“Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta”

Madhya-līlā

Chapter 14

Beholding the Herā-pañcamī Festival

(English translation from the Bengali, following the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition and the «Anubhāṣya», 2026 — draft)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya

Summary. When the Lord became absorbed in love (premāveśa) in the Balagaṇḍi garden, King Pratāparudradeva came alone, dressed as a Vaiṣṇava, and began to massage the Lord's feet while reciting verses of the Bhāgavatam. Absorbed in prema, the Lord embraced him and so showed him mercy. Together with the devotees Mahāprabhu honored the prasāda of the Balagaṇḍi bhoga. After that the chariot would not move. The king harnessed many mighty elephants to it, but even they could not move it; then Mahāprabhu Himself pushed the chariot with His head and set it moving, while the devotees began pulling the ropes. Mahāprabhu's resting place was Āiṭoṭā, near Guṇḍicā. When Jagannātha was seated at Sundarācala, the pastimes of Vṛndāvana appeared to Mahāprabhu. In Indradyumna Lake the Lord sported in the water with His associates. During the festival of nine nights (nava-rātra-yātrā) Mahāprabhu stayed at Jagannātha-vallabha. On the day of pañcamī, while watching the Herā-pañcamī pastime, He had a long conversation (with Śrī Svarūpa) about the nature of Lakṣmī and of the gopīs. Hearing from Śrī Svarūpa's lips that Rādhikā's bhāva surpasses everything, Mahāprabhu attained supreme bliss. During the return journey (punar-yātrā) there was kīrtana and so on, and afterward Śrīman Mahāprabhu ordered Rāmānanda Vasu and Satyarāja Khān of Kulīnagrāma to bring silken ropes (paṭṭa-ḍorī) (for Śrī Jagannātha) every year.

Gaurasundara dances while watching the Herā-pañcamī —

গৌরঃ পশ্যন্নাত্মবৃন্দৈঃ শ্রীলক্ষ্মীবিজয়োৎসবম্ ।
শ্রুত্বা গোপীরসোল্লাসং হৃষ্টঃ প্রেম্ণা ননর্ত্ত সঃ ॥ ১ ॥

gauraḥ paśyann ātma-vṛndaiḥ Gaura seeing with His own people
śrī lakṣmī-vijayotsavam Śrī the festival of Lakṣmī's procession
śrutvā gopī-rasollāsaṁ
hearing of the gopīs' rasa the exultation
hṛṣṭaḥ premṇā nanarta saḥ delighted in love danced He

1 With His companions Gaura watched the festival of Śrī Lakṣmī's procession, and when He heard of the gopīs' rasa in all its exultation, He was filled with delight and danced in love.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Together with His devotees Gauracandra watched Lakṣmī-devī's festival procession (vijayotsava) and heard of the gopīs' joy in the rāsa dance.[7] His heart filled with delight, and He danced.

Anubhāṣya.
saḥ gauraḥ ātma-vṛndaiḥ (with His own associates) śrī-lakṣmī-vijayotsavam paśyan gopī-rasollāsam (the highest degree of the gopīs' parakīya-rasa) śrutvā hṛṣṭaḥ san premṇā (with love full of prema) nanarta.

জয় জয় গৌরচন্দ্র শ্রীকৃষ্ণচৈতন্য । জয় জয় নিত্যানন্দ জয়াদ্বৈত ধন্য ॥ ২ ॥

jaya jaya gauracandra śrī-kṛṣṇa-caitanya glory glory to Gauracandra to Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya
jaya jaya nityānanda jayādvaita dhanya glory glory to Nityānanda glory to Advaita the blessed

2 Glory, glory to Gauracandra, Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya! Glory, glory to Nityānanda, and glory to the blessed Advaita![1]

জয় জয় শ্রীবাসাদি গৌরভক্তগণ । জয় শ্রোতাগণ, — যাঁর গৌর প্রাণধন ॥ ৩ ॥

jaya jaya śrīvāsādi gaura-bhakta-gaṇa glory glory to Śrīvāsa and the others Gaura's devotees
jaya śrotā-gaṇa, — yāṁra gaura prāṇa-dhana glory to the listeners whose Gaura the treasure of life

3 Glory, glory to Śrīvāsa and all the devotees of Gaura! Glory to my listeners, whose life's treasure is Gaura![2]

The king enters while the Lord is resting —

এইমত প্রভু আছেন প্রেমের আবেশে । হেনকালে প্রতাপরুদ্র করিল প্রবেশে ॥ ৪ ॥

ei-mata prabhu āchena premera āveśe
in this way the Lord remains of love in the rapture
hena-kāle pratāparudra karila praveśe
at that time Pratāparudra made entrance

4 While the Lord lay thus enraptured by love, King Pratāparudra came in.

Dressed as a humble Vaiṣṇava, with the permission of all the Vaiṣṇavas, [the king] massages the feet of the Lord, who lies with closed eyes —

সার্ব্বভৌম-উপদেশে ছাড়ি' রাজবেশ । একলা বৈষ্ণব-বেশে করিল প্রবেশ ॥ ৫ ॥

sārvabhauma-upadeśe chāḍi' rāja-veśa
on Sārvabhauma's advice leaving off the royal dress
ekalā vaiṣṇava-veśe karila praveśa
alone in a Vaiṣṇava's dress made entrance

5 On Sārvabhauma's advice he had laid aside his royal dress, and he entered alone, dressed as a Vaiṣṇava.

সব-ভক্তের আজ্ঞা নিল যোড়-হাত হঞা । প্রভু-পদ ধরি' পড়ে সাহস করিয়া ॥ ৬ ॥

saba-bhaktera ājñā nila yoḍa-hāta hañā of all the devotees permission took with joined palms becoming prabhu-pada dhari' paḍe sāhasa kariyā
the Lord's feet clasping falls courage mustering

6 With joined palms he asked permission of all the devotees. Then, mustering his courage, he fell down and clasped the Lord's feet.

আঁখি মুদি' প্রেমে প্রভু ভূমিতে শয়ান । নৃপতি নৈপুণ্যে করে পাদ-সম্বাহন ॥ ৭ ॥

āṁkhi mudi' preme prabhu bhūmite śayāna eyes closing in love the Lord on the ground lying nṛpati naipuṇye kare pāda-samvāhana
the king skilfully does massaging of the feet

7 The Lord lay on the ground with His eyes closed in love, and the king skilfully massaged His feet.

*The king recites the Gopī-gītā —*

রাসলীলার শ্লোক পড়ি' করেন স্তবন ।
'জয়তি তেঽধিকং' অধ্যায় করেন পঠন ॥ ৮ ॥

rāsa-līlāra śloka paḍi' karena stavana
of the rāsa-līlā the verses reciting makes praise
'jayati te 'dhikaṁ' adhyāya karena paṭhana
"jayati te 'dhikam" the chapter does recitation

8 He offered praise with the verses of the rāsa-līlā, reading aloud the chapter that begins "jayati te 'dhikam."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Jayati te 'dhikam — the chapter: the Gopī-gītā among the five chapters on the rāsa dance (rāsa-pañcādhyāya), Canto 10, Chapter 31.

The Lord is pleased and eager to hear more —

শুনিতে শুনিতে প্রভুর সন্তোষ অপার ।
'বল, বল' বলি' প্রভু বলে বার বার ॥ ৯ ॥

śunite śunite prabhura santoṣa apāra hearing hearing of the Lord the joy boundless
'bala, bala' bali' prabhu bale bāra bāra
"go on go on" saying the Lord says again again

9 As the Lord listened, His joy knew no bounds. "Go on, go on!" He said again and again.

*Absorbed in prema, the Lord embraces the king —*

'তব কথামৃতং' শ্লোক রাজা যে পড়িল । উঠি' প্রভু প্রেমাবেশে আলিঙ্গন কৈল ॥ ১০ ॥

'tava kathāmṛtaṁ' śloka rājā ye paḍila
"tava kathāmṛtam" the verse the king when recited
uṭhi' prabhu premāveśe āliṅgana kaila rising the Lord in the rapture of love embrace made

10 When the king recited the verse "tava kathāmṛtam," the Lord rose in the rapture of love and embraced him.

Feeling that He has gained a great treasure, [the Lord] thanks the king —

তুমি মোরে দিলে বহু অমূল্য-রতন । মোর কিছু দিতে নাহি' দিলুঁ আলিঙ্গন ॥ ১১ ॥

tumi more dile bahu amūlya-ratana
you to Me gave many priceless jewels mora kichu dite nāhi' diluṁ āliṅgana
of Mine anything to give there is not I give an embrace

11 "You have given Me many priceless jewels. I have nothing to give you in return, so I give you My embrace."

Tears and trembling in both —

এত বলি' সেই শ্লোক পড়ে বার বার । দুইজনার অঙ্গে কম্প, নেত্রে জলধার ॥ ১২ ॥

eta bali' sei śloka paḍe bāra bāra
so saying that verse recites again again
dui-janāra aṅge kampa, netre jala-dhāra
of the two in the bodies trembling in the eyes streams of tears

12 Saying this, the Lord recited that verse again and again. Both of them trembled, and tears streamed from their eyes.

*One who distributes the nectar of narrations about the Lord is the greatest of givers — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.31.9)*

তব কথামৃতং তপ্তজীবনং
কবিভিরীড়িতং কল্মষাপহম্ ।
শ্রবণমঙ্গলং শ্রীমদাততং ভুবি গৃণন্তি তে ভূরিদা জনাঃ ॥ ১৩ ॥

tava kathāmṛtaṁ tapta-jīvanaṁ
Your nectar of words of the afflicted the life
kavibhir īḍitaṁ kalmaṣāpaham
by the wise praised sin-removing śravaṇa-maṅgalaṁ śrīmad-ātataṁ
to the ear auspicious full of power widespread bhuvi gṛṇanti te bhūridā janāḥ
on earth proclaim they most munificent people

13 "The nectar of Your words is the very life of those who burn with suffering. The wise have praised it, and it takes away all sin. It is auspicious to hear, full of power and spread far and wide. Those who proclaim it on earth are the most munificent of givers." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.31.9)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
O Beloved! People who have performed many pious deeds over many births come into this world and sing the nectar of narrations about You. It is the life of those who burn with love for You and the song of poets; it destroys impurity, it is auspicious to hear, it surpasses everything and pervades all.

Anubhāṣya.

During the rāsa dance Śrī Kṛṣṇa suddenly disappeared. The gopīs, for whom Kṛṣṇa is their very life (wholly absorbed in Kṛṣṇa), suffered bitterly in separation from Him. With hearts absorbed in Him, they came from the place of the rāsa dance to the bank of the Yamunā, and in these songs they glorify Kṛṣṇa's many qualities:

ye janāḥ bhuvi (in saṁsāra) tapta-jīvanam (the life and soul of those tormented by the fever of separation) kavibhiḥ (by the knowers of Kṛṣṇa's rasa) īḍitam (worshipped) kalmaṣāpaham (destroying the grief of the fever of separation) śravaṇa-maṅgalam (a delight to the ear) śrīmat (endowed with all potencies) tava (Your, O Hari) kathāmṛtam (nectarean narration) ātatam (at length) gṛṇanti (sing), te (they alone) janāḥ bhūri-dāḥ (are the most generous).

Not knowing who is before Him, [the Lord] embraces the king —

‘ভূরিদা’ ‘ভূরিদা’ বলি’ করে আলিঙ্গন ।
ইঁহো নাহি জানে, — ইঁহো হয় কোন্ জন ॥ ১৪ ॥

‘bhūridā’ ‘bhūridā’ bali’ kare āliṅgana
“most munificent” “most munificent” saying makes embrace iṁho nāhi jāne, — iṁho haya kon jana
He not knows this one is which person

14 “Most munificent! Most munificent!” cried the Lord as He embraced him. He did not know who the man was.

Anubhāṣya.

The first îho is Mahāprabhu; the second îho is King Pratāparudra.

Seeing the king's earlier service, the Lord shows him mercy —

পূর্ব্ব-সেবা দেখি’ তাঁরে কৃপা উপজিল । অনুসন্ধান-বিনা কৃপা-প্রসাদ করিল ॥ ১৫ ॥

pūrva-sevā dekhi' tāṁre kṛpā upajila
the former service having seen to him mercy arose anusandhāna-vinā kṛpā-prasāda karila inquiry without the gift of mercy made

15 Having seen the king's earlier service, the Lord felt mercy for him, and He bestowed His grace without asking who he was.

Caitanya's mercy does not weigh a person's qualification and needs no cause —

এই দেখ, — চৈতন্যের কৃপা মহাবল । তার অনুসন্ধান বিনা করায় সফল ॥ ১৬ ॥

ei dekha, — caitanyera kṛpā mahābala
just see of Caitanya the mercy all-powerful tāra anusandhāna vinā karāya saphala
of him inquiry without makes successful

16 Just see how mighty Caitanya's mercy is! Without asking anything about a person, it crowns his life with success.

In loving absorption [the Lord] asks the king who he is — প্রভু বলে, — কে তুমি, করিলা মোর হিত ?

আচম্বিতে আসি' পিয়াও কৃষ্ণলীলামৃত ? ॥ ১৭ ॥

prabhu bale, — ke tumi, karilā mora hita?
the Lord says who you have done My good ācambite āsi' piyāo kṛṣṇa-līlāmṛta?
suddenly coming you make Me drink the nectar of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes

17 The Lord said, "Who are you, who have done Me such good? You have come so suddenly and made Me drink the nectar of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes!"

The king introduces himself as "the servant of the servants of Kṛṣṇa" —

রাজা কহে, — আমি তোমার দাসের দাস । ভৃত্যের ভৃত্য কর, — এই মোর আশ ॥ ১৮ ॥

rājā kahe, — āmi tomāra dāsera dāsa
the king says I Your of the servants servant
bhṛtyera bhṛtya kara, — ei mora āśa
of the servants a servant make this my hope

18 The king said, "I am a servant of Your servants. Make me a servant of Your servants — that is my one hope."

The Lord shows the king His majesty —

তবে মহাপ্রভু তাঁরে ঐশ্বর্য্য দেখাইল ।
'কারেহ না কহিবে' এই নিষেধ করিল ॥ ১৯ ॥

tabe mahāprabhu tāṁre aiśvarya dekhāila then Mahāprabhu to him majesty showed
'kāreha nā kahibe' ei niṣedha karila
"to anyone not you shall tell" this prohibition made

19 Then Mahāprabhu revealed His divine majesty to him and forbade him: "Tell no one."

The all-knowing Lord, in outward consciousness, does not reveal that He saw the king while absorbed in love —

'রাজা' — হেন জ্ঞান কভু না কৈল প্রকাশ । অন্তরে সকল জানেন, বাহিরে উদাস ॥ ২০ ॥

'rājā' — hena jñāna kabhu nā kaila prakāśa
"the king" such awareness ever not made manifest antare sakala jānena, bāhire udāsa within everything He knows outwardly detached

20 He never showed any awareness that this was the king. Within He knew everything, but outwardly He seemed unconcerned.

The devotees praise the king's good fortune —

প্রতাপরুদ্রের ভাগ্য দেখি' ভক্তগণে । রাজারে প্রশংসে সবে আনন্দিত-মনে ॥ ২১ ॥

pratāparudrera bhāgya dekhi' bhakta-gaṇe Pratāparudra's fortune seeing the devotees
rājāre praśaṁse sabe ānandita-mane
the king praise all with joyful hearts

21 Seeing Pratāparudra's good fortune, all the devotees praised the king with joyful hearts.

Bowing to the Lord and the devotees, the king departs —

দণ্ডবৎ করি' রাজা বাহিরে চলিলা । যোড় হস্ত করি' সব ভক্তেরে বন্দিলা ॥ ২২ ॥

daṇḍavat kari' rājā bāhire calilā obeisance making the king outside went yoḍa hasta kari' saba bhaktere vandilā
joined hands making all the devotees saluted

22 The king bowed down before the Lord, saluted all the devotees with joined palms and went out.

*After everyone's midday bath, Vāṇīnātha brings abundant prasāda —*

মধ্যাহ্ন করিলা প্রভু লঞা ভক্তগণ । বাণীনাথ প্রসাদ লঞা কৈল আগমন ॥ ২৩ ॥

madhyāhna karilā prabhu lañā bhakta-gaṇa
the midday bath and duties performed the Lord with the devotees
vāṇīnātha prasāda lañā kaila āgamana
Vāṇīnātha prasāda bringing made arrival

23 The Lord took His midday bath with the devotees, and then Vāṇīnātha arrived, bringing prasāda.

সার্ব্বভৌম-রামানন্দ-বাণীনাথে দিয়া । প্রসাদ পাঠাল রাজা বহুত করিয়া ॥ ২৪ ॥

sārvabhauma-rāmānanda-vāṇīnāthe diyā through Sārvabhauma, Rāmānanda and Vāṇīnātha giving prasāda pāṭhāla rājā bahuta kariyā prasāda sent the king in abundance making

24 Through Sārvabhauma, Rāmānanda and Vāṇīnātha the king had sent prasāda in great abundance.

*Varied prasāda —*

'বলগণ্ডি ভোগে'র প্রসাদ — উত্তম, অনন্ত ।
'নি-সকড়ি' প্রসাদ আইল, যার নাহি অন্ত ॥ ২৫ ॥

'balagaṇḍi bhoge'ra prasāda — uttama, ananta
of the Balagaṇḍi offering the prasāda excellent endless
'ni-sakaḍi' prasāda āila, yāra nāhi anta
"ni-sakaḍi" prasāda came of which there is no end

25 There was the prasāda of the Balagaṇḍi offering, excellent and without limit, and endless prasāda of the ni-sakaḍi kind, not cooked in water.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Ni-sakaḍi: yogurt, condensed milk (kṣīra), fruits, roots, and everything else that is not sakaḍi.

ছানা, পানা, পৈড়, আম্র, নারিকেল, কাঁঠাল । নানাবিধ কদলী, আর বীজ-তাল ॥ ২৬ ॥

chānā, pānā, paiḍa, āmra, nārikela, kāṁṭhāla
curd cheese fruit drinks green coconuts mangoes ripe coconuts jackfruits
nānā-vidha kadalī, āra bīja-tāla
many kinds of bananas and palm-fruit kernels

26 There were curd cheese and fruit drinks, green coconuts, mangoes, ripe coconuts and jackfruits, many kinds of bananas, and the soft kernels of palm fruits.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Paiḍa: green coconut (ḍāba). (A variant reading has paira: payrā raw sugar.)

Anubhāṣya.
Bīja-tāla: the pulp of palm fruits (tāla-śāśa).

নারঙ্গ, ছোলঙ্গ, টাবা, কমলা, বীজপূর । বাদাম, ছোহারা, দ্রাক্ষা, পিণ্ডখর্জ্জুর ॥ ২৭ ॥

nāraṅga, cholaṅga, ṭābā, kamalā, bīja-pūra
oranges grapefruits pomelos tangerines citrons
bādāma, chohārā, drākṣā, piṇḍa-kharjura
almonds dried dates grapes dates

27 Oranges, grapefruits, pomelos, tangerines and citrons; almonds, dried dates, grapes and pressed dates.

Anubhāṣya.
Nāraṅga and the rest are all citrus fruits. Bījapūra: mātuluṅga, the pomegranate (bedānā, or ḍālima), or possibly the ṭābā-nebu citron (?). Chohārā: dried dates (khurmā). Drākṣā: grapes.

মনোহরা, লাড়ু, আদি শতেক প্রকার । অমৃতগুটিকা-আদি, ক্ষীর্সা অপার ॥ ২৮ ॥

manoharā, lāḍu, ādi śateka prakāra manoharā laḍḍus and others a hundred kinds amṛta-guṭikā-ādi, kṣīrsā apāra
amṛta-guṭikā and others kṣīrsā without limit

28 Manoharā, laḍḍus and a hundred other sweets; amṛta-guṭikā and the like, and kṣīrsā without measure.

Anubhāṣya.
Manoharā: a kind of sandeśa. Kṣīrasā: in the colloquial speech of East Bengal, kṣīra itself is called kṣīrasā.

অমৃতমণ্ডা, সরবতী, আর কুম্‌ড়া-কুরী ৷ সরামৃত সরভাজা, আর সরপুরী ॥ ২৯ ॥

amṛta-maṇḍā, saravatī, āra kumḍā-kurī
amṛta-maṇḍā saravatī and pumpkin shreds sarāmṛta sarabhājā, āra sarapurī
sarāmṛta sarabhājā and sarapurī

29 Amṛta-maṇḍā, saravatī lemons, pumpkin shreds, sarāmṛta, sarabhājā and sarapurī.

Anubhāṣya.
A variant reading has amṛta-bhaṇḍā: papaya. Saravatī: a choice kind of lime. Sara-bhājā and sara-purī are made especially in the Kṛṣṇanagara area of the Nadia district.

হরিবল্লভ, সেঁওতি, কর্পূর, মালতী ৷ ডালি-মরিচ-লাড়ু, নবাত, অমৃতি ॥ ৩০ ॥

hari-vallabha, seṁoti, karpūra, mālatī
hari-vallabha seṅoti karpūra mālatī
ḍāli-marica-lāḍu, navāta, amṛti
ḍāli-marica-lāḍu navāta amṛti

30 Hari-vallabha, seṅoti, karpūra, mālatī, ḍāli-marica laḍḍus, navāta and amṛti.

Anubhāṣya.
Hari-vallabha: apparently a flatbread fried in ghee (?). Seũti: a fragrant flower. Karpūra: apparently a flower (?). Ḍāla-marica-lāḍu: balls made of mung (mugera nāḍu) (?). Nabāta: a sweet cooked in sugar syrup. Amṛti: a sweet fried in ghee, of the jilipi kind (made especially in East Bengal).

পদ্মচিনি, চন্দ্রকান্তি, খাজা, খণ্ডসার ৷ বিয়রি, কদ্মা, তিলাখাজার প্রকার ॥ ৩১ ॥

padmacini, candrakānti, khājā, khaṇḍasāra
padmacini candrakānti khājā khaṇḍasāra
viyari, kadmā, tilākhājāra prakāra
viyari kadmā of tilakhājā the kinds

31 Padmacini, candrakānti, khājā, khaṇḍasāra, viyari, kadmā and all kinds of sesame khājā.

Anubhāṣya.
Candrakānti: thin pancakes (cākli) made of kalāi dal, or fluffy moon-shaped baḍi. Biyaḍi: a cake of puffed biraṇa rice. Kadmā: a very hard and well-known sweet made of rice flour in sugar syrup. Tile-khājā: a sweet made of khājā with sesame fried in ghee.

নারঙ্গ-ছোলঙ্গ-আম্র-বৃক্ষের আকার । ফুল-ফল-পত্রযুক্ত খণ্ডের বিকার ॥ ৩২ ॥

nāraṅga-cholaṅga-āmra-vṛkṣera ākāra
of orange, grapefruit and mango trees in the shape
phula-phala-patra-yukta khaṇḍera vikāra
with flowers, fruits and leaves of sugar creations

32 There were sweets of sugar shaped like orange, grapefruit and mango trees, complete with flowers, fruits and leaves.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Sugar-made nāraṅga, cholaṅga, ṭābā, kamalā and other citrus fruits, and mango trees (“toys”).

দধি-দুগ্ধ, ননী, তক্র, রসালা, শিখরিণী । স-লবণ মুদগাঙ্কুর, আদা খানি খানি ॥ ৩৩ ॥

dadhi-dugdha, nanī, takra, rasālā, śikhariṇī
yogurt and milk fresh butter buttermilk rasālā śikhariṇī
sa-lavaṇa mudgāṅkura, ādā khāni khāni
salted mung sprouts ginger in slices

33 Yogurt, milk, fresh butter, buttermilk, rasālā and śikhariṇī; salted mung sprouts and sliced ginger.

Anubhāṣya.

Takra: buttermilk (ghol). Rasālā: sherbet, pānā. Khāni-khāni: in small pieces, in slices.

লেম্বু-কুল-আদি নানা-প্রকার আচার । লিখিতে না পারি প্রসাদ কতেক প্রকার ॥ ৩৪ ॥

lembu-kula-ādi nānā-prakāra ācāra
of lemons, jujubes and the like many kinds of pickles
likhite nā pāri prasāda kateka prakāra
to write not I can of prasāda how many kinds

34 There were many kinds of pickles, of lemons, jujubes and other fruits. I cannot write down how many kinds of prasāda there were.

Anubhāṣya.

Here the author's knowledge of the variety of offerings (naivedya) to Kṛṣṇa comes to light.

Anubhāṣya.

Lime pickles and jujube pickles (ācāra). In the colloquial speech of East Bengal the word nebu is pronounced lemu.

*The plates of prasāda cover a large area —*

প্রসাদে পূরিত হৈল অর্দ্ধ উপবন । দেখিয়া সন্তোষ হইল মহাপ্রভুর মন ॥ ৩৫ ॥

prasāde pūrita haila arddha upavana
with prasāda filled became half the garden dekhiyā santoṣa haila mahāprabhura mana seeing satisfied became Mahāprabhu's mind

35 Half the garden was filled with prasāda, and Mahāprabhu was delighted to see it.

The Lord rejoices, thinking of how Jagannātha was satisfied —

এইমত জগন্নাথ করেন ভোজন । এই সুখে মহাপ্রভুর জুড়ায় নয়ন ॥ ৩৬ ॥

ei-mata jagannātha karena bhojana
in this way Jagannātha takes His meal
ei sukhe mahāprabhura juḍāya nayana
by this joy Mahāprabhu's are soothed eyes

36 In this way Jagannātha took His meal, and the joy of seeing it soothed Mahāprabhu's eyes.

কেয়া-পত্র-দ্রোণী আইল বোঝা পাঁচ-সাত । এক এক জনে দশ দোনা দিল, — এত পাত ॥ ৩৭ ॥

keyā-patra-droṇī āila bojhā pāṁca-sāta
of ketakī leaves cups came loads five or seven eka eka jane daśa donā dila, — eta pāta
each each person ten cups were given so many plates

37 Five or seven loads of cups made of ketakī leaves were brought, so many that each person was given ten.

Anubhāṣya.
Keyā-patra-droṇī: cups (ḍoṅgā) made of ketakī leaves. Donā: leaf pouches (ṭhoṅgā).

*Bhagavān Himself feeds the devotees tired from kīrtana —*

কীর্ত্তনীয়ার পরিশ্রম জানি' গৌররায় । তাঁ-সবারে খাওয়াইতে প্রভুর মন ধায় ॥ ৩৮ ॥

kīrtanīyāra pariśrama jāni' gaurarāya
of the kīrtana singers the exertion knowing Gaurarāya
tāṁ-sabāre khāoyāite prabhura mana dhāya
them all to feed the Lord's mind hastens

38 Gaurarāya knew how hard the kīrtana singers had laboured, and He longed to feed them all.

The Lord Himself serves the food —

পাঁতি পাঁতি করি' ভক্তগণে বসাইলা । পরিবেশন করিবারে আপনে লাগিলা ॥ ৩৯ ॥

pāṁti pāṁti kari' bhakta-gaṇe vasāilā row by row making the devotees He seated pariveśana karibāre āpane lāgilā serving to do Himself He began

39 He seated the devotees row by row and began to serve them Himself.

Anubhāṣya.
Pāṁti: in rows.

While the Lord does not eat, no one has any desire to eat —

প্রভু না খাইলে, কেহ না করে ভোজন । স্বরূপ-গোসাঞি তবে কৈল নিবেদন ॥ ৪০ ॥

prabhu nā khāile, keha nā kare bhojana
the Lord not having eaten anyone not takes a meal
svarūpa-gosāñi tabe kaila nivedana
Svarūpa Gosāñi then made a request

40 But no one would eat unless the Lord ate, and so Svarūpa Gosāñi made a request:

Svarūpa makes a request [to the Lord] on behalf of the devotees —

আপনে বৈস, প্রভু, ভোজন করিতে । তুমি না খাইলে, কেহ না পারে খাইতে ॥ ৪১ ॥

āpane vaisa, prabhu, bhojana karite Yourself sit Lord meal to take tumi nā khāile, keha nā pāre khāite
You not having eaten anyone not can eat

41 "Lord, please sit down Yourself and take Your meal. Unless You eat, no one can eat."

*The Lord honors the prasāda —*

তবে মহাপ্রভু বৈসে নিজগণ লঞা । ভোজন করাইল সবাকে আকণ্ঠ পূরিয়া ॥ ৪২ ॥

tabe mahāprabhu vaise nija-gaṇa lañā
then Mahāprabhu sits His own people with bhojana karāila sabāke ākaṇṭha pūriyā meal caused to take all up to the throat filling

42 Then Mahāprabhu sat down with His companions and fed them all until they could eat no more.

*After the meal, rinsing the mouth (ācamana); many people receive the remaining prasāda —*

ভোজন করি' বসিলা প্রভু করি' আচমন । প্রসাদ উবরিল, খায় সহস্রেক জন ॥ ৪৩ ॥

bhojana kari' vasilā prabhu kari' ācamana
the meal having taken sat the Lord making rinsing of the mouth prasāda ubarila, khāya sahasreka jana
the prasāda remained ate a thousand people

43 When He had eaten and rinsed His mouth, the Lord sat down. So much prasāda was left over that a thousand people ate of it.

Anubhāṣya.
Ubarila: was left over, was in excess.

*By the Lord's mercy the poor, the wretched and the destitute receive *prasāda —

প্রভুর আজ্ঞায় গোবিন্দ দীন-হীন জনে । দুঃখী কাঙ্গাল আনি' করায় ভোজনে ॥ ৪৪ ॥

prabhura ājñāya govinda dīna-hīna jane
by the Lord's order Govinda poor and destitute people duḥkhī kāṅgāla āni' karāya bhojane
the suffering beggars bringing makes eat

44 At the Lord's order Govinda brought the poor and destitute, the suffering and the beggars, and fed them.

Gaurahari watches the destitute eat and teaches them to chant the name of Hari —

কাঙ্গালের ভোজন-রঙ্গ দেখে গৌরহরি ।
'হরিবোল' বলি' তারে উপদেশ করি ॥ ৪৫ ॥

kāṅgālera bhojana-raṅga dekhe gaurahari
of the beggars the joy of eating watches Gaurahari
'hari-bola' bali' tāre upadeśa kari
"Hari bol" saying to them instruction gives

45 Gaurahari watched the beggars joyfully eating, and He instructed them to say "Hari bol!"

The destitute attain devotion to Hari —

'হরিবোল' বলি' কাঙ্গাল প্রেমে ভাসি' যায় । ঐছন অদ্ভুত লীলা করে গৌররায় ॥ ৪৬ ॥

'hari-bola' bali' kāṅgāla preme bhāsi' yāya
"Hari bol" saying the beggars in love float go aichana adbhuta līlā kare gaurarāya
such wonderful pastimes shows Gaurarāya

46 As they said “Hari bol!” the beggars floated away in love. Such are the wonderful pastimes of Gaurarāya!

The Gauḍas are unable to move the chariot —

ইঁহা জগন্নাথের রথ-চলন-সময় । গৌড় সব রথ টানে, আগে নাহি যায় ॥ ৪৭ ॥

iṁhā jagannāthera ratha-calana-samaya
here of Jagannātha the time of the chariot’s moving gauḍa saba ratha ṭāne, āge nāhi yāya
the Gauḍas all the chariot pull forward not goes

47 Meanwhile, when it was time for Jagannātha’s chariot to set out, all the gauḍas pulled at it, but it would not go forward.

The king arrives in haste with his retinue —

টানিতে না পারে গৌড়, রথ ছাড়ি’ দিল । পাত্র-মিত্র লঞা রাজা ব্যগ্র হঞা আইল ॥ ৪৮ ॥

ṭānite nā pāre gauḍa, ratha chāḍi’ dila
to pull not can the Gauḍas the chariot leaving let go pātra-mitra lañā rājā vyagra hañā āila officers and friends taking the king anxious becoming came 48 Unable to pull it, the gauḍas let the chariot go. In alarm the king hurried there with his officers and friends.

Even mighty wrestlers are unable to move the chariot —

মহামল্লগণে দিল রথ চালাইতে । আপনে লাগিলা রথ, না পারে টানিতে ॥ ৪৯ ॥

mahā-malla-gaṇe dila ratha cālāite
to great wrestlers gave the chariot to move āpane lāgilā ratha, nā pāre ṭānite himself set to the chariot not can pull

49 He set mighty wrestlers to move the chariot and put his own hand to it too, but they could not pull it.

ব্যগ্র হঞা আনে রাজা মত্ত-হাতীগণ । রথ চালাইতে রথে করিল যোজন ॥ ৫০ ॥

vyagra hañā āne rājā matta-hātī-gaṇa anxious becoming brings the king maddened elephants
ratha cālāite rathe karila yojana
the chariot to move to the chariot made harnessing

50 Growing anxious, the king brought maddened elephants and had them harnessed to the chariot to move it.

মত্ত-হস্তিগণ টানে, যত তার বল । এক পদ না চলে রথ, হইল অচল ॥ ৫১ ॥

matta-hasti-gaṇa ṭāne, yata tāra bala
the maddened elephants pull as much as their strength
eka pada nā cale ratha, haila acala
one step not moves the chariot it became immovable

51 The maddened elephants pulled with all their strength, but the chariot would not move a single step. It stood fixed.

The Lord and His associates watch the efforts to move the chariot —

শুনি' মহাপ্রভু আইলা নিজগণ লঞা । মত্তহস্তি রথ টানে, — দেখে দণ্ডাঞা ॥ ৫২ ॥

śuni' mahāprabhu āilā nija-gaṇa lañā hearing Mahāprabhu came His own people with matta-hasti ratha ṭāne, — dekhe daṇḍāñā
the maddened elephants the chariot pull He watches standing

52 Hearing of this, Mahāprabhu came with His companions. He stood and watched the maddened elephants pulling the chariot.

Seeing that even the elephants cannot move the chariot, everyone cries out in dismay —

অঙ্কুশের ঘায় হস্তী করয়ে চিৎকার । রথ নাহি চলে, লোক করে হাহাকার ॥ ৫৩ ॥

aṅkuśera ghāya hastī karaye citkāra
of the goad under the blows the elephants make screams
ratha nāhi cale, loka kare hāhākāra
the chariot not moves the people make laments

53 The elephants screamed under the blows of the goad, yet the chariot would not move, and the people cried out in dismay.

[The Lord] engages His own associates in pulling the chariot —

তবে মহাপ্রভু সব হস্তি ঘুচাইল । নিজগণে রথ-কাছি টানিবারে দিল ॥ ৫৪ ॥

tabe mahāprabhu saba hasti ghucāila then Mahāprabhu all the elephants removed nija-gaṇe ratha-kāchi ṭānibāre dila
to His own people the chariot ropes to pull gave 54 Then Mahāprabhu had all the elephants taken away and gave the chariot ropes to His own companions to pull.

As soon as the Lord touches the chariot with His head, it moves —

আপনে রথের পাছে ঠেলে মাথা দিয়া । হড়, হড়, করি' রথ চলিল ধাইঞা ॥ ৫৫ ॥

āpane rathera pāche ṭhele māthā diyā Himself of the chariot behind pushes the head placing haḍ, haḍ, kari' ratha calila dhāiñā
rumbling rumbling making the chariot moved rushing

55 He Himself pushed the chariot from behind with His head, and with a rumbling roar the chariot rushed forward.

The chariot moves without effort —

ভক্তগণ কাছি হাতে করি' মাত্র ধায় । আপনে চলিল রথ, টানিতে না পায় ॥ ৫৬ ॥

bhakta-gaṇa kāchi hāte kari' mātra dhāya
the devotees the rope in hand holding merely run āpane calila ratha, ṭānite nā pāya
by itself moved the chariot to pull not they get 56 The devotees simply ran along holding the ropes in their hands. The chariot moved by itself, and they had no need to pull.

In their joy all cry out "Jaya!" —

আনন্দে করয়ে লোক 'জয়' 'জয়'-ধ্বনি ।
'জয় জগন্নাথ' বই আর নাহি শুনি ॥ ৫৭ ॥

ānande karaye loka 'jaya' 'jaya'-dhvani
in joy make the people "jaya" "jaya" sounds
'jaya jagannātha' bai āra nāhi śuni
"jaya Jagannātha" except other not is heard

57 In their joy the people shouted "Jaya! Jaya!" Nothing could be heard but "Jaya Jagannātha!"

By the Lord's power the chariot reaches Guṇḍicā —

নিমেষে ত' গেল রথ গুণ্ডিচার দ্বার । চৈতন্য-প্রতাপ দেখি' লোকে চমৎকার ॥ ৫৮ ॥

nimeṣe ta' gela ratha guṇḍicāra dvāra
in an instant indeed went the chariot of Guṇḍicā to the gate
caitanya-pratāpa dekhi' loke camatkāra
Caitanya's might seeing the people in wonder

58 In an instant the chariot reached the gate of Guṇḍicā. Seeing Caitanya's might, the people were struck with wonder.

The people glorify the Lord —

‘জয় গৌরচন্দ্র’, ‘জয় শ্রীকৃষ্ণচৈতন্য’ ।
এইমত কোলাহল লোকে করে ধন্য ॥ ৫৯ ॥

‘jaya gauracandra’, ‘jaya śrī kṛṣṇa-caitanya’ “glory to Gauracandra” “glory to Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya”
ei-mata kolāhala loke kare dhanya
in this way tumult the people make praise

59 “Glory to Gauracandra! Glory to Śrī Kṛṣṇa Caitanya!” With such a tumult the people sang His praises.

*Seeing the Lord's greatness, the king is overwhelmed with prema —*

দেখিয়া প্রতাপরুদ্র পাত্র-মিত্র-সঙ্গে । প্রভুর মহিমা দেখি’ প্রেমে ফুলে অঙ্গে ॥ ৬০ ॥

dekhiyā pratāparudra pātra-mitra-saṅge
seeing Pratāparudra with officers and friends
prabhura mahimā dekhi’ preme phule aṅge
the Lord’s glory seeing in love swells in body

60 Seeing the Lord’s glory, Pratāparudra, his officers and his friends thrilled with love in every limb.

*Jagannātha's pahāṇḍi —*

পাণ্ডুবিজয় তবে করে সেবকগণে । জগন্নাথ বসিলা গিয়া নিজ-সিংহাসনে ॥ ৬১ ॥

pāṇḍu-vijaya tabe kare sevaka-gaṇe
the Pāṇḍu-vijaya then perform the servants
jagannātha vasilā giyā nija-siṁhāsane
Jagannātha sat going on His own throne

61 Then the servants performed the Pāṇḍu-vijaya, and Jagannātha went and sat upon His throne.

*The pahāṇḍi of Subhadrā and Balarāma; Jagannātha is offered the snāna-bhoga —*

সুভদ্রা-বলরাম নিজ-সিংহাসনে আইলা । জগন্নাথের স্নানভোগ হইতে লাগিলা ॥ ৬২ ॥

subhadrā-balarāma nija-siṁhāsane āilā Subhadrā and Balarāma to their own thrones came jagannāthera snāna-bhoga haite lāgilā Jagannātha's bath and offering to take place began

62 Subhadrā and Balarāma came to their thrones too, and Jagannātha's bathing and offerings began.

*The Lord's kīrtana with the devotees in the courtyard —*

আঙ্গিনাতে মহাপ্রভু লঞা ভক্তগণ । আনন্দে আরম্ভ কৈল নর্ত্তন-কীর্ত্তন ॥ ৬৩ ॥

āṅginmāte mahāprabhu lañā bhakta-gaṇa
in the courtyard Mahāprabhu with the devotees
ānande ārambha kaila nartana-kīrtana
in joy beginning made dancing and kīrtana

63 In the courtyard Mahāprabhu and the devotees joyfully began to dance and sing kīrtana.

*The Lord's prema drives everyone mad —*

আনন্দে মহাপ্রভুর প্রেম উথলিল । দেখি' সব লোক প্রেম-সাগরে ভাসিল ॥ ৬৪ ॥

ānande mahāprabhura prema uthalila
in joy Mahāprabhu's love surged up dekhi' saba loka prema-sāgare bhāsila
seeing all the people in the ocean of love floated

64 In His joy Mahāprabhu's love surged up, and all who saw Him floated in the ocean of love.

*The Lord sees the evening ārati and rests at Āiṭoṭā —*

নৃত্য করি' সন্ধ্যাকালে আরতি দেখিল । আইটোটা আসি' প্রভু বিশ্রাম করিল ॥ ৬৫ ॥

nṛtya kari' sandhyā-kāle ārati dekhila
dance having done in the evening the ārati watched āiṭoṭā āsi' prabhu viśrāma karila to Āiṭoṭā coming the Lord rest took 65 After the dance He watched the evening ārati. Then the Lord came to Āiṭoṭā and rested.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Āiṭoṭā: a garden near Guṇḍicā.

*Advaita and the others, nine in all, invite the Lord for the nine days of the nava-rātra-yātrā —*

অদ্বৈতাদি ভক্তগণ নিমন্ত্রণ কৈল । মুখ্য মুখ্য নব জন নব দিন পাইল ॥ ৬৬ ॥

advaitādi bhakta-gaṇa nimantraṇa kaila Advaita and the others the devotees invitation made mukhya mukhya nava jana nava dina pāila
chief chief nine persons nine days received

66 Advaita and the other devotees invited the Lord, and the nine chief among them received the nine days.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Advaita and the other devotees who had come from Gauḍa each invited the Lord for a day and fed Him (gave Him bhikṣā). At the Guṇḍicā house the festival lasts nine days and is called the nava-rātra-yātrā; for those nine days the Lord stayed at Āiṭoṭā with the devotees. The nine chief devotees, headed by Advaita, invited the Lord for those nine days, and the other devotees divided the days of cāturmāsya among themselves, one day each.

*During cāturmāsya each devotee invites the Lord for one day —*

আর ভক্তগণ চাতুর্ম্মাস্যে যত দিন । এক এক দিন করি' করিল বণ্টন ॥ ৬৭ ॥

āra bhakta-gaṇa cāturmāsye yata dina
the other devotees in the Cāturmāsya as many as days
eka eka dina kari' karila baṇṭana
one one day making made division

67 The other devotees divided up all the days of the Cāturmāsya, one day each.

Other devotees do not have the good fortune of inviting the Lord —

চারি মাসের দিন মুখ্যভক্ত বাঁটি' নিল । আর ভক্তগণ অবসর না পাইল ॥ ৬৮ ॥

cāri māsera dina mukhya-bhakta bāṁṭi' nila of four months the days the chief devotees dividing took āra bhakta-gaṇa avasara nā pāila
the other devotees opportunity not received

68 The chief devotees shared out the days of the four months among themselves, and the other devotees found no opportunity.

So two or three (2–3) together invite the Lord for one day —

এক দিন নিমন্ত্রণ করে দুই-তিনে মিলি' । এইমত মহাপ্রভুর নিমন্ত্রণ-কেলি ॥ ৬৯ ॥

eka dina nimantraṇa kare dui-tine mili'
one day invitation make two or three joining together
ei-mata mahāprabhura nimantraṇa-keli
in this way Mahāprabhu's the play of invitations

69 So two or three of them would join together to invite Him for a single day. Such was Mahāprabhu's pastime of invitations.

*After the morning bath and darśana of Jagannātha, kīrtana and dancing with His associates —*

প্রাতঃকালে স্নান করি' দেখি' জগন্নাথ । সংকীর্ত্তনে নৃত্য করে ভক্তগণ-সাথ ॥ ৭০ ॥

prātaḥ-kāle snāna kari' dekhi' jagannātha
in the morning bath having taken having seen Jagannātha saṁkīrtane nṛtya kare bhakta-gaṇa sātha
in saṅkīrtana dance does the devotees with 70 In the morning He bathed and saw Jagannātha, and then He danced in saṅkīrtana with the devotees.

*Nitāi, Advaita and others dance; kīrtana at Guṇḍicā three times a day —*

কভু অদ্বৈতে নাচায়, কভু নিত্যানন্দে । কভু হরিদাসে নাচায়, কভু অচ্যুতানন্দে ॥ ৭১ ॥

kabhu advaite nācāya, kabhu nityānande
sometimes Advaita makes dance sometimes Nityānanda
kabhu haridāse nācāya, kabhu acyutānande
sometimes Haridāsa makes dance sometimes Acyutānanda

71 Sometimes He made Advaita dance, sometimes Nityānanda; sometimes Haridāsa, sometimes Acyutānanda.

কভু বক্রেশ্বরে, কভু আর ভক্তগণে ।
ত্রিসন্ধ্যা কীর্ত্তন করে গুণ্ডিচা-প্রাঙ্গণে ॥ ৭২ ॥

kabhu vakreśvare, kabhu āra bhakta-gaṇe
sometimes Vakreśvara sometimes other devotees
trisandhyā kīrtana kare guṇḍicā-prāṅgaṇe
three times a day kīrtana does in the courtyard of Guṇḍicā

72 Sometimes He made Vakreśvara dance, and sometimes other devotees. Three times a day He held kīrtana in the courtyard of Guṇḍicā.

*The joy of the Lord, who is in the mood of a gopī, Śrī Rādhā's maidservant, at Kṛṣṇa's coming to Vraja and meeting Śrī Rādhā —*

বৃন্দাবনে আইলা কৃষ্ণ — এই প্রভুর জ্ঞান । কৃষ্ণের বিরহ-স্ফূর্ত্তি হৈল অবসান ॥ ৭৩ ॥

vṛndāvane āilā kṛṣṇa — ei prabhura jñāna to Vṛndāvana has come Kṛṣṇa this the Lord's awareness kṛṣṇera viraha-sphūrti haila avasāna
for Kṛṣṇa the feeling of separation became ended

73 The Lord felt that Kṛṣṇa had come back to Vṛndāvana, and His feeling of separation from Kṛṣṇa came to an end.

রাধা-সঙ্গে কৃষ্ণ-লীলা — এই হৈল জ্ঞানে । এই রসে মগ্ন প্রভু হইলা আপনে ॥ ৭৪ ॥

rādhā-saṅge kṛṣṇa-līlā — ei haila jñāne
with Rādhā Kṛṣṇa's pastimes this became in awareness ei rase magna prabhu hailā āpane
in this rasa immersed the Lord became Himself

74 His mind was filled with Kṛṣṇa's pastimes with Rādhā, and the Lord Himself became immersed in this rasa.

The Lord's various water pastimes with the devotees —

নানোদ্যানে ভক্তসঙ্গে বৃন্দাবন-লীলা ।
'ইন্দ্রদ্যুম্ন'-সরোবরে করে জলখেলা ॥ ৭৫ ॥

nānodyāne bhakta-saṅge vṛndāvana-līlā
in various gardens with the devotees the Vṛndāvana pastimes
'indradyumna'-sarovare kare jala-khelā
in the Indradyumna lake does water play

75 In the various gardens He enacted the pastimes of Vṛndāvana with the devotees, and in the Indradyumna lake He sported in the water.

আপনে সকল ভক্তে সিঞ্চে জল দিয়া । সব ভক্তগণ সিঞ্চে চৌদিকে বেড়িয়া ॥ ৭৬ ॥

āpane sakala bhakte siñce jala diyā Himself all the devotees splashes water giving saba bhakta-gaṇa siñce caudike beḍiyā
all the devotees splash on all sides surrounding

76 The Lord Himself splashed all the devotees with water, and they all surrounded Him and splashed Him from every side.

কভু এক মণ্ডল, কভু অনেক মণ্ডল । জলমণ্ডূক-বাদ্যে সবে বাজায় করতাল ॥ ৭৭ ॥

kabhu eka maṇḍala, kabhu aneka maṇḍala
sometimes one circle sometimes many circles
jala-maṇḍūka-vādye sabe bājāya karatāla
with water-frog music all sound the palms

77 Sometimes they formed one circle and sometimes many, and all of them clapped their palms on the water, making a sound like frogs croaking.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Jala-maṇḍuka-vādya: striking [the water] so that it sounded like frogs croaking in the water, they formed a circle and began to sport in the water.

Anubhāṣya.
Jala-maṇḍuka-vādya: clapping (karatāla) on the water with a sound like frogs croaking.

The devotees sport in the water in pairs, and the Lord watches —

দুই-দুই জনে মেলি' করে জল-রণ । কেহ হারে, কেহ জিনে, প্রভু করে দরশন ॥ ৭৮ ॥

dui-dui jane meli' kare jala-raṇa
two by two persons meeting make water battle
keha hāre, keha jine, prabhu kare daraśana
someone loses someone wins the Lord does watching

78 Pairing off two by two, they fought water battles; some lost and some won, and the Lord looked on.

অদ্বৈত-নিত্যানন্দে জল ফেলাফেলি । আচার্য্য হারিয়া, পাছে করে গালাগালি ॥ ৭৯ ॥

advaita-nityānande jala phelāpheli Advaita and Nityānanda water throwing at each other ācārya hāriyā, pāche kare gālāgāli
the Ācārya having lost afterwards makes abuse

79 Advaita and Nityānanda threw water at each other. The Ācārya lost, and then began to hurl abuse.

বিদ্যানিধির জলকেলি স্বরূপের সনে । গুপ্ত-দত্তে জলকেলি করে দুই জনে ॥ ৮০ ॥

vidyānidhira jala-keli svarūpera sane of Vidyānidhi water play Svarūpa with gupta-datte jala-keli kare dui jane Gupta and Datta water play do two persons

80 Vidyānidhi played in the water with Svarūpa, and the two, Gupta and Datta, played together.

Anubhāṣya.
Gupta: Murāri Gupta; Datta: Vāsudeva Datta.

শ্রীবাস-সহিত জল খেলে গদাধর । রাঘব-পণ্ডিত সনে খেলে বক্রেশ্বর ॥ ৮১ ॥

śrīvāsa-sahita jala khele gadādhara Śrīvāsa with in water plays Gadādhara
rāghava-paṇḍita sane khele vakreśvara
Rāghava Paṇḍita with plays Vakreśvara

81 Gadādhara played in the water with Śrīvāsa, and Vakreśvara with Rāghava Paṇḍita.

সার্ব্বভৌম-সঙ্গে খেলে রামানন্দ-রায় । গাম্ভীর্য্য গেল দোঁহার, হৈল শিশুপ্রায় ॥ ৮২ ॥

sārvabhauma-saṅge khele rāmānanda-rāya
with Sārvabhauma plays Rāmānanda Rāya
gāmbhīrya gela doṁhāra, haila śiśu-prāya gravity went of both became like children

82 Rāmānanda Rāya played with Sārvabhauma. Both of them lost all their gravity and became like children.

[The Lord] tells Gopīnātha to stop the frolics of Sārvabhauma and Rāya —

মহাপ্রভু তাঁ-দোঁহার চাঞ্চল্য দেখিয়া । গোপীনাথাচার্য্যে কিছু কহেন হাসিয়া ॥ ৮৩ ॥

mahāprabhu tāṁ-doṁhāra cāñcalya dekhiyā Mahāprabhu of those two the frolic seeing gopīnāthācārye kichu kahena hāsiyā
to Gopīnāthācārya something says smiling

83 Seeing those two frolicking, Mahāprabhu smiled and said to Gopīnātha Ācārya:

পণ্ডিত, গম্ভীর, দুঁহে — প্রামাণিক জন । বাল-চাঞ্চল্য করে, করাহ বর্জ্জন ॥ ৮৪ ॥

paṇḍita, gambhīra, duṁhe — prāmāṇika jana learned grave both respected persons bāla-cāñcalya kare, karāha varjana childish frolics they do make stop

84 "Both are learned, grave and respected men, yet they are frolicking like children. Make them stop."

Gopīnātha describes the greatness of the Lord's mercy —

গোপীনাথ কহে, — তোমার কৃপা-মহাসিন্ধু । উছলিত করে যবে তার এক বিন্দু ॥ ৮৫ ॥

gopīnātha kahe, — tomāra kṛpā-mahāsindhu Gopīnātha says Your great ocean of mercy
uchalita kare yabe tāra eka bindu overflowing makes when its one drop 85 Gopīnātha said, "When a single drop of the great ocean of Your mercy overflows, মেরু-মন্দর-পর্ব্বত ডুবায় যথা-তথা । এই দুই — গণ্ড-শৈল, ইহার কা কথা ॥ ৮৬ ॥

meru-mandara-parvata ḍubāya yathā-tathā Meru and Mandara mountains drowns here and there ei dui — gaṇḍa-śaila, ihāra kā kathā
these two hillocks of them what talk

86 it drowns even the mountains Meru and Mandara wherever they stand. What then of these two, who are mere hillocks?

Anubhāṣya.
Gaṇḍa-śaila: small hills. Although the words say "these two," they are aimed above all at Sārvabhauma Bhaṭṭācārya.

By the Lord's mercy even Sārvabhauma, a man of dry knowledge, now relishes

*the rasa of service to Kṛṣṇa —*

শুষ্কতর্ক-খলি খাইতে জন্ম গেল যাঁর । তাঁরে লীলামৃত পিয়াও, — এ কৃপা তোমার ॥ ৮৭ ॥

śuṣka-tarka-khali khāite janma gela yāṁra of dry logic the oilcake eating life went whose tāṁre līlāmṛta piyāo, — e kṛpā tomāra
to him the nectar of pastimes You make drink this mercy Yours

87 His whole life was spent eating the oilcake of dry logic, and now You give him the nectar of divine pastimes to drink. Such is Your mercy!"

Anubhāṣya.

Khali: oil-cake, what remains after oil is pressed. Before Sārvabhauma received Mahāprabhu's mercy he was a knower of the featureless (nirviśeṣa) Brahman and followed the path of logic; so [Gopīnātha] compared him to "the oil-presser's bullock," which eats oil-cake.

The floating Advaita becomes Śeṣa, and the Lord manifests the pastime of Śeṣaśāyī —

হাসি' মহাপ্রভু তবে অদ্বৈতে আনিল । জলের উপরে তাঁরে শেষ-শয্যা কৈল ॥ ৮৮ ॥

hāsi' mahāprabhu tabe advaite ānila smiling Mahāprabhu then Advaita brought jalera upare tāṁre śeṣa-śayyā kaila
of the water on the surface Him Śeṣa's couch made

88 Smiling, Mahāprabhu then brought Advaita and made Him His couch, like Śeṣa, upon the water.

আপনে তাঁহার উপর করিল শয়ন ।
'শেষশায়ী-লীলা' প্রভু করে প্রকটন ॥ ৮৯ ॥

āpane tāṁhāra upara karila śayana Himself of Him upon made lying ‘śeṣa-śāyī-līlā’ prabhu kare prakaṭana
“the pastime of lying on Śeṣa” the Lord makes manifestation

89 He lay down upon Him, and so the Lord revealed the pastime of the One who lies on Śeṣa.

অদ্বৈত নিজ-শক্তি প্রকট করিয়া । মহাপ্রভু লঞা বুলে জলেতে ভাসিয়া ॥ ৯০ ॥

advaita nija-śakti prakaṭa kariyā Advaita His own power manifest making mahāprabhu lañā bule jalete bhāsiyā Mahāprabhu carrying moves on the water floating

90 Advaita revealed His own power: carrying Mahāprabhu, He floated about on the water.

The Lord comes to Āiṭoṭā with His associates —

এইমত জলক্রীড়া করি’ কতক্ষণ । আইটোটা আইলা প্রভু লঞা ভক্তগণ ॥ ৯১ ॥

ei-mata jala-krīḍā kari’ kata-kṣaṇa
in this way water sports having done some time
āiṭoṭā āilā prabhu lañā bhakta-gaṇa
to Āiṭoṭā came the Lord with the devotees

91 After sporting in the water like this for some time, the Lord returned to Āiṭoṭā with the devotees.

The chief devotees accept the Ācārya's invitation —

পুরী, ভারতী আদি যত মুখ্য ভক্তগণ । আচার্য্যের নিমন্ত্রণে করিলা ভোজন ॥ ৯২ ॥

purī, bhāratī ādi yata mukhya bhakta-gaṇa Purī Bhāratī and others all the chief devotees
ācāryera nimantraṇe karilā bhojana
of the Ācārya at the invitation took a meal

92 Purī, Bhāratī and all the other chief devotees took their meal at the Ācārya's invitation.

*The Lord's associates accept the prasāda brought by Vāṇīnātha —*

বাণীনাথ আর যত প্রসাদ আনিল । মহাপ্রভুর গণে সেই প্রসাদ খাইল ॥ ৯৩ ॥

vāṇīnātha āra yata prasāda ānila Vāṇīnātha the rest all prasāda brought mahāprabhura gaṇe sei prasāda khāila
Mahāprabhu's people that prasāda ate

93 Mahāprabhu's companions ate all the rest of the prasāda that Vāṇīnātha had brought.

*In the afternoon darśana and dancing; at night sleep in the garden —*

অপরাহ্ণে আসি' কৈল দর্শন, নর্ত্তন । নিশাতে উদ্যানে আসি' করিলা শয়ন ॥ ৯৪ ॥

aparāhne āsi' kaila darśana, nartana
in the afternoon coming made darśana dancing
niśāte udyāne āsi' karilā śayana
at night to the garden coming took rest

94 In the afternoon He came, took darśana and danced, and at night He returned to the garden to rest.

*On another day darśana of the Lord [Jagannātha] and dancing and singing*

in the temple courtyard —

আর দিন আসি' কৈল ঈশ্বর দরশন । প্রাঙ্গণে নৃত্য-গীত কৈল কতক্ষণ ॥ ৯৫ ॥

āra dina āsi' kaila īśvara daraśana
the next day coming made of the Lord darśana
prāṅgaṇe nṛtya-gīta kaila kata-kṣaṇa
in the courtyard dancing and singing did for some time

95 The next day He came again to see the Lord, and for some time He danced and sang in the courtyard.

Pastimes of Vraja with the devotees in the garden —

ভক্তগণ-সঙ্গে প্রভু উদ্যানে আসিয়া । বৃন্দাবন-বিহার করে ভক্তগণ লঞা ॥ ৯৬ ॥

bhakta-gaṇa-saṅge prabhu udyāne āsiyā
the devotees with the Lord to the garden coming vṛndāvana-vihāra kare bhakta-gaṇa lañā
the Vṛndāvana pastimes does the devotees with 96 Then the Lord came to the garden with the devotees and enjoyed the pastimes of Vṛndāvana with them.

Anubhāṣya.

Although the Lord here began the pastimes of Vṛndāvana, He has no pastimes as an enjoyer (bhoktā) — approaching the wives of others, as Kṛṣṇa does in parakīya-rasa. He regards Himself as a maidservant (kiṅkarī) of Śrī Rādhā and is immersed in an ocean of bliss when Śrī Rādhā — the one He serves, the āśraya-vigraha — meets Her most beloved Kṛṣṇa. It was in just this state, intoxicated with this rasa, that He performed the pastimes of vṛndāvana-vihāra with the devotees (see verses 74 and 75 of this chapter). Therefore the "Gaura-nāgarī" doctrine has no application here whatsoever.

At the sight of the Lord signs of joy appear on every side —

বৃক্ষবল্লী প্রফুল্লিত প্রভুর দরশনে । ভৃঙ্গ-পিক গায়, বহে শীতল পবনে ॥ ৯৭ ॥

vṛkṣa-vallī praphullita prabhura daraśane
trees and creepers blossomed of the Lord at the sight
bhṛṅga-pika gāya, vahe śītala pavane
bees and cuckoos sing blows cool breeze

97 At the sight of the Lord the trees and creepers burst into bloom, the bees and cuckoos sang, and a cool breeze blew.

*The Lord dances, and Vāsudeva Datta sings kīrtana —*

প্রতি-বৃক্ষতলে প্রভু করেন নর্ত্তন । বাসুদেব-দত্ত মাত্র করেন গায়ন ॥ ৯৮ ॥

prati-vṛkṣa-tale prabhu karena nartana
under every tree the Lord does dancing
vāsudeva-datta mātra karena gāyana
Vāsudeva Datta alone does singing

98 The Lord danced beneath every tree, while Vāsudeva Datta alone sang.

The Lord dances beneath each tree —

এক এক বৃক্ষতলে এক এক গান গায় । পরম-আবেশে একা নাচে গৌররায় ॥ ৯৯ ॥

eka eka vṛkṣa-tale eka eka gāna gāya
under one one tree one one song sings parama-āveśe ekā nāce gaurarāya
in supreme ecstasy alone dances Gaurarāya

99 Beneath each tree he sang a new song, and Gaurarāya danced alone in supreme ecstasy.

After dancing [the Lord] tells Vakreśvara to dance —

তবে বক্রেশ্বরে প্রভু কহিলা নাচিতে । বক্রেশ্বর নাচে, প্রভু লাগিলা গাইতে ॥ ১০০ ॥

tabe vakreśvare prabhu kahilā nācite
then to Vakreśvara the Lord said to dance
vakreśvara nāce, prabhu lāgilā gāite
Vakreśvara dances the Lord began to sing

100 Then the Lord told Vakreśvara to dance. Vakreśvara danced, and the Lord began to sing.

*Svarūpa and others sing with the Lord, and all are overwhelmed with prema —*

প্রভু-সঙ্গে স্বরূপাদি কীর্ত্তনীয়া গায় । দিক্বিদিক্ নাহি জ্ঞান প্রেমের বন্যায় ॥ ১০১ ॥

prabhu-saṅge svarūpādi kīrtanīyā gāya
with the Lord Svarūpa and other kīrtana singers sing
dik-vidik nāhi jñāna premera vanyāya
of directions no awareness of love in the flood

101 Svarūpa and the other singers sang with the Lord. In the flood of love they no longer knew where they were.

After the pastimes in the forest, water sports in Narendra Lake —

এই মত কতক্ষণ করি' বন-লীলা । নরেন্দ্র সরোবরে গেলা করিতে জলখেলা ॥ ১০২ ॥

ei mata kata-kṣaṇa kari' vana-līlā
in this way for some time having done the forest pastimes narendra sarovare gelā karite jala-khelā
to Narendra lake went to do water play

102 After enjoying the pastimes of the forest like this for some time, they went to the Narendra lake to play in the water.

*After bathing, [the Lord] honors prasāda with the devotees in the garden —*

জলক্রীড়া করি' পুনঃ আইলা উদ্যানে । ভোজনলীলা কৈলা প্রভু লঞা ভক্তগণে ॥ ১০৩ ॥

jala-krīḍā kari' punaḥ āilā udyāne
water play having done again came to the garden
bhojana-līlā kailā prabhu lañā bhakta-gaṇe
the pastime of eating did the Lord with the devotees

103 After sporting in the water, the Lord came back to the garden and enjoyed the pastime of eating with the devotees.

Such pastimes continue all the nine days Jagannātha stays at Guṇḍicā —

নব দিন গুণ্ডিচাতে রহে জগন্নাথ । মহাপ্রভু ঐছে লীলা করে ভক্ত-সাথ ॥ ১০৪ ॥

nava dina guṇḍicāte rahe jagannātha
nine days at Guṇḍicā stays Jagannātha
mahāprabhu aiche līlā kare bhakta-sātha
Mahāprabhu such pastimes does with the devotees

104 For nine days Jagannātha stayed at Guṇḍicā, and all that time Mahāprabhu enjoyed such pastimes with the devotees.

The Lord rests at Jagannātha-vallabha —

'জগন্নাথ-বল্লভ'-নাম বড় পুষ্পারাম । নব দিন করেন প্রভু তাহাতে বিশ্রাম ॥ ১০৫ ॥

'jagannātha-vallabha'-nāma baḍa puṣpārāma
"Jagannātha-vallabha" by name a large flower garden
nava dina karena prabhu tāhāte viśrāma
nine days takes the Lord in it rest

105 There is a large flower garden called Jagannātha-vallabha, and the Lord rested there for those nine days.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Jagannātha-vallabha: roughly midway between the Guṇḍicā-bāḍī and the temple there is a garden called Jagannātha-vallabha. In that garden the pastime of "stealing the danā" (danā-curi-līlā) takes place: Śrī Madana-mohana goes there, steals a fragrant plant called danā, and brings it back.

Anubhāṣya.

Puṣpārāma: a flower garden.

The king asks Kāśī Miśra to arrange the Herā-pañcamī festival on a grand scale —

'হেরা-পঞ্চমী'র দিন আইল জানিয়া । কাশীমিশ্রে কহে রাজা সযত্ন করিয়া ॥ ১০৬ ॥

'herā-pañcamī'ra dina āila jāniyā of Herā-pañcamī the day came knowing kāśī-miśre kahe rājā sayatna kariyā
to Kāśī Miśra says the king with care making

106 Knowing that the day of the Herā-pañcamī was at hand, the king spoke to Kāśī Miśra with great care.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The day of Herā-pañcamī: the fifth day after the Ratha-yātrā is called Herā-pañcamī. Searching for Jagannātha, Lakṣmī-devī goes to Guṇḍicā, and after heriyā (seeing) Jagannātha she returns; that is why the people of Utkala call this day Herā-pañcamī. And because on this day Lakṣmī, having lost Jagannātha, goes to look for Him, the Atibāḍīs call it Hārā-pañcamī ("the pañcamī of losing"). In any case, Kavirāja Gosvāmī has written of this pañcamī as Herā-pañcamī.

কল্য 'হেরা-পঞ্চমী' হবে লক্ষ্মীর বিজয় । ঐছে উৎসব কর, যেন কভু নাহি হয় ॥ ১০৭ ॥

kalya 'herā-pañcamī' habe lakṣmīra vijaya tomorrow Herā-pañcamī will be Lakṣmī's procession aiche utsava kara, yena kabhu nāhi haya such festival make as ever not has been 107 "Tomorrow is the Herā-pañcamī, the procession of Lakṣmī. Hold the festival as it has never been held before.

To please the Lord, [the king] orders a great festival to be arranged —

মহোৎসব কর তৈছে বিশেষ সম্ভার । দেখি' মহাপ্রভুর যৈছে হয় চমৎকার ॥ ১০৮ ॥

mahotsava kara taiche viśeṣa sambhāra
the great festival make with such special preparations
dekhi' mahāprabhura yaiche haya camatkāra seeing Mahāprabhu's so that is wonder

108 Prepare the great festival with such splendour that Mahāprabhu will be struck with wonder when He sees it.

He orders everything to be beautifully decorated —

ঠাকুরের ভাণ্ডারে আর আমার ভাণ্ডারে । চিত্রবস্ত্র কিঙ্কিণী, আর ছত্র-চামরে ॥ ১০৯ ॥

ṭhākurera bhāṇḍāre āra āmāra bhāṇḍāre
of the Deity in the storehouse and my in the storehouse
citra-vastra kiṅkiṇī, āra chatra-cāmare
coloured cloths small bells and umbrellas and cāmaras

109 From the Deity's storehouse and from mine take coloured cloths, small bells, umbrellas and cāmaras.

Anubhāṣya.
Citra-vastra: colored (printed, chopāna) cloth; kiṅkiṇī: small bells.

ধ্বজাবৃন্দ-পতাকা-ঘণ্টায় করহ মণ্ডন । নানাবাদ্য-নৃত্য-দোলায় করহ সাজন ॥ ১১০ ॥

dhvajāvṛnda-patākā-ghaṇṭāya karaha maṇḍana
with flags, banners and bells make decoration
nānā-vādya-nṛtya-dolāya karaha sājana
with music and dancing of the palanquin make adornment

110 Decorate everything with flags, banners and bells, and adorn the palanquin procession with music and dancing of every kind.

He orders the festival to be grander than the Ratha-yātrā —

দ্বিগুণ করিয়া কর সব উপহার । রথযাত্রা হৈতে যৈছে হয় চমৎকার ॥ ১১১ ॥

dviguṇa kariyā kara saba upahāra
double making make all the offerings
ratha-yātrā haite yaiche haya camatkāra
the Ratha-yātrā than so that is wonder

111 Make all the offerings double, so that the festival is more wonderful than the Ratha-yātrā.

He arranges for the Lord to see everything with ease —

সেই ত' করিহ, — প্রভু লঞা ভক্তগণ । স্বচ্ছন্দে আসিয়া যৈছে করেন দরশন ॥ ১১২ ॥

sei ta' kariha, — prabhu lañā bhakta-gaṇa
that indeed do the Lord with the devotees svacchande āsiyā yaiche karena daraśana freely coming so that makes darśana

112 And arrange it so that the Lord and His devotees can come at their ease and see it all."

Darśana* of Jagannātha at Guṇḍicā with the devotees —*

প্রাতঃকালে মহাপ্রভু নিজগণ লঞা । জগন্নাথ দর্শন কৈল সুন্দরাচলে যাঞা ॥ ১১৩ ॥

prātaḥ-kāle mahāprabhu nija-gaṇa lañā
in the morning Mahāprabhu His own people with jagannātha darśana kaila sundarācale yāñā Jagannātha's darśana made to Sundarācala going

113 In the morning Mahāprabhu went with His companions to Sundarācala and took darśana of Jagannātha.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Sundarācala: just as the main temple is called Nīlācala, the Guṇḍicā temple is called Sundarācala.

[The Lord] returns to Nīlācala to see the Herā-pañcamī —

নীলাচলে আইলা পুনঃ ভক্তগণ-সঙ্গে । দেখিতে উৎকণ্ঠা হেরা পঞ্চমীর রঙ্গে ॥ ১১৪ ॥

nīlācale āilā punaḥ bhakta-gaṇa-saṅge to Nīlācala came again the devotees with dekhite utkaṇṭhā herā pañcamīra raṅge
to see eagerness of the Herā-pañcamī the festivity

114 Then He came back to Nīlācala with the devotees, eager to see the festivities of the Herā-pañcamī.

Kāśī Miśra seats the Lord in the best place —

কাশীমিশ্র প্রভুরে বহু আদর করিয়া । স্বগণ-সহ ভাল স্থানে বসাইল লঞা ॥ ১১৫ ॥

kāśī-miśra prabhure bahu ādara kariyā Kāśī Miśra the Lord great honour showing svagaṇa-saha bhāla sthāne vasāila lañā with His people in a good place seated taking 115 Kāśī Miśra received the Lord with great honour and seated Him with His companions in a good place.

—

রসবিশেষ প্রভুর শুনিতে মন হৈল । ঈষৎ হাসিয়া প্রভু স্বরূপে পুছিল ॥ ১১৬ ॥

rasa-viśeṣa prabhura śunite mana haila
a special rasa the Lord's to hear mind became īṣat hāsiyā prabhu svarūpe puchila slightly smiling the Lord Svarūpa asked

116 The Lord wished to hear about a special rasa, and with a slight smile He asked Svarūpa:

যদ্যপি জগন্নাথ করেন দ্বারকায় বিহার ।
সহজ প্রকট করে পরম উদার ॥ ১১৭ ॥

তথাপি বৎসর-মধ্যে হয় একবার । বৃন্দাবন দেখিতে তাঁর উৎকণ্ঠা অপার ॥ ১১৮ ॥

yadyapi jagannātha karena dvārakāya vihāra
although Jagannātha performs in Dvārakā pastimes
sahaja prakaṭa kare parama udāra
naturally manifest makes supreme magnanimity tathāpi vatsara-madhye haya eka-bāra
still within a year there is once vṛndāvana dekhite tāṁra utkaṇṭhā apāra
Vṛndāvana to see His longing boundless

117–118 "Jagannātha enjoys His pastimes in Dvārakā, and there He naturally shows His supreme magnanimity. Still, once a year He feels a boundless longing to see Vṛndāvana.

বৃন্দাবন-সম এই উপবন-গণ । তাহা দেখিবারে উৎকণ্ঠিত হয় মন ॥ ১১৯ ॥

vṛndāvana-sama ei upavana-gaṇa
like Vṛndāvana these gardens
tāhā dekhibāre utkaṇṭhita haya mana them to see longing becomes His mind

119 These gardens are like Vṛndāvana, and His heart longs to see them.

Anubhāṣya.
Out of compassion for the jīvas, Śrī Jagannāthadeva sits in the temple at Nīlācala and manifests Kṛṣṇa's pastimes in Dvārakā. Once a year He feels the greatest longing to see Sundarācala, which is like Vṛndāvana.

বাহির হইতে করে রথযাত্রা-ছল । সুন্দরাচলে যায় প্রভু ছাড়ি' নীলাচল ॥ ১২০ ॥

bāhira haite kare ratha-yātrā-chala
outwardly from makes the Ratha-yātrā a pretext sundarācale yāya prabhu chāḍi' nīlācala
to Sundarācala goes the Lord leaving Nīlācala

120 Outwardly He makes the Ratha-yātrā His pretext: the Lord leaves Nīlācala and goes to Sundarācala.

নানা-পুষ্পোদ্যানে তথা খেলে রাত্রি-দিনে ।
লক্ষ্মীদেবীরে সঙ্গে নাহি লয় কি কারণে ? ॥ ১২১ ॥

nānā-puṣpodyāne tathā khele rātri-dine
in various flower gardens there plays night and day
lakṣmīdevīre saṅge nāhi laya ki kāraṇe?
Lakṣmī-devī with Him not takes for what reason

121 There He plays night and day in the many flower gardens. Why, then, does He not take Lakṣmī-devī with Him?"

*Svarūpa gives the reason: only the gopīs, not Lakṣmī, may take part in the* pastimes of Vraja —

স্বরূপ কহে, — শুন, প্রভু, কারণ ইহার ।
বৃন্দাবন ক্রীড়াতে লক্ষ্মীর নাহি অধিকার ॥ ১২২ ॥

svarūpa kahe, — śuna, prabhu, kāraṇa ihāra Svarūpa says hear Lord the reason for this vṛndāvana krīḍāte lakṣmīra nāhi adhikāra
in the Vṛndāvana pastimes of Lakṣmī there is no right of entry 122 Svarūpa said, "Hear the reason for this, Lord. Lakṣmī has no right to enter the pastimes of Vṛndāvana.

Anubhāṣya.
Lakṣmī-ṭhākurāṇī may not take part in the pastimes of Vṛndāvana; so when Jagannātha goes to Sundarācala, He does not take Lakṣmī with Him. That is the reason.

বৃন্দাবন লীলায় কৃষ্ণের সহায় গোপীগণ । গোপীগণ বিনা কৃষ্ণের হরিতে নারে মন ॥ ১২৩ ॥

vṛndāvana līlāya kṛṣṇera sahāya gopī-gaṇa
in the Vṛndāvana pastimes Kṛṣṇa's companions the gopīs
gopī-gaṇa vinā kṛṣṇera harite nāre mana
the gopīs except Kṛṣṇa's to steal cannot the mind

123 In the pastimes of Vṛndāvana Kṛṣṇa's companions are the gopīs. No one but the gopīs can steal Kṛṣṇa's heart."

The Lord asks again: why is Lakṣmī angry? —

প্রভু কহে, — যাত্রা-ছলে কৃষ্ণের গমন । সুভদ্রা আর বলদেব, সঙ্গে দুই জন ॥ ১২৪ ॥

prabhu kahe, — yātrā-chale kṛṣṇera gamana
the Lord says on the pretext of the festival Kṛṣṇa's going subhadrā āra baladeva, saṅge dui jana Subhadrā and Baladeva with Him two persons

124 The Lord said, “Kṛṣṇa goes on the pretext of the festival, and with Him go two: Subhadrā and Baladeva.

Anubhāṣya.
Yātrā: the Ratha-yātrā.

গোপী-সঙ্গে যত লীলা হয় উপবনে । নিগূঢ় কৃষ্ণের ভাব কেহ নাহি জানে ॥ ১২৫ ॥

gopī-saṅge yata līlā haya upavane
with the gopīs as many pastimes are in the gardens
nigūḍha kṛṣṇera bhāva keha nāhi jāne
hidden Kṛṣṇa’s heart anyone not knows

125 All the pastimes He enjoys with the gopīs in the gardens remain hidden: no one knows Kṛṣṇa’s secret heart.

অতএব কৃষ্ণের প্রাকট্যে নাহি কিছু দোষ । তবে কেন লক্ষ্মীদেবী করে এত রোষ ? ॥ ১২৬ ॥

ataeva kṛṣṇera prākaṭye nāhi kichu doṣa
therefore in Kṛṣṇa’s open going there is not any fault
tabe kena lakṣmīdevī kare eta roṣa?
then why Lakṣmī-devī makes so much anger

126 So there is no fault at all in what Kṛṣṇa openly does. Why, then, is Lakṣmī-devī so angry?”

Anubhāṣya.
See Bṛhad-bhāgavatāmṛta, Part One, Chapter Seven.

Svarūpa gives the reason: when the beloved is indifferent, his beloved becomes angry and hurt —

স্বরূপ কহে, — প্রেমবতীর এই ত’ স্বভাব । কান্তের ঔদাস্য-লেশে হয় ক্রোধভাব ॥ ১২৭ ॥

svarūpa kahe, — premavatīra ei ta' svabhāva Svarūpa says of a loving woman this indeed the nature
kāntera audāsya-leśe haya krodha-bhāva
of the beloved at a trace of indifference arises anger

127 Svarūpa said, "Such is the very nature of one who loves: at the slightest trace of indifference from her beloved, anger arises in her."

Lakṣmī arrives in great pomp with many maidservants —

হেনকালে, খচিত যাহে বিবিধ রতন । সুবর্ণের চৌদালা করি' আরোহণ ॥ ১২৮ ॥

hena-kāle, khacita yāhe vividha ratana
at that time inlaid in which various jewels suvarṇera caudālā kari' ārohaṇa
of gold palanquin making mounting

128 Just then Lakṣmī-devī set out, mounted on a golden palanquin inlaid with jewels of every kind.

ছত্র-চামর-ধ্বজা পতাকার গণ । নানাবাদ্য-আগে নাচে দেবদাসীগণ ॥ ১২৯ ॥

chatra-cāmara-dhvajā patākāra gaṇa
umbrellas, cāmaras, standards of flags multitudes
nānā-vādya-āge nāce deva-dāsī-gaṇa
ahead of many instruments dance the temple dancers

129 Umbrellas, cāmaras, standards and flags came in multitudes, and the temple dancers (deva-dāsīs) danced before a band of many instruments.

তাম্বূল-সম্পুট, ঝারী, ব্যজন, চামর । সাথে দাসী শত, হার দিব্য ভূষাম্বর ॥ ১৩০ ॥

tāmbūla-sampuṭa, jhārī, vyajana, cāmara
betel boxes water jugs fans cāmaras
sāthe dāsī śata, hāra divya bhūṣāmbara
with (her) maidservants a hundred necklaces divine ornaments and garments

130 Hundreds of maidservants went with her, carrying betel boxes, water jugs, fans and cāmaras, and adorned with necklaces, divine ornaments and fine garments.

Anubhāṣya.

Sampuṭa: a box (ḍibā); jhārī: a water pot without a spout (nalahīna gāḍu).

অনেক ঐশ্বর্য্য সঙ্গে বহু-পরিবার । ক্রুদ্ধ হঞা লক্ষ্মীদেবী আইলা সিংহদ্বার ॥ ১৩১ ॥

aneka aiśvarya saṅge bahu-parivāra
great splendour with a large retinue
kruddha hañā lakṣmīdevī āilā siṁha-dvāra angry becoming Lakṣmī-devī came (to) the Lion Gate

131 With great splendour and a large retinue, Lakṣmī-devī came in anger to the Lion Gate.

Lakṣmī's maidservants tie up Jagannātha's chief servants, bring them to their mistress and beat them —

জগন্নাথের মুখ্য মুখ্য যত ভৃত্যগণে । লক্ষ্মীদেবীর দাসীগণ করেন বন্ধনে ॥ ১৩২ ॥

jagannāthera mukhya mukhya yata bhṛtya-gaṇe Jagannātha's chief chief all servants
lakṣmīdevīra dāsī-gaṇa karena bandhane
Lakṣmī-devī's maidservants do binding

132 Lakṣmī-devī's maidservants seized all of Jagannātha's chief servants and bound them.

বান্ধিয়া আনিয়া পাড়ে লক্ষ্মীর চরণে । চোরে দণ্ড করে, যেন লয় নানা-ধনে ॥ ১৩৩ ॥

bāndhiyā āniyā pāḍe lakṣmīra caraṇe binding bringing throw down Lakṣmī's at the feet core daṇḍa kare, yena laya nānā-dhane
on thieves punishment they inflict as if they take various riches

133 They dragged them bound before Lakṣmī and threw them down at her feet, punishing them like thieves, as if to make them give back all kinds of riches.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
When Jagannātha sets out on His chariot, He tells Lakṣmī, "I will come back tomorrow." Two or three days pass and Jagannātha does not return, and loving Lakṣmī, seeing even a trace of her Beloved's indifference, by her very nature flares up in anger. Then Lakṣmī, dressed and seated in a palanquin (vimāna) by her maidservants, comes out of the temple. At this time a supreme mystery unfolds at Jagannātha's temple: Lakṣmī's attendants tie up Jagannātha's chief attendants and bring them before her.

অচেতনবৎ তারে করেন তাড়নে । নানামত গালি দেন ভণ্ড-বচনে ॥ ১৩৪ ॥

acetanavat tāre karena tāḍane
as if senseless them they do beating nānā-mata gāli dena bhaṇḍa-vacane
of many kinds abuse they give with mocking words

134 They beat them until they were nearly senseless and heaped all kinds of abuse and mockery on them.

Seeing the insolence of Lakṣmī's maidservants, the devotees laugh —

লক্ষ্মী-সঙ্গে দাসীগণের প্রাগল্ভ্য দেখিয়া । হাসে মহাপ্রভুর গণ মুখে হস্ত দিয়া ॥ ১৩৫ ॥

lakṣmī-saṅge dāsī-gaṇera prāgalbhya dekhiyā with Lakṣmī of the maidservants the boldness seeing hāse mahāprabhura gaṇa mukhe hasta diyā laugh Mahāprabhu's associates to their mouths hands putting 135 Seeing the boldness of Lakṣmī's maidservants, Mahāprabhu's associates laughed, covering their mouths with their hands.

*Dāmodara explains Lakṣmī's unprecedented, extraordinary māna —*

দামোদর কহে, — ঐছে মানের প্রকার । ত্রিজগতে কাঁহা দেখি, শুনি নাই আর ॥ ১৩৬ ॥

dāmodara kahe, — aiche mānera prakāra Dāmodara says such of māna a kind tri-jagate kāṁhā dekhi, śuni nāi āra
in the three worlds where do I see I have heard not ever 136 Svarūpa Dāmodara said, "Where in the three worlds does one see māna, loving pique, of this kind? I have never heard of such a thing.

*How a beloved in māna behaves when her beloved is indifferent —*

মানিনী নিরুৎসাহে ছাড়ে বিভূষণ । ভূমে বসি' নখে লেখে, মলিন-বদন ॥ ১৩৭ ॥

māninī nirutsāhe chāḍe vibhūṣaṇa
a woman in māna dejected gives up her ornaments
bhūme vasi' nakhe lekhe, malina-vadana
on the ground sitting with her nails draws lines with a darkened face 137 A woman in māna dejectedly lays aside her ornaments; she sits on the ground, her face clouded, and draws lines on it with her nails.

*The māna of the gopīs of Vraja and of Satyabhāmā is just like this —*

পূর্ব্বে সত্যভামার শুনি এবম্বিধ মান । ব্রজে গোপীগণের মান — রসের নিধান ॥ ১৩৮ ॥

pūrve satyabhāmāra śuni evaṁ-vidha māna
before of Satyabhāmā I hear of this kind māna
vraje gopī-gaṇera māna — rasera nidhāna
in Vraja of the gopīs the māna of rasa a treasure-house

138 Long ago I heard of such māna in Satyabhāmā, and in Vraja the gopīs' māna is the same — a treasure-house of rasa.

*Lakṣmī's māna is quite different —*

ইঁহো নিজ-সম্পত্তি সব প্রকট করিয়া । প্রিয়ের উপর যায় সৈন্য সাজাঞা ॥ ১৩৯ ॥

iṁho nija-sampatti saba prakaṭa kariyā
she her own wealth all manifest making priyera upara yāya sainya sājāñā
against her beloved goes an army arraying

139 This goddess, however, displays all her wealth and marches against her beloved with an army in battle array!"

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Seeing such boldness (prāgalbhya) on Lakṣmī's part, Svarūpa Gosvāmī, to show the excellence of the wealth of love of the people of Vraja, said: "Prabhu, I have never heard of such māna as Lakṣmī's anywhere in the three worlds. When a beloved is in māna (a māninī), she loses all zest and puts off her ornaments; with a downcast face she sits on the ground and scratches at random with her nail. Such is the māna of the gopīs in Vraja, and Satyabhāmā, who lives in the city, is known to show the same māna. But Lakṣmī-devī's māna, I see, is just the opposite: she displays her wealth, musters her troops and goes to attack her beloved."

*Answering the Lord's question, Svarūpa describes the gopīs' māna —*

প্রভু কহে, — কহ ব্রজের মানের প্রকার । স্বরূপ কহে, — গোপীমান-নদী শতধার ॥ ১৪০ ॥

prabhu kahe, — kaha vrajera mānera prakāra
the Lord says tell of Vraja of the māna the kinds svarūpa kahe, — gopī-māna-nadī śata-dhāra
Svarūpa says the river of the gopīs' māna with a hundred streams

140 The Lord said, "Tell Me about the kinds of māna in Vraja." Svarūpa replied, "The river of the gopīs' māna flows in a hundred streams.

Māna* differs according to the nature of the beloved and the kinds of love —*

নায়িকার স্বভাব, প্রেমবৃত্ত্যে বহু ভেদ । সেই ভেদে নানা-প্রকার মানের উদ্ভেদ ॥ ১৪১ ॥

nāyikāra svabhāva, prema-vṛttye bahu bheda
of the heroines the natures in the workings of love many differences sei bhede nānā-prakāra mānera udbheda
by those differences of many kinds of māna the appearance

141 Heroines differ greatly in nature and in the workings of their love, and from these differences māna springs up in many forms.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The natures of the heroines (nāyikās) and the workings of their love are of many kinds, and according to these differences māna arises in each heroine.

*A brief description of the gopīs' indescribable māna —*

সম্যক্ গোপিকার মান না যায় কথন । এক-দুই-ভেদে করি দিগ্-দরশন ॥ ১৪২ ॥

samyak gopikāra māna nā yāya kathana completely of the gopīs the māna not can be told eka-dui-bhede kari dig-daraśana
by one or two varieties I make an indication

142 The gopīs' māna cannot be described in full; I shall give a glimpse of it through one or two of its varieties.

*Three kinds of heroines in māna —*

মানে কেহ হয় ‘ধীরা’, কেহ ত’ ‘অধীরা’ । এই তিন-ভেদে কেহ হয় ‘ধীরাধীরা’ ॥ ১৪৩ ॥

māne keha haya ‘dhīrā’, keha ta’ ‘adhīrā’
in māna some are dhīrā some indeed adhīrā ei tina-bhede keha haya ‘dhīrādhīrā’
in these three divisions some are dhīrādhīrā

143 In māna some are dhīrā, composed; some are adhīrā, impetuous; and some, making the third division, are dhīrādhīrā, both composed and impetuous.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Heroines in māna (māninīs), briefly stated, fall into three classes: dhīrā, adhīrā and dhīrādhīrā.

*The nature of the dhīrā in māna —*

‘ধীরা’ কান্ত দূরে দেখি’ করে প্রত্যুত্থান ।
নিকটে আসিলে, করে আসন প্রদান ॥ ১৪৪ ॥

‘dhīrā’ kānta dūre dekhi’ kare pratyutthāna
the dhīrā her lover from afar seeing rises to greet him
nikaṭe āsile, kare āsana pradāna near when he comes she makes of a seat an offering

144 Seeing her lover from afar, the composed heroine rises to greet him, and when he comes near she offers him a seat.

হৃদয়ে কোপ, মুখে কহে মধুর বচন । প্রিয় আলিঙ্গিতে, তারে করে আলিঙ্গন ॥ ১৪৫ ॥

hṛdaye kopa, mukhe kahe madhura vacana
in her heart anger with her lips speaks sweet words
priya āliṅgite, tāre kare āliṅgana
the beloved when he embraces him she does embracing 145 Anger lies in her heart, but her lips speak sweet words; when her beloved embraces her, she embraces him in return.

সরল ব্যবহার, করে মানের পোষণ ।
কিম্বা সোল্লুণ্ঠ-বাক্যে করে প্রিয়-নিরসন ॥ ১৪৬ ॥

sarala vyavahāra, kare mānera poṣaṇa
straightforward behaviour she does of māna nourishing
kimbā solluṇṭha-vākye kare priya-nirasana
or with ironic words she does rebuffing the beloved

146 Her behaviour is straightforward, yet she nurses her māna; or else she rebuffs her beloved with ironic words.

Anubhāṣya.
Solluṇṭha-vākya: words with light mockery and jest, or praise that hides reproach (vyāja-stuti). Nirasana: rebuff.

*The nature of the adhīrā in māna —*

‘অধীরা’ নিষ্ঠুর-বাক্যে করয়ে ভর্ৎসন ।
কর্ণোৎপলে তাড়ে, করে মালায় বন্ধন ॥ ১৪৭ ॥

‘adhīrā’ niṣṭhura-vākye karaye bhartsana
the adhīrā with harsh words does scolding
karṇotpale tāḍe, kare mālāya bandhana
with the lotus on her ear she strikes she does with a garland binding

147 The impetuous heroine scolds her lover with harsh words; she strikes him with the lotus from her ear or binds him with her garland.

*The nature of the dhīrādhīrā in māna —*

‘ধীরাধীরা’ বক্র-বাক্যে করে উপহাস ।
কভু স্তুতি, কভু নিন্দা, কভু বা উদাস ॥ ১৪৮ ॥

‘dhīrādhīrā’ vakra-vākye kare upahāsa
the dhīrādhīrā with crooked words makes mockery
kabhu stuti, kabhu nindā, kabhu vā udāsa
sometimes praise sometimes reproach sometimes or indifference

148 The heroine who is both composed and impetuous mocks him with sly, double-edged words: at times she praises him, at times she reproaches him, and at times she is indifferent.

Anubhāṣya.
[See] Madhya, Chapter 8, verse 172. Vakra: crooked, full of guile.

*Three kinds of heroines; the mugdhā is unskilled in the art of māna —*

‘মুগ্ধা’, ‘মধ্যা’, ‘প্রগল্ভা’, — তিন নায়িকার ভেদ ।
‘মুগ্ধা’ নাহি জানে মানের বৈদগ্ধ্য-বিভেদ ॥ ১৪৯ ॥

‘mugdhā’, ‘madhyā’, ‘pragalbhā’, — tina nāyikāra bheda
mugdhā madhyā pragalbhā three of heroines kinds ‘mugdhā’ nāhi jāne mānera vaidagdhya-vibheda
the mugdhā does not know of māna the artful varieties

149 There are three kinds of heroine: mugdhā (artless), madhyā (intermediate) and pragalbhā (bold). The artless heroine does not know the artful ways of māna.

Anubhāṣya.
Vaidagdhya-vibheda: various stratagems.

মুখ আচ্ছাদিয়া করে কেবল রোদন । কান্তের প্রিয়বাক্য শুনি’ হয় পরসন্ন ॥ ১৫০ ॥

mukha ācchādiyā kare kevala rodana
her face covering she does only weeping kāntera priya-vākya śuni’ haya parasanna
of her lover the tender words hearing becomes pacified

150 She only covers her face and weeps, and when she hears her lover’s tender words, she is pacified.

*It is the madhyās and pragalbhās who divide into the dhīrā, adhīrā and dhīrādhīrā mentioned above, and this is what delights Kṛṣṇa —*

‘মধ্যা’ ‘প্রগল্ভা’ ধরে ধীরাদি বিভেদ ।
তার মধ্যে সবার স্বভাবে তিন-ভেদ ॥ ১৫১ ॥

‘madhyā’ ‘pragalbhā’ dhare dhīrādi vibheda
the madhyā the pragalbhā take on dhīrā and the other divisions
tāra madhye sabāra svabhāve tina-bheda
of them among of all by nature three kinds

151 It is the intermediate and the bold heroines who are divided into dhīrā and the rest; and all of them, by nature, are again of three kinds.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Heroines are of three kinds: mugdhā, madhyā and pragalbhā. The mugdhās know none of the fine points of the art of māna. It is the heroines who are madhyā and pragalbhā that fall into the three classes, dhīrā and the others.

কেহ ‘প্রখরা’, কেহ ‘মৃদু’, কেহ হয় ‘সমা’ । স্ব-স্বভাবে কৃষ্ণের বাড়ায় প্রেম-সীমা ॥ ১৫২ ॥

keha ‘prakharā’, keha ‘mṛdu’, keha haya ‘samā’
some prakharā some mṛdu some are samā
sva-svabhāve kṛṣṇera bāḍāya prema-sīmā
by their own natures Kṛṣṇa’s increase the bounds of love

152 Some are prakharā, sharp; some are mṛdu, gentle; and some are samā, balanced. Each, by her own nature, expands the bounds of Kṛṣṇa’s love.

প্রাখর্য্য, মার্দ্দব, সাম্য-স্বভাব নির্দ্দোষ । সেই সেই স্বভাবে কৃষ্ণে করায় সন্তোষ ॥ ১৫৩ ॥

prākharya, mārdava, sāmya-svabhāva nirdoṣa sharpness gentleness a balanced nature faultless
sei sei svabhāve kṛṣṇe karāya santoṣa
by each such nature Kṛṣṇa they cause delight

153 Sharpness, gentleness and a balanced nature are all faultless, and by each of these natures they delight Kṛṣṇa.”

Anubhāṣya.
See in the Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi the chapters on the kinds of heroines (nāyikā-bheda), the kinds of group leaders (yūtheśvarī-bheda) and the kinds of friends (sakhī-bheda).

*The Lord rejoices to hear of the gopīs' traits as heroines —*

এ কথা শুনিয়া প্রভুর আনন্দ অপার । ‘কহ, কহ’, দামোদর বলে বার বার ॥ ১৫৪ ॥

e kathā śuniyā prabhura ānanda apāra
this talk hearing the Lord’s bliss boundless ‘kaha, kaha’, dāmodara bale bāra bāra
tell tell Dāmodara He says time after time

154 Hearing this, the Lord felt boundless bliss. “Go on, go on, Dāmodara!” He said again and again.

*Svarūpa describes the signs of Kṛṣṇa's and the gopīs' love for each other —*

দামোদর কহে, — কৃষ্ণ রসিকশেখর । রস-আস্বাদক, রসময়-কলেবর ॥ ১৫৫ ॥

dāmodara kahe, — kṛṣṇa rasika-śekhara Dāmodara says Kṛṣṇa the crown of relishers
rasa-āsvādaka, rasamaya-kalevara
of rasa the taster whose body is made of rasa

155 Dāmodara said, “Kṛṣṇa is the crown of all who relish rasa. He tastes rasa, and His very body is made of rasa.

Anubhāṣya.

Rasa-āsvādaka: Śrī Kṛṣṇa alone relishes the spiritual rasa (cid-rasa): He is the enjoyer (bhoktā), the viṣaya, and all others are His āśraya, those He enjoys (bhogya).

প্রেমময়-বপু কৃষ্ণ — ভক্ত-প্রেমাধীন । শুদ্ধপ্রেমে, রসগুণে, গোপিকা — প্রবীণ ॥ ১৫৬ ॥

premamaya-vapu kṛṣṇa — bhakta-premādhīna whose form is made of love Kṛṣṇa subject to His devotees' love
śuddha-preme, rasa-guṇe, gopikā — pravīṇa
in pure love in the qualities of rasa the gopīs are expert

156 Kṛṣṇa's form is made of love, and He is subject to the love of His devotees. In pure love and in the qualities of rasa the gopīs are supremely expert.

গোপিকার প্রেমে নাহি রসাভাস-দোষ । অতএব কৃষ্ণের করে পরম সন্তোষ ॥ ১৫৭ ॥

gopikāra preme nāhi rasābhāsa-doṣa
of the gopīs in the love there is no fault of rasābhāsa
ataeva kṛṣṇera kare parama santoṣa
therefore Kṛṣṇa's it causes supreme satisfaction

157 In the gopīs' love there is no fault of rasābhāsa, a mere semblance of rasa; therefore it gives Kṛṣṇa supreme satisfaction."

Anubhāṣya.

Rasābhāsa: "Rasas that lack [any of] the characteristics of rasa set out earlier are called rasābhāsas by the knowers of rasa. They are of three kinds — uparasas, anurasas and aparasas — and are called, in that order, the highest, the middling and the lowest." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Uttara-vibhāga, 9th Laharī) When a rasa departs from the characteristics of rasa described earlier, the knowers of rasa call such a rasa, lacking those characteristics, rasābhāsa. Rasābhāsa is of three kinds — highest, middling and lowest, that is, uparasa, anurasa and aparasa.

*Śrī Kṛṣṇa's spiritual rāsa dance — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 10.33.25)*

এবং শশাঙ্কাংশুবিরাজিতা নিশাঃ
স সত্যকামোঽনুরতাবলাগণঃ ।
সিষেব আত্মন্যবরুদ্ধ-সৌরতঃ সর্ব্বাঃ শরৎকাব্যকথারসাশ্রয়াঃ ॥ ১৫৮ ॥

evaṁ śaśaṅkāṁśu-virājitā niśāḥ
thus by the moon's rays resplendent nights
sa satya-kāmo 'nuratābalā-gaṇaḥ
He whose desires are true surrounded by devoted maidens
siṣeva ātmany avaruddha-sauratāḥ enjoyed within Himself keeping His amorous feelings
sarvāḥ śarat-kāvya-kathā-rasāśrayāḥ
all of autumn of poetic narrations the abodes of rasa

158 "Thus Kṛṣṇa, whose desires are ever true, spent in the rāsa dance all those autumn nights resplendent with moonlight — nights that poetry sings of as the abode of rasa. The maidens devoted to Him were all around Him, yet He kept His amorous feelings within Himself." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.33.25)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Thus Śrī Kṛṣṇa — He whose desires are always fulfilled (satya-kāma), full of śṛṅgāra-rasa, holding [His love] within His spiritual mood, He to whom the women were devoted — performed the rāsa dance on those nights shining with moonbeams, which are the shelter of rasa in all the tales of autumn and in poetry. The meaning is this: the gopīs are wholly spiritual (śuddha-cinmayī), Śrī Vṛndāvana is a purely spiritual abode, and those blissful nights too were spiritual nights. The rāsa dance that took place then was also completely spiritual: nothing material touched it in the least. Kṛṣṇa never looks at material love (rati); all His pastimes are contained within the spiritual world, and His love play (saurata) is entirely spiritual activity.

Anubhāṣya.

Śrī Śukadeva, the mahā-bhāgavata, crest jewel of the assembly of paramahaṁsas, describes to Parīkṣit, pure of heart, Śrī Kṛṣṇa's rāsa dance with the gopīs:

evam (in the way described) satya-kāmaḥ (Śrī Kṛṣṇa, whose desires are eternally true) anuratābalā-gaṇaḥ (He to whom hosts of women are drawn, that is, who is amid a multitude of loving women) ātmani (eva, within Himself) avaruddha-sauratah (who held in His love play, that is, the Ātmārāma, the transcendental Kāmadeva) śarat-kāvya-kathā-rasāśrayāḥ (the shelter of the rasas that occur in autumn and are sung of in poetry; or, the shelter of the rasas of poetic narrations befitting autumn; or, construing rasāśrayāḥ śarat-kāvya-kathāḥ, the nights that poetry speaks of as the shelter of śṛṅgāra-rasa, renowned in autumn) śaśāṅkāṁśu-virājitāḥ (shining with the rays of the moon) sarvāḥ eva niśāḥ siṣeve (He spent in the rāsa dance).

*Among the gopīs, a variety of qualities full of the most wondrous traits befitting heroines —*

‘বামা’ এক গোপীগণ, ‘দক্ষিণা’ এক গণ ।
নানা-ভাবে করায় কৃষ্ণের রস আস্বাদন ॥ ১৫৯ ॥

‘vāmā’ eka gopī-gaṇa, ‘dakṣiṇā’ eka gaṇa
vāmā one group of gopīs dakṣiṇā another group
nānā-bhāve karāya kṛṣṇera rasa āsvādana
in various moods they make Kṛṣṇa rasa taste

159 “One group of gopīs is vāmā, contrary, and another is dakṣiṇā, compliant. Through their various moods they let Kṛṣṇa taste rasa.

Anubhāṣya.

Vāmā: “She who is always ready to take up māna and grows angry when māna slackens, whom the hero cannot win over and who is mostly harsh with him, is called vāmā.” (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the sakhīs, 13) The heroine who always strives to take up māna, grows angry when māna slackens, does not yield to the hero and is mostly harsh with him is called vāmā.

Dakṣiṇā: “She who cannot bear persistence in māna, speaks reasonable words to the hero and is won over by his gentle words is called dakṣiṇā.” (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the sakhīs, 14) That is, the heroine who cannot bear prolonged māna, speaks fitting words to the hero and is softened by his playful words is called dakṣiṇā.

*The nature and qualities of Śrī Rādhā, the best of the gopīs and dearest to Kṛṣṇa —*

গোপীগণ-মধ্যে শ্রেষ্ঠা রাধা-ঠাকুরাণী । নির্ম্মল-উজ্জ্বল-রস-প্রেম-রত্নখনি ॥ ১৬০ ॥

gopī-gaṇa-madhye śreṣṭhā rādhā-ṭhākurāṇī
the gopīs among the foremost Rādhā Ṭhākurāṇī
nirmala-ujjvala-rasa-prema-ratna-khani
of the pure, radiant rasa of love of jewels a mine

160 Among the gopīs the foremost is Śrī Rādhā Ṭhākurāṇī, a mine of the jewels of love in the pure and radiant rasa (ujjvala-rasa).

বয়সে 'মধ্যমা' তেঁহো স্বভাবেতে 'সমা' । গাঢ় প্রেমভাবে তেঁহো নিরন্তর 'বামা' ॥ ১৬১ ॥

vayase 'madhyamā' teṁho svabhāvete 'samā'
in age madhyamā She by nature samā
gāḍha prema-bhāve teṁho nirantara 'vāmā'
in deep love She always vāmā

161 In age She is madhyā, in the bloom of youth; by nature She is samā, balanced; yet in the depth of Her love She is always vāmā, contrary.

বাম্য-স্বভাবে মান উঠে নিরন্তর । তার মধ্যে উঠে কৃষ্ণের আনন্দ-সাগর ॥ ১৬২ ॥

vāmya-svabhāve māna uṭhe nirantara
from a contrary nature māna rises constantly tāra madhye uṭhe kṛṣṇera ānanda-sāgara
of that in the midst rises Kṛṣṇa's ocean of bliss

162 From Her contrary nature māna constantly arises, and with it surges the ocean of Kṛṣṇa's bliss."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The gopīs are of two kinds, vāmā and dakṣiṇā. Among the gopīs the best is Rādhā-ṭhākurāṇī, a mine of the jewels of the prema of pure ujjvala-rasa. By age She is madhyā, by temperament samā, and always vāmā. It is from Her contrary (vāmya) nature that māna arises.

*(Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Śṛṅgāra-bheda-kathana, 102)*

অহেরিব গতিঃ প্রেম্ণঃ স্বভাবকুটিলা ভবেৎ । অতো হেতোরহেতোশ্চ যূনোর্মান উদঞ্চতি ॥ ১৬৩ ॥

aher iva gatiḥ premṇaḥ
of a snake like the movement of love
svabhāva-kuṭilā bhavet
by nature winding is ato hetor ahetoś ca
therefore with cause without cause and yūnor māna udañcati
of the young pair pique arises

163 "Like the movement of a snake, the course of love is winding by nature. Therefore pique (māna) arises between the young lovers, with cause and without cause." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Śṛṅgāra-bheda-kathana, 102)[3]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya, Chapter 8, verse 110.

*A detailed explanation of the greatness of mahābhāva, the essence and the utmost limit [of prema] —*

এত শুনি' বাড়ে প্রভুর আনন্দ সাগর ।
'কহ' 'কহ' কহে প্রভু, বলে দামোদর ॥ ১৬৪ ॥

eta śuni' bāḍe prabhura ānanda sāgara
this hearing swells the Lord's of bliss the ocean
'kaha' 'kaha' kahe prabhu, bale dāmodara
tell tell says the Lord speaks Dāmodara

164 When the Lord heard this, the ocean of His bliss swelled. “Go on, go on,” He said, and Dāmodara continued:

‘অধিরূঢ় মহাভাব’ — রাধিকার প্রেম ।
বিশুদ্ধ, নির্ম্মল, যৈছে দগ্ধবান্ হেম ॥ ১৬৫ ॥

‘adhirūḍha mahābhāva’ — rādhikāra prema
adhirūḍha mahābhāva Rādhikā’s love
viśuddha, nirmala, yaiche dagdha-vān hema utterly pure spotless like fire-refined gold

165 “Rādhikā’s love is adhirūḍha mahābhāva, the highest summit of mahābhāva. It is utterly pure and spotless, like gold refined in fire.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Dagdhavān hema: blazing, that is, red-hot gold.

Anubhāṣya.
Adhirūḍha-mahābhāva: “When the anubhāvas attain a certain special distinction beyond the anubhāvas named for rūḍha, that is called adhirūḍha.” (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the sthāyi-bhāva, 123) When the sāttvika-anubhāvas that appear with the signs of rūḍha-bhāva attain an unprecedented distinction, those sāttvika-bhāvas, having attained an indescribable distinction, are called adhirūḍha-mahābhāva.

কৃষ্ণের দর্শন যদি পায় আচম্বিতে । নানা-ভাব-বিভূষণে হয় বিভূষিতে ॥ ১৬৬ ॥

kṛṣṇera darśana yadi pāya ācambite of Kṛṣṇa the sight if She obtains suddenly nānā-bhāva-vibhūṣaṇe haya vibhūṣite with ornaments of many bhāvas She becomes adorned

166 Whenever She suddenly catches sight of Kṛṣṇa, She becomes adorned with the ornaments of many bhāvas, ecstatic feelings.

*Śrī Rādhikā, adorned with all the ornaments of bhāva that give Kṛṣṇa complete happiness —*

অষ্ট ‘সাত্ত্বিক’, হর্ষাদি ‘ব্যভিচারী’ যাঁর । ‘সহজ প্রেম’, বিংশতি ‘ভাব’-অলঙ্কার ॥ ১৬৭ ॥

aṣṭa ‘sāttvika’, harṣādi ‘vyabhicārī’ yāṁra
eight sāttvika joy and the rest vyabhicārī whose ‘sahaja prema’, viṁśati ‘bhāva’-alaṅkāra
natural love twenty bhāva ornaments

167 Hers are the eight sāttvika transformations, the vyabhicārī-bhāvas beginning with joy, Her natural love and the twenty ornaments of bhāva:

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Sāttvika: the sāttvika-vikāras (spiritual transformations) are of eight kinds: (1) becoming stunned (stambha), (2) perspiration (sveda), (3) hair standing on end (romāñca), (4) faltering of the voice (svara-bhaṅga), (5) trembling (vepathu), (6) change of color (vaivarṇya), (7) tears (aśru) and (8) fainting (pralaya).

Vyabhicārī: the vyabhicārī, or sañcārī, bhāvas are thirty-three: (1) nirveda, (2) viṣāda, (3) dainya, (4) glāni, (5) śrama, (6) mada, (7) garva, (8) śaṅkā, (9) trāsa, (10) āvega, (11) unmāda, (12) apasmāra, (13) vyādhi, (14) moha, (15) mati,[8] (16) ālasya, (17) jāḍya, (18) vrīḍā, (19) avahitthā, (20) smṛti, (21) vitarka, (22) cintā, (23) mati, (24) dhṛti, (25) harṣa, (26) autsukya, (27) augrya, (28) amarṣa, (29) asūyā, (30) cāpalya, (31) nidrā, (32) supti and (33) prabodha.

The ornaments that are bhāvas are twenty: (a) aṅgaja (born of the body) — (1) bhāva, (2) hāva, (3) helā; (b) ayatnaja (arising without effort) — (4) śobhā, (5) kānti, (6) dīpti, (7) mādhurya, (8) pragalbhatā, (9) audārya, (10) dhairya; (c) svabhāvaja (born of nature) — (11) līlā, (12) vilāsa, (13) vicchitti, (14) vibhrama, (15) kila-kiñcita, (16) moṭṭāyita, (17) kuṭṭamita, (18) bibboka, (19) lalita and (20) vikṛta.

‘কিলকিঞ্চিত’, ‘কুট্টমিত’, ‘বিলাস’, ‘ললিত’ ।
‘বিব্বোক’, ‘মোট্টায়িত’, আর ‘মৌগ্ধ্য’, ‘চকিত’ ॥ ১৬৮ ॥

'kila-kiñcita', 'kuṭṭamita', 'vilāsa', 'lalita'
kila-kiñcita kuṭṭamita vilāsa lalita
'vivvoka', 'moṭṭāyita', āra 'maugdhya', 'cakita'
bibboka moṭṭāyita and maugdhya cakita

168 kila-kiñcita, kuṭṭamita, vilāsa, lalita, bibboka, moṭṭāyita, maugdhya, cakita and others.[4]

Anubhāṣya.

Kila-kiñcita: see verse 174 below in this chapter. Kuṭṭamita: see verse 197 below. Vilāsa: see verse 187 below. Lalita: see verse 192 below.

Bibboka: "Disregard even for what is desired, out of pride and māna, is bibboka." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the anubhāvas, 75) That is, disregard, out of pride and māna, for the Most Beloved or for something He has given is called bibboka.

Moṭṭāyita: "When, on remembering the beloved, on talk of him and the like, longing becomes manifest in a heart absorbed in feeling for him, that is called moṭṭāyita." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the anubhāvas) That is, the longing that arises in the heart from thoughts of the Most Beloved born of remembering Him and of talk about Him is moṭṭāyita.

Maugdhya: "Asking before the beloved about something one knows, as if one did not know, is called maugdhya." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the anubhāvas) That is, when the heroine before her beloved, though she knows something, makes a show of not knowing and asks, that is maugdhya.

Cakita: "Great fear before the beloved, even where there is nothing to fear, is cakita." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the anubhāvas) That is, when the heroine, without being afraid, makes a show before her beloved of being badly frightened, that is cakita.

*Kṛṣṇa's deep happiness at seeing the form of Śrī Rādhā, who fulfills Kṛṣṇa's desires and is adorned with many ornaments of bhāva —*

এত ভাবভূষায় ভূষিত শ্রীরাধার অঙ্গ । দেখিতে উথলে কৃষ্ণসুখাব্ধি-তরঙ্গ ॥ ১৬৯ ॥

eta bhāva-bhūṣāya bhūṣita śrī rādhāra aṅga
with so many bhāva ornaments adorned Śrī Rādhā's form dekhite uthale kṛṣṇa-sukhābdhi-taraṅga
on seeing surge the waves of Kṛṣṇa's ocean of happiness

169 When Kṛṣṇa sees Śrī Rādhā's form adorned with so many ornaments of bhāva, the waves of the ocean of His happiness surge high.

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi, Chapter 4, verses 243, 250 and 256.

*Where Śrī Rādhā's kila-kiñcita bhāva appears —*

কিলকিঞ্চিতাদি-ভাবের শুন বিবরণ । যে ভাব-ভূষায় রাধা হরে কৃষ্ণ-মন ॥ ১৭০ ॥

kila-kiñcitādi-bhāvera śuna vivaraṇa
of kila-kiñcita and the other bhāvas hear the description
ye bhāva-bhūṣāya rādhā hare kṛṣṇa-mana
by which bhāva ornaments Rādhā steals Kṛṣṇa's mind

170 Now hear a description of kila-kiñcita and the other bhāvas, the ornaments of feeling by which Rādhā steals Kṛṣṇa's mind.

রাধা দেখি' কৃষ্ণ যদি ছুঁইতে করে মন । দানঘাটি-পথে যবে বর্জ্জেন গমন ॥ ১৭১ ॥

rādhā dekhi' kṛṣṇa yadi chuṁite kare mana Rādhā seeing Kṛṣṇa if to touch makes up His mind
dāna-ghāṭi-pathe yabe varjena gamana
on the path to the toll crossing when He bars Her going

171 When Kṛṣṇa sees Rādhā and wants to touch Her, when He bars Her way on the path to the toll crossing (dāna-ghāṭi),

যবে আসি' মানা করে পুষ্প উঠাইতে । সখী-আগে চাহে যদি গায়ে হাত দিতে ॥ ১৭২ ॥

yabe āsi' mānā kare puṣpa uṭhāite
when coming He forbids flowers to pick sakhī-āge cāhe yadi gāye hāta dite
before Her friends He wants if on Her body His hand to place

172 when He comes and forbids Her to pick flowers, or when He tries to touch Her in front of Her friends —

এইসব স্থানে 'কিলকিঞ্চিত'-উদগম । প্রথমে 'হর্ষ' সঞ্চারী — মূল-কারণ ॥ ১৭৩ ॥

ei-saba sthāne 'kila-kiñcita'-udagama
in all these situations of kila-kiñcita the rise prathame 'harṣa' sañcārī — mūla-kāraṇa
first joy the sañcārī the root cause

173 in all these situations kila-kiñcita arises. Its root cause is the sañcārī-bhāva of joy (harṣa), which comes first.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

When, seeing Śrīmatī's ornaments of feeling, Kṛṣṇa wants to touch Her, He arranges this pastime either on the road to the ferry crossing (dāna-ghāṭi) or in the flower forest. On the road to the dāna-ghāṭi the pastime goes like this: standing on the road along which Śrīmatī is going with Her wares, or at the crossing, Kṛṣṇa says, "Until You pay the toll, I forbid You to go along this road," and on this pretext He begins the pastime of dāna-keli (the toll-collecting game). And when Rādhikā goes to gather flowers, Kṛṣṇa, posing as the owner of the flower garden, says, "You are stealing My flowers," and begins a pastime. In such places and at such times Śrī Rādhā's kila-kiñcita bhāva arises.

*The definition of the kila-kiñcita bhāva — (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Vibhāva-kathana, 71)*

গর্ব্বাভিলাষরুদিতস্মিতাসূয়াভয়ক্রুধাম্ । সঙ্করীকরণং হর্ষাদুচ্যতে কিলকিঞ্চিতম্ ॥ ১৭৪ ॥

garvābhilāṣa-rudita-
of pride, longing, weeping
smitāsūyā-bhaya-krudhām
smiling, envy, fear and anger
saṅkarī-karaṇaṁ harṣād
the mingling from joy
ucyate kila-kiñcitam
is called kila-kiñcita

174 "The mingling of pride, longing, weeping, smiling, envy, fear and anger, born of joy, is called kila-kiñcita." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Vibhāva-kathana, 71)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The blending (saṅkarīkaraṇa), that is, the mixing, of seven bhāvas — pride, longing, weeping, laughter, jealous displeasure (asūyā), fear and anger — together with joy is called the kila-kiñcita bhāva.

Anubhāṣya.
harṣāt (harṣaḥ eva hetuḥ tasmāt — from joy as the cause) garvābhilāṣa-rudita-smitāsūyā-bhaya-krudhām (of pride and the rest, the seven bhāvas) saṅkarīkaraṇam (blending, simultaneous manifestation) kila-kiñcitam ucyate.

*The seven bhāvas, pride and the rest, combine in it at once, and so the mahābhāva just named arises —*

আর সাত ভাব আসি' সহজে মিলয় । অষ্টভাব-সম্মিলনে 'মহাভাব' হয় ॥ ১৭৫ ॥

āra sāta bhāva āsi' sahaje milaya
other seven bhāvas coming naturally combine aṣṭa-bhāva-sammilane 'mahā-bhāva' haya
by the union of eight bhāvas mahābhāva arises

175 The other seven bhāvas come and naturally combine with joy, and from the union of these eight bhāvas arises mahābhāva.

Anubhāṣya.

When the seven bhāvas, pride and the rest, join the root cause, joy, the combination of these eight bhāvas produces the kila-kiñcita mahābhāva.

গর্ব্ব, অভিলাষ, ভয়, শুষ্করুদিত । ক্রোধ, অসূয়া হয়, আর মন্দস্মিত ॥ ১৭৬ ॥

garva, abhilāṣa, bhaya, śuṣka-rudita pride longing fear dry weeping
krodha, asūyā haya, āra manda-smita
anger envy there are and a faint smile

176 The seven are pride, longing, fear, tearless weeping, anger, envy and a faint smile.

নানা-স্বাদু অষ্টভাব একত্র মিলন । যাহার আস্বাদে তৃপ্ত হয় কৃষ্ণ-মন ॥ ১৭৭ ॥

nānā-svādu aṣṭa-bhāva ekatra milana
of various flavors eight bhāvas in one the meeting yāhāra āsvāde tṛpta haya kṛṣṇa-mana whose in the tasting satisfied becomes Kṛṣṇa's mind

177 These eight bhāvas, each of a different flavour, meet in one, and in tasting that blend Kṛṣṇa's mind is fully satisfied.

*A comparison with a sweet drink (pānā) —*

দধি, খণ্ড, ঘৃত, মধু, মরীচ, কর্পূর । এলাচি-মিলনে যৈছে রসালা মধুর ॥ ১৭৮ ॥

dadhi, khaṇḍa, ghṛta, madhu, marīca, karpūra yogurt sugar ghee honey black pepper camphor
elāci-milane yaiche rasālā madhura
with cardamom in blending as rasālā (a drink) sweet

178 It is like rasālā, a drink made sweet by blending yogurt, sugar, ghee, honey, black pepper, camphor and cardamom.

*Kṛṣṇa's deepest happiness at seeing the beauty of Śrī Rādhā's kila-kiñcita bhāva —*

এই ভাব-যুক্ত দেখি’ রাধাস্য-নয়ন । সঙ্গম হইতে সুখ পায় কোটি-গুণ ॥ ১৭৯ ॥

ei bhāva-yukta dekhi’ rādhāsya-nayana
with these bhāvas filled seeing Rādhā’s face and eyes saṅgama haite sukha pāya koṭi-guṇa
than union happiness He obtains ten million times

179 Seeing Rādhā’s face and eyes filled with these bhāvas, Kṛṣṇa feels ten million times more happiness than in union with Her.

*An example of Śrī Rādhā's kila-kiñcita bhāva — (words of Śrī Rūpa Gosvāmī, Dāna-keli-kaumudī 1)*

অন্তঃস্মেরতয়োজ্জ্বলা জলকণব্যাকীর্ণপক্ষ্মাঙ্কুরা
কিঞ্চিৎপাটলিতাঞ্চলা রসিকতোৎসিক্তা পুরঃ কুঞ্চতী ।
রুদ্ধায়াঃ পথি মাধবেন মধুরব্যাভুগ্নতোরোত্তরা
রাধায়াঃ কিলকিঞ্চিতস্তবকিনী দৃষ্টিঃ শ্রিয়ং বঃ ক্রিয়াৎ ॥ ১৮০ ॥

antaḥ smeratayojjvalā jala-kaṇa-vyākīrṇa-pakṣmāṅkurā
within with a smile shining with drops of tears strewn its lashes
kiñcit pāṭalitāñcalā rasikatotsiktā puraḥ kuñcatī slightly reddened at the corners overflowing with playfulness in front narrowing ruddhāyāḥ pathi mādhavena madhura-vyābhugna-torottarā of Her who was stopped on the path by Mādhava with sweetly curving pupils raised rādhāyāḥ kila-kiñcita-stavakinī dṛṣṭiḥ śriyaṁ vaḥ kriyāt
Rādhā’s a bouquet of kila-kiñcita glance good fortune on you may it bestow

180 “When Mādhava stopped Rādhā on the path, Her glance shone with a smile held within. Tears beaded Her lashes, the corners of Her eyes were faintly reddened, and, brimming with playful delight, Her eyes narrowed as their pupils rose sweetly, slyly upward. May that glance of Rādhā’s, a bouquet of kila-kiñcita, bring you good fortune!” (Dāna-keli-kaumudī, 1)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

May the glance of Śrī Rādhikā, full of the kila-kiñcita bhāva born of joy and joined with the seven bhāvas, pride and the rest, bring you good fortune. When Śrī Kṛṣṇa came on the road to the dāna-ghāṭi and blocked Her way, laughter arose in Rādhā's heart. Then Her eyes shone, Her eyelashes filled with freshly welling tears, the corners of both eyes reddened slightly; from the surge of rasa liveliness rose in Her eyes; Her tearful eyes began to close a little, and both pupils, wondrously beautiful, turned upward.

Anubhāṣya.

pathi (on the road to the dāna-ghāṭa) mādhavena (by Śrī Rādhā-ramaṇa, on the pretext of collecting a toll) ruddhāyāḥ rādhāyāḥ antaḥ-smeratayā (with an inner, unmanifest smile, slightly laughing) ujjvalā (shining — this is “laughter,” smita) jala-kaṇa-vyākīrṇa-pakṣmāṅkurā (whose eyelash-shoots, the tips of the lashes, are strewn with drops of water — this is “weeping,” rodana) kiñcit-pāṭalitāñcalā (with white and pink eye corners: the whiteness is natural and the redness comes from anger — this is “anger,” krodha) rasikatotsiktā (brimming with wit, rasikatā — this is “pride,” garva, or “longing,” abhilāṣa) puraḥ (in front) kuñcatī (shrinking — this is “fear,” bhaya) madhura-vyābhugna-tārottarā (excellent with its sweetly curved, crooked pupils — this is “longing,” “pride” or “jealous displeasure,” asūyā) kila-kiñcita-stavakinī (bearing the bouquet of kila-kiñcita — a special bhāva, unmanifest because of its depth, a cluster of flowers of many bhāvas) dṛṣṭiḥ (glance) vaḥ (to you) śriyam kriyāt.

*(Govinda-līlāmṛta 9.18)*

বাষ্পব্যাকুলিতারুণাঞ্চলচলন্নেত্রং রসোল্লাসিতং
হেলোল্লাসচলাধরং কুটিলিতভ্রূযুগ্মমুদ্যৎস্মিতম্ ৷
রাধায়াঃ কিলকিঞ্চিতাঞ্চিতমসৌ বীক্ষ্যাননং সঙ্গমা- দানন্দং তমবাপ কোটিগুণিতং যোঽভূন্ন গীর্গোচরঃ ॥ ১৮১ ॥

bāṣpa-vyākulitāruṇāñcala-calan-netraṁ rasollāsitaṁ
with eyes restless, reddened at the corners and clouded with tears delighted by rasa helollāsa-calādharaṁ kuṭilita-bhrū-yugmam udyat-smitam with lips trembling in playful joy with arched brows with a dawning smile
rādhāyāḥ kila-kiñcitāñcitam asau vīkṣyānanaṁ saṅgamād of Rādhā adorned with kila-kiñcita He seeing the face than from union
ānandaṁ tam avāpa koṭi-guṇitaṁ yo 'bhūn na gīr-gocaraḥ
bliss that obtained ten million times greater which was not within the range of words

181 "Seeing Rādhā's face adorned with kila-kiñcita — Her restless eyes clouded with tears and reddened at the corners, Her face alight with rasa, Her lips trembling with playful delight, Her brows arched and a smile dawning — Kṛṣṇa attained a bliss ten million times greater than that of union with Her, a bliss beyond the reach of words." (Govinda-līlāmṛta, 9.18)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Rādhikā's eyes clouded with tears and their reddish corners quivered; from the surge of rasa and amorous feeling (kandarpa-bhāva) Her lips trembled; Her brows arched; a faint smile appeared on Her lotus face. Śrī Kṛṣṇa saw the happiness born of the kila-kiñcita bhāva becoming manifest, and looking at Rādhikā's face He attained a happiness ten million times greater than in meeting with Her — it cannot be described in words.

Anubhāṣya.
asau (Śrī Kṛṣṇa) rādhāyāḥ bāṣpa-vyākulitāruṇāñcala-calan-netram (in which the eyes, with reddish corners and clouded with tears, move restlessly) rasollāsitam helollāsa-calādharam (with lips trembling from an excess of a special bhāva) kuṭilita-bhrū-yugmam udyat-smitam (on which a clear, gentle smile appears) kila-kiñcitāñcitam (endowed with that bhāva) ānanam (face) vīkṣya (seeing) saṅgamāt koṭi-guṇitam tam ānandam avāpa (attained) — yaḥ (that bliss which) gīr-gocaraḥ (within the reach of words) na abhūt (never is — that is, that bliss is never within the reach of words).

*Hearing of Śrī Rādhā's bhāva, the Lord embraces Svarūpa —*

এত শুনি' প্রভু হৈলা আনন্দিত মন । সুখাবিষ্ট হঞা স্বরূপে কৈলা আলিঙ্গন ॥ ১৮২ ॥

eta śuni' prabhu hailā ānandita mana
this hearing the Lord became joyful in mind sukhāviṣṭa hañā svarūpe kailā āliṅgana absorbed in happiness becoming Svarūpa He did embracing 182 Hearing this, the Lord rejoiced at heart, and, absorbed in happiness, He embraced Svarūpa.

*Answering the Lord's question, Svarūpa describes Śrī Rādhā's vilāsa bhāva —*

'বিলাসাদি'-ভাব-ভূষার কহ ত' লক্ষণ । যেই ভাবে রাধা হরে গোবিন্দের মন ? ॥ ১৮৩ ॥

'vilāsādi'-bhāva-bhūṣāra kaha ta' lakṣaṇa
of vilāsa and the other bhāva ornaments tell indeed the characteristics yei bhāve rādhā hare govindera mana?
by which bhāva Rādhā steals Govinda's mind

183 "Now tell Me the characteristics of vilāsa and the other ornaments of bhāva by which Rādhā steals Govinda's mind."

Svarūpa begins the description; the devotees are happy —

তবে ত' স্বরূপ-গোসাঞি কহিতে লাগিলা । শুনি' প্রভুর ভক্তগণ মহাসুখ পাইলা ॥ ১৮৪ ॥

tabe ta' svarūpa-gosāñi kahite lāgilā
then indeed Svarūpa Gosāñi to speak began śuni' prabhura bhakta-gaṇa mahā-sukha pāilā
hearing the Lord's devotees great happiness obtained

184 Then Svarūpa Gosāñi began to speak, and the Lord's devotees were overjoyed to hear him.

রাধা বসি' আছে, কিবা বৃন্দাবনে যায় । তাঁহা আচম্বিতে কৃষ্ণ দরশন পায় ॥ ১৮৫ ॥

rādhā vasi' āche, kibā vṛndāvane yāya Rādhā is sitting or into Vṛndāvana is going tāṁhā ācambite kṛṣṇa daraśana pāya
there suddenly of Kṛṣṇa the sight She obtains

185 "Rādhā may be sitting, or going into the forest of Vṛndāvana, when suddenly She catches sight of Kṛṣṇa.

দেখিতে নানা-ভাব হয় বিলক্ষণ । সে বৈলক্ষণ্যের নাম 'বিলাস'-ভূষণ ॥ ১৮৬ ॥

dekhite nānā-bhāva haya vilakṣaṇa
on seeing (Him) various bhāvas become extraordinary se vailakṣaṇyera nāma 'vilāsa'-bhūṣaṇa
of that distinctiveness the name the vilāsa ornament

186 When She sees Him, various bhāvas appear in Her in an extraordinary way, and that distinctiveness is called the ornament of vilāsa.

*(Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Vibhāva-kathana, 67)*

গতিস্থানাসনাদীনাং মুখনেত্রাদিকর্ম্মণাম্ ।
তাৎকালিকস্তু বৈশিষ্ট্যং বিলাসঃ প্রিয়সঙ্গজম্ ॥ ১৮৭ ॥

gati-sthānāsanādīnāṁ
of gait, standing, sitting and so on mukha-netrādi-karmaṇām
of the movements of face, eyes and so on tātkālikaṁ tu vaiśiṣṭyaṁ momentary indeed distinctiveness
vilāsaḥ priya-saṅga-jam
vilāsa born of meeting the beloved

187 “When a heroine meets her beloved, a momentary distinctiveness appears in her gait, in the way she stands and sits, and in the movements of her face, eyes and other features. This is called vilāsa.” (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Vibhāva-kathana, 67)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The distinction that arises from contact with the beloved — in the gait, in how [the heroine] goes to the place of meeting with the beloved and how she stays there, and also in the face, eyes and other parts of the body at that time — is called vilāsa.

Anubhāṣya.

gati-sthānāsanādīnām (of the beloved's walking, standing, sitting and so on) mukha-netrādi-karmaṇām ca (and of the actions of the limbs) priya-saṅga-jam (born of meeting the beloved) tātkālikam (occurring at the time of meeting the beloved) vaiśiṣṭyam (distinctiveness) tu vilāsaḥ (is called).

লজ্জা, হর্ষ, অভিলাষ, সম্ভ্রম, বাম্য, ভয় । এত ভাব মিলি’ রাধায় চঞ্চল করয় ॥ ১৮৮ ॥

lajjā, harṣa, abhilāṣa, sambhrama, vāmya, bhaya
shyness joy longing flurry contrariness fear eta bhāva mili’ rādhāya cañcala karaya
these bhāvas combining Rādhā restless make

188 Shyness, joy, longing, flurry, contrariness and fear — all these bhāvas combine and make Rādhā restless.

*(Govinda-līlāmṛta 9.11)*

পুরঃ কৃষ্ণালোকাৎ স্থগিতকুটিলাস্যা গতিরভূৎ
তিরশ্চীনং কৃষ্ণাম্বরদরবৃতং শ্রীমুখমপি ।
চলত্তারং স্ফারং নয়নযুগমাভুগ্নমিতি সা
বিলাসাখ্য-স্বালঙ্করণবলিতাসীৎ প্রিয়মুদে ॥ ১৮৯ ॥

puraḥ kṛṣṇālokāt sthagita-kuṭilāsyā gatir abhūt in front from seeing Kṛṣṇa halted and wavering Her gait became tiraścīnaṁ kṛṣṇāmbara-dara-vṛtaṁ śrī mukham api turned aside half covered by a dark veil beautiful face also calat-tāraṁ sphāraṁ nayana-yugam ābhugnam iti sā with darting pupils wide pair of eyes curved thus She vilāsākhya-svālaṅkaraṇa-valitāsīt priya-mude
with Her own ornament called vilāsa adorned became for Her beloved's delight

189 "When She saw Kṛṣṇa before Her, Her gait halted and wavered; Her lovely face turned aside, half covered by Her dark veil; and Her wide eyes glanced sidelong, their pupils darting. Thus, adorned with Her own ornament called vilāsa, She became Her beloved's delight." (Govinda-līlāmṛta, 9.11)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Seeing Śrī Kṛṣṇa right in front of Her, Rādhikā stopped and assumed a crooked air (kuṭila-bhāva). Her lotus face was slightly covered by a blue veil, yet both pupils opened wide and became restless and crooked, and, adorned with the ornament called vilāsa, She began to give Kṛṣṇa happiness.

Anubhāṣya.

asyāḥ (Śrī Rādhā's) gatiḥ puraḥ (in front) kṛṣṇālokāt (on seeing Kṛṣṇa) sthagita-kuṭilā (halted — stopped — and crooked — slow) abhūt; śrī-mukham api tiraścīnam (turned aside) kṛṣṇāmbara-darāvṛtam (slightly covered with a dark veil) abhūt; calat-tāram (with restless pupils) sphāram (wide open) nayana-yugam (the pair of eyes) ābhugnam (curved) abhūt — iti sā (Rādhā) priya-mude (to increase Kṛṣṇa's bliss) vilāsākhya-svālaṅkaraṇa-valitā (endowed with Her own ornament called vilāsa) āsīt.

কৃষ্ণ-আগে রাধা যদি রহে দাণ্ডাঞা । তিন-অঙ্গ-ভঙ্গে রহে ভ্রূ নাচাঞা ॥ ১৯০ ॥

kṛṣṇa-āge rādhā yadi rahe dāṇḍāñā
before Kṛṣṇa Rādhā when remains standing tina-aṅga-bhaṅge rahe bhrū nācāñā
in a threefold bend of Her body She remains Her brows making dance

190 When Rādhā stands before Kṛṣṇa, Her body bends in three places and She makes Her brows dance.

Anubhāṣya.

Tina-aṅga-bhaṅge: bending in three places (tribhaṅga); the three parts of the body are the neck, the waist and the feet (or knees).

মুখে-নেত্রে হয় নানা-ভাবের উদ্গার । এই কান্তা-ভাবের নাম 'ললিত'-অলঙ্কার ॥ ১৯১ ॥

mukhe-netre haya nānā-bhāvera udgāra
in face and eyes there is of various bhāvas an outpouring ei kāntā-bhāvera nāma 'lalita'-alaṅkāra
of this mood of the beloved the name the lalita ornament

191 When Her face and eyes pour forth many bhāvas, this mood of the beloved heroine is called the ornament of lalita.

Anubhāṣya.

Haya udgāra: bursting forth, it comes out.

*(Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Vibhāva-kathana, 75)*

বিন্যাস-ভঙ্গিরঙ্গানাং ভ্রূবিলাস-মনোহরা । সুকুমারা ভবেদ্যত্র ললিতং তদুদাহৃতম্ ॥ ১৯২ ॥

vinyāsa-bhaṅgir aṅgānāṁ
the graceful poise of the limbs
bhrū-vilāsa-manoharā charming with the play of the brows
sukumārā bhaved yatra delicate is where lalitaṁ tad udāhṛtam
lalita that is called

192 "Where the poise of the limbs is graceful and delicate, charming with the play of the brows, that is called lalita." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Vibhāva-kathana, 75)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Where the arrangement and curve of the limbs and the play of the brows are charming and delicate, the “ornament of lalita” is spoken of.

Anubhāṣya.
yatra aṅgānām sukumārā (very delicate) vinyāsa-bhaṅgiḥ (skillful arrangement) bhrū-vilāsa-manoharā bhavet, tat lalitam iti udāhṛtam.

ললিত-ভূষিত রাধা দেখে যদি কৃষ্ণ । দুঁহে দুঁহা মিলিবারে হয়েন সতৃষ্ণ ॥ ১৯৩ ॥

lalita-bhūṣita rādhā dekhe yadi kṛṣṇa adorned with lalita Rādhā sees when Kṛṣṇa
duṁhe duṁhā milibāre hayena satṛṣṇa
both each other to meet become eager

193 When Kṛṣṇa sees Rādhā adorned with lalita, They both long to meet each other.

*(Govinda-līlāmṛta 9.14)*

হ্রিয়া তির্য্যগ্-গ্রীবা-চরণ-কটি-ভঙ্গী-সুমধুরা
চলচ্চিল্লী-বল্লী-দলিত-রতিনাথোর্জ্জিত-ধনুঃ ।
প্রিয়-প্রেমোল্লাসোল্লসিত-ললিতালালিত-তনুঃ
প্রিয়প্রীত্যৈ সাসীদুদিতললিতালঙ্কৃতিযুতা ॥ ১৯৪ ॥

hriyā tiryag-grīvā-caraṇa-kaṭi-bhaṅgī-sumadhurā
from shyness with neck, feet and waist bent aside most charming calac-cillī-vallī-dalita-ratināthorjita-dhanuḥ
by the moving creepers of Her brows broken Kāmadeva’s mighty bow
priya-premollāsollasita-lalitālālita-tanuḥ with a graceful, cherished body glowing with the joy of love for Her beloved priya-prītyai sāsīd udita-lalitālaṅkṛti-yutā for Her beloved’s delight She was with the ornament of lalita that had arisen endowed

194 “Bashfully turning Her neck aside and bending Her feet and waist, She looked most charming; the moving creepers of Her brows broke the mighty bow of Kāmadeva; Her graceful, cherished body glowed with the joy of love for Her beloved. Thus, for Her beloved’s delight, She was adorned with the ornament of lalita, which had arisen in Her.” (Govinda-līlāmṛta, 9.14)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

When Rādhikā, to increase Kṛṣṇa's love, adorned Herself with the ornament of lalita, Her neck bent in shyness, Her feet and waist took on a sweet curve, and the play of Her creeper-like brows defeated even Kāmadeva's mighty bow. And Her beautiful form became visible, full of the lalita bhāva and radiant with the joy of love for the Most Beloved.

Anubhāṣya.

sā (Rādhā) hriyā (out of shyness) tiryag-grīvā-caraṇa-kaṭi-bhaṅgī-sumadhurā (sweet with the curve of Her neck, knees and hips, gracefully set aslant — enchanting Kṛṣṇa) calac-cillī-vallī-dalita-ratināthorjita-dhanuḥ (She by whom, with the creeper of Her restless brow — a brow like the cillī bird[9] — the mighty bow of Ratinātha, Kāmadeva, is broken, that is, conquered) priya-premollāsollasita-lalitā-lālita-tanuḥ (She whose body is cherished, that is, devotedly served, by lalita — the play and dance born of the joy of love of Her Beloved, Kṛṣṇa) priya-prītyai (to increase the Beloved's love) udita-lalitālaṅkṛti-yutā (endowed with the manifest special bhāva of lalita, the ornament of lalita) āsīt.

লোভে আসি’ কৃষ্ণ করে কঞ্চুকাকর্ষণ । অন্তরে উল্লাস, রাধা করে নিবারণ ॥ ১৯৫ ॥

lobhe āsi’ kṛṣṇa kare kañcukākarṣaṇa
in eagerness coming Kṛṣṇa does pulling at the bodice antare ullāsa, rādhā kare nivāraṇa within delight Rādhā does warding off

195 When Kṛṣṇa eagerly comes and pulls at Her bodice (kañcuka), Rādhā is delighted within, yet She wards Him off.

Anubhāṣya.

Kañcuka: bodice (kāčuli), kavaca, aṅgarākhā, garment.

বাহিরে বামতা-ক্রোধ, ভিতরে সুখ মনে ৷
'কুট্টমিত'-নাম এই ভাব বিভূষণে ॥ ১৯৬ ॥

bāhire vāmatā-krodha, bhitare sukha mane
outwardly contrariness and anger inwardly happiness in the mind
'kuṭṭamita'-nāma ei bhāva vibhūṣaṇe
kuṭṭamita named this bhāva among the ornaments

196 Outwardly She shows contrariness and anger, but inwardly She is happy at heart. Among the ornaments this bhāva is called kuṭṭamita.

*(Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, section on the anubhāvas, 49)*

স্তনাধরাদিগ্রহণে হৃৎপ্রীতাবপি সম্ভ্রমাৎ ৷
বহিঃ ক্রোধো ব্যথিতবৎ প্রোক্তং কুট্টমিতং বুধৈঃ ॥ ১৯৭ ॥

stanādharādi-grahaṇe
when the breasts, lips and so on are touched hṛt-prītāv api sambhramāt
joy in the heart though from agitation
bahiḥ krodho vyathita-vat
outwardly anger as if pained
proktaṁ kuṭṭamitaṁ budhaiḥ
is called kuṭṭamita by the wise

197 "When her breasts, lips and so on are touched, the heroine, though joyful at heart, shows anger outwardly in her agitation, as if she were pained. The wise call this kuṭṭamita." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Anubhāva-prakaraṇa, 49)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

When [Kṛṣṇa] seizes [Rādhā's] bodice (kāñculi) and the veil over Her face, Her heart blossoms, yet out of reverential awe (sambhrama) She outwardly shows anger, as if She were hurt. These signs are called kuṭṭamita.

Anubhāṣya.

stanādharādi-grahaṇe (when [the beloved] touches the breast, cheeks or lips) hṛt-prītau (when joy has been gained in the mind) api sambhramāt (out of regard for others) bahiḥ (before the eyes of the friends) vyathitavat (as befits one in pain) krodhaḥ (that is, satisfaction within and anger without) bhavet — iti budhaiḥ (by those versed in the science of poetics) kuṭṭamitam proktam (is called).

কৃষ্ণ-বাঞ্ছা পূর্ণ হয়, করে পাণি-রোধ । অন্তরে আনন্দ রাধা, বাহিরে বাম্য-ক্রোধ ॥ ১৯৮ ॥

kṛṣṇa-vāñchā pūrṇa haya, kare pāṇi-rodha Kṛṣṇa's desire fulfilled is She does checking His hand
antare ānanda rādhā, bāhire vāmya-krodha
within bliss Rādhā outwardly contrariness and anger

198 She checks Kṛṣṇa's hand, and yet His desire is fulfilled; within, Rādhā feels bliss, while outwardly She shows contrariness and anger.

ব্যথা পাঞা করে, যেন শুষ্ক রোদন । ঈষৎ হাসিয়া কৃষ্ণে করেন ভর্ৎসন ॥ ১৯৯ ॥

vyathā pāñā kare, yena śuṣka rodana pain feeling She does as if dry weeping
īṣat hāsiyā kṛṣṇe karena bhartsana
slightly smiling Kṛṣṇa She does rebuking

199 As if in pain, She weeps without tears, and with a faint smile She rebukes Kṛṣṇa.

(a verse of Gosvāmipāda)

পাণিরোধমবিরোধিতবাঞ্ছং
ভর্ৎসনাশ্চ মধুরস্মিতগর্ভাঃ ।
মাধবস্য কুরুতে করভোরু- র্হারিশুষ্করুদিতঞ্চ মুখেঽপি ॥ ২০০ ॥

pāṇi-rodham avirodhita-vāñchaṁ
a checking of the hand that does not obstruct His desire bhartsanāś ca madhura-smita-garbhāḥ rebukes and hiding a sweet smile
mādhavasya kurute karabhorur of Mādhava makes She whose thighs are like an elephant's trunk
hāri śuṣka-ruditaṁ ca mukhe 'pi charming dry weeping and on the face also

200 "Rādhā, whose thighs are like an elephant's trunk, checks Mādhava's hand without obstructing His desire; She rebukes Him with a sweet smile hidden in Her words; and on Her face there is a charming, tearless weeping."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Although Rādhikā, whose thighs are like a young elephant's trunk, showed unwillingness when Kṛṣṇa held Her back with His hand, Her rebukes in return concealed a sweet smile, and on Her face was a charming dry weeping (a pretense of weeping).

Anubhāṣya.
karabhoruḥ (Rādhikā, whose thighs are strong like a young elephant's trunk) mādhavasya avirodhita-vāñcham (in which the desire meets no obstacle) pāṇi-rodham (warding off the touch of the hand) madhura-smita-garbhāḥ (holding a sweet, gentle smile within) bhartsanāḥ (rebukes), api ca mukhe hāri-śuṣka-ruditam (a feigned weeping that captivates Kṛṣṇa's mind) kurute.

এইমত আর সব ভাব-বিভূষণ । যাহাতে ভূষিত রাধা হরে কৃষ্ণ মন ॥ ২০১ ॥

ei-mata āra saba bhāva-vibhūṣaṇa
in this way other all ornaments of bhāva yāhāte bhūṣita rādhā hare kṛṣṇa mana with which adorned Rādhā steals Kṛṣṇa's mind

201 In the same way there are all the other ornaments of bhāva; adorned with them, Rādhā steals Kṛṣṇa's mind.

Anubhāṣya.

Hare: steals away, that is, attracts.

Even Viṣṇu in the form of Śeṣa, with a thousand mouths, cannot describe Kṛṣṇa's pastimes —

অনন্ত কৃষ্ণের লীলা না যায় বর্ণন । আপনে বর্ণেন যদি ‘সহস্রবদন’ ॥ ২০২ ॥

ananta kṛṣṇera līlā nā yāya varṇana endless Kṛṣṇa's pastimes not can be described āpane varṇena yadi ‘sahasra-vadana’
Himself describes even if the thousand-mouthed one

202 Kṛṣṇa's pastimes are endless; they cannot be described in full, even if the thousand-mouthed Ananta Himself describes them."

Anubhāṣya.

See Madhya, Chapter 21, verses 10 and 12; Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 2.7.41 and 10.14.7.

A conversation between Svarūpa, the servant of Śrī Rādhā, and Śrīvāsa, the servant of Śrī Lakṣmī-Nārāyaṇa; Śrīvāsa is proud of his mistress's majesty —

শ্রীবাস হাসিয়া কহে, — শুন, দামোদর । আমার লক্ষ্মীর দেখ সম্পত্তি বিস্তর ॥ ২০৩ ॥

śrīvāsa hāsiyā kahe, — śuna, dāmodara Śrīvāsa smiling says listen Dāmodara
āmāra lakṣmīra dekha sampatti vistara
of my Lakṣmī see of the wealth the abundance

203 Śrīvāsa said with a smile, "Listen, Dāmodara! See the abundant wealth of my Lakṣmī!

Anubhāṣya.

Regarding himself as established in the majesty (aiśvarya) of dāsya-rasa, Śrīvāsa starts a loving quarrel with Śrī Dāmodara Svarūpa, taking him for a "resident of Vraja" who has no majesty.

বৃন্দাবনের সম্পদ্ দেখ, — পুষ্প-কিসলয় । গিরিধাতু শিখিপিচ্ছ-গুঞ্জাফল-ময় ॥ ২০৪ ॥

vṛndāvanera sampad dekha, — puṣpa-kisalaya
of Vṛndāvana the wealth see flowers and young shoots giridhātu śikhipiccha-guñjāphala-maya mountain minerals peacock feathers guñjā berries consisting of 204 And see the wealth of Vṛndāvana: flowers and young shoots, mountain minerals, peacock feathers and guñjā berries!

Lakṣmī is angry and hurt because Kṛṣṇa has gone to Vraja —

বৃন্দাবন দেখিবারে গেলা জগন্নাথ । শুনি' লক্ষ্মী দেবীর মনে হৈল আসোয়াথ ॥ ২০৫ ॥

vṛndāvana dekhibāre gelā jagannātha Vṛndāvana to see went Jagannātha
śuni' lakṣmī devīra mane haila āsoyātha
hearing of Lakṣmī-devī in the mind arose uneasiness

205 Jagannātha went to see Vṛndāvana, and when Lakṣmī-devī heard of it, she grew uneasy at heart.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Āsoyātha: full of asūyā, that is, slight jealous displeasure.

Anubhāṣya.
Āsoyātha: uneasiness, indisposition, agitation.

এত সম্পত্তি ছাড়ি' কেনে গেলা বৃন্দাবন । তাঁরে হাস্য করিতে লক্ষ্মী করিলা সাজন ॥ ২০৬ ॥

eta sampatti chāḍi' kene gelā vṛndāvana
so much wealth leaving why did He go to Vṛndāvana
tāṁre hāsya karite lakṣmī karilā sājana
at Him laughter to make Lakṣmī did arraying

206 ‘Why did He leave so much wealth and go to Vṛndāvana?’ Lakṣmī thought, and to make fun of Him she arrayed herself in all her splendour.

তোমার ঠাকুর, দেখ এত সম্পত্তি ছাড়ি’ । পত্র-ফল-ফুল-লোভে গেলা পুষ্পবাড়ী ॥ ২০৭ ॥

tomāra ṭhākura, dekha eta sampatti chāḍi’
your master look so much wealth leaving patra-phala-phula-lobhe gelā puṣpa-bāḍī
out of greed for leaves, fruits and flowers went to the flower garden

207 ‘Look at your master! He has left all this wealth and gone to a flower garden, greedy for leaves, fruits and flowers.

Anubhāṣya.
“Your Ṭhākura”: the words of Lakṣmī's maidservants addressed to Jagannātha's servants.

এই কর্ম্ম করে কাঁহা বিদগ্ধ-শিরোমণি ?
লক্ষ্মীর অগ্রেতে নিজ প্রভুরে দেহ’ আনি’ ॥ ২০৮ ॥

ei karma kare kāṁhā vidagdha-śiromaṇi?
such a deed does where the crown jewel of the clever lakṣmīra agrete nija prabhure deha’ āni’
of Lakṣmī before your own master give bringing

208 Would the crown jewel of connoisseurs ever do such a thing? Bring your master before Lakṣmī!’

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Lakṣmī's maidservants say: “O servants of Jagannātha! Look: leaving such wealth, your Ṭhākura has gone to a flower garden for the sake of fruits, leaves and flowers. (Now) bring your master before Lakṣmī-devī.”

Anubhāṣya.
Nija prabhure: Jagannātha.

Lakṣmī's maidservants tie up and punish the Lord's servants, who share His guilt —

এত বলি' মহালক্ষ্মীর সব দাসীগণে । কটি-বস্ত্রে বান্ধি' আনে প্রভুর নিজগণে ॥ ২০৯ ॥

eta bali' mahā-lakṣmīra saba dāsī-gaṇe
so saying of Mahā-Lakṣmī all the maidservants
kaṭi-vastre bāndhi' āne prabhura nija-gaṇe
with waistcloths binding bring the Lord's own men

209 Saying this, all of Mahā-Lakṣmī's maidservants bound the Lord's own servants with waistcloths and brought them before her.

Anubhāṣya.
Prabhura: of Jagannātha.

লক্ষ্মীর চরণে আনি' করায় প্রণতি ।
ধন-দণ্ড লয়, আর করায় মিনতি ॥ ২১০ ॥

lakṣmīra caraṇe āni' karāya praṇati
to Lakṣmī's feet bringing they make bow
dhana-daṇḍa laya, āra karāya minati
a fine in money they take and they make plead

210 At Lakṣmī's feet they made them bow down; they exacted a fine from them and made them plead humbly.

রথের উপরে করে দণ্ডের তাড়ন । চোর-প্রায় করে জগন্নাথের সেবকগণ ॥ ২১১ ॥

rathera upare kare daṇḍera tāḍana
the chariot upon they do with sticks beating cora-prāya kare jagannāthera sevaka-gaṇa
almost like thieves they treat Jagannātha's servants

211 They beat the chariot with sticks and treated Jagannātha's servants almost like thieves.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

With sticks (daṇḍa, that is, lāṭhi) they beat the chariot standing at the gate of Guṇḍicā.

The servants promise to return their master Jagannātha [to Lakṣmī] —

সব ভৃত্যগণ কহে, — যোড় করি' হাত । কালি আনি দিব তোমার আগে জগন্নাথ ॥ ২১২ ॥

saba bhṛtya-gaṇa kahe, — yoḍa kari' hāta
all the servants say joined making hands
kāli āni diba tomāra āge jagannātha
tomorrow bringing we shall give your before Jagannātha

212 All the servants said with folded hands, 'Tomorrow we shall bring Jagannātha before you.'

Hearing this, Lakṣmī is pacified —

তবে শান্ত হঞা লক্ষ্মী যায় নিজ ঘর । আমার লক্ষ্মীর সম্পদ্ — বাক্য-অগোচর ॥ ২১৩ ॥

tabe śānta hañā lakṣmī yāya nija ghara
then pacified becoming Lakṣmī goes to her own home
āmāra lakṣmīra sampad — vākya-agocara
of my Lakṣmī the wealth beyond words

213 Then Lakṣmī, pacified, went back to her own home. The wealth of my Lakṣmī is beyond words!

Speaking of Lakṣmī's majesty, Śrīvāsa teases Svarūpa —

দুগ্ধ আউটি' দধি মথে তোমার গোপীগণে । আমার ঠাকুরাণী বৈসে রত্নসিংহাসনে ॥ ২১৪ ॥

dugdha āuṭi' dadhi mathe tomāra gopī-gaṇe
milk boiling yogurt churn your gopīs
āmāra ṭhākurāṇī vaise ratna-siṁhāsane
my mistress sits on a jeweled throne

214 Your gopīs boil milk and churn yogurt, while my mistress sits on a jewelled throne."

Anubhāṣya.
Āuṭi: boiling down.

*Hearing Śrīvāsa's words, the Lord's devotees on the path of rāga laugh —*

নারদ-প্রকৃতি শ্রীবাস করে পরিহাস । শুনি' হাসে মহাপ্রভুর যত নিজ-দাস ॥ ২১৫ ॥

nārada-prakṛti śrīvāsa kare parihāsa of Nārada's nature Śrīvāsa makes jokes
śuni' hāse mahāprabhura yata nija-dāsa hearing laugh Mahāprabhu's all own servants

215 Śrīvāsa, whose nature is like Nārada's, joked in this way, and all of Mahāprabhu's own servants laughed to hear him.

Anubhāṣya.
Nija-dāsa: Gadādhara and the others who form the Lord's potency (śakti); they are wholly devoted to the service of Śrī Rādhā-Govinda and absorbed in rāgātmika-bhakti.

*The Lord describes what is distinctive in the bhajana of Śrīvāsa and of Śrī Svarūpa —*

প্রভু কহে, — শ্রীবাস, তোমাতে নারদ-স্বভাব । ঐশ্বর্যভাবে তোমাতে, ঈশ্বর-প্রভাব ॥ ২১৬ ॥

prabhu kahe, — śrīvāsa, tomāte nārada-svabhāva
the Lord says Śrīvāsa in you Nārada's nature
aiśvarya-bhāve tomāte, īśvara-prabhāva
in the mood of majesty on you the Lord's influence

216 The Lord said, “Śrīvāsa, you have Nārada’s nature: in the mood of majesty (aiśvarya), the Lord’s power holds sway over you.

ইঁহো দামোদর-স্বরূপ — শুদ্ধ-ব্রজবাসী ।
ঐশ্বর্য্য না জানে ইঁহো শুদ্ধপ্রেমে ভাসি’ ॥ ২১৭ ॥

iṁho dāmodara-svarūpa — śuddha-vrajavāsī
he Dāmodara Svarūpa a pure resident of Vraja aiśvarya nā jāne iṁho śuddha-preme bhāsi’
majesty not knows he in pure love floating

217 But this Svarūpa Dāmodara is a pure resident of Vraja. Floating in pure love, he does not know majesty.”

Svarūpa describes the greatness of the sweetness of Vraja —

স্বরূপ কহে, — শ্রীবাস, শুন সাবধানে । বৃন্দাবনসম্পদ্ তোমার নাহি পড়ে মনে ? ॥ ২১৮ ॥

svarūpa kahe, — śrīvāsa, śuna sāvadhāne Svarūpa says Śrīvāsa listen attentively vṛndāvana-sampad tomāra nāhi paḍe mane?
the wealth of Vṛndāvana your not comes to mind

218 Svarūpa said, “Śrīvāsa, listen carefully! Does the wealth of Vṛndāvana not come to your mind?

The wealth of Mahā-Vaikuṇṭha is but a particle of the wealth of Vṛndāvana —

বৃন্দাবনে সাহজিক যে সম্পৎসিন্ধু । দ্বারকা-বৈকুণ্ঠ-সম্পৎ — তার এক বিন্দু ॥ ২১৯ ॥

vṛndāvane sāhajika ye sampat-sindhu
in Vṛndāvana natural which ocean of wealth
dvārakā-vaikuṇṭha-sampat-tāra eka bindu
of Dvārakā and Vaikuṇṭha the wealth of it one drop 219 In Vṛndāvana there is a natural ocean of wealth, and the wealth of Dvārakā and Vaikuṇṭha is but a drop of it.

A description of Kṛṣṇa's Vṛndāvana-dhāma —

পরম পুরুষোত্তম স্বয়ং ভগবান্ । কৃষ্ণ যাঁহা ধনী তাঁহা বৃন্দাবন-ধাম ॥ ২২০ ॥

parama puruṣottama svayaṁ bhagavān
the supreme Puruṣottama Himself Bhagavān
kṛṣṇa yāṁhā dhanī tāṁhā vṛndāvana-dhāma
Kṛṣṇa where the owner of wealth there the abode of Vṛndāvana

220 Kṛṣṇa is the Supreme Puruṣottama, Bhagavān Himself, and where He is rich, there is His abode, Vṛndāvana.

চিন্তামণিময় ভূমি, রত্নের ভবন । চিন্তামণিগণ — দাসী-চরণ-ভূষণ ॥ ২২১ ॥

cintāmaṇi-maya bhūmi, ratnera bhavana
made of cintāmaṇi the ground of jewels the houses cintāmaṇi-gaṇa — dāsī-caraṇa-bhūṣaṇa
cintāmaṇi gems of the maidservants the foot ornaments

221 There the ground is made of cintāmaṇi gems and the houses of jewels; cintāmaṇi gems are the ornaments on the maidservants' feet.

কল্পবৃক্ষ-লতার — যাঁহা সাহজিক-বন । পুষ্প-ফল বিনা কেহ না মাগে অন্য ধন ॥ ২২২ ॥

kalpavṛkṣa-latāra — yāṁhā sāhajika-vana
of wish-fulfilling trees and creepers where a natural forest
puṣpa-phala vinā keha nā māge anya dhana
flowers and fruits except no one not asks for other wealth

222 There the natural forest is made of wish-fulfilling trees and creepers, yet no one asks them for any wealth but flowers and fruits.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The place where Kṛṣṇa, setting aside majesty, considers Himself rich in the sweetness of leaves, flowers and the like is called Vṛndāvana-dhāma. In that Vṛndāvana-dhāma the ground is made of cintāmaṇi, that is, it is spiritual; the houses are of spiritual jewels; the feet of the maidservants are adorned with spiritual ornaments; and a self-existent (sahaja-siddha) forest, full of spiritual wish-fulfilling trees and creepers, eternally shines. There no one asks for any wealth other than fruits and flowers.

অনন্ত কামধেনু তাঁহা ফিরে বনে বনে । দুগ্ধমাত্র দেন, কেহ না মাগে অন্য ধনে ॥ ২২৩ ॥

ananta kāma-dhenu tāṁhā phire vane vane countless wish-fulfilling cows there wander from forest to forest dugdha-mātra dena, keha nā māge anya dhane
milk only they give no one not asks for other wealth

223 Countless wish-fulfilling cows wander there from forest to forest; they give only milk, and no one asks them for any other wealth.

সহজ লোকের কথা — যাঁহা দিব্য-গীত । সহজ গমন করে, — যৈছে নৃত্য-প্রতীত ॥ ২২৪ ॥

sahaja lokera kathā — yāṁhā divya-gīta ordinary of the people the talk where a divine song sahaja gamana kare, — yaiche nṛtya-pratīta
ordinary walking they do as is taken for dancing

224 There the ordinary talk of the people is a divine song, and their ordinary walking seems like dancing.

সর্ব্বত্র জল — যাঁহা অমৃত-সমান ।
চিদানন্দ জ্যোতিঃ স্বাদ্য — যাঁহা মূর্ত্তিমান্ ॥ ২২৫ ॥

sarvatra jala — yāṁhā amṛta-samāna
everywhere the water where like nectar
cid-ānanda jyotiḥ svādya — yāṁhā mūrtimān spiritual and blissful the light to be relished where embodied

225 Everywhere the water is like nectar, and the light of spiritual bliss takes form there, to be relished.

লক্ষ্মী জিনি' গুণ যাঁহা লক্ষ্মীর সমাজ । কৃষ্ণ-বংশী করে যাঁহা প্রিয়সখী-কায ॥ ২২৬ ॥

lakṣmī jini' guṇa yāṁhā lakṣmīra samāja Lakṣmī surpassing in qualities where of Lakṣmīs the company
kṛṣṇa-vaṁśī kare yāṁhā priya-sakhī-kāya
Kṛṣṇa's flute does where of a dear friend the service

226 There the gopīs, a whole society of Lakṣmīs, surpass Lakṣmī in their qualities, and Kṛṣṇa's flute serves as a dear friend.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
There dwell countless millions of Lakṣmīs full of sweetness (mādhurya), who have surpassed the Lakṣmī full of majesty (aiśvarya).

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi, Chapter 5, verses 20–22.

*The nature and wondrous properties of everything in Vṛndāvana — (Brahma-saṁhitā 5.56)*

শ্রিয়ঃ কান্তাঃ কান্তঃ পরমপুরুষঃ কল্পতরবো
দ্রুমা ভূমিশ্চিন্তামণিগণময়ী তোয়মমৃতম্ ।
কথা গানং নাট্যং গমনমপি বংশী প্রিয়সখী ।
চিদানন্দং জ্যোতিঃ পরমপি তদাস্বাদ্যমপি চ ॥ ২২৭ ॥

śriyaḥ kāntāḥ kāntaḥ parama-puruṣaḥ kalpa-taravo goddesses of fortune the beloveds the lover the Supreme Person wish-fulfilling trees
drumā bhūmiś cintāmaṇi-gaṇa-mayī toyam amṛtam
the trees the ground made of cintāmaṇi gems the water nectar
kathā gānaṁ nāṭyaṁ gamanam api vaṁśī priya-sakhī speech song dance walking also the flute a dear friend
cid-ānandaṁ jyotiḥ param api tad āsvādyam api ca spiritual and blissful light the supreme also that to be relished also and 227 "There the beloveds are goddesses of fortune and the lover is the Supreme Person; the trees are wish-fulfilling trees; the ground is made of cintāmaṇi gems and the water is nectar; speech is song and walking is dance; the flute is a dear friend; and the supreme light is spiritual bliss, there to be relished." (Brahma-saṁhitā, 5.56)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
In that Vṛndāvana the beloveds are the Vraja-lakṣmīs, the gopīs; the Beloved is the Supreme Person, Śrī Kṛṣṇa; all the trees are wish-fulfilling trees; all the land is spiritual, the water is nectar, speech is song, walking is dance, and Kṛṣṇa's flute is a dear friend; and everywhere the light of spiritual bliss (cid-ānanda-jyoti) is felt. Therefore Śrī Vṛndāvana alone is the supreme object of relish.

Anubhāṣya.
tatra (in the transcendental land) parama-puruṣaḥ (eva, He alone) — kāntaḥ (the One, without a second enjoyer), śriyaḥ (the Lakṣmīs, that is, the gopīs) — kāntāḥ (all take shelter of Kṛṣṇa), drumāḥ (the kadamba and other trees) — kalpa-taravaḥ (indeed giving the fruit of love for Kṛṣṇa), bhūmiḥ cintāmaṇi-gaṇamayī (full of gems that fulfill all kinds of spiritual desires), toyam — amṛtam eva, kathā — gānam eva, gamanam api nāṭyam eva, vaṁśī — priya-sakhī (eva, indeed), param jyotiḥ (the moon, the sun and so on) api cid-ānandam (made of it), tat api āsvādyam (that is, everything of theirs is free of material nature, transcendental, and meant for the enjoyment of Kṛṣṇa alone).

See the Anubhāṣya on the word "Vṛndāvana," Madhya, Chapter 8, verse 137.

A description of the opulence of Vṛndāvana — (words of Bilvamaṅgala quoted *in the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, 1st Laharī)*

চিন্তামণিশ্চরণভূষণমঙ্গনানাং
শৃঙ্গারপুষ্পতরবস্তরবঃ সুরাণাম্ ৷
বৃন্দাবনে ব্রজধনং ননু কামধেনু- বৃন্দানি চেতি সুখসিন্ধুরহো বিভূতিঃ ॥ ২২৮ ॥

cintāmaṇiś caraṇa-bhūṣaṇam aṅganānāṁ
cintāmaṇi the foot ornament of the maidens
śṛṅgāra-puṣpa-taravas taravaḥ surāṇām
trees with flowers for adornment the trees of the gods
vṛndāvane vraja-dhanaṁ nanu kāma-dhenu-in Vṛndāvana the wealth of Vraja indeed of wish-fulfilling cows
vṛndāni ceti sukha-sindhur aho vibhūtiḥ herds and thus an ocean of happiness ah! the splendour

228 "In Vṛndāvana cintāmaṇi is the ornament of the maidens' feet; the trees of the gods supply the flowers for their adornment; and the wealth of Vraja is herds of wish-fulfilling cows. Ah, this splendour is an ocean of happiness!" (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.173)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The ankle ornaments of the beautiful women of Vraja in Śrī Vṛndāvana are cintāmaṇi; all the flowering trees that serve the pastimes are wish-fulfilling trees (sura-taru), and the wish-fulfilling cows (kāmadhenu) are the supreme wealth of Vraja. In all this the opulence of Śrī Vṛndāvana manifests as supreme bliss.

Anubhāṣya.

vṛndāvane aṅganānām (of the gopīs) caraṇa-bhūṣaṇam cintāmaṇiḥ (eva, indeed), śṛṅgāra-puṣpa-taravaḥ (flowering trees giving flowers for dress and adornment for the sake of śṛṅgāra) — surāṇām taravaḥ (indeed wish-fulfilling trees), kāmadhenu-vṛndāni (eva) — vraja-dhanam (the wealth of the residents of Gokula); aho (of Vṛndāvana) vibhūtiḥ (an incomparable, great opulence — and yet) sukha-sindhuḥ (nothing but an ocean of the nectar of bliss).

Śrīvāsa's supreme bliss —

শুনি’ প্রেমাবেশে নৃত্য করে শ্রীনিবাস । কক্ষতালি বাজায়, করে অট্ট-অট্ট হাস ॥ ২২৯ ॥

śuni’ premāveśe nṛtya kare śrīnivāsa hearing in the rapture of love dance does Śrīnivāsa kakṣa-tāli bājāya, kare aṭṭa-aṭṭa hāsa
under the arm clapping he sounds he makes loud loud laughter

229 Hearing this, Śrīvāsa danced in the rapture of love, clapping his hands under his arms and laughing loudly.

*Hearing of Śrī Rādhā's rasa, the Lord too rejoices —*

রাধার শুদ্ধরস প্রভু আবেশে শুনিল । সেই রসাবেশে প্রভু নৃত্য আরম্ভিল ॥ ২৩০ ॥

rādhāra śuddha-rasa prabhu āveśe śunila Rādhā’s pure rasa the Lord in rapture heard sei rasāveśe prabhu nṛtya ārambhila
in that rapture of rasa the Lord dance began

230 In rapture the Lord heard of Rādhā’s pure rasa, and, overwhelmed by that rasa, He began to dance.

The Lord dances, Svarūpa sings —

রসাবেশে প্রভুর নৃত্য, স্বরূপের গান । ‘বল’ ‘বল’ বলি’ প্রভু পাতে নিজ-কাণ ॥ ২৩১ ॥

rasāveśe prabhura nṛtya, svarūpera gāna
in the rapture of rasa the Lord’s dance Svarūpa’s singing ‘bala’ ‘bala’ bali’ prabhu pāte nija-kāṇa go on go on saying the Lord lends His own ears

231 Absorbed in rasa, the Lord danced and Svarūpa sang. “Sing on, sing on!” the Lord kept saying, all ears.

*The flood of the Lord's prema inundates Purī-dhāma —*

ব্রজরস-গীত শুনি' প্রেম উথলিল । পুরুষোত্তম-গ্রাম প্রভু প্রেমে ভাসাইল ॥ ২৩২ ॥

vraja-rasa-gīta śuni' prema uthalila
songs of the rasa of Vraja hearing love surged up puruṣottama-grāma prabhu preme bhāsāila
the town of Puruṣottama the Lord with love flooded

232 As He heard the songs of Vraja's rasa, His love welled up, and the Lord flooded the town of Puruṣottama with it.

The Lord dances until midday —

লক্ষ্মী-দেবী-যথাকালে গেলা নিজ-ঘর । প্রভু নৃত্য করে, হৈল দ্বিতীয় প্রহর ॥ ২৩৩ ॥

lakṣmī-devī-yathā-kāle gelā nija-ghara Lakṣmī-devī in due time went to her own home
prabhu nṛtya kare, haila dvitīya prahara
the Lord dance does came the second watch

233 In due time Lakṣmī-devī went back to her own home. The Lord went on dancing, and the second watch of the day (prahara) had come.

*All four groups are tired from kīrtana —*

চারি সম্প্রদায় গান করি' বহু শ্রান্ত হৈল । মহাপ্রভুর প্রেমাবেশে দ্বিগুণ বাড়িল ॥ ২৩৪ ॥

cāri sampradāya gāna kari' bahu śrānta haila
the four groups singing having done very tired became mahāprabhura premāveśe dviguṇa bāḍila
Mahāprabhu's in the rapture of love twofold increased

234 The four groups grew very tired from singing, but Mahāprabhu's rapture of love doubled.

The Lord in Śrī Rādhā's loving absorption —

রাধা-প্রেমাবেশে প্রভু হৈলা সেই মূর্ত্তি । নিত্যানন্দ দূরে দেখি' করিলেন স্তুতি ॥ ২৩৫ ॥

rādhā-premāveśe prabhu hailā sei mūrti
in the rapture of Rādhā's love the Lord became that form
nityānanda dūre dekhi' karilena stuti
Nityānanda from afar seeing offered prayers

235 In the rapture of Rādhā's love the Lord assumed Her very form. Seeing this from afar, Nityānanda offered prayers.

*For fear of disrupting the rasa, Nitāi praises the Lord from afar —*

নিত্যানন্দ দেখিয়া প্রভুর ভাবাবেশ । নিকটে না আইসে, কিছু রহে দূরদেশ ॥ ২৩৬ ॥

nityānanda dekhiyā prabhura bhāvāveśa Nityānanda seeing the Lord's rapture of feeling nikaṭe nā āise, kichu rahe dūra-deśa
near not comes somewhat stays at a distance

236 Seeing the Lord's rapture, Nityānanda would not come near but kept somewhat at a distance.[5]

*Nitāi does not come near, and the Lord's absorption and the kīrtana do not stop —*

নিত্যানন্দ বিনা প্রভুকে ধরে কোন্ জন । প্রভুর আবেশ না যায়, না রহে কীর্ত্তন ॥ ২৩৭ ॥

nityānanda vinā prabhuke dhare kon jana Nityānanda except the Lord holds what person
prabhura āveśa nā yāya, nā rahe kīrtana
the Lord's rapture not goes not stops the kīrtana

237 Who but Nityānanda could hold the Lord? His rapture did not subside, and the kīrtana did not stop.

Anubhāṣya.

Rahe: stops, or ceases.

Svarūpa's stratagem brings the Lord to outward consciousness —

ভঙ্গি করি’ স্বরূপ সবার শ্রম জানাইল । ভক্তগণের শ্রম দেখি’ প্রভুর বাহ্য হৈল ॥ ২৩৮ ॥

bhaṅgi kari’ svarūpa sabāra śrama jānāila
a stratagem making Svarūpa of all the fatigue made known bhakta-gaṇera śrama dekhi’ prabhura bāhya haila of the devotees the fatigue seeing the Lord’s outer awareness came 238 By a skilful hint Svarūpa made the Lord aware of everyone’s fatigue, and seeing how tired the devotees were, the Lord returned to outer awareness.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Seeing that the Lord, absorbed in Rādhā's love, had manifested the form of Rādhikā, Prabhu Nityānanda kept at a distance, for this did not befit his position (adhikāra-virodha). And Svarūpa Gosvāmī, by a stratagem, broke the Lord's loving absorption.

Going to the garden and resting, all take their midday bath —

সব ভক্ত লঞা প্রভু গেলা পুষ্পোদ্যানে । বিশ্রাম করিয়া কৈলা মাধ্যাহ্নিক-স্নানে ॥ ২৩৯ ॥

saba bhakta lañā prabhu gelā puṣpodyāne
all devotees taking the Lord went to the flower garden
viśrāma kariyā kailā mādhyāhnika-snāne
rest having taken He did the midday bath

239 Taking all the devotees with Him, the Lord went to the flower garden; there He rested and then took His midday bath.

*The Lord receives the prasāda of Lakṣmī and of Jagannātha —*

জগন্নাথের প্রসাদ আইল বহু উপহার । লক্ষ্মীর প্রসাদ আইল বিবিধ প্রকার ॥ ২৪০ ॥

jagannāthera prasāda āila bahu upahāra Jagannātha's prasāda came many offerings
lakṣmīra prasāda āila vividha prakāra
Lakṣmī's prasāda came various kinds

240 Many offerings of Jagannātha's prasāda arrived, and with them Lakṣmī's prasāda of every kind.

*Honoring prasāda with the devotees; after the evening bath, darśana of Jagannātha —*

সবা লঞা নানা-রঙ্গে করিলা ভোজন । সন্ধ্যা স্নান করি' কৈল জগন্নাথ দরশন ॥ ২৪১ ॥

sabā lañā nānā-raṅge karilā bhojana
all taking with many delights He did eating sandhyā snāna kari' kaila jagannātha daraśana
evening bath having taken He did Jagannātha's darśana

241 With everyone around Him, the Lord ate joyfully. After His evening bath He went for darśana of Jagannātha.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Some viṭilas (hypocrites who make a show of piety) have doubts about whether one may accept Lakṣmī-devī's prasāda.

Note this: Śrī Mahāprabhu Himself, together with the devotees, honored that prasāda. The meaning is this: Lakṣmī and all the other potencies (śaktis) are maidservants of Śrī Bhagavān. When devotees offer them delicious food, the potencies offer it to their Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, and only then partake of it. Therefore the prasāda of the servants and maidservants of Bhagavān should always be honored as the prasāda of Bhagavān Himself. One further point remains to be considered here: whether the potencies of Bhagavān accept food offered by atheistic Māyāvādīs is very doubtful. Therefore it befits Vaiṣṇavas to partake only of food that pure Vaiṣṇavas have offered to the servants and maidservants of Bhagavān.

*For eight days, darśana of Jagannātha, dancing and kīrtana, and then with the devotees water sports in Narendra and a meal in the garden —*

জগন্নাথ দেখি' করেন নর্ত্তন-কীর্ত্তন । নরেন্দ্রে জলক্রীড়া করে লঞা ভক্তগণ ॥ ২৪২ ॥

jagannātha dekhi' karena nartana-kīrtana Jagannātha seeing He does dancing and kīrtana
narendre jala-krīḍā kare lañā bhakta-gaṇa
in Narendra water sports He does taking the devotees

242 Seeing Jagannātha, He danced and sang kīrtana; then He played in the water of Narendra Lake with the devotees.

উদ্যানে আসিয়া কৈল বন-ভোজন । এইমত ক্রীড়া কৈল প্রভু অষ্ট দিন ॥ ২৪৩ ॥

udyāne āsiyā kaila vana-bhojana
to the garden coming He did a forest meal
ei-mata krīḍā kaila prabhu aṣṭa dina
in this way pastimes did the Lord eight days

243 Coming to the garden, He had a meal in the grove. In this way the Lord enjoyed His pastimes for eight days.

Jagannātha's return journey to Purī —

আর দিনে জগন্নাথের ভিতর-বিজয় । রথে চড়ি' জগন্নাথ চলে নিজালয় ॥ ২৪৪ ॥

āra dine jagannāthera bhitara-vijaya on the next day Jagannātha's return within rathe caḍi' jagannātha cale nijālaya
on the chariot mounting Jagannātha goes to His own abode

244 The next day was Jagannātha's return (bhitara-vijaya): mounting His chariot, He went back to His own abode.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Bhitara-vijaya: when Jagannātha, Balarāma and Subhadrā, these three Śrī-mūrtis, having come down in the Guṇḍicā temple from the jeweled altar (ratna-vedī), are in the jagamohana, They are raised onto the chariots all at one time. The time that They spend in the jagamohana after coming down from the ratna-vedī is called bhitara-vijaya.

Anubhāṣya.

Bhitara-vijaya: the procession during the return yātrā (punar-yātrā) to go back inside the Śrī Mandira: having come out of the Guṇḍicā temple (bahir-vijaya), [Jagannātha] again proceeds toward the temple.

Dancing and singing as before —

পূর্ব্ববৎ কৈল প্রভু লঞা ভক্তগণ । পরম আনন্দে করেন নর্ত্তন-কীর্ত্তন ॥ ২৪৫ ॥

pūrvavat kaila prabhu lañā bhakta-gaṇa
as before did the Lord with the devotees
parama ānande karena nartana-kīrtana
in supreme bliss He does dancing and kīrtana

245 As before, the Lord, together with the devotees, danced and sang kīrtana in supreme bliss.

*During the pahāṇḍi the silken rope partly breaks —*

জগন্নাথের পুনঃ পাণ্ডু-বিজয় হইল । এক-গুটি পট্টডোরী তাঁহা টুটি' গেল ॥ ২৪৬ ॥

jagannāthera punaḥ pāṇḍu-vijaya haila Jagannātha's again pāṇḍu-vijaya took place
eka-guṭi paṭṭa-ḍorī tāṁhā ṭuṭi' gela
one silk rope there breaking went

246 Once again Jagannātha's pāṇḍu-vijaya took place, and one of the silk ropes broke.

পাণ্ডু-বিজয়ের তুলী ফাটি-ফুটি যায় । জগন্নাথের ভরে তুলা উড়িয়া পলায় ॥ ২৪৭ ॥

pāṇḍu-vijayera tulī phāṭi-phuṭi yāya
of the pāṇḍu-vijaya the cotton pads tearing and bursting go jagannāthera bhare tulā uḍiyā palāya
of Jagannātha by the weight the cotton flying up scatters

247 The cotton pads used for the pāṇḍu-vijaya tore and burst, and under Jagannātha's weight the cotton flew up and scattered.

[The Lord] orders Satyarāja and his son to bring a silken rope for Jagannātha every year —

কুলীনগ্রামী রামানন্দ, সত্যরাজ খাঁন । তাঁরে আজ্ঞা দিল প্রভু করিয়া সম্মান ॥ ২৪৮ ॥

kulīna-grāmī rāmānanda, satyarāja khāṁna
of Kulīna-grāma Rāmānanda Satyarāja Khān
tāṁre ājñā dila prabhu kariyā sammāna
to them an order gave the Lord showing respect

248 Rāmānanda and Satyarāja Khān of Kulīna-grāma were there, and the Lord respectfully gave them an order:

এই পট্টডোরীর তুমি হও যজমান । প্রতিবৎসর আনিবে 'ডোরী' করিয়া নির্ম্মাণ ॥ ২৪৯ ॥

ei paṭṭa-ḍorīra tumi hao yajamāna
of these silk ropes you be the patrons
prati-vatsara ānibe 'ḍorī' kariyā nirmāṇa
every year bring ropes having made

249 “Be the patrons (yajamāna) of these silk ropes: every year have the ropes made and bring them here.”

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The silken ropes (paṭṭa-ḍorī) with which the Pāṇḍu-vijaya of the three Śrī-mūrtis is performed were brought, and still are brought, from many places. Silk cloth is made in many villages near Kulīnagrāma in the Bardhamān district, and so the Lord appointed Rāmānanda Vasu and Satyarāja Khān as yajamānas to bring the silken ropes.

So that the rope may be made stronger, [the Lord] gives the broken one as a sample —

এত বলি’ দিল তাঁরে ছিণ্ডা পট্টডোরী । ইহা দেখি’ করিবে ডোরী অতি দৃঢ় করি’ ॥ ২৫০ ॥

eta bali’ dila tāṁre chiṇḍā paṭṭa-ḍorī
so saying gave to them the torn silk rope
ihā dekhi’ karibe ḍorī ati dṛḍha kari’
this seeing make ropes very strong making

250 So saying, He gave them the torn silk rope. “Look at this,” He said, “and make the ropes very strong.

Anubhāṣya.

Chiṇḍā (in the language of Utkala): broken.

*Jagannātha's silken rope is the arcā of Bhagavān Viṣṇu Himself in the form of Ananta —*

এই পট্টডোরীতে হয় ‘শেষ’-অধিষ্ঠান । দশ-মূর্ত্তি হঞা যেঁহো সেবে ভগবান্ ॥ ২৫১ ॥

ei paṭṭa-ḍorīte haya ‘śeṣa’-adhiṣṭhāna
in this silk rope is Śeṣa’s abode
daśa-mūrti hañā yeṁho seve bhagavān
in ten forms becoming who serves Bhagavān

251 In this silk rope resides Śeṣa, who serves Bhagavān by assuming ten forms."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Śeṣa-adhiṣṭhāna: the abode of Anantadeva. Daśa-mūrti: see Ādi, Chapter 5, verses 123–124.

Thus ends the fourteenth chapter of the "Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya."

Receiving this service, both rejoice —

ভাগ্যবান্ সেই সত্যরাজ, রামানন্দ । সেবা আজ্ঞা পাঞা হৈল পরম আনন্দ ॥ ২৫২ ॥

bhāgyavān sei satyarāja, rāmānanda fortunate those Satyarāja Rāmānanda
sevā ājñā pāñā haila parama ānanda
of service the order receiving became supreme bliss

252 Fortunate indeed were Satyarāja and Rāmānanda: receiving the order to serve, they felt supreme bliss.

From then on every year [they] bring the silken rope to Guṇḍicā —

প্রতি বৎসর গুণ্ডিচাতে ভক্তগণ-সঙ্গে । পট্টডোরী লঞা আইসে অতি বড় রঙ্গে ॥ ২৫৩ ॥

prati vatsara guṇḍicāte bhakta-gaṇa-saṅge
every year to the Guṇḍicā with the devotees
paṭṭa-ḍorī lañā āise ati baḍa raṅge
silk ropes bringing they come with very great joy

253 Every year after that, they came with the devotees to the Guṇḍicā festival with great joy, bringing silk ropes.

Jagannātha ascends the jeweled altar; the Lord goes home with His associates

—

তবে জগন্নাথ যাই' বসিলা সিংহাসনে । মহাপ্রভু ঘরে আইলা লঞা ভক্তগণে ॥ ২৫৪ ॥

tabe jagannātha yāi' vasilā siṁhāsane
then Jagannātha going sat on His throne
mahāprabhu ghare āilā lañā bhakta-gaṇe
Mahāprabhu home came with the devotees

254 Then Jagannātha went and sat upon His throne, and Mahāprabhu came home with the devotees.

[The Lord] shows the devotees the Herā-pañcamī and manifests the pastimes of Vraja —

এইমত ভক্তগণে যাত্রা দেখাইল । ভক্তগণ লঞা বৃন্দাবন-কেলি কৈল ॥ ২৫৫ ॥

ei-mata bhakta-gaṇe yātrā dekhāila
in this way to the devotees the festival He showed bhakta-gaṇa lañā vṛndāvana-keli kaila
the devotees with the pastimes of Vṛndāvana He enacted

255 In this way the Lord showed the devotees the Herā-pañcamī festival and, together with them, enacted the pastimes of Vṛndāvana.

চৈতন্য-গোসাঞির লীলা — অনন্ত, অপার ।
'সহস্র-বদন' যার নাহি পায় পার ॥ ২৫৬ ॥

caitanya-gosāñira līlā — ananta, apāra
of Caitanya Gosāñi the pastimes endless boundless
'sahasra-vadana' yāra nāhi pāya pāra
the thousand-mouthed one of which not reaches the end

256 The pastimes of Caitanya Gosāñi are endless and boundless; even the thousand-mouthed Śeṣa cannot reach their end.

Anubhāṣya.

See Ādi, Chapter 10, verses 162–163, and Chapter 17, verse 331.[10]

Thus ends the fourteenth chapter of the “Anubhāṣya.”

শ্রীরূপ-রঘুনাথ-পদে যার আশ । চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত কহে কৃষ্ণদাস ॥ ২৫৭ ॥

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha-pade yāra āśa Śrī Rūpa’s, Raghunātha’s at the feet whose hope caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa
“Caitanya-caritāmṛta” narrates Kṛṣṇadāsa

257 Praying at the feet of Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Raghunātha, I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, narrate the Caitanya-caritāmṛta.[6]

Notes

1. The second line is the same as Ādi 12.2; translation as there. ↩
2. The first line is the same as Ādi 9.3 and Madhya 12.3; translation as there. ↩
3. The same verse as Madhya 8.110; translation as there. ↩
4. Bibboka — so spelt in the edition and the commentaries (বিব্বোক). ↩
5. The edition prints nikaṭe āise without nā (“not”), an evident misprint: the edition’s headings (“Fearing to disturb the rasa, Nitāi praises the Lord from afar”; “As Nitāi does not come near…”) and the Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya confirm the reading “does not come near”. ↩
6. The same colophon as Madhya 7.155; translation as there. ↩
7. The edition has rāsollāsa (the joy of the rāsa dance); the verse reads gopī-rasollāsam (the joy of the gopīs' rasa), which the Anubhāṣya explains as the highest degree of the gopīs' parakīya-rasa. ↩
8. The edition (scan checked) reads mati here, as in item 23; in the list of the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu this place belongs to mṛti (a deathlike swoon); apparently a misprint. ↩
9. The edition's gloss continues: calantī kampanavatī cillī bhrūḥ; cillī-pakṣiṇīva bhrūḥ klinnākṣī-vā (cillī = brow; “a brow like the cillī bird”); the last word is printed klinnākṣī-vā (ক্লিন্নাক্ষীবা, apparently “or moist-eyed”); its sense is unclear and it is not rendered in the translation. ↩

10. The edition gives no verse number (the note stands after the chapter colophon); by its content (“even the thousand-mouthed One cannot describe them”) it belongs to verse 256. ↩