī, mantra-siddhy-ādi-śodhana mantra qualified person mantra perfection and so on purification dīkṣā, prātaḥ-smṛti-kṛtya, śauca, ācamana initiation morning remembrance duties cleanliness ācamana

326 “who is qualified to receive a mantra; the purification of a mantra, its perfection and the like; initiation; the morning duties of remembrance; cleanliness; ācamana;

Anubhāṣya.

Who is qualified for a mantra. “In Tantric mantras and in dīkṣā, chaste women too have the right, as do śūdras and others of good mind.” In pāñcarātrika mantra-dīkṣā, chaste women and śūdras have the right just as men of good intelligence do. In Vedic dīkṣā only brāhmaṇas devoted to Vedic study have the right; unqualified śūdras and women have no right to Vedic dīkṣā. The Vedic right of the bhāgavata belongs only to one who has already attained qualification, and the Tantric right of the pāñcarātrika to one who aspires to attain it. The fruit of both paths is “one.”

Siddhi* and so on. “The wise should recognise [mantras] in order as siddha, sādhya, susiddha and ari.” (1) Siddha, (2) sādhya, (3) susiddha, (4) ari: (1) siddha-siddha, (2) siddha-sādhya, (3) siddha-susiddha, (4) siddha-ari; (5) sādhya-siddha, (6) sādhya-sādhya, (7) sādhya-susiddha, (8) sādhya-ari; (9) susiddha-siddha, (10) susiddha-sādhya, (11) susiddha-susiddha, (12) susiddha-ari; (13) ari-siddha, (14) ari-sādhya, (15) ari-susiddha, (16) ari-ari. In the eighteen-syllable mantra there is no worldly consideration of siddhi and the rest. “Here there are no faults of enmity, and no need to consider debts and the like; nor, dear one, need one consider for this mantra the lunar mansion or the zodiac sign. Here one need not think of purification from enmity and so on, nor of the marks of enemy, friend and the rest. Nor is there here any consideration of [the mantra as] siddha, sādhya, susiddha or ari.”

Purification. “Janana (birth), jīvana (enlivening), tāḍana (striking), rodhana (restraining), then abhiṣeka (sprinkling), vimalīkaraṇa (cleansing), āpyāyana (nourishing), tarpaṇa (satisfying), dīpana (kindling) and gupti (concealment) — these are the ten purificatory rites of a mantra. … But Kṛṣṇa’s mantras are so powerful that they need no purificatory rites.”

Dīkṣā*. See Madhya 15.108. One who receives pāñcarātrika dīkṣā attains “brāhmaṇa-hood”: “As bell metal turns into gold by alchemy, so by the rite of dīkṣā men attain the status of the twice-born.”

The time for dīkṣā. (Tattva-sāgara): “When the rare chance comes of meeting a true guru even once, and his consent has been obtained, that is the great occasion for dīkṣā. Whether in a village or in the forest, in a holy place, by day or by night — when by providence the guru comes, then dīkṣā [is taken] at his command. Whenever the desire arises, then is dīkṣā, in keeping with the guru’s command. Dīkṣā needs no holy place, no vow, no homa, no bathing and no japa: it is performed when the true guru has come of his own will.”

Remembrance at dawn. “Rising in the brāhma-muhūrta, chanting ‘Kṛṣṇa, Kṛṣṇa,’ … having offered praise, glorifying Kṛṣṇa and remembering Him, one should recite this”: “Glory to Him in whom all living beings dwell …” and so on (Bhā. 10.90.48). “I take shelter of Hari, the unborn, eternal Puruṣa, by remembering whom one becomes a vessel of all good.” “… [the gopīs,] loudly singing of the Lotus-eyed One …” and so on (Bhā. 10.46.46). “Viṣṇu is always to be remembered and never to be forgotten. All injunctions and prohibitions are servants of these two [rules]” (Padma Purāṇa, Bṛhat-sahasra-nāma-stotra).

Morning duties: answering the calls of nature and so on. “Then, rising at dawn, O lord of men, one should relieve oneself. … One should pass urine and stool far from the dwelling.”

Cleansing the body. “One should apply earth once to the genitals and five times to the anus, with water in between; ten times to the left hand and seven to both hands;

once to each foot; and three times again to the hands. Thus a householder should cleanse himself until smell and traces are gone."

Ācamana*. "With clear water, free of smell, foam and bubbles, one should perform ācamana, and then attentively apply earth again. Having cleansed the feet and sprinkled them once more, one should sip water three times and wipe [the lips] twice."

দন্তধাবন, স্নান, সন্ধ্যাদি বন্দন । গুরুসেবা, ঊর্দ্ধপুণ্ড্রচক্রাদি-ধারণ ॥ ৩২৭ ॥

danta-dhāvana, snāna, sandhyādi vandana teeth cleaning bathing sandhyā and the rest prayers guru-sevā, ūrdhva-puṇḍra-cakrādi-dhāraṇa guru service ūrdhva-puṇḍra cakra and the rest wearing 327 "cleaning the teeth, bathing, the sandhyā and other prayers; service to the guru; wearing the ūrdhva-puṇḍra, the cakra and the other marks;

Anubhāṣya.

Cleaning the teeth. "Then, to purify the mouth, one should take a tooth-stick, for even after ācamana one is impure if one has not cleaned the teeth. Whoever comes to Me without having chewed a tooth-stick destroys by that one [lapse] all the work he has ever done."

Bathing. "For vānaprasthas and householders, bathing in the morning and at midday; for sannyāsīs, bathing three times a day; for brahmacārīs, once. And if they lack the strength, all may bathe once — even without water."

Worship at the sandhyā. The sandhyā is of two kinds, Vedic and Tantric. The Vedic sandhyā: "Meditating on Sāvitrī, who dwells in the orb of the sun, the wise should repeat her [mantra]. A brāhmaṇa should always perform the sandhyā worship facing east. One who neglects the obeisances of the sandhyā goes to ten thousand hells." "Oṁ. The wise always see the supreme step of Viṣṇu, like an eye spread out in the sky"[65] — thus one performs ācamana. After sprinkling, one should worship the sandhyā. Having repeated the gāyatrī ten times, [one performs] the sprinkling with water and mantras: "Oṁ. May the waters of the desert be a blessing to us, a blessing the waters of the marsh; may the waters of the sea be a blessing to us, a blessing the waters of the well. Oṁ. Like one freed from a post, like one sweating cleansed of dirt by bathing, like ghee purified by a strainer — may the waters cleanse me of sin. Oṁ. Waters, you are the source of joy; grant us strength, so that we may behold great bliss. Oṁ. Let us partake here of your most auspicious essence, like loving mothers. Oṁ. Gladly we come to you for the sake of the one to whose abode you urge us; waters, give us life.[66] Oṁ. From kindled tapas were born order (ṛta) and truth (satya); from that was born the night, from that the surging ocean. From the surging ocean was born the year, which apportions days and nights — the ruler of all that blinks. The Creator (Dhātṛ) fashioned, as before, the sun and the moon, heaven, earth, the mid-region and the light."[67]

The Tantric sandhyā. "Then, uttering the mūla-mantra and meditating on Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet, the expert should properly offer tarpaṇa three times with the words 'Śrī-kṛṣṇaṁ tarpayāmi.' After that, with the kāma-gāyatrī, one should offer arghya to Kṛṣṇa, whose form is described in the meditation and who dwells in the orb of the sun."

Service to the guru. "One who first worships the guru and only then Me attains perfection; otherwise [the worship] is fruitless. One who, in the guru's presence, worships another first meets a bad end, and his worship is fruitless. I, the soul of all beings, am not so pleased by sacrifice, high birth, austerity and self-control as by service to the guru.[68] Service to the guru is the very highest of all dharmas; there is no dharma higher or purer than this."

Ūrdhva-puṇḍra*. "My devotee should always wear the ūrdhva-puṇḍra, which removes fear. … The body of a man without the ūrdhva-puṇḍra should not even be looked at: it is like a cremation ground. The ūrdhva-puṇḍra is enjoined for Vaiṣṇavas and brāhmaṇas. … A puṇḍra of clay from the nose to the hairline, very beautiful, with a space in the middle — know it to be the temple of Hari. Know that Viṣṇu dwells in the middle; therefore one does not smear the middle." See Madhya 20.202.

Wearing the disc and other marks (mudrās). "One should wear the disc on the right arm, the conch on the left and also on the right; the club on the left, and below the club the disc again. Likewise the lotus above the conch, and again the lotus on the right; the sword on the chest, and the bow with an arrow on the head. Thus a Vaiṣṇava should first of all wear [the marks of] the five weapons. The wise should apply the disc and the other marks this way with Śrī gopī-candana every day, and on [the day of] Śayana and the like, their heated [imprints]." "A low brāhmaṇa without the conch, the disc, the ūrdhva-puṇḍra and so on should be set on a donkey by the king and banished from the land."

গোপীচন্দন-মালা-ধৃতি, তুলসী-আহরণ । বস্ত্র-পীঠ-গৃহ-সংস্কার, কৃষ্ণ-প্রবোধন ॥ ৩২৮ ॥

gopīcandana-mālā-dhṛti, tulasī-āharaṇa
gopī-candana beads wearing tulasī gathering vastra-pīṭha-gṛha-saṁskāra, kṛṣṇa-prabodhana cloth seat house purification Kṛṣṇa awakening

328 "wearing gopī-candana and beads; gathering tulasī; purifying the cloth, the altar and the house; awakening Kṛṣṇa;

Anubhāṣya.

Wearing gopī-candana. "O bird, one who at the time of death has gopī-candana on his arms, forehead, chest and head goes to the world of the Lord where Kamalā dwells — even if he has killed a cow or a child, or killed a brāhmaṇa." "Messengers, listen: one whose forehead is marked with gopī-candana you must carefully avoid from afar, like a blazing fire."

Wearing beads. "Then one should put on garlands offered to Kṛṣṇa — of tulasī leaves, of padmākṣa, of tulasī wood, or of dhātrī fruits; and a Vaiṣṇava should also wear ornaments of tulasī wood." Padmākṣa means beads of lotus seeds. Let no one mistakenly think that the word akṣa means beads of bone or rudrākṣa. "Those quibblers of sinful mind who do not wear beads, burned by the fire of Hari's anger, do not return from hell." "Those on whose necks are beads of tulasī and lotus seeds, on whose foreheads the ūrdhva-puṇḍra shines, whose upper arms are marked with the conch and the disc — those Vaiṣṇavas quickly purify the world."

Gathering tulasī. "Then, having bowed to Mahāviṣṇu and asked His permission, the Vaiṣṇava should gather Śrī Tulasī, and flowers and the like, as prescribed. A man who plucks tulasī without having bathed and performs worship is truly an offender, and all that becomes fruitless." The mantra for gathering: "Tulasī, you are born of nectar and are ever dear to Keśava. For Keśava's sake I gather [your leaves]; be the giver of blessings, beautiful one." "Having said this and bowed to Tulasī, one should pluck [the leaves] with the right hand." (When plucking is forbidden:) "O brāhmaṇas, a Vaiṣṇava should never pluck tulasī on Dvādaśī."

Purifying clothing. “Soiled cotton cloth is first cleansed with water and alkali; then one dries it in the sun or in the wind and takes it. Wool, silk, fine cloth, linen, dukūla, sheep’s wool and leather, when slightly impure, are purified by drying, sprinkling and the like. Cloth dyed with safflower, kuṅkuma or lac juice is purified by washing — and likewise after the touch of a caṇḍāla.”

Purifying the seat. “One who rubs Kṛṣṇa’s footstool with a bilva leaf and washes it with hot water is freed from all sins.”

Purifying the house. “Having performed ācamana and so on, one should clean Viṣṇu’s temple; looking at Kṛṣṇa and glorifying Him, one should give oneself to Him in service. Then, taking pure cow dung, clay and water, one should with devotion smear all around the temple and sprinkle its courtyard.” “He engaged his mind on Kṛṣṇa’s lotus feet, his words in describing the qualities of Vaikuṇṭha, his hands in cleaning Hari’s temple and the like, and his ears in hearing the holy narrations of Acyuta.”[69] “Sweeping, smearing, sprinkling and drawing maṇḍalas — service to My house like a servant, without guile.”[70]

Awakening Kṛṣṇa. “Then, going to the temple, to the sound of bells and the like, one should awaken Kṛṣṇa with hymns, perform nīrājana and pray thus: ‘O Lord, who removes the distress of the surrendered, be gracious, O Keśava! Grant me Your glance and protect me once more, O Acyuta.’”

পঞ্চ, ষোড়শ, পঞ্চাশৎ উপচারে অর্চ্চন । পঞ্চকাল পূজা আরতি, কৃষ্ণের ভোজন-শয়ন ॥ ৩২৯ ॥

pañca, ṣoḍaśa, pañcāśat upacāre arcana
five sixteen fifty with articles worship
pañca-kāla pūjā ārati, kṛṣṇera bhojana-śayana
five times pūjā ārati Kṛṣṇa’s feeding laying to rest

329 “worship with five, sixteen or fifty articles of offering; pūjā and ārati at the five times of day; offering Kṛṣṇa His meals and laying Him to rest;

Anubhāṣya.
Another reading: “Five, ten, sixteen — the service of cau-ghana; worship with sixty-four, sixteen, ten and five offerings.”

The five offerings: (1) fragrance, (2) flowers, (3) incense, (4) the lamp and (5) naivedya.

The sixteen offerings: (1) the seat, (2) welcome (asking after His well-being), (3) arghya, (4) water for washing the feet, (5) water for ācamana, (6) madhuparka, (7) ācamana, (8) bathing, (9) clothing, (10) ornaments, (11) fragrance, (12) flowers, (13) incense, (14) the lamp, (15) naivedya and (16) obeisance and prayer (vandanā).

The fifty offerings. The Hari-bhakti-vilāsa does not speak of fifty offerings; but if fourteen of the sixty-four are left out, there could be fifty. There is no way, however, to determine which fourteen are to be left out.

The ten offerings: (1) arghya, (2) water for washing the feet, (3) ācamana, (4) madhuparka, (5) ācamana, (6) fragrance, (7) flowers, (8) incense, (9) the lamp and (10) naivedya.

The sixty-four offerings. Cau-ghana means "sixty-four": (1) awakening with the sound of instruments and with hymns, (2) the cry of "jaya," (3) obeisance, (4) maṅgala-ārati, (5) the seat, (6) the tooth-stick, (7) water for washing the feet, (8) arghya, (9) ācamana, (10) ācamana with madhuparka, (11) offering sandals, (12) rubbing the body, (13) anointing with oil, (14) removing the oil and so on, (15) bathing in water with fragrant flowers, (16) bathing with milk, (17) bathing with yogurt, (18) bathing with ghee, (19) bathing with honey, (20) bathing with sugar, (21) bathing with water consecrated by mantras, (22) a towel, (23) the lower and upper garments, (24) the sacred thread, (25) ācamana again, (26) anointing, (27) ornaments, (28) flowers, (29) incense, (30) the lamp, (31) warding off the evil eye, (32) naivedya, (33) mouth-freshener, (34) betel, (35) an excellent bed, (36) dressing the hair, (37) excellent clothes, (38) an excellent crown, (39) excellent fragrant anointing, (40) the Kaustubha and other ornaments, (41) various divine flowers, (42) maṅgala-ārati, (43) a mirror, (44) going out to the maṇḍapa in an excellent carriage, (45) sitting on the throne, (46) water for washing the feet again, (47) naivedya again, (48) the mahā-nīrājana, (49) fanning with the cāmara, the umbrella, (50) song, (51) instrumental music, (52) dance, (53) circumambulation, (54) obeisance, (55) praise at the two holy feet, (56) placing one's head at the feet, (57) bearing the nirmālya on one's head, (58) partaking of the remnants, (59) [the servant] sitting down to massage the feet, (60) a bed of flowers, (61) offering the hand, (62) [the Lord] coming to the bed, (63) sitting on the bed after the feet are washed, (64) finally lying down on the bed, with the feet massaged and so on.

The five times: aruṇodaya (the hour before dawn), morning, midday, evening and pradoṣa (nightfall).

Pūjā* and *ārati: pūjā, ārātrika, nīrājana and so on.

Kṛṣṇa's meal (Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, eighth vilāsa, 50–51): "With auspicious customs they joyfully feed Hari." … "Śālī rice, well cooked; pāyasa white as the moon; cakes and soup; things to lick, to drink and to suck; sugar, nectar-like fruits, ghārikās and other delicacies; abundant consecrated ghee, pleasing to the eye; vegetables seasoned with vājikā,[71] cardamom and pepper — please relish this whole nectarean meal."

Kṛṣṇa's retiring to rest (Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, eleventh vilāsa): "'O Lord of the mighty club, be pleased to set out on the way; come to the bedchamber with Your beloveds, O Keśava.' Having prayed thus, one should offer the sandals, bring the Lord to the bedchamber and make the proper offerings there. There one should especially offer thick milk with sugar, betel with camphor, divine garlands and unguents."

শ্রীমূর্ত্তিলক্ষণ, আর শালগ্রামলক্ষণ ।
কৃষ্ণক্ষেত্র-যাত্রা, কৃষ্ণমূর্ত্তি-দরশন ॥ ৩৩০ ॥

śrī-mūrti-lakṣaṇa, āra śālagrāma-lakṣaṇa
the Deity marks and śālagrāma marks
kṛṣṇa-kṣetra-yātrā, kṛṣṇa-mūrti-daraśana
Kṛṣṇa's holy places pilgrimage Kṛṣṇa's Deity beholding

330 "the marks of the Deity and of the śālagrāma; pilgrimage to Kṛṣṇa's holy places; beholding Kṛṣṇa's Deity form;

Anubhāṣya.
The marks of the Śrī Mūrti: see Madhya 20.224–238.

The marks of the śālagrāma: see the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, fifth vilāsa.

নামমহিমা, নামাপরাধ দূরে বর্জ্জন । বৈষ্ণবলক্ষণ, সেবাপরাধ-খণ্ডন ॥ ৩৩১ ॥

nāma-mahimā, nāmāparādha dūre varjana
the name glory offences against the name far avoiding vaiṣṇava-lakṣaṇa, sevāparādha-khaṇḍana
Vaiṣṇava marks offences in service dispelling

331 "the glory of the name and keeping far from offences against the name; the marks of a Vaiṣṇava; overcoming offences in service;

Anubhāṣya.

The glory of the name: see the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, eleventh vilāsa.

Offenses against the name: see the Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya on Ādi 8.24.

The marks of a Vaiṣṇava. "One whose deity is Viṣṇu alone is called a Vaiṣṇava." See the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, tenth vilāsa.

Freedom from offenses in service. The words of Śrī Vyāsa in the Skanda Purāṇa, Avantī-khaṇḍa: "The mortal who day after day reads a chapter of the Gītā — Keśava forgives him thirty-two offences." The Dvārakā-māhātmya: "One who reads or hears of the glory of the thousand names is never touched by thousands of offences. One who, keeping vigil for Viṣṇu on Dvādaśī, reads the Tulasī-stava — Keśava forgives him thirty-two offences. One who worships the śālagrāma-śilā with tulasī — Keśava forgives him thirty-two offences."

The thirty-two offences in service: (1) entering the Lord's temple in a vehicle or wearing sandals; (2) not bowing down before the Deity; (3) offering prayers to the Lord without having cleansed oneself after eating, or in a state of impurity; (4) bowing with one hand; (5) circumambulating another deity in front of Him; (6) stretching out one's legs before Him; (7) sitting with one's knees clasped in one's arms; (8) lying down; (9) eating; (10) lying; (11) speaking loudly; (12) chatting with one another; (13) weeping; (14) showing favour to someone; (15) punishing someone or speaking harshly; (16) wrapping oneself in a blanket; (17) blaming others; (18) praising others; (19) speaking obscenely; (20) passing air; (21) worshipping without offerings when one is able to provide them; (22) eating what has not been offered [to the Lord]; (23) not offering the fruits of the season; (24) offering what is left over; (25) sitting with one's back to the Deity; (26) greeting others; (27) sitting near the guru without offering praise; (28) praising oneself; (29) blaming the gods; (30) cruelty towards other people; (31) failing to hold festivals; and (32) quarrelling.

শঙ্খ-জল-গন্ধ-পুষ্প-ধূপাদি-লক্ষণ । জপ, স্তুতি, পরিক্রমা, দণ্ডবৎ বন্দন ॥ ৩৩২ ॥

śaṅkha-jala-gandha-puṣpa-dhūpādi-lakṣaṇa
conch water fragrance flowers incense and the rest characteristics
japa, stuti, parikramā, daṇḍavat vandana
japa prayers circumambulation like a rod obeisance

332 "the characteristics of the conch, water, fragrance, flowers, incense and the rest; japa, prayers, circumambulation and prostrate obeisances;

Anubhāṣya.
The marks of flowers: see the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, seventh vilāsa.

The marks of incense and the like: see the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, eighth vilāsa.

Japa*, hymns, circumambulation, prostrations and prayers: discussed in the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, eighth vilāsa.

পুরশ্চরণ-বিধি, কৃষ্ণপ্রসাদ-ভোজন । অনিবেদিত-ত্যাগ, বৈষ্ণবনিন্দাদি-বর্জ্জন ॥ ৩৩৩ ॥

puraścaraṇa-vidhi, kṛṣṇa-prasāda-bhojana puraścaraṇa rules Kṛṣṇa's prasāda eating anivedita-tyāga, vaiṣṇava-nindādi-varjana unoffered rejecting of Vaiṣṇavas blasphemy and the like avoiding 333 "the rules of puraścaraṇa; honouring Kṛṣṇa's prasāda; rejecting what has not been offered; avoiding blasphemy of Vaiṣṇavas and the like;

Anubhāṣya.
The rules of puraścaraṇa: see the Anubhāṣya on Madhya 15.108.

Partaking of Kṛṣṇa's prasāda. "One should eat only after having fed [the Lord]; otherwise one goes to hell. A man who eats without having performed worship goes to the hells."

Rejecting what is not offered. "A man who eats without having offered [the food to the Lord] becomes liable to atonement. Therefore one should always eat only after offering everything to Viṣṇu." See the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa 9.108.

Avoiding blasphemy of Vaiṣṇavas: see the Anubhāṣya on Madhya 15.261.

সাধুলক্ষণ, সাধুসঙ্গ, সাধুসেবন । অসৎসঙ্গ-ত্যাগ, শ্রীভাগবত-শ্রবণ ॥ ৩৩৪ ॥

sādhu-lakṣaṇa, sādhu-saṅga, sādhu-sevana
sādhu marks sādhu company sādhu service
asat-saṅga-tyāga, śrī-bhāgavata-śravaṇa bad company giving up Śrī Bhāgavatam hearing

334 "the marks of a sādhu, the company of sādhus and service to them; giving up bad company; hearing Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam;

দিনকৃত্য, পক্ষকৃত্য, একাদশ্যাদি বিবরণ । মাসকৃত্য, জন্মাষ্টম্যাদি বিধি-বিচারণ ॥ ৩৩৫ ॥

dina-kṛtya, pakṣa-kṛtya, ekādaśy-ādi vivaraṇa
daily duties fortnightly duties Ekādaśī and the rest account
māsa-kṛtya, janmāṣṭamyādi vidhi-vicāraṇa
monthly duties Janmāṣṭamī and the rest rules consideration

335 "the daily and fortnightly duties, with an account of Ekādaśī and other days; the monthly duties; a consideration of the rules for Janmāṣṭamī and the other holy days —

Anubhāṣya.
Daily duties: the duties proper to the different times of the day.

Fortnightly duties: the duties to be performed on the tithis, especially on Ekādaśī and other days.

Monthly duties: the duties of the twelve months.

Description of Ekādaśī and the other [fasts]: see the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, twelfth vilāsa.

Consideration of the rules for Janmāṣṭamī and the other [festivals]: see the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, twelfth vilāsa.

একাদশী, জন্মাষ্টমী, বামনদ্বাদশী । শ্রীরামনবমী, আর নৃসিংহচতুর্দ্দশী ॥ ৩৩৬ ॥

ekādaśī, janmāṣṭamī, vāmana-dvādaśī
Ekādaśī Janmāṣṭamī Vāmana-dvādaśī
śrī-rāma-navamī, āra nṛsiṁha-caturdaśī
Śrī Rāma-navamī and Nṛsiṁha-caturdaśī

336 "Ekādaśī, Janmāṣṭamī, Vāmana-dvādaśī, Śrī Rāma-navamī and Nṛsiṁha-caturdaśī.

এই সবে বিদ্ধা-ত্যাগ, অবিদ্ধা-করণ । অকরণে দোষ, কৈলে ভক্তির লম্ভন ॥ ৩৩৭ ॥

ei sabe viddhā-tyāga, aviddhā-karaṇa
in these all pierced rejecting unpierced observing akaraṇe doṣa, kaile bhaktira lambhana
in not doing a fault in doing of bhakti attainment

337 "For all of these, reject a 'pierced' (viddhā) day and observe an unpierced one. Not observing them is a fault; by observing them one attains bhakti.

Anubhāṣya.
On Ekādaśī one should reject [a day] "pierced" (viddhā) by aruṇodaya, and for other vows one pierced by sunrise, and keep only the unpierced vow. Keeping a pierced vow is a "fault," and only by keeping the unpierced vow does one attain "bhakti." For details, see the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa, twelfth and thirteenth vilāsas.

The Lord accepts the Sātvata Purāṇas as "evidence" —

সর্ব্বত্র প্রমাণ দিবে পুরাণ-বচন । শ্রীমূর্ত্তি-বিষ্ণুমন্দিরকরণ-লক্ষণ ॥ ৩৩৮ ॥ sarvatra pramāṇa dibe purāṇa-vacana everywhere evidence you will give of the Purāṇas words

śrī-mūrti-viṣṇu-mandira-karaṇa-lakṣaṇa
Deity Viṣṇu temple making rules

338 "Everywhere give the words of the Purāṇas as evidence. Describe also the rules for installing Deities and building temples of Viṣṇu;

*The order to describe in the Hari-bhakti-vilāsa general good conduct and the conduct of a Vaiṣṇava —*

'সামান্য' সদাচার, আর 'বৈষ্ণব'-আচার । কর্ত্তব্যাকর্ত্তব্য 'স্মার্ত্ত' ব্যবহার ॥ ৩৩৯ ॥

'sāmānya' sad-ācāra, āra 'vaiṣṇava'-ācāra
general good conduct and Vaiṣṇava conduct kartavyākartavya 'smārta' vyavahāra
what should and should not be done smārta practice

339 "general good conduct and Vaiṣṇava conduct, and what should and should not be done in daily life according to the smṛti.

Blessing to Sanātana —

এই ত' সংক্ষেপে কহিলুঁ দিগ্‌দরশন । যবে তুমি লিখিবা, কৃষ্ণ করাবে স্ফুরণ ॥ ৩৪০ ॥

ei ta' saṅkṣepe kahiluṁ dig-daraśana
this indeed briefly I told outline
yabe tumi likhibā, kṛṣṇa karābe sphuraṇa
when you will write Kṛṣṇa will cause revelation

340 "Thus I have given you a brief outline. When you write, Kṛṣṇa will reveal it to you."

*Whoever hears the instructions Sanātana received from the Lord's lips, or of the Lord's mercy to Sanātana, is freed from anarthas, and serenity of the self*

dawns in him —

এই ত' কহিলুঁ প্রভুর সনাতনে প্রসাদ ৷ যাহার শ্রবণে চিত্তের খণ্ডে অবসাদ ॥ ৩৪১ ॥

ei ta' kahiluṁ prabhura sanātane prasāda
this indeed I told of the Lord to Sanātana mercy
yāhāra śravaṇe cittera khaṇḍe avasāda
of which at the hearing of the heart is dispelled despondency

341 Thus I have told of the Lord's mercy to Sanātana. Hearing of it dispels the heart's despondency.

*Described in the Caitanya-candrodaya-nāṭaka —*

নিজ-গ্রন্থে কর্ণপূর বিস্তার করিয়া ৷ সনাতনে প্রভুর প্রসাদ রাখিয়াছে লিখিয়া ॥ ৩৪২ ॥

nija-granthe karṇapūra vistāra kariyā own in the book Karṇapūra at length making sanātane prabhura prasāda rākhiyāche likhiyā
to Sanātana of the Lord mercy has kept writing

342 In his own book Karṇapūra has described at length the Lord's mercy to Sanātana and preserved it in writing:

Sanātana's greatness described by a simile —

গৌড়েন্দ্রস্য সভা-বিভূষণমণিস্ত্যক্ত্বা য ঋদ্ধাং শ্রিয়ং রূপস্যাগ্রজ এষ এব তরুণীং বৈরাগ্যলক্ষ্মীং দধে ৷
অন্তর্ভক্তিরসেন পূর্ণসরসো বাহ্যেঽবধূতাকৃতিঃ শৈবালৈঃ পিহিতং মহা-সর ইব প্রীতিপ্রদস্তদ্বিদাম্ ॥ ৩৪৩ ॥

gauḍendrasya sabhā-vibhūṣaṇa-maṇis tyaktvā ya ṛddhāṁ śriyaṁ
of the king of Gauḍa of the court ornament the jewel having left who abundant wealth

rūpasyāgraja eṣa eva taruṇīṁ vairāgya-lakṣmīṁ dadhe of Rūpa the elder brother this very one youthful of renunciation goddess took

antar-bhakti-rasena pūrṇa-saraso bāhye 'vadhūtākṛtiḥ within of devotion with the rasa a full lake outwardly in the form of an avadhūta

śaivālaiḥ pihitaṁ mahā-sara iva prīti-pradas tad-vidām with moss covered a great lake like delight giving to those who know it

343 "This very one — the elder brother of Rūpa, once the jewel adorning the court of the king of Gauḍa — gave up abundant wealth and took as his own the youthful goddess of renunciation. Within he is brimming with the rasa of devotion; outwardly he looks like an avadhūta. Like a deep lake covered with moss, he delights those who know the truth." (Caitanya-candrodaya, Act 9)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

This Sanātana, Rūpa's elder brother, was the jewel adorning the court of the lord of Gauḍa, the emperor Husain Shāh. He gave up prosperous royal wealth and embraced the youthful wealth of renunciation. Within, his heart was full of bhakti-rasa; outwardly he looked like an avadhūta. Like a great lake covered with moss, that Śrī Sanātana delighted those who know the truth of bhakti.

Anubhāṣya.

gauḍendrasya (of the lord of Gauḍa) sabhā-vibhūṣaṇa-maṇiḥ (like a jewel adorning the court) yaḥ ṛddhāṁ (prosperous) śriyaṁ (royal wealth) tyaktvā (having given up) taruṇīṁ (new) vairāgya-lakṣmīṁ (the wealth of renunciation) dadhe (took up); śaivālaiḥ pihitaṁ (covered) mahā-saraḥ (a deep lake) iva antaḥ (in the heart) bhakti-rasena (with the rasa of love for Kṛṣṇa) pūrṇa-sarasaḥ (full of rasa) bāhye (outwardly) avadhūtākṛtiḥ (having the appearance of an avadhūta, a paramahaṁsa), rūpasya agrajaḥ saḥ eṣaḥ (Sanātana) eva tad-vidām (of those who know the truth of bhakti — wise teachers versed in the truth) prīti-pradaḥ (beloved of them) abhūt.

তং সনাতনমুপাগতমক্ষো- র্দৃষ্টিমাত্রমতিমাত্রদয়ার্দ্রঃ ।
আলিলিঙ্গ পরিঘায়ত-দোর্ভ্যাং সানুকম্পমথ চম্পক-গৌরঃ ॥ ৩৪৪ ॥

taṁ sanātanam upāgatam akṣṇor
that Sanātana approached of the eyes
dṛṣṭi-mātram atimātra-dayārdraḥ
the mere sight boundlessly melted with compassion āliliṅga parighāyata-dorbhyāṁ embraced with bolt-like long arms sānukampam atha campaka-gauraḥ
compassionately then golden as a campaka

344 "The moment Sanātana came within sight of His eyes, the Lord, golden as a campaka flower, melted with boundless compassion and tenderly embraced him with His long arms, mighty as bolts." (Caitanya-candrodaya, Act 9)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
As soon as He saw that Sanātana had come, Gaurasundara, golden like a campaka, was filled with boundless compassion; He stretched out both arms and, showing His mercy, embraced him.

Thus ends the twenty-fourth chapter of the "Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya."

Anubhāṣya.
atimātra-dayārdraḥ (melted by boundless compassion) campaka-gauraḥ (golden like a campaka flower) akṣṇoḥ (with His eyes) dṛṣṭi-mātram (as soon as He saw) upāgatam (who had come in poor dress) taṁ sanātanaṁ parighāyata-dorbhyāṁ (with arms long like door bars) sānukampam (with compassion, that is, mercifully) āliliṅga (embraced).

কালেন বৃন্দাবনকেলি-বার্ত্তা
লুপ্তেতি তাং খ্যাপয়িতুং বিশিষ্য ৷
কৃপামৃতেনাভিষিষেচ দেব-স্তত্রৈব রূপঞ্চ সনাতনঞ্চ ॥ ৩৪৫ ॥

kālena vṛndāvana-keli-vārtā
by time of the pastimes of Vṛndāvana the account lupteti tāṁ khyāpayituṁ viśiṣya
lost therefore it to make known in a special way kṛpāmṛtenābhiṣiṣeca devas
with the nectar of mercy sprinkled the Lord tatraiva rūpaṁ ca sanātanaṁ ca
there indeed Rūpa and Sanātana and 345 "Since over time the account of the pastimes of Vṛndāvana had been lost, the Lord, to make it known in a special way, sprinkled Rūpa and Sanātana there with the nectar of His mercy." (Caitanya-candrodaya, 9.38)[51]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 19.119.

*One who studies the instructions to Śrī Sanātana is freed from anarthas and attains knowledge of sambandha, abhidheya and prayojana —*

এই ত' কহিলুঁ সনাতনে প্রভুর প্রসাদ ৷ যাহার শ্রবণে চিত্তের খণ্ডে অবসাদ ॥ ৩৪৬ ॥

ei ta' kahiluṁ sanātane prabhura prasāda
this indeed I told of the Lord to Sanātana mercy
yāhāra śravaṇe cittera khaṇḍe avasāda
of which at the hearing of the heart is dispelled despondency

346 Thus I have told of the Lord's mercy to Sanātana. Hearing of it dispels the heart's despondency.

কৃষ্ণের স্বরূপগণের সকল হয় 'জ্ঞান' । বিধি-রাগ-মার্গে 'সাধনভক্তি'র বিধান ॥ ৩৪৭ ॥

kṛṣṇera svarūpa-gaṇera sakala haya 'jñāna' Kṛṣṇa's of the forms all there is knowledge
vidhi-rāga-mārge 'sādhana-bhakti'ra vidhāna
vidhi rāga on the paths of sādhana-bhakti the injunctions

347 Here is knowledge of all of Kṛṣṇa's forms (svarūpa) and the injunctions of sādhana-bhakti on the paths of vidhi and rāga;

'কৃষ্ণপ্রেম', 'ভক্তিরস', 'ভক্তির সিদ্ধান্ত' । ইহার শ্রবণে ভক্ত জানেন সব অন্ত ॥ ৩৪৮ ॥

'kṛṣṇa-prema', 'bhakti-rasa', 'bhaktira siddhānta'
love of Kṛṣṇa rasa of devotion of bhakti conclusions
ihāra śravaṇe bhakta jānena saba anta
of this at the hearing a devotee knows all to the end

348 love of Kṛṣṇa, the rasa of devotion and the conclusions of bhakti. By hearing this a devotee comes to know them all to the very end.

*Only an exclusive (aikāntika) devotee of Nitāi, Gaura and Advaita is fit to obtain the treasure of love for Kṛṣṇa —*

শ্রীচৈতন্য-নিত্যানন্দ-অদ্বৈত-চরণ । যাঁর প্রাণধন, সেই পায় এই ধন ॥ ৩৪৯ ॥

śrī-caitanya-nityānanda-advaita-caraṇa
Śrī Caitanya's Nityānanda's Advaita's feet
yāṁra prāṇa-dhana, sei pāya ei dhana whose life's treasure he attains this treasure

349 One whose life's treasure is the feet of Śrī Caitanya, Nityānanda and Advaita attains this treasure.

Anubhāṣya.
Thus ends the twenty-fourth chapter of the "Anubhāṣya."

শ্রীরূপ-রঘুনাথ-পদে যার আশ । চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত কহে কৃষ্ণদাস ॥ ৩৫০ ॥

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa Śrī Rūpa's, Raghunātha's at the feet whose hope caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa
"Caitanya-caritāmṛta" narrates Kṛṣṇadāsa

350 Praying at the feet of Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Raghunātha, I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, narrate the Caitanya-caritāmṛta.[52]

Notes

1. The same verse as Ādi 1.18; translation as there. ↩
2. The same verse as Madhya 6.186 (= Madhya 17.140); translation as there. ↩
3. In the edition the Lord's words are closed after this verse (p. 792); the explanation of the words of the verse (10 ff.) is printed without quotation marks. ↩
4. The same verse as Ādi 7.98; translation as there. ↩
5. The same verse as Madhya 17.142; translation as there. ↩
6. The same verse as Madhya 8.146 (= Madhya 9.114); translation as there. ↩
7. The edition (p. 797) prints «অবধারেণ», a misprint; the text keeps অবধারণে, as the series requires. ↩
8. Reference as in the heading of the edition (p. 797). The verse explains the name ātmā: Hari is so called because He pervades and begets all. ↩
9. The same verse as Ādi 2.11; translation as there. ↩
10. The same verse as Ādi 1.53; translation as there. Numbered as in the heading of the edition (p. 798) and the Anubhāṣya (2.9.32); in Ādi 1.53 and in other editions — 2.9.33. ↩
11. The same verse as 68; reference as in the heading of the edition (p. 798). ↩
12. The same verse as Ādi 2.11 (= 70); translation as there. ↩
13. The same verse as Madhya 8.226 (the Anubhāṣya cites it as Madhya 8.227, by the numbering of the edition); translation as there. ↩
14. The same verse as Madhya 22.36; translation as there. ↩
15. The same verse as Ādi 1.91; translation as there (on "the great sage", see the note there). ↩

16. The same verse as Madhya 22.40; translation as there. Numbered as in the heading of the edition (p. 800) and the Anubhāṣya (5.19.26); in other editions — 5.19.27. ↩
17. Reference as in the heading of the edition (p. 800). The heading: “Even the liberated serve Bhagavān in transcendental perfected bodies.” The line is printed without a number (only «॥»). ↩
18. The same verse as 45 (= Madhya 17.142); translation as there. ↩
19. The edition (p. 802) prints “নারদের (?) সঙ্গে”; the editor’s question mark is not reproduced. ↩
20. The edition (p. 802) has no “কৃষ্ণ” in the first line (the earlier text read “হঞা কৃষ্ণ ভজে”). ↩
21. The same verse as Madhya 22.30; translation as there. ↩
22. The same verse as Madhya 8.65; translation as there. ↩
23. The same verse as Madhya 10.178; translation as there. The source is given as in the heading of the edition (p. 803): words of Bilvamaṅgala in the Śrī Kṛṣṇa-karṇāmṛta. ↩
24. The Gauḍīya Maṭha edition reads kṛṣṇonmukhī mukti, “liberation turned towards Kṛṣṇa”; another reading has kṛṣṇonmukha bhakti … māyā-mukta haya, “through devotion turned towards Kṛṣṇa one is freed from māyā.” According to the Anubhāṣya, freedom from māyā comes through serving Kṛṣṇa, that is, through turning towards Him. ↩
25. The same verse as Madhya 20.119; translation as there. ↩
26. The same verse as Madhya 20.121; translation as there. ↩
27. The same verse as Madhya 22.22; translation as there. ↩
28. The same verse as 126 (= Madhya 22.30); translation as there. ↩
29. The same verse as Madhya 22.28; translation as there. ↩
30. The same verse as 107; translation and reference as there (heading of the edition, p. 804). The line is printed without a number (only «॥»). ↩
31. The first two lines of the earlier text form a single line in the edition (p. 804); the source is given as in the heading of the edition (Viśva-prakāśa). Rāmāḥ is the plural (“the Rāmas”). ↩
32. The edition (p. 804) reads নিগর্ভ (so also in the heading and in the commentaries, pp. 804–806), i.e. nirgarbha, “without support”; the translation follows the commentaries. ↩
33. The same verse as Madhya 20.106; translation as there. In the edition (p. 807) the two lines of the verse are printed in reverse order (“সদ্ধর্ম্মস্যাববোধায়…” first; in Madhya 20.106 and in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu it is the second line); the Bengali, transliteration and word-for-word follow the edition. Reference as in the heading of the edition: second laharī, 103 (in Madhya 20.106 the heading there gives 47). ↩

34. The same verse as Ādi 1.49; translation as there. ↩
35. The same verse as Ādi 4.208; translation as there. Reference as in the heading of the edition (p. 809). The line is printed without a number (only «॥»). ↩
36. Source as in the heading of the edition (p. 809). ↩
37. The same verse as 167 (= Ādi 1.49); translation as there. ↩
38. The same verse as Madhya 22.128; translation as there. Reference as in the heading of the edition here (p. 810: 238; in Madhya 22.128 the heading there gives 87). ↩
39. The same verse as 85 (= Madhya 22.36); translation as there. ↩
40. The same verse as 98 (= Madhya 22.40); translation as there. Numbered as in the heading of the edition (p. 811) and the Anubhāṣya (5.19.26); in other editions — 5.19.27. ↩
41. The same verse as Madhya 8.275; translation as there. ↩
42. The same verse as 173; translation as there. ↩
43. The same verse as 160; translation as there. ↩
44. The same verse as Madhya 22.42; translation as there. ↩
45. The same verse as Madhya 22.142; translation as there. ↩
46. Source as in the heading of the edition (p. 816: “words of the Skanda Purāṇa”); the line is printed without a number. ↩
47. Source as in the heading of the edition (p. 817: Viśva-prakāśa); translation as in 145. ↩
48. As in 291. ↩
49. The same verse as Ādi 7.119; translation as there. Reference as in the heading of the edition (p. 818). ↩
50. Source as in the heading of the edition (p. 819). ↩
51. The same verse as Madhya 19.119; translation as there. Reference as in the heading of the edition (p. 827). ↩
52. The same verse as Ādi 1.110; translation as there. ↩
53. The edition reads “six prabhāvas” (“manifestations”), apparently for “six prakāras” (kinds); checked against the scan. ↩
54. Unclear in the scan: the middle digit of the verse number is damaged (“1?7”), probably “147”: this chapter’s references to Madhya 8 differ from our numbering by one (compare 82). In our numbering Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.16.36 is Madhya 8.146. ↩
55. So in the edition (checked against the scan). In our numbering Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.9.21 is Madhya 8.226. ↩

56. The hymn of the personified Vedas (Śrutis), Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 87. ↩
57. So in the edition (checked against the scan). In our numbering the verse Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu 1.2.238 is Madhya 22.128 (where the Anubhāṣya explains it). ↩
58. Śvetāśvatara Upaniṣad 6.23. ↩
59. Kaṭha Upaniṣad 1.2.23; Muṇḍaka Upaniṣad 3.2.3. ↩
60. Bhagavad-gītā 4.34. ↩
61. Satyaṁ, as the edition prints it; the rendering is tentative. ↩
62. So in the edition (checked against the scan, p. 821); the seventh canto of the Bhāgavatam has fifteen chapters. Śrīdhara Svāmī's commentary quoted next belongs to verse 7.11.35. ↩
63. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 11.10.6. ↩
64. Bhagavad-gītā 9.23. ↩
65. Ṛg-veda 1.22.20. ↩
66. Ṛg-veda 10.9.1–3. ↩
67. Ṛg-veda 10.190.1–3. ↩
68. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.80.34. ↩
69. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 9.4.18. ↩
70. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 11.11.39. ↩
71. Vājikā, as the edition prints it (checked against the scan, p. 825); probably rājikā, mustard. ↩