“Śrī Caitanya-caritāmṛta”

Madhya-līlā

Chapter 23

The Discourse on Prema as the Prayojana

(English translation from the Bengali, following the Gauḍīya Maṭha edition and the Anubhāṣya, 2026)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya

Summary. Next the Lord described the characteristics of bhāva, the characteristics of prema and of its appearance, and the characteristic behaviour of those in whom bhāva has arisen. He explained how prema gradually becomes mahābhāva. Explaining the five kinds of rati, He explained the corresponding rasas, spoke of the position (sthiti) of the rasas, established the supremacy of śṛṅgāra-rasa over all the others, and described its two kinds, svakīya and parakīya. He explained Kṛṣṇa’s sixty-four qualities and Rādhikā’s twenty-five qualities, and described the nature of one qualified for kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasa and his eight characteristics (aṣṭāṅga-lakṣaṇa). The Lord taught Sanātana the confidential conclusions of the Bhāgavatam, the eternal pastimes of Goloka described in the Harivaṁśa, and the wrong and the true explanation of the keśa-avatāra (the “hair incarnation”). Having taught him all this, He placed His hand on Sanātana’s head and invested him with His power.

Obeisance to Gaura, great in generosity, the giver of the name and prema never given before —

চিরাদদত্তং নিজ গুপ্তবিত্তং স্বপ্রেম-নামামৃতমত্যুদারঃ ।
আপামরং যো বিততার গৌরঃ কৃষ্ণো জনেভ্যস্তমহং প্রপদ্যে ॥ ১ ॥

cirād adattaṁ nija gupta-vittaṁ
for long not given His own hidden treasure
sva-prema-nāmāmṛtam aty-udāraḥ
the nectar of His own love and name the supremely generous
ā-pāmaraṁ yo vitatāra gauraḥ down to the lowest who distributed Gaura
kṛṣṇo janebhyas tam ahaṁ prapadye
Kṛṣṇa to the people in Him I take refuge

1 I take refuge in Gaura-Kṛṣṇa, the supremely generous, who bestowed on all people, down to the lowliest, His own hidden treasure, not given for so long — the nectar of His love and His name.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
The nectar of His own prema and name is His hidden treasure, never before given to anyone. Gaura-Kṛṣṇa, supremely magnanimous by nature, distributed it to everyone, down to the very lowest. I surrender to Him.

Anubhāṣya.
aty-udāraḥ (great in generosity) yaḥ (Gaura — Kṛṣṇa) cirāt adattam (never before given) nija-gupta-vittaṁ (His own treasure, a deep secret) sva-prema-nāmāmṛtam ā-pāmaraṁ (without distinguishing the righteous from the sinful, the qualified from the unqualified) janebhyaḥ vitatāra (bestowed), tam (Gaura-Kṛṣṇa) ahaṁ prapadye (take as my shelter).

জয় জয় গৌরচন্দ্র জয় নিত্যানন্দ। জয়াদ্বৈতচন্দ্র জয় গৌরভক্তবৃন্দ ॥ ২ ॥

jaya jaya gauracandra jaya nityānanda glory glory to Gauracandra glory to Nityānanda jayādvaita-candra jaya gaura-bhakta-vṛnda glory to Advaitacandra glory of Gaura the devotees to the multitude

2 Glory, glory to Gauracandra! Glory to Nityānanda! Glory to Advaitacandra! Glory to all the devotees of Gaura![1]

The instructions to Śrī Sanātana — (3) the description of prayojana (love for Kṛṣṇa); the fruit of abhidheya, sādhana-bhakti, is the sādhya, prema-bhakti,

which is the prayojana —

এবে শুন ভক্তিফল — ‘প্রেম’-প্রয়োজন । যাহার শ্রবণে হয় ভক্তিরস-জ্ঞান ॥ ৩ ॥

ebe śuna bhakti-phala — ‘prema’-prayojana
now hear of bhakti the fruit prema the goal yāhāra śravaṇe haya bhakti-rasa-jñāna
of which by hearing there is knowledge of bhakti-rasa

3 “Now hear of the fruit of bhakti: prema, the ultimate goal (prayojana). By hearing of it one comes to know bhakti-rasa.[2]

Bhāva, or rati, is the liquid, sprouting state of prema; in its dense, ripe state it is prema itself —

কৃষ্ণে রতি গাঢ় হৈলে ‘প্রেম’-অভিধান । কৃষ্ণভক্তি-রসের সেই ‘স্থায়ীভাব’ নাম ॥ ৪ ॥

kṛṣṇe rati gāḍha haile ‘prema’-abhidhāna
for Kṛṣṇa rati deep when it becomes prema is the name
kṛṣṇa-bhakti-rasera sei ‘sthāyī-bhāva’ nāma
of the rasa of devotion to Kṛṣṇa that sthāyī-bhāva is the name

4 When rati for Kṛṣṇa deepens, it is called prema; and that prema is the abiding emotion (sthāyī-bhāva) of the rasa of devotion to Kṛṣṇa.

The definition of bhāva; its essential and accompanying characteristics — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, third laharī, first verse) —

শুদ্ধসত্ত্ববিশেষাত্মা প্রেম-সূর্য্যাংশু-সাম্যভাক্ । রুচিভিশ্চিত্তমাসৃণ্যকৃদসৌ ভাব উচ্যতে ॥ ৫ ॥

śuddha-sattva-viśeṣātmā
śuddha-sattva special in its nature
prema-sūryāṁśu-sāmya-bhāk
of the sun of prema to a ray similar rucibhiś citta-māsṛṇya-
by tastes of the heart softness
kṛd asau bhāva ucyate producing this bhāva is called

5 "Bhāva is in essence a special śuddha-sattva, pure spiritual existence; it is like a ray of the sun of prema, and by its tastes (ruci) it softens the heart." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.3.1)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
That principle (tattva) which by nature is viśuddha-sattva, like a ray of the sun of prema, and which softens the heart with taste (ruci), is called bhāva.

Anubhāṣya.
śuddha-sattva-viśeṣātmā (the bhāva whose ātmā — that is, whose eternally perfect nature, residing in the Lord's eternal beloved ones — is that very special śuddha-sattva: a function [vṛtti] of Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa's svarūpa-śakti called saṁvit, which illumines everything) prema-sūryāṁśu-sāmya-bhāk (resembling a ray of the sun of prema — the first glimmer of prema) rucibhiḥ (by desires: the desire to attain [the Lord], the desire oneself to serve Him favourably, and the desire for intimate affection with Him) citta-māsṛṇya-kṛt (which makes the heart soft and moist) asau bhāvaḥ (the sprout of prema) ucyate.

The description of the characteristics of prema —

এই দুই, — ভাবের 'স্বরূপ', 'তটস্থ' লক্ষণ । প্রেমের লক্ষণ এবে শুন, সনাতন ॥ ৬ ॥

ei dui, — bhāvera 'svarūpa', 'taṭastha' lakṣaṇa
these two of bhāva essential marginal characteristics premera lakṣaṇa ebe śuna, sanātana
of prema the characteristics now hear Sanātana

6 These, then, are the two marks of bhāva: its essential (svarūpa) and its attendant (taṭastha) characteristic. Now, Sanātana, hear the marks of prema.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

That bhāva is by nature śuddha-sattva is its essential characteristic (svarūpa-lakṣaṇa). That it softens the heart with taste is its accompanying characteristic (taṭastha-lakṣaṇa).

Anubhāṣya.

These two verses describe: (1) śuddha-sattva-viśeṣātmā and so on — the essential characteristic of bhāva; (2) its melting the heart with taste — the accompanying characteristic of bhāva.

The two kinds of bhāva: (1) bhāva born of absorption in sādhana; (2) bhāva born of the grace of Kṛṣṇa and His devotee. "Bhāva is born in two ways: through absorption in sādhana, and — for the most fortunate — through the grace of Kṛṣṇa and His devotee."[20] Some, again, take these two bhāvas to mean kevalā and miśrā; but that meaning does not fit here; the meaning given before is the fitting one.

The definition of prema — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, fourth laharī, first verse) —

সম্যঙ্মসৃণিতস্বান্তো মমত্বাতিশয়াঙ্কিতঃ । ভাবঃ স এব সান্দ্রাত্মা বুধৈঃ প্রেমা নিগদ্যতে ॥ ৭ ॥

samyaṅ-masṛṇita-svānto
completely having softened the heart mamatvātiśayāṅkitaḥ
by the feeling 'He is mine' intense marked bhāvaḥ sa eva sāndrātmā
bhāva that itself dense in nature
budhaiḥ premā nigadyate
by the wise prema is called

7 "When bhāva has completely softened the heart, is marked by an intense feeling that 'He is mine' (mamatva), and has become dense in its nature, the wise call it prema." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.1)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

When that bhāva softens the heart completely, is marked by an intense sense of "He is mine" (mamatā), and itself becomes dense in nature, the wise call it prema.

Anubhāṣya.

samyaṅ-masṛṇita-svāntaḥ (that by which the heart is completely softened, moistened) mamatvātiśayāṅkitaḥ (marked by an intense sense of "He is mine") — having these two accompanying characteristics — yaḥ sāndrātmā (dense in its very nature) (having this essential characteristic) bhāvaḥ, sa eva budhaiḥ 'premā' nigadyate (is called).

The definition of prema according to the Pañcarātra — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, fourth laharī, second verse) (the words of the Nārada-pañcarātra) —

অনন্যমমতা বিষ্ণৌ মমতা প্রেমসঙ্গতা ।
ভক্তিরিত্যুচ্যতে ভীষ্মপ্রহ্লাদোদ্ধবনারদৈঃ ॥ ৮ ॥

ananya-mamatā viṣṇau
the exclusive feeling 'He is mine' towards Viṣṇu

mamatā prema-saṅgatā
the feeling 'He is mine' with prema joined bhaktir ity ucyate bhīṣmabhakti thus is called by Bhīṣma

prahlādoddhava-nāradaiḥ
by Prahlāda, Uddhava and Nārada

8 "The exclusive feeling 'He is mine' (ananya-mamatā) towards Viṣṇu alone, joined with prema — this is what Bhīṣma, Prahlāda, Uddhava and Nārada call bhakti." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.2)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

"Exclusive mamatā towards Viṣṇu" means that Viṣṇu alone is the object of the sense "He is mine," and no one else. Bhīṣma, Prahlāda, Uddhava, Nārada and other Vaiṣṇavas call such mamatā, joined with prema, (prema-)bhakti.

Anubhāṣya.

viṣṇau (towards Bhagavān) prema-saṅgatā (full of prema) ananya-mamatā (exclusive [aikāntikī], full of relationship with Him) mamatā (love [prīti]) — iti bhīṣma-prahlādoddhava-nāradaiḥ (by the devotees) (it) bhaktiḥ (bhāva) ucyate.

The path to prema-bhakti by stages: first, from śraddhā to āsakti, the abhidheya, sādhana-bhakti, and the dawning of rati, or bhāva-bhakti; when rati becomes dense, the prayojana, prema-bhakti —

কোন ভাগ্যে কোন জীবের ‘শ্রদ্ধা’ যদি হয় । তবে সেই জীব ‘সাধুসঙ্গ’ করয় ॥ ৯ ॥

kona bhāgye kona jīvera ‘śraddhā’ yadi haya
by some good fortune of some jīva faith if arises
tabe sei jīva ‘sādhu-saṅga’ karaya
then that jīva the company of sādhus keeps

9 If by some good fortune faith (śraddhā) awakens in a jīva, he then seeks the company of sādhus.

সাধুসঙ্গ হৈতে হয় ‘শ্রবণ-কীর্ত্তন’ । সাধনভক্ত্যে হয় ‘সর্ব্বানর্থনিবর্ত্তন’ ॥ ১০ ॥

sādhu-saṅga haite haya ‘śravaṇa-kīrtana’
the company of sādhus from arise hearing and chanting sādhana-bhaktye haya ‘sarvānartha-nivartana’
through sādhana-bhakti there is the removal of all anarthas

10 From the company of sādhus come hearing and chanting (śravaṇa-kīrtana), and by sādhana-bhakti all anarthas are removed.

অনর্থনিবৃত্তি হৈলে ভক্ত্যে ‘নিষ্ঠা’ হয় । নিষ্ঠা হৈতে শ্রবণাদ্যে ‘রুচি’ উপজয় ॥ ১১ ॥

anartha-nivṛtti haile bhaktye ‘niṣṭhā’ haya
of anarthas removal when there is in bhakti steadiness arises
niṣṭhā haite śravaṇādye ‘ruci’ upajaya
steadiness from for hearing and the rest taste is born

11 When the anarthas have been removed, steadiness (niṣṭhā) in bhakti arises. From steadiness, taste (ruci) for hearing and the other practices is born.

রুচি হৈতে ভক্ত্যে হয় ‘আসক্তি’ প্রচুর ।
আসক্তি হৈতে চিত্তে জন্মে কৃষ্ণে প্রীত্যঙ্কুর ॥ ১২ ॥

ruci haite bhaktye haya ‘āsakti’ pracura taste from for bhakti there is attachment deep āsakti haite citte janme kṛṣṇe prīty-aṅkura attachment from in the heart is born for Kṛṣṇa the sprout of love

12 From taste comes deep attachment (āsakti) to bhakti, and from attachment the sprout of love for Kṛṣṇa is born in the heart.

সেই ‘রতি’ গাঢ় হৈলে ধরে ‘প্রেম’-নাম । সেই প্রেমা — ‘প্রয়োজন’ সর্ব্বানন্দ ধাম ॥ ১৩ ॥

sei ‘rati’ gāḍha haile dhare ‘prema’-nāma
that rati deep when it becomes takes the name prema
sei premā — ‘prayojana’ sarvānanda dhāma
that prema the goal of all bliss the abode

13 When that rati deepens, it takes the name prema. That prema is the ultimate goal (prayojana), the abode of all bliss.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

If by some sukṛti that turns one towards bhakti a jīva comes to have faith (śraddhā) in exclusive devotion (ananya-bhakti), that jīva seeks the company of sādhus, pure devotees. From that company of sādhus arise hearing and chanting (śravaṇa-kīrtana). To the extent that hearing and chanting go on, to that extent sādhana-bhakti removes all anarthas. From the time faith arises, hearing and chanting remove the gross anarthas, and then faith itself rises as niṣṭhā, steadiness in exclusive devotion. Niṣṭhā gradually becomes ruci. Then from that taste āsakti is born. When āsakti becomes pure, bhāva, or rati, appears — the sprout of love for Kṛṣṇa (kṛṣṇa-prīti). When that rati deepens, it receives the name prema. That prema is the prayojana-tattva, the abode of all bliss.

Anubhāṣya.

Sādhana-bhakti is this: first the sādhaka’s faith; its fruit, the company of sādhus, or taking shelter at the feet of the guru; in that company, bhajana-kriyā (the practice of worship); its fruit, freedom from anarthas (anartha-nivṛtti); its fruit, niṣṭhā, or undistracted constancy; its fruit, ruci, or desire preceded by understanding; its fruit, āsakti, or spontaneous (svārasikī) taste. The sādhya, rati, that arises from sādhana-bhakti as the fruit of āsakti is called bhāva.

Bhāva-bhakti is by nature a special śuddha-sattva, resembling a ray of the sun of prema; through taste it moistens the heart. The first, sprouting state of prema is what is called bhāva-bhakti. Before it becomes prema it is called bhāva; when it ripens and reaches its highest fullness, it is given the name prema-bhakti. Therefore, with the words prema-sūryāṁśu-sāmya-bhāk (resembling a ray of the sun of prema), the author pointed out the difference in degree between bhāva-bhakti and prema-bhakti. The devotee in whom rati has arisen gradually rises higher and attains prema-bhakti. When rati becomes dense it is called prema. This prema is the fruit of bhakti, the prayojana; it is full of supreme bliss.

আদৌ শ্রদ্ধা ততঃ সাধুসঙ্গোঽথ ভজনক্রিয়া । ততোঽনর্থনিবৃত্তিঃ স্যাৎ ততো নিষ্ঠা রুচিস্ততঃ ॥ ১৪ ॥

ādau śraddhā tataḥ sādhu-
first faith then with sādhus
saṅgo ʻtha bhajana-kriyā
association then of worship the practice
tato ʻnartha-nivṛttiḥ syāt
then the removal of anarthas comes tato niṣṭhā rucis tataḥ
then steadiness taste then

14 "First comes faith, then the company of sādhus, and then the practice of worship (bhajana-kriyā). From it comes the removal of anarthas, then steadiness (niṣṭhā), and after that taste (ruci).[3]

Evidence from the scriptures — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, fourth laharī, the "Prema-bhakti-laharī," verses 15–16) —

অথাসক্তিস্ততো ভাবস্ততঃ প্রেমাভ্যুদঞ্চতি । সাধকানাময়ং প্রেম্ণঃ প্রাদুর্ভাবে ভবেৎ ক্রমঃ ॥ ১৫ ॥

athāsaktis tato bhāvas
then attachment then bhāva
tataḥ premābhyudañcati
then prema arises
sādhakānām ayaṁ premṇaḥ
of practitioners this of prema
prādurbhāve bhavet kramaḥ
in the appearance is the order

15 Then come attachment (āsakti) and bhāva, and then prema arises. This is the order in which prema appears in those who practise sādhana." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.15–16)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
First faith; from it, the company of sādhus; from that, bhajana-kriyā (the practice of worship); from that, freedom from anarthas; then niṣṭhā; from that, ruci and āsakti. Up to this point it is sādhana-bhakti. From it bhāva gradually arises, and at last prema. Know that this is how prema arises in sādhakas.

Anubhāṣya.
ādau śraddhā (loosening one's attachment to what is unreal and changing — firm faith in Viṣṇu, whose form is transcendental, full of eternity, knowledge and bliss), tataḥ (once faith is gained) sādhu-saṅgaḥ (taking shelter at the feet of the guru and the Vaiṣṇavas, seeing them as not of this world, and then learning how to worship, beginning with initiation into Kṛṣṇa's mantra), atha (then, following them on the path of śruti, near the guru's feet) bhajana-kriyā (the practice of worship of Kṛṣṇa), tataḥ (from the practice of worship) anartha-nivṛttiḥ (when one sets out towards the highest goal, ceasing to enjoy anything else) syāt (comes about); tataḥ (after giving up association with sense objects) niṣṭhā (undistracted constancy — by the Lord's words, "Śama is the fixing of the intelligence on Me"[21]), tataḥ ruciḥ (rāga), atha (after that) āsaktiḥ (spontaneous taste), tataḥ bhāvaḥ (first, the sprout of prema), tataḥ premā (the ultimate goal) abhyudañcati (arises) — sādhakānām premṇaḥ prādurbhāve (in the arising) ayam kramaḥ bhavet.

Evidence from the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 3, Chapter 25, verse 25) —

সতাং প্রসঙ্গান্মম বীর্য্যসংবিদো
ভবন্তি হৃৎকর্ণরসায়নাঃ কথাঃ ।
তজ্জোষণাদাশ্বপবর্গবর্ত্মনি শ্রদ্ধারতির্ভক্তিরনুক্রমিষ্যতি ॥ ১৬ ॥

satāṁ prasaṅgān mama vīrya-saṁvido
of the saints in the company My prowess revealing
bhavanti hṛt-karṇa-rasāyanāḥ kathāḥ become to heart and ear delightful talks taj-joṣaṇād āśv apavarga-vartmani
by relishing them quickly on the path of liberation śraddhā ratir bhaktir anukramiṣyati faith, attraction, love will follow in turn

16 (Lord Kapila to His mother Devahūti:) "In the company of the saints there are talks revealing My power, delightful to the heart and to the ear. By relishing them one quickly comes to faith in Me, the path of liberation, and after it to attraction (rati) and love (prema-bhakti)." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 3.25.25)[4]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 1.60.

The previous chapter described the characteristics of (1) sādhana-bhakti; now, the description of the characteristics of (2) bhāva-bhakti —

যাঁহার হৃদয়ে এই ভাবাঙ্কুর হয় । তাঁহাতে এতেক চিহ্ন সর্ব্বশাস্ত্রে কয় ॥ ১৭ ॥

yāṁhāra hṛdaye ei bhāvāṅkura haya
in whose heart this sprout of bhāva appears tāṁhāte eteka cihna sarva-śāstre kaya
in him these signs all the scriptures declare

17 All the scriptures describe such signs in one in whose heart this sprout of bhāva has appeared.

Anubhāṣya.

When bhāva has sprouted, that is, when rati has arisen, nine characteristics are seen in the sādhaka.

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, the "Bhāva-" or "Rati-laharī," verses 25–26) —

ক্ষান্তিরব্যর্থকালত্বং বিরক্তির্মানশূন্যতা ৷ আশাবন্ধঃ সমুৎকণ্ঠা নামগানে সদা রুচিঃ ॥ ১৮ ॥

আসক্তিস্তদ্গুণাখ্যানে প্রীতিস্তদ্বসতিস্থলে ৷
ইত্যাদয়োঽনুভাবাঃ স্যুর্জ্জাতভাবাঙ্কুরে জনে ॥ ১৯ ॥

kṣāntir avyartha-kālatvaṁ
forbearance time not wasted

viraktir māna-śūnyatā
detachment freedom from pride

āśā-bandhaḥ samutkaṇṭhā
the bond of hope eager longing

nāma-gāne sadā ruciḥ
for singing the name always taste

āsaktis tad-guṇākhyāne attachment to describing His qualities

prītis tad-vasati-sthale
love for the places where He dwelt

ity-ādayo 'nubhāvāḥ syur
these and others the anubhāvas are jāta-bhāvāṅkure jane

in whom the sprout of bhāva has arisen in a person

18–19 "Forbearance, never wasting time, detachment, freedom from pride, firm hope (āśā-bandha), eager longing (samutkaṇṭhā), a constant taste for singing the holy name, attachment to describing His qualities and love for the places where He dwelt — these and other anubhāvas are seen in a person in whom the sprout of bhāva has arisen." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.3.25–26)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Kṣānti means forbearance (kṣamā); avyartha-kālatva, such effort that no time passes in vain; virakti, detachment from everything not related to Kṛṣṇa; māna-śūnyatā, freedom from pride even when there is reason for pride; āśā-bandha (firm hope); samutkaṇṭhā (eager longing); a constant taste for singing Kṛṣṇa's name; attachment to describing His qualities; love for the places where He lived. Such anubhāvas are seen in a person's nature when the sprout of bhāva has been born in him.

Anubhāṣya.

jāta-bhāvāṅkure jane (in a devotee in whom taste has arisen) kṣāntiḥ (remaining unagitated even when there is cause for agitation), avyartha-kālatvam (spending one's time only in what is related to Kṛṣṇa), viraktiḥ (having no desire for anything other than Kṛṣṇa), māna-śūnyatā (freedom from pride even when one excels), āśā-bandhaḥ (firm hope of attaining Bhagavān), samutkaṇṭhā (intense greed to attain one's cherished goal), nāma-gāne sadā ruciḥ, tad-guṇākhyāne āsaktiḥ, tad-vasati-sthale prītiḥ — ity-ādayaḥ 'anubhāvāḥ' syuḥ (are present).

Explanation of the verse — (1) kṣānti, or freedom from agitation —

এই নব প্রীত্যঙ্কুর যাঁর চিত্তে হয় । প্রাকৃত-ক্ষোভে তাঁর ক্ষোভ নাহি হয় ॥ ২০ ॥

ei nava prīty-aṅkura yāṁra citte haya
this new sprout of love in whose heart appears prākṛta-kṣobhe tāṁra kṣobha nāhi haya
by worldly agitation his agitation not arises

20 One in whose heart this new sprout of love has appeared is not disturbed by anything worldly.

Anubhāṣya.

When the nine sprouts of prīti — the signs of bhāva — described above have arisen in someone's heart, then even when difficulties come to him in this material realm, he takes no account of them.

(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 1, Chapter 19, verse 15) —

তং মোপযাতং প্রতিযন্তু বিপ্রা
গঙ্গা চ দেবী ধৃতচিত্তমীশে ৷
দ্বিজোপসৃষ্টঃ কুহকস্তক্ষকো বা দশত্বলং গায়ত বিষ্ণুগাথাঃ ॥ ২১ ॥

taṁ mopayātaṁ pratiyantu viprā
that me surrendered may know O brāhmaṇas
gaṅgā ca devī dhṛta-cittam īśe Gaṅgā and the goddess whose heart is fixed on the Lord dvijopasṛṣṭaḥ kuhakas takṣako vā sent by a brāhmaṇa a magic creature Takṣaka or daśatv alaṁ gāyata viṣṇu-gāthāḥ
let it bite as it will sing the narrations of Viṣṇu

21 "O brāhmaṇas, and you, goddess Gaṅgā, know me as one who has surrendered, whose heart is fixed on the Lord. Let a magic creature sent by the brāhmaṇa, or Takṣaka himself, bite me as it will — you go on singing the narrations of Viṣṇu." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 1.19.15)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"You brāhmaṇas, and Gaṅgā-devī, know that I have surrendered and that my heart is fixed on (given to) Kṛṣṇa. Now let the magical creature sent by the brāhmaṇa, or Takṣaka himself, bite me as he likes; and you, go on singing about Kṛṣṇa (kṛṣṇa-kathā)."

Anubhāṣya.
Hearing of the curse of Śṛṅgī, son of the sage Śamīka, Mahārāja Parīkṣit took the vow of prāyopaveśana — fasting until his departure from this world — on the bank of the Gaṅgā, and became absorbed in thought of Kṛṣṇa. Then many sages came to him. He honoured them as was proper, described the brāhmaṇa's curse as an auspicious boon that gave him the opportunity to hear hari-kathā, and asked the sages to chant hari-kathā without cease —

he viprāḥ, (you) devī (the goddess) gaṅgā ca īśe dhṛta-cittam (who has given his heart to the Lord) tam (such) mā (me) upayātam (surrendered) pratiyantu

(know); dvijopasṛṣṭaḥ (sent by the brāhmaṇa) kuhakaḥ takṣakaḥ vā alaṁ daśatu, viṣṇu-gāthāḥ (the accounts of Viṣṇu) gāyata (you chant).

(2) avyartha-kālatva and (3) detachment from sense gratification —

কৃষ্ণ-সম্বন্ধ বিনা কাল ব্যর্থ নাহি যায় । ভুক্তি, সিদ্ধি, ইন্দ্রিয়ার্থ তাঁরে নাহি ভায় ॥ ২২ ॥

kṛṣṇa-sambandha vinā kāla vyartha nāhi yāya connection with Kṛṣṇa without time wasted not goes bhukti, siddhi, indriyārtha tāṁre nāhi bhāya worldly enjoyment mystic powers sense objects to him not appeal

22 He lets no moment pass in vain, without connection with Kṛṣṇa. Worldly enjoyment, mystic powers and the objects of the senses do not appeal to him.

Anubhāṣya.
The enjoyments of this world and the next, perfections such as aṇimā, sense gratification and the like do not befit a devotee in whom rati has arisen, and he has no need of any of them.

Even while serving Kṛṣṇa with all the senses, the devotee filled with bhāva feels no satiety — a spiritual dissatisfaction full of wonder — (Hari-bhakti-sudhodaya, Chapter 12, verse 38) —

বাগ্‌ভিঃ স্তুবন্তো মনসা স্মরন্ত-স্তন্বা নমন্তোঽপ্যনিশং ন তৃপ্তাঃ ।
ভক্তাঃ স্রবন্নেত্রজলাঃ সমগ্রমায়ূ- র্হরেরেব সমর্পয়ন্তি ॥ ২৩ ॥

vāgbhiḥ stuvanto manasā smarantas
with words praising with the mind remembering tanvā namanto 'py aniśaṁ na tṛptāḥ
with the body bowing down even constantly not satisfied bhaktāḥ sravan-netra-jalāḥ samagram
the devotees with tears flowing from their eyes their whole āyūr harer eva samarpayanti
life to Hari alone offer

23 "Constantly praising Him with words, remembering Him with the mind and bowing down to Him with the body, the devotees are still not satisfied. With tears flowing from their eyes, they offer their whole life to Hari alone." (Hari-bhakti-sudhodaya, 12.38)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Tears stream from the devotees' eyes as they praise the Lord with words, remember Him with the mind and bow to Him with the body — and still they cannot be satisfied. By such acts they offer their whole life to Śrī Hari (that is, spend it for His sake).

Anubhāṣya.
bhaktāḥ aniśam (at all times) vāgbhiḥ stuvantaḥ, manasā smarantaḥ, tanvā namantaḥ api, na tṛptāḥ (are); sravan-netra-jalāḥ (with tears streaming from their eyes) samagram āyuḥ hareḥ (to Hari) eva samarpayanti.

The example of Bharata, detached from enjoying anything but Kṛṣṇa —
(Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 5, Chapter 14, verse 43) —

যো দুস্ত্যজান্ দারসুতান্ সুহৃদ্রাজ্যং হৃদিস্পৃশঃ । জহৌ যুবৈব মলবদুত্তমঃশ্লোকলালসঃ ॥ ২৪ ॥

yo dustyajān dāra-sutān
who hard to give up wife and sons
suhṛd-rājyaṁ hṛdi-spṛśaḥ
friends and kingdom dear to the heart
jahau yuvaiva mala-vad
gave up while young even like filth uttamaḥ-śloka-lālasaḥ
for Uttamaśloka longing

24 "Longing for Uttamaśloka, Bharata, while still young, cast off like so much filth his wife and sons, his friends and kingdom — all so dear to his heart and so hard to leave." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 5.14.43)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Mahārāja Bharata longed to sing of Kṛṣṇa, Uttamaśloka, and so, while still young, he gave up like stool his heart-captivating wife, his sons, friends, kingdom and all else. This is the sign of detachment in a person in whom bhāva has arisen.

Anubhāṣya.
Before Parīkṣit, Śrīla Śukadeva glorifies the greatness of the qualities of the mahā-bhāgavata Bharata — his practice of pure worship of Hari —

yaḥ (Bharata) uttamaśloka-lālasaḥ (he whose longing — ardent craving — was for Uttamaśloka; yearning for Kṛṣṇa) hṛdi-spṛśaḥ (dear to the heart) dustyajān (hard to give up) suhṛd-rājyam (friends and kingdom — a dvandva compound) dāra-sutān yuvā eva (mala-vat) jahau (gave up; construed with the previous verse: no other king can follow in the footsteps of this son of Ṛṣabha).

(4) māna-śūnyatā and (5) āśā-bandha —

'সর্ব্বোত্তম' আপনাকে 'হীন' করি' মানে ।
'কৃষ্ণ কৃপা করিবেন' — দৃঢ় করি' জানে ॥ ২৫ ॥

'sarvottama' āpanāke 'hīna' kari' māne
the best of all himself low making considers
'kṛṣṇa kṛpā karibena' — dṛḍha kari' jāne
Kṛṣṇa mercy will show firmly he knows

25 Though he is the best of all, he considers himself lowly, and he knows for certain that Kṛṣṇa will show him mercy.

An example of freedom from pride — (the words of the Padma Purāṇa) —

হরৌ রতিং বহন্নেষ নরেন্দ্রাণাং শিখামণিঃ ৷ ভিক্ষামটন্নরিপুরে শ্বপাকমপি বন্দতে ॥ ২৬ ॥

harau ratiṁ vahann eṣa
for Hari rati bearing this one narendrāṇāṁ śikhā-maṇiḥ
of kings the crest jewel bhikṣām aṭann ari-pure alms wandering for in the city of his enemies śva-pākam api vandate
a dog-eater even honours

26 "This crest jewel of kings, bearing rati for Hari, wanders begging alms in the city of his enemies and honours even a dog-eater." (Padma Purāṇa)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Filled with rati for Hari, this crest jewel of kings, begging alms in the city of his enemies, offers respect even to a caṇḍāla.

Anubhāṣya.
narendrāṇām śikhā-maṇiḥ (the crest jewel of the race of kings) eṣaḥ harau ratiṁ vahan (nourishing) ari-pure (in the abode of his enemies) bhikṣām aṭan (wandering for it) śva-pākam (the very lowest) api vandate.

The words of one filled with āśā-bandha — (the words of Śrī Prabhupāda quoted by Śrī Rūpa Gosvāmī) —

ন প্রেমা শ্রবণাদিভক্তিরপি বা যোগোঽথবা বৈষ্ণবো
জ্ঞানং বা শুভকর্ম্ম বা কিয়দহো সজ্জাতিরপ্যস্তি বা ৷
হীনার্থাধিকসাধকে ত্বয়ি তথাপ্যচ্ছেদ্যমূলা সতী
হে গোপীজনবল্লভ ব্যথয়তে হা হা মদাশৈব মাম্ ॥ ২৭ ॥

na premā śravaṇādi-bhaktir api vā yogo ‘tha vā vaiṣṇavo not prema bhakti of hearing and the rest even or yoga or else Vaiṣṇava jñānaṁ vā śubha-karma vā kiyad aho saj-jātir apy asti vā knowledge or pious work or any alas good birth even is or hīnārthādhika-sādhake tvayi tathāpy acchedya-mūlā satī to the lowly granting more than their due in You yet with roots unbreakable being
he gopī-jana-vallabha vyathayate hā hā mad-āśaiva mām
O Beloved of the gopīs torments alas alas my hope indeed me

27 “I have no prema, no bhakti of hearing and the rest, no Vaiṣṇava yoga, no knowledge, no pious deeds — alas, not even a good birth. Yet, O Beloved of the gopīs, my hope in You, who grant the lowly more than they deserve, has roots that cannot be cut, and it torments me — alas, alas!” (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.3.35)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

“I have no prema, no hearing and so on, no bhakti, no Vaiṣṇava yoga, no knowledge, no pious deeds, no good birth — nothing at all. O Gopījana-vallabha, You fulfil the aims of those who have nothing (akiñcana). And in my heart there is a pure hope turned towards You, whose roots cannot be severed — and it torments me.”

Anubhāṣya.

(mama) premā vā śravaṇādi-bhaktiḥ api athavā vaiṣṇavaḥ (full of meditation on Viṣṇu) yogaḥ (pure bhakti-yoga), jñānam (being fixed in Brahman) vā, śubha-karma (daiva-varṇāśrama and so on) vā, aho (alas!) kiyat sat-jātiḥ (the honour of birth in a good family) api vā na asti, he gopījana-vallabha, hīnārthādhika-sādhake (who gives a fruit greater than one’s merit warrants) tvayi acchedya-mūlā (which can in no way be severed) satī, hā hā mat (my) āśā mām vyathayate eva.

(6) samutkaṇṭhā and (7) a constant taste for singing the name —

সমুৎকণ্ঠা হয় সদা লালসা-প্রধান । নাম-গানে সদা রুচি, লয় কৃষ্ণনাম ॥ ২৮ ॥

samutkaṇṭhā haya sadā lālasā-pradhāna eager longing is always craving dominant nāma-gāne sadā ruci, laya kṛṣṇa-nāma
for singing the name always taste takes Kṛṣṇa's name

28 In samutkaṇṭhā, eager longing, craving always prevails; and with a constant taste for singing the holy name, he is always chanting the name of Kṛṣṇa.

The words of a devotee filled with samutkaṇṭhā — (the words of Bilvamaṅgala, Śrī Kṛṣṇa-karṇāmṛta, verse 32) —

ত্বচ্ছৈশবং ত্রিভুবনাদ্ভুতমিত্যবেহি
মচ্চাপলঞ্চ তব বা মম বাধিগম্যম্ ।
তৎ কিং করোমি বিরলং মুরলীবিলাসি মুগ্ধং মুখাম্বুজমুদীক্ষিতুমীক্ষণাভ্যাম্ ॥ ২৯ ॥

tvac-chaiśavaṁ tri-bhuvanādbhutam ity avehi
Your boyhood of the three worlds a wonder so know mac-cāpalaṁ ca tava vā mama vādhigamyam
my restlessness and to You or to me alone known tat kiṁ karomi viralaṁ muralī-vilāsi
so what shall I do in solitude O flute-player
mugdhaṁ mukhāmbujam udīkṣitum īkṣaṇābhyām
charming lotus face to behold with my two eyes

29 "O flute-player, know that Your boyish charm and my restlessness are wonders of the three worlds, known only to You and me. What then shall I do to gaze on Your charming lotus face with my own eyes, when we are alone?" (Kṛṣṇa-karṇāmṛta, 32)[5]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 2.61.

An example of singing the name — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, the "Rati-bhakti-laharī," verse 38) —

রোদনবিন্দুমকরন্দ-স্যন্দি-দৃগিন্দীবরাদ্য গোবিন্দ ৷ তব মধুরস্বরকণ্ঠী গায়তি নামাবলীং বালা ॥ ৩০ ॥

rodana-bindu-makaranda-syandi-dṛg-indīvarādya govinda of tears drops like honey pouring eyes blue lotuses today O Govinda
tava madhura-svara-kaṇṭhī gāyati nāmāvalīṁ bālā
Your with a sweet voice sings the string of names the girl

30 "O Govinda, today this young girl sings the string of Your names in a sweet voice, while from Her blue-lotus eyes tears fall like drops of honey." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.3.38)[6]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"O Govinda, this young Rādhikā today, with teardrops in Her lotus eyes, is singing Your names in a sweet voice."

Anubhāṣya.
he govinda, adya rodana-bindu-makaranda-syandi-dṛg-indīvarā (She whose eyes — two blue lotuses [indīvara] — shed teardrops like flower nectar [makaranda]) madhura-svara-kaṇṭhī (with a beautiful voice) bālā (Rādhikā) tava nāmāvalīm gāyati.

(8) attachment to describing Kṛṣṇa's qualities and (9) love for the places where Kṛṣṇa lived —

কৃষ্ণগুণাখ্যানে হয় সর্ব্বদা আসক্তি ৷ কৃষ্ণলীলা-স্থানে করে সর্ব্বদা বসতি ॥ ৩১ ॥

kṛṣṇa-guṇākhyāne haya sarvadā āsakti
to describing Kṛṣṇa's qualities there is always attachment
kṛṣṇa-līlā-sthāne kare sarvadā vasati
in the places of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes he makes always his dwelling

31 He is always attached to describing Kṛṣṇa's qualities, and he always lives in the places of Kṛṣṇa's pastimes.

The description of the sweetness of Kṛṣṇa's qualities — (Śrī Kṛṣṇa-karṇāmṛta, verse 92) —

মধুরং মধুরং বপুরস্য বিভো- র্মধুরং মধুরং বদনং মধুরম্ ।
মধুগন্ধি মৃদুস্মিতমেতদহো মধুরং মধুরং মধুরং মধুরম্ ॥ ৩২ ॥

madhuraṁ madhuraṁ vapur asya vibhor
sweet sweet the form of this Lord
madhuraṁ madhuraṁ vadanaṁ madhuram
sweet sweet the face sweet madhu-gandhi mṛdu-smitam etad aho
honey-fragrant the gentle smile this ah madhuraṁ madhuraṁ madhuraṁ madhuram
sweet sweet sweet sweet

32 "Sweet, sweet is the form of this Lord; sweet, sweet is His face, sweet indeed; and this gentle smile, fragrant with honey — ah, it is sweet, sweet, sweet, sweet!" (Kṛṣṇa-karṇāmṛta, 92)[7]

Anubhāṣya.
See Madhya 21.136.

An example of love for Kṛṣṇa's beloved places — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, the "Sādhana-bhakti-laharī," verse 156) —

কদাহং যমুনাতীরে নামানি তব কীর্ত্তয়ন্ ।
উদ্বাষ্পঃ পুণ্ডরীকাক্ষ রচয়িষ্যামি তাণ্ডবম্ ॥ ৩৩ ॥

kadāhaṁ yamunā-tīre
when I on the bank of the Yamunā
nāmāni tava kīrtayan
the names Your chanting udbāṣpaḥ puṇḍarīkākṣa with tears O lotus-eyed racayiṣyāmi tāṇḍavam
shall perform a dance

33 "O lotus-eyed Lord, when shall I dance on the bank of the Yamunā, chanting Your names with tears in my eyes?" (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.2.156)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"O Puṇḍarīkākṣa, when will I, chanting Your names, dance on the bank of the Yamunā with tears in my eyes?"

Anubhāṣya.
he puṇḍarīkākṣa, kadā aham yamunā-tīre (on the bank of the Kālindī) tava nāmāni kīrtayan, udbāṣpaḥ (with eyes full of tears) tāṇḍavam (dance) racayiṣyāmi (shall perform)?

Thus far the characteristics of bhāva-bhakti have been described; now, the description of the characteristics of (3) prema-bhakti —

কৃষ্ণে 'রতির' চিহ্ন এই কৈলুঁ বিবরণ ।
'কৃষ্ণপ্রেমের' চিহ্ন এবে শুন, সনাতন ॥ ৩৪ ॥

kṛṣṇe 'ratira' cihna ei kailuṁ vivaraṇa for Kṛṣṇa of rati the signs these I have given the description
'kṛṣṇa-premera' cihna ebe śuna, sanātana
of love for Kṛṣṇa the signs now hear Sanātana

34 I have described these signs of rati for Kṛṣṇa. Now, Sanātana, hear the signs of love for Kṛṣṇa (kṛṣṇa-prema).

A Vaiṣṇava filled with love for Kṛṣṇa — a pure devotee — is beyond the understanding of even the best and most discerning worldly critic —

যাঁর চিত্তে কৃষ্ণপ্রেমা করয়ে উদয় ।
তাঁর বাক্য, ক্রিয়া, মুদ্রা বিজ্ঞেহ না বুঝয় ॥ ৩৫ ॥

yāṁra citte kṛṣṇa-premā karaye udaya
in whose heart love for Kṛṣṇa makes its rising tāṁra vākya, kriyā, mudrā vijñeha nā bujhaya
his words actions ways even the wise not understand

35 Even the wise cannot understand the words, actions and ways of one in whose heart love for Kṛṣṇa has risen.

Anubhāṣya.
Even a discerning paṇḍita cannot understand the words, acts and gestures (mudrās) of a devotee in whom prema has arisen.

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, the "Prema-bhakti-laharī," verse 17) —

ধন্যস্যায়ং নবপ্রেমা যস্যোন্মীলতি চেতসি । অন্তর্ব্বাণিভিরপ্যস্য মুদ্রা সুষ্ঠু সুদুর্গমা ॥ ৩৬ ॥

dhanyasyāyaṁ nava-premā
of the fortunate this new prema yasyonmīlati cetasi
in whose blossoms heart
antar-vāṇibhir apy asya
by knowers of the scriptures even his mudrā suṣṭhu su-durgamā
ways quite very hard to understand

36 "The ways of the fortunate soul in whose heart this new prema has blossomed are very hard to understand, even for those who know the scriptures." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 1.4.17)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
In the fortunate person in whose heart new prema has arisen, the acts and mudrās — that is, the signs — become extremely difficult to understand, even for those versed in the scriptures.

Anubhāṣya.

yasya dhanyasya (of the devotee whose aim has been fulfilled) cetasi (in the heart) nava-premā unmīlati (becomes manifest), (his) asya mudrā (behaviour) antar-vāṇibhiḥ (to those versed in the scriptures) api suṣṭhu sudurgamā (utterly impossible to understand).

The characteristics and acts of a devotee filled with prema — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 11, Chapter 2, verse 40) —

এবংব্রতঃ স্বপ্রিয়নামকীর্ত্ত্যা- জাতানুরাগো দ্রুতচিত্ত উচ্চৈঃ ৷
হসত্যথো রোদিতি রৌতি গায়- ত্যুন্মাদবন্নৃত্যতি লোকবাহ্যঃ ॥ ৩৭ ॥

evaṁ-vrataḥ sva-priya-nāma-kīrtyā
one with such a vow by the chanting of the names of his beloved jātānurāgo druta-citta uccaiḥ
in whom love has arisen with melted heart loudly
hasaty atho roditi rauti gāyaty laughs then weeps cries out sings unmāda-van nṛtyati loka-bāhyaḥ
like a madman dances beyond the world

37 "One who has taken this vow, chanting the names of his beloved Lord, finds love awakening within him; his heart melts, and, heedless of the world, he laughs aloud, weeps, cries out, sings and dances like a madman." (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 11.2.40)[8]

Anubhāṣya.

See Ādi 7.94.

The denser prema grows, the higher its stage; the last stage is mahābhāva —

প্রেমা ক্রমে বাড়ি' হয় — স্নেহ, মান, প্রণয় ৷ রাগ, অনুরাগ, ভাব, মহাভাব হয় ॥ ৩৮ ॥

premā krame bāḍi' haya — sneha, māna, praṇaya
prema gradually increasing becomes sneha māna praṇaya
rāga, anurāga, bhāva, mahābhāva haya rāga anurāga bhāva mahābhāva are

38 As prema gradually increases, it becomes sneha, māna, praṇaya, rāga, anurāga, bhāva and mahābhāva.[9]

A comparison —

যৈছে বীজ, ইক্ষু, রস, গুড়, খণ্ড, সার । শর্করা, সিতা, মিছরি, শুদ্ধমিছরি আর ॥ ৩৯ ॥

yaiche bīja, ikṣu, rasa, guḍa, khaṇḍa, sāra
as the seed the sugarcane the juice molasses raw sugar refined sugar śarkarā, sitā, michari, śuddha-michari āra white sugar sugar candy rock candy pure rock candy and

39 It is like the seed, the sugarcane, its juice, molasses, raw sugar, refined sugar, white sugar, sugar candy, rock candy and pure rock candy.[10]

Rati is the seed, and prema has stages of density; as they differ, so does the fullness of the taste of rasa —

ইহা যৈছে ক্রমে নির্ম্মল, ক্রমে বাড়ে স্বাদ । রতি-প্রেমাদির তৈছে বাড়য়ে আস্বাদ ॥ ৪০ ॥

ihā yaiche krame nirmala, krame bāḍe svāda
these as step by step become pure step by step increases the taste
rati-premādira taiche bāḍaye āsvāda
of rati, prema and the rest so increases the relish

40 Just as these become purer step by step and their taste increases, so the relish of rati, prema and the stages beyond grows ever richer.

The five kinds of rati —

অধিকারি-ভেদে রতি — পঞ্চ প্রকার । শান্ত, দাস্য, সখ্য, বাৎসল্য, মধুর আর ॥ ৪১ ॥

adhikāri-bhede rati — pañca prakāra
by the difference of those qualified rati five kinds śānta, dāsya, sakhya, vātsalya, madhura āra śānta dāsya sakhya vātsalya madhura and

41 Rati is of five kinds, according to the nature of the devotee: śānta, dāsya, sakhya, vātsalya and madhura.[11]

Anubhāṣya.

Rati (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Pūrva-vibhāga, third laharī): "If the sign of rati — as if the heart had softened within — is clearly seen in those who desire liberation and others, it is not rati. But seeing its signs, the simple-minded (bāla) are amazed, while one who knows easily recognises it. Therefore it is called ratyābhāsa, a semblance of rati." The sign of rati is the softness, or moistness, of the heart when it becomes manifest. But when it is seen in mumukṣus or bubhukṣus, it never deserves the name rati. Seeing the signs of this rati, rooted in motives other than service to Kṛṣṇa, the ignorant and simple-minded are amazed. But those versed in the siddhānta of bhakti call it "a semblance of rati" (ratyābhāsa).

The five rasas bring Kṛṣṇa under control —

এই পঞ্চ স্থায়ীভাবে হয় পঞ্চ 'রস' । যে-রসে ভক্ত 'সুখী', কৃষ্ণ হয় 'বশ' ॥ ৪২ ॥

ei pañca sthāyī-bhāve haya pañca 'rasa'
these five from sthāyī-bhāvas become five rasas
ye-rase bhakta 'sukhī', kṛṣṇa haya 'vaśa'
in which rasa the devotee happy Kṛṣṇa becomes controlled

42 These five sthāyī-bhāvas become the five rasas, in which the devotee is happy and Kṛṣṇa comes under his control.

Anubhāṣya.

Sthāyi-bhāva (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, fifth laharī, first verse): "The bhāva that brings under its control both the bhāvas in harmony with it and those opposed to it, and reigns like a good king, is called the sthāyi-bhāva. Here the sthāyi-bhāva is said to be rati whose object is Śrī Kṛṣṇa." The bhāva that brings under its control the harmonious bhāvas, beginning with laughter (hāsa), and the opposing ones, beginning with anger (krodha), and reigns like the best of kings, is the sthāyi-bhāva. Here only rati whose object is Śrī Kṛṣṇa is called the sthāyi-bhāva.

The sthāyi-bhāva, or rati, joining with the ingredients (sāmagrī), gives rise to rasa; rati is the "root" of rasa —

প্রেমাদি স্থায়ীভাব সামগ্রী-মিলনে । কৃষ্ণভক্তি রসরূপে পায় পরিণামে ॥ ৪৩ ॥

premādi sthāyī-bhāva sāmagrī-milane
prema and the rest sthāyī-bhāva with the ingredients on meeting
kṛṣṇa-bhakti rasa-rūpe pāya pariṇāme devotion to Kṛṣṇa the form of rasa attains in its transformation

43 When prema and the other abiding emotions (sthāyī-bhāva) meet with their ingredients (sāmagrī), devotion to Kṛṣṇa at last takes the form of rasa.

The four kinds of ingredients —

বিভাব, অনুভাব, সাত্ত্বিক, ব্যভিচারী । স্থায়ীভাব 'রস' হয় এই চারি মিলি' ॥ ৪৪ ॥

vibhāva, anubhāva, sāttvika, vyabhicārī
vibhāva anubhāva sāttvika vyabhicārī
sthāyī-bhāva 'rasa' haya ei cāri mili'
sthāyī-bhāva rasa becomes these four meeting

44 Vibhāva, anubhāva, sāttvika and vyabhicārī: when these four combine with it, the sthāyī-bhāva becomes rasa.

Anubhāṣya.

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, first laharī.) “Now it will be described how this rati for Keśava, whose characteristics have been given, nourished by the ingredients, takes on the supreme form, the form of rasa. When the vibhāvas, anubhāvas, sāttvikas and vyabhicārīs, through hearing and so on, make this kṛṣṇa-rati, the sthāyi-bhāva, relishable in the hearts of the devotees, it becomes bhakti-rasa.”

A comparison —

দধি যেন খণ্ড-মরিচ-কর্পূর-মিলনে ।
’রসালাখ্য’ রস হয় অপূর্ব্বাস্বাদনে ॥ ৪৫ ॥

dadhi yena khaṇḍa-marica-karpūra-milane
yogurt as with sugar, pepper and camphor on mixing
’rasālākhya’ rasa haya apūrvāsvādane
called rasālā a drink becomes of unprecedented taste

45 When yogurt is mixed with sugar, black pepper and camphor, it becomes the drink called rasālā, whose taste is like nothing else.

The “cause” of rasa, vibhāva, is twofold: (1) avalambana and (2) uddīpana —

দ্বিবিধ ‘বিভাব’, — আলম্বন, উদ্দীপন ।
বংশীস্বরাদি — ‘উদ্দীপন’, কৃষ্ণাদি — ‘আলম্বন’ ॥ ৪৬ ॥

dvividha ‘vibhāva’, — ālambana, uddīpana
two kinds vibhāva ālambana uddīpana vaṁśī-svarādi — ‘uddīpana’, kṛṣṇādi — ‘ālambana’
the sound of the flute and the rest uddīpana Kṛṣṇa and others ālambana

46 Vibhāva is of two kinds: the support (ālambana) and the stimulus (uddīpana). The sound of the flute and the like are uddīpana; Kṛṣṇa and His devotees are ālambana.

Anubhāṣya.
(Ibid.) “The vibhāvas are to be known as the causes by which rati is relished. They are twofold: some are ālambanas, others uddīpanas.” As the Agni Purāṇa says about this: “That in which and by which rati and the rest are made relishable (vibhāvyate) is called vibhāva; it is twofold — ālambana and uddīpana." The cause by which kṛṣṇa-rati is relished is called vibhāva; it is of two kinds, ālambana and uddīpana. That in which and by which rati and the rest are made relishable is called vibhāva (consisting of ālambana and uddīpana) in the Agni Purāṇa and other scriptures.

Ālambana (ibid.): "The wise regard Kṛṣṇa and His devotees as the ālambanas — as the object (viṣaya) of rati and the rest, and as its vessel (ādhāra)." These two — Kṛṣṇa as the object of rati and the rest (that is, also of the secondary rasas, beginning with hāsya), and Kṛṣṇa's devotee as its vessel — the learned call ālambana.

Uddīpana (ibid.): "Those things are called uddīpanas that kindle bhāva. They are Śrī Kṛṣṇacandra's qualities, His activities, His adornment, His smile, the fragrance of His body, His flute, horn, ankle bells and conch, His footprints, the holy places, tulasī, the devotees, the day of Hari and so on." Whatever manifests bhāva is uddīpana: Śrī Kṛṣṇa's qualities, activities and adornment (the means of decorating the body — arranging the hair with a comb and so on), and His smile (gentle laughter), the fragrance of His body, His flute, horn, ankle bells, conch, His footprints, the holy places, tulasī, the devotees, the day of Hari — the vow of Ekādaśī and so on.

The "effect" of rasa, anubhāva, of 13 kinds; the 8 kinds of sāttvika, also an "effect" of rasa —

'অনুভাব' — স্মিত, নৃত্য, গীতাদি উদ্ভাস্বর । স্তম্ভাদি — 'সাত্ত্বিক' অনুভাবের ভিতর ॥ ৪৭ ॥

'anubhāva' — smita, nṛtya, gītādi udbhāsvara
anubhāva smiling dancing singing and the rest outward signs stambhādi — 'sāttvika' anubhāvera bhitara being stunned and the rest sāttvika of anubhāvas among 47 The anubhāvas are smiling, dancing, singing and other outward signs (udbhāsvara). Being stunned (stambha) and the rest, the sāttvika states, are counted among the anubhāvas.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Udbhāsvara is a particular bodily (āṅgika) anubhāva. It is of five kinds: disorder in one's dress and ornaments, stretching the body, yawning, flaring of the nostrils, and exhaling and inhaling.

Anubhāṣya.

Anubhāva (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, second laharī, first verse): "The anubhāvas reveal the bhāvas residing in the heart. They are mostly external transformations and are called udbhāsvaras. They are dancing, rolling on the ground, singing, loud crying, stretching the body, roaring (huṅkāra), yawning, heavy breathing, disregard for people's opinion, salivation, loud laughter, dizziness, hiccups and so on. According to their meaning they are given two names, śīta (cool) and kṣepaṇa (impetuous). Singing, yawning and the like are śīta; dancing and the like are called kṣepaṇa." The external transformations that reveal the bhāvas residing in the heart and are known by the name udbhāsvara are the anubhāvas: dancing, rolling on the ground, singing, loud crying, stretching the body, roaring, yawning, long sighs, disregard for people's opinion, salivation, loud laughter, dizziness, hiccups and so on. They are given two names, śīta and kṣepaṇa: singing, yawning and so on are śīta, and dancing and so on are kṣepaṇa.

Udbhāsvara: "The wise call udbhāsvaras those things that shine forth (udbhāsante) in their own abode [the body]: the slipping of the waist-knot (nīvi), the upper cloth and the braid, stretching the body, yawning, flaring of the nostrils, sighs and so on." Whatever manifests in the body of a person filled with bhāva the learned call udbhāsvara: the loosening of the waist-knot (nīvi), the slipping of the upper cloth and the braid, stretching the body, yawning, flaring of the nostrils, sighs, and also the external transformations described above — rolling on the ground, hiccups and so on.

Stambha and the rest: see Madhya 14.167.

The "helpers" of rasa, the vyabhicārī-bhāvas, 33 in number —

নির্ব্বেদ-হর্ষাদি — তেত্রিশ 'ব্যভিচারী' । সব মিলি' 'রস' হয় চমৎকারকারী ॥ ৪৮ ॥

nirveda-harṣādi — tetriśa 'vyabhicārī'
despondency, joy and the rest thirty-three vyabhicārī
saba mili' 'rasa' haya camatkāra-kārī
all combining rasa becomes wonder-producing

48 Despondency (nirveda), joy (harṣa) and the rest are the thirty-three vyabhicārī-bhāvas. When all these combine, rasa becomes wonderful.

Anubhāṣya.

Nirveda, harṣa and the rest: see Madhya 14.167.

Vyabhicārī (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, fourth laharī, first verse): "… the thirty-three bhāvas that are called vyabhicārīs. They move towards the sthāyi-bhāva in a special way, facing it. They are recognised by words, by movements of the body and by sattva; these are the vyabhicārīs. They impart movement (sañcārayanti) to the bhāva, and so they are also called sañcārīs. They rise and sink in the nectar ocean of the sthāyi-bhāva like waves, swell it, and become one with it." The vyabhicārī-bhāvas are thirty-three. They move in the sthāyi-bhāva in a special way, coming to the fore. With words, with the body (the brows, the eyes and so on) and with anubhāvas born of sattva, the vyabhicārī-bhāvas impart movement to the bhāva; therefore they are called sañcārīs. Sinking into the nectar ocean of the sthāyi-bhāva, they swell it like waves and become one with it.

The description of the five rasas —

পঞ্চবিধ রস — শান্ত, দাস্য, সখ্য, বাৎসল্য । মধুর-রসে শৃঙ্গারভাবের প্রাবল্য ॥ ৪৯ ॥

pañca-vidha rasa — śānta, dāsya, sakhya, vātsalya
of five kinds rasa śānta dāsya sakhya vātsalya madhura-rase śṛṅgāra-bhāvera prābalya
in madhura-rasa of the amorous mood predominance

49 Rasa is of five kinds: śānta, dāsya, sakhya, vātsalya and madhura. In madhura-rasa the mood of śṛṅgāra, the love of the beloveds, predominates.[12]

The limit of śānta-rasa is prema, the limit of dāsya-rasa is rāga —

শান্তরসে শান্তি-রতি 'প্রেম' পর্য্যন্ত হয় । দাস্যরতি 'রাগ' পর্য্যন্ত ক্রমেতে বাড়য় ॥ ৫০ ॥

śānta-rase śānti-rati 'prema' paryanta haya
in śānta-rasa śānti-rati prema up to goes dāsya-rati 'rāga' paryanta kramete bāḍaya
dāsya-rati rāga up to gradually increases

50 In śānta-rasa, śānti-rati develops as far as prema; dāsya-rati gradually increases as far as rāga.

The limit of sakhya and vātsalya is anurāga; among them, for the priya-narma-sakhās — Subala and the others — the limit is even bhāva —

সখ্য-বাৎসল্য-রতি পায় 'অনুরাগ'-সীমা । সুবলাদ্যের 'ভাব' পর্য্যন্ত প্রেমের মহিমা ॥ ৫১ ॥

sakhya-vātsalya-rati pāya 'anurāga'-sīmā
sakhya- and vātsalya-rati reaches anurāga the limit subalādyera 'bhāva' paryanta premera mahimā
of Subala and others bhāva up to of prema the glory

51 Sakhya-rati and vātsalya-rati reach the limit of anurāga. In Subala and his companions the glory of prema extends as far as bhāva.

Anubhāṣya.
In śānta-rasa, rati grows and reaches its limit in prema. In dāsya-rasa, dāsya-rati grows through sneha, māna and praṇaya up to rāga. In sakhya-rasa, sakhya-rati grows through sneha, māna, praṇaya and rāga up to anurāga. In vātsalya-rasa, vātsalya-rati grows through sneha, māna, praṇaya and rāga up to anurāga. The special point is that the sakhya-rati of Subala and the others, though they belong to sakhya-rasa, grows through sneha, māna, praṇaya, rāga and anurāga up to bhāva.

The variety of divisions of the five rasas, beginning with śānta —

শান্তাদি রসের 'যোগ', 'বিয়োগ' — দুই ভেদ । সখ্য-বাৎসল্যে যোগাদির অনেক বিভেদ ॥ ৫২ ॥

śāntādi rasera 'yoga', 'viyoga' — dui bheda of śānta and the rest of the rasas union separation two divisions
sakhya-vātsalye yogādira aneka vibheda
in sakhya and vātsalya of union and the rest many subdivisions

52 The rasas beginning with śānta have two divisions, union (yoga) and separation (viyoga). In sakhya and vātsalya, union and separation have many subdivisions.

Anubhāṣya.

Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Paścima-vibhāga, second laharī, verse 41: "Two divisions of it are stated — ayoga and yoga." That is, for this prīta-bhakti-rasa two divisions are stated, ayoga and yoga.

Ayoga: "The wise call the absence of association with Hari ayoga. In ayoga the actions of all [the devotees] are these: fixing the mind on Him, contemplating His qualities and so on, thinking of the means to attain Him, and the like." The learned call the absence of association with Bhagavān ayoga. In ayoga one fixes the mind on Hari, that is, gives one's mind to Hari, and contemplates His qualities and so on. For all devotees, beginning with the servants, thinking of the means to attain Kṛṣṇa and the like are called "actions" (kriyā).

Yoga: "Meeting with Kṛṣṇa is called yoga." That is, meeting with Śrī Kṛṣṇa is called yoga.

Of the rasas beginning with śānta: in śānta and dāsya there are two divisions, yoga and viyoga; in them yoga and ayoga have few subdivisions. The distinction of yoga and ayoga exists in all five rasas, but in sakhya and vātsalya there are many subdivisions.

The subdivisions of yoga: "Yoga too is said to be of three kinds: siddhi, tuṣṭi and sthiti." That is, yoga has three kinds — siddhi, tuṣṭi and sthiti.

The subdivisions of ayoga: "Ayoga too is said to be of two kinds: utkaṇṭhita and viyoga." That is, ayoga is of two kinds — utkaṇṭhita and viyoga.

In Dvārakā, in the svakīya madhura-rati full of majesty (aiśvarya), there is rūḍha-mahābhāva; in Vṛndāvana, in the pure (kevalā) parakīya madhura-rati full of sweetness (mādhurya), adhirūḍha-mahābhāva —

'রূঢ়', 'অধিরূঢ়' ভাব — কেবল 'মধুরে' । মহিষীগণের 'রূঢ়', 'অধিরূঢ়' গোপিকা-নিকরে ॥ ৫৩ ॥

'rūḍha', 'adhirūḍha' bhāva — kevala 'madhure'
rūḍha adhirūḍha bhāva only in madhura
mahiṣī-gaṇera 'rūḍha', 'adhirūḍha' gopikā-nikare
of the queens rūḍha adhirūḍha in the host of gopīs

53 The bhāvas called rūḍha and adhirūḍha are found only in madhura-rasa: rūḍha in the queens, and adhirūḍha in the gopīs.

Anubhāṣya.
Adhirūḍha (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, the section on the sthāyi-bhāva, 170): "Where the anubhāvas attain a certain special excellence beyond the anubhāvas described for rūḍha, that bhāva is called adhirūḍha." In madhura-rasa, madhura-rati grows through sneha, māna, praṇaya, rāga, anurāga and bhāva up to mahābhāva. Rūḍha- and adhirūḍha-mahābhāva exist only in madhura-rasa. Rūḍha is seen in Dvārakā, and adhirūḍha-bhāva only in Gokula.

Adhirūḍha-mahābhāva is twofold: (1) in sambhoga it is called mādana, (2) in vipralambha, mohana —

অধিরূঢ়-মহাভাব — দুই ত' প্রকার । সম্ভোগে 'মাদন', বিরহে 'মোহন' নাম তার ॥ ৫৪ ॥

adhirūḍha-mahābhāva — dui ta' prakāra adhirūḍha-mahābhāva two indeed kinds sambhoge 'mādana', virahe 'mohana' nāma tāra in union mādana in separation mohana the name its 54 Adhirūḍha-mahābhāva is of two kinds: in union it is called mādana, and in separation mohana.

The variety of kinds of bhāva in mādana, full of sambhoga, and in mohana, full of vipralambha —

'মাদনে' — চুম্বনাদি হয় অনন্ত বিভেদ ।
'উদঘূর্ণা', 'চিত্রজল্প' — 'মোহনে' দুই ভেদ ॥ ৫৫ ॥

'mādane' — cumbanādi haya ananta vibheda
in mādana kissing and the rest are endless varieties
'udghūrṇā', 'citra-jalpa' — 'mohane' dui bheda
udghūrṇā citra-jalpa in mohana two divisions

55 In mādana there are endless varieties, such as kissing. Mohana has two divisions: bewildered agitation (udghūrṇā) and wondrous talk (citra-jalpa).

Bhāgavatam 10.47 — the divine madness (divyonmāda) of Rādhikā and the other gopīs in vipralambha, described in the Bhramara-gītā —

চিত্রজল্পের দশ অঙ্গ — প্রজল্পাদি-নাম ।
'ভ্রমর-গীতা'র দশ শ্লোক তাহাতে প্রমাণ ॥ ৫৬ ॥

citra-jalpera daśa aṅga — prajalpādi-nāma
of citra-jalpa ten parts prajalpa and the rest by name
'bhramara-gītā'ra daśa śloka tāhāte pramāṇa
of the Bhramara-gītā ten verses of this are the evidence

56 Citra-jalpa has ten parts, named prajalpa and so on. The ten verses of the Bhramara-gītā, the Song to the Bee, are the evidence of this.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Citra-jalpa is of ten kinds: prajalpa, parijalpa, vijalpa, ujjalpa, saṁjalpa, ava-jalpa, abhijalpa, ājalpa, pratijalpa and sujalpa.

The Bhramara-gītā is in the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 47.

The final state of divyonmāda in vipralambha is the highest of all states, supremely wondrous, wholly made of transcendental service to Kṛṣṇa —

উদঘূর্ণা, বিবশ-চেষ্টা — দিব্যোন্মাদ-নাম । বিরহে কৃষ্ণস্ফূর্ত্তি, আপনাকে 'কৃষ্ণ'-জ্ঞান ॥ ৫৭ ॥

udghūrṇā, vivaśa-ceṣṭā — divyonmāda-nāma
udghūrṇā helpless actions divine madness by name virahe kṛṣṇa-sphūrti, āpanāke 'kṛṣṇa'-jñāna
in separation Kṛṣṇa's appearing oneself as Kṛṣṇa thinking

57 Bewildered agitation (udghūrṇā) and helpless actions (vivaśa-ceṣṭā) are called divine madness (divyonmāda). In separation Kṛṣṇa appears before the gopī, and she even takes herself to be Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.

See Madhya 1.87.

Śṛṅgāra-rasa is twofold — (1) sambhoga and (2) vipralambha; sambhoga has countless kinds —

'সম্ভোগ' 'বিপ্রলম্ভ' ভেদে দ্বিবিধ শৃঙ্গার । সম্ভোগের অনন্ত অঙ্গ, নাহি অন্ত তার ॥ ৫৮ ॥

'sambhoga' 'vipralambha' bhede dvividha śṛṅgāra
union separation by the division two kinds śṛṅgāra sambhogera ananta aṅga, nāhi anta tāra
of union endless aspects no end of it

58 Śṛṅgāra is of two kinds, union (sambhoga) and separation (vipralambha). Union has endless aspects; there is no end to them.

Anubhāṣya.

"It is held to be twofold, divided into vipralambha and sambhoga." That is, madhura-rasa is of two kinds, sambhoga and vipralambha.

Vipralambha (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, the section on vipralambha, verses 3–4): "The bhāva of the youthful pair, whether not yet united or united, that intensifies when the embraces and so on that they desire are not attained, is to be known as vipralambha. It enhances sambhoga." "Without vipralambha, sambhoga does not attain fullness." The bhāva that arises in the nāyaka and nāyikā (the hero and the heroine) — before their first meeting, when they are not united, and after the meeting, when they are united — at these two times, when the embraces and so on desired by each other are not attained, is called vipralambha; it nourishes sambhoga.

Sambhoga: "The bhāva of the youthful pair that rises to jubilation as they partake, pleasing each other (ānukūlya), of glances, embraces and so on is called sambhoga." The bhāva that arises as the nāyaka and nāyikā share glances, embraces and so on for each other's happiness and rise to jubilation is called sambhoga. In the waking state the principal (mukhya) sambhoga is of four kinds: (1) after pūrva- rāga, saṅkṣipta; (2) after māna, saṅkīrṇa; (3) after a separation (pravāsa) that was not far, sampanna; and (4) after a distant separation, samṛddhimān. In dreams, the secondary (gauṇa) sambhoga is likewise of four kinds, as before.

Vipralambha is of four kinds —

'বিপ্রলম্ভ' চতুর্ব্বিধ — পূর্ব্বরাগ, মান । প্রবাসাখ্য, আর প্রেমবৈচিত্ত্য-আখ্যান ॥ ৫৯ ॥

'vipralambha' catur-vidha — pūrva-rāga, māna
separation four kinds pūrva-rāga māna pravāsākhya, āra prema-vaicittya-ākhyāna
called pravāsa and called prema-vaicittya

59 Separation (vipralambha) is of four kinds: longing before meeting (pūrva-rāga), loving pique (māna), separation by distance (pravāsa) and the feeling of separation even in the beloved's presence (prema-vaicittya).

Anubhāṣya.

Pūrva-rāga (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, the section on vipralambha, fifth verse): "The rati that, before their meeting, is born of seeing, hearing and so on, and blossoms in both, the wise call pūrva-rāga." The rati that, before the meeting, is born of seeing, hearing and so on and, blending with the vibhāvas and the rest in both, becomes full of relish — that is pūrva-rāga.

Māna: "The bhāva of the hero and heroine, devoted to each other, that even when they are together obstructs the embraces, glances and so on that they desire, is called māna." The bhāva of the nāyaka and nāyikā, devoted to each other — whether together or in different places — that obstructs the glances, embraces and so on that they desire is called māna.

Pravāsa: "The separation of a youthful pair who have met before — by distance and so on — the wise call pravāsa." The wise call pravāsa the separation, by distance and so on, of the nāyaka and nāyikā who have met before.

Prema-vaicittya: "The pain that, by the very nature of the height of prema, comes from a particular thought even in the beloved's presence is called prema-vaicittya." The pain that, by the nature of the height of prema, comes even in the beloved's presence — from fear of separation from Him — is prema-vaicittya.

The variety of kinds of vipralambha in Rādhikā and the other gopīs in Vraja and in the queens in Dvārakā —

রাধিকাদ্যে ‘পূর্ব্বরাগ’ প্রসিদ্ধ ‘প্রবাস’, ‘মানে’ ।
’প্রেমবৈচিত্ত্য’ শ্রীদশমে মহিষীগণে ॥ ৬০ ॥

rādhikādye ‘pūrva-rāga’ prasiddha ‘pravāsa’, ‘māne’
in Rādhikā and others pūrva-rāga well known pravāsa māna
’prema-vaicittya’ śrī-daśame mahiṣī-gaṇe
prema-vaicittya in the Tenth (Canto) in the queens

60 Pūrva-rāga, pravāsa and māna are well known in Rādhikā and the other gopīs; prema-vaicittya is seen in the queens, as the Tenth Canto describes.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Of the four kinds of vipralambha in Rādhikā and the other gopīs, three are well known — pūrva-rāga, pravāsa and māna; in the queens of Dvārakā, prema-vaicittya is well known.

Even while near Kṛṣṇa, the queens, owing to prema-vaicittya, fear separation from Him — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, Canto 10, Chapter 90, verse 15) —

কুররি বিলপসি ত্বং বীতনিদ্রা ন শেষে
স্বপিতি জগতি রাত্র্যামীশ্বরো গুপ্তবোধঃ ।
বয়মিব সখি কচ্চিদ্গাঢ়নির্ব্বিদ্ধচেতা নলিন-নয়ন-হাসোদার-লীলেক্ষিতেন ॥ ৬১ ॥

kurari vilapasi tvaṁ vīta-nidrā na śeṣe
O kurarī you lament you bereft of sleep not you lie down
svapiti jagati rātryām īśvaro gupta-bodhaḥ sleeps in the world at night the Lord His awareness hidden vayam iva sakhi kaccid gāḍha-nirviddha-cetā
we like O friend can it be deeply pierced in heart
nalina-nayana-hāsodāra-līlekṣitena
of the lotus-eyed one by the smile generous by the playful glance

61 (The queens of Dvārakā:) “O kurarī bird, you lament without sleep and do not even lie down, while at night the Lord sleeps in this world, His awareness hidden. Can it be, O friend, that like us you have had your heart deeply pierced by the generous, playful glance and smile of the lotus-eyed one?" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 10.90.15)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

"O friend kurarī, look: at night the Lord, Śrī Kṛṣṇa, is sleeping with His awareness hidden, while you, sleepless, do not lie down and only lament! Can it be that you too, like us, act this way because your heart has been pierced (deeply pierced) by the sight of the smile and the generous pastimes of lotus-eyed Śrī Kṛṣṇa?"

Anubhāṣya.

In Dvārakā Bhagavān Śrī Kṛṣṇa kept stealing the hearts of the queens with His playful pastimes. Their hearts were absorbed in Him, and though they were very near Him, the feeling never left them: "We are losing Him, losing Him!" And, as if maddened, they would speak to one another thus — he kurari, īśvaraḥ (Kṛṣṇa) rātryām gupta-bodhaḥ (as if with consciousness asleep) svapiti (lies down); tvam tu jagati (alone) vīta-nidrā (being) na śeṣe (do not sleep, do not even wish to lie down, but on the contrary, breaking sleep,) vila-pasi (the sense: this is improper). he sakhi, (or else it is not your fault, because) vayam iva tvam nalina-nayana-hāsodāra-līlekṣitena (by the generous, playful glance of the lotus-eyed Bhagavān together with His smile — His free, smiling sidelong glance) kaccit (a question) gāḍha-nirviddha-cetāḥ (with a heart utterly captivated)?

Kṛṣṇa is the crest jewel of heroes (nāyakas), Śrī Rādhā the crest jewel of heroines (nāyikās) —

ব্রজেন্দ্রনন্দন কৃষ্ণ — নায়ক-শিরোমণি । নায়িকার শিরোমণি — রাধা-ঠাকুরাণী ॥ ৬২ ॥

vrajendra-nandana kṛṣṇa — nāyaka-śiromaṇi of the king of Vraja the son Kṛṣṇa of heroes the crest-jewel nāyikāra śiromaṇi — rādhā-ṭhākurāṇī
of heroines the crest-jewel Rādhā Ṭhākurāṇī

62 Kṛṣṇa, the son of the king of Vraja, is the crest-jewel of heroes (nāyaka), and Śrī Rādhā Ṭhākurāṇī is the crest-jewel of heroines (nāyikā).

The evidence — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, the "Vibhāva-laharī," verse 17) —

নায়কানাং শিরোরত্নং কৃষ্ণস্তু ভগবান্ স্বয়ম্ । যত্র নিত্যতয়া সর্ব্বে বিরাজন্তে মহাগুণাঃ ॥ ৬৩ ॥

nāyakānāṁ śiro-ratnaṁ
among heroes the crown jewel
kṛṣṇas tu bhagavān svayam Kṛṣṇa indeed Bhagavān Himself
yatra nityatayā sarve
in whom eternally all virājante mahā-guṇāḥ
shine great qualities

63 "Kṛṣṇa, Bhagavān Himself, is the crown jewel of all heroes, for in Him all great qualities shine eternally." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.17)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Svayaṁ Bhagavān Kṛṣṇa is the crest jewel of all heroes (nāyakas); in that Kṛṣṇa all great qualities eternally shine.

Anubhāṣya.
nāyakānām (among heroes) svayaṁ bhagavān kṛṣṇaḥ tu śiro-ratnam (the crest jewel); yatra (in Kṛṣṇa) sarve mahā-guṇāḥ nityatayā virājante (shine).

The eight epithets of Śrī Rādhikā — (the words of the Bṛhad-gautamīya Tantra) —

দেবী কৃষ্ণময়ী প্রোক্তা রাধিকা পরদেবতা ।
সর্ব্বলক্ষ্মীময়ী সর্ব্বকান্তিঃ সম্মোহিনী পরা ॥ ৬৪ ॥

devī kṛṣṇa-mayī proktā
the goddess full of Kṛṣṇa is declared
rādhikā para-devatā Rādhikā the supreme deity
sarva-lakṣmī-mayī sarvaall Lakṣmīs containing all kāntiḥ sammohinī parā
splendour the enchantress supreme

64 "The goddess (devī) Rādhikā is declared to be full of Kṛṣṇa (kṛṣṇa-mayī). She is the supreme deity; all the Lakṣmīs are within Her; She is the whole of splendour (sarva-kānti) and the supreme enchantress." (Bṛhad-gautamīya-tantra)[13]

Anubhāṣya.
See Ādi 4.83.

Of Kṛṣṇa's countless good qualities, 64 are the principal ones —

অনন্ত কৃষ্ণের গুণ, চৌষট্টি — প্রধান । এক এক গুণ শুনি' জুড়ায় ভক্ত-কাণ ॥ ৬৫ ॥

ananta kṛṣṇera guṇa, cauṣaṭṭi — pradhāna endless of Kṛṣṇa qualities sixty-four principal eka eka guṇa śuni' juḍāya bhakta-kāṇa
each one quality hearing are soothed of the devotees the ears

65 Kṛṣṇa's qualities are endless, and sixty-four of them are principal. Hearing of each one of them delights the devotees' ears.

অয়ং নেতা সুরম্যাঙ্গঃ সর্ব্বসল্লক্ষণান্বিতঃ । রুচিরস্তেজসা যুক্তো বলীয়ান্ বয়সান্বিতঃ ॥ ৬৬ ॥

ayaṁ netā su-ramyāṅgaḥ
this hero with beautiful limbs
sarva-sal-lakṣaṇānvitaḥ
with all auspicious marks endowed ruciras tejasā yukto delightful to see with splendour endowed balīyān vayasānvitaḥ
strong with youth endowed

66 "This hero (1) has beautiful limbs, (2) bears all auspicious marks, and is (3) delightful to see, (4) radiant, (5) strong and (6) ever youthful." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.23)

বিবিধাদ্ভুতভাষাবিৎ সত্যবাক্যঃ প্রিয়ংবদঃ ।
বাবদূকঃ সুপাণ্ডিত্যো বুদ্ধিমান্ প্রতিভান্বিতঃ ॥ ৬৭ ॥

vividhādbhuta-bhāṣā-vit
of many wondrous languages the knower
satya-vākyaḥ priyaṁ-vadaḥ truthful in speech speaking pleasantly vāvadūkaḥ su-pāṇḍityo eloquent deeply learned buddhimān pratibhānvitaḥ
intelligent quick-witted

67 "He (7) knows many wondrous languages, (8) is truthful in speech and (9) speaks pleasantly; He is (10) eloquent, (11) deeply learned, (12) intelligent and (13) brilliantly quick-witted." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.24)

বিদগ্ধশ্চতুরো দক্ষঃ কৃতজ্ঞঃ সুদৃঢ়ব্রতঃ ।
দেশকালসুপাত্রজ্ঞঃ শাস্ত্রচক্ষুঃ শুচির্ব্বশী ॥ ৬৮ ॥

vidagdhaś caturo dakṣaḥ
artful clever expert kṛta-jñaḥ su-dṛḍha-vrataḥ grateful firm in His vows
deśa-kāla-supātra-jñaḥ place time the right person knowing śāstra-cakṣuḥ śucir vaśī
with scripture as His eye pure self-controlled

68 "He is (14) artful, (15) clever, (16) expert, (17) grateful and (18) firm in His vows; (19) He knows what befits place, time and person; (20) He sees through the eye of scripture; He is (21) pure and (22) self-controlled." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.25)

স্থিরো দান্তঃ ক্ষমাশীলো গম্ভীরো ধৃতিমান্ সমঃ ।
বদান্যো ধার্ম্মিকঃ শূরঃ করুণো মান্যমানকৃৎ ॥ ৬৯ ॥

sthiro dāntaḥ kṣamā-śīlo steadfast restrained forgiving gambhīro dhṛtimān samaḥ grave composed equal to all vadānyo dhārmikaḥ śūraḥ generous righteous heroic karuṇo mānya-māna-kṛt
compassionate to the worthy giving honour

69 "He is (23) steadfast, (24) restrained, (25) forgiving, (26) grave, (27) composed, (28) equal to all, (29) generous, (30) righteous, (31) heroic and (32) compassionate, and (33) He honours those worthy of honour." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.26)

দক্ষিণো বিনয়ী হ্রীমান্ শরণাগতপালকঃ । সুখী ভক্তসুহৃৎ প্রেমবশ্যঃ সর্ব্বশুভঙ্করঃ ॥ ৭০ ॥

dakṣiṇo vinayī hrīmān
courteous humble bashful
śaraṇāgata-pālakaḥ
of the surrendered protector
sukhī bhakta-suhṛt premahappy of His devotees the friend by love vaśyaḥ sarva-śubhaṅ-karaḥ
subdued to all good doing

70 "He is (34) courteous, (35) humble and (36) bashful; (37) He protects the surrendered; He is (38) ever happy, (39) the friend of His devotees and (40) subdued by love; and (41) He does good to all." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.27)

প্রতাপী কীর্ত্তিমান্ রক্তলোকঃ সাধুসমাশ্রয়ঃ ।
নারীগণ মনোহারী সর্ব্বারাধ্যঃ সমৃদ্ধিমান্ ॥ ৭১ ॥

pratāpī kīrtimān raktamighty famous loved lokaḥ sādhu-samāśrayaḥ
by the people of the saintly the shelter
nārī-gaṇa manohārī
of women the hearts captivating
sarvārādhyaḥ samṛddhimān
worshipped by all opulent

71 "He is (42) mighty, (43) famous, (44) loved by the people, (45) the shelter of the saintly, (46) the captivator of women's hearts, (47) worshipped by all and (48) supremely opulent." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.28)

The list of the sixty-four qualities; first the description of fifty qualities — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, Vibhāva-laharī, 23–29)

বরীয়ানীশ্বরশ্চেতি গুণাস্তস্যানুকীর্ত্তিতাঃ । সমুদ্রা ইব পঞ্চাশৎ দুর্ব্বিগাহা হরেরমী ॥ ৭২ ॥

varīyān īśvaraś ceti
the greatest the Lord and thus guṇās tasyānukīrtitāḥ qualities His are proclaimed samudrā iva pañcāśat oceans like fifty durvigāhā harer amī unfathomable of Hari these

72 "He is (49) the greatest of all and (50) the Lord. These fifty qualities of Hari have been proclaimed; like oceans, they are unfathomable." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.29)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

This Kṛṣṇa in the role of the hero (nāyaka) is: 1) beautifully formed, 2) endowed with all auspicious marks, 3) handsome, 4) full of great radiance, 5) strong, 6) ever in the age of kiśora (youth), 7) a knower of various wonderful languages, 8) truthful, 9) pleasant in speech, 10) eloquent, 11) highly learned, 12) intelligent, 13) gifted with inspired insight (pratibhā), 14) artful (vidagdha), 15) clever, 16) expert, 17) grateful, 18) firm in His vows, 19) a knower of what suits place, time and person, 20) one who sees through the eyes of the śāstra, 21) pure, 22) self-controlled, 23) steady, 24) restrained, 25) forgiving, 26) deep, 27) steadfast, 28) even and gentle in conduct, 29) generous, 30) righteous, 31) heroic, 32) compassionate, 33) one who shows honour to others, 34) courteous (dakṣiṇa), 35) humble, 36) modest, 37) the protector of the surrendered, 38) happy, 39) the friend of His devotees, 40) subject to love, 41) the benefactor of all, 42) mighty, 43) famous, 44) beloved of the people, 45) the shelter of the sādhus, 46) the captivator of women's hearts, 47) worshipable by all, 48) full of opulence, 49) supreme over all, and 50) full of majesty (aiśvarya). These are His fifty qualities.

Anubhāṣya.

ayam netā (the hero, nāyaka — Kṛṣṇa) su-ramyāṅgaḥ (with a most beautiful arrangement of limbs) sarva-sal-lakṣaṇānvitaḥ (endowed with the thirty-two auspicious marks that arise from the features described in the sāmudrika-śāstra, and with sixteen lines on the body) ruciraḥ (possessed of beauty that delights the eyes) tejasā yuktaḥ (radiant) balīyān (strong) vayasānvitaḥ (eternally in the age of kiśora) vividhādbhuta-bhāṣā-vit (skilled in many unprecedented moods and languages) satya-vākyaḥ (speaking the truth) priyaṁ-vadaḥ vāvadūkaḥ (able to speak words sweet to the ear and adorned with rasa, figures of speech and the like) su-pāṇḍityaḥ (expert in transcendental knowledge) pratibhānvitaḥ (possessed of an intelligence in which ever-new ideas flash forth) vidagdhaḥ (skilled in the arts and in play) caturaḥ (wise) dakṣaḥ (adroit) kṛta-jñaḥ (repaying the love of His devotees) su-dṛḍha-vrataḥ (true to His word) deśa-kāla-su-pātra-jñaḥ (a knower of place, time and person) śāstra-cakṣuḥ (seeing through the eyes of the Vedas) śuciḥ, vaśī (self-controlled) sthiraḥ (unwavering: acting until the fruit appears) dāntaḥ (enduring hardship) kṣamā-śīlaḥ (bearing the offences of others) gambhīraḥ (full of depth) dhṛtimān (holding amorous desire in check, master of the senses) samaḥ (free of attachment and aversion) vadānyaḥ (generous) dhārmikaḥ, śūraḥ (full of ardour in battle) karuṇaḥ (merciful) mānya-māna-kṛt (honouring those worthy of honour) dakṣiṇaḥ (straightforward and magnanimous) vinayī (free of pride) hrīmān (bashful when praised) śaraṇāgata-pālakaḥ (the protector of the surrendered) sukhī (ever joyful) bhakta-suhṛt (the friend of His servants) prema-vaśyaḥ (subject to love) sarva-śubhaṅ-karaḥ (bringing good to all) pratāpī (mighty) kīrtimān (of auspicious fame) rakta-lokaḥ (beloved of the people) sādhu-samāśrayaḥ (taking the side of good people in the world) nārī-gaṇa-manohārī (enchanting the minds of the whole world) sarvārādhyaḥ (the Lord of all) samṛddhimān (possessed of opulence) varīyān (the best) īśvaraḥ (the Lord) ca — iti amī pañcāśat guṇāḥ samudrāḥ (shoreless oceans) iva durvigāhāḥ (impossible to fathom fully, that is, bottomless).

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, Vibhāva-laharī, 30) The fifty qualities are present in all jīvas as drops —

জীবেষ্বেতে বসন্তোঽপি বিন্দুবিন্দুতয়া ক্বচিৎ ৷ পরিপূর্ণতয়া ভান্তি তত্রৈব পুরুষোত্তমে ॥ ৭৩ ॥

jīveṣv ete vasanto ‘pi
in living beings these dwelling although bindu-bindutayā kvacit
in tiny drops at times
paripūrṇatayā bhānti
in complete fullness shine tatraiva puruṣottame
there only in the Supreme Person

73 “Although these qualities are at times found in living beings, there they are only tiny drops; in complete fullness they shine only in the Supreme Person (Puruṣottama).” (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.30)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

These fifty qualities exist in all jīvas as drops, but in Kṛṣṇa, the Supreme Person (Puruṣottama), they are present in all their fullness, like an ocean.

Anubhāṣya.

ete guṇāḥ bindu-bindutayā kvacit jīveṣu vasantaḥ api tatra eva puruṣottame paripūrṇatayā bhānti.

অথ পঞ্চগুণা যে স্যুরংশেন গিরিশাদিষু । সদা স্বরূপসংপ্রাপ্তঃ সর্ব্বজ্ঞো নিত্যনূতনঃ ॥ ৭৪ ॥

atha pañca-guṇā ye syur
now five qualities which exist
aṁśena giriśādiṣu partially in Śiva and others
sadā svarūpa-saṁprāptaḥ always in His own nature established sarva-jño nitya-nūtanaḥ
all-knowing ever new

74 “Now there are five qualities that exist in part in Śiva and others: (51) He is always established in His own nature (svarūpa), (52) He knows all, and (53) He is ever new.” (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.37)

The description of five more, higher qualities; in the foremost jīvas, such as Rudra, these fifty-five qualities are eternally present in part, and in Viṣṇu in full — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, Vibhāva-laharī, 37–44)

সচ্চিদানন্দসান্দ্রাঙ্গশ্চিদানন্দঘনাকৃতিঃ । স্ববশাখিলসিদ্ধিঃ স্যাৎ সর্ব্বসিদ্ধিনিষেবিতঃ ॥ ৭৫ ॥

sac-cid-ānanda-sāndrāṅgaś
of being, consciousness and bliss whose limbs are concentrated cidānanda-ghanākṛtiḥ
of consciousness and bliss a dense form
sva-vaśākhila-siddhiḥ syāt
under His control all perfections are sarva-siddhi-niṣevitaḥ
by all perfections served

75 "(54) His limbs are concentrated being, consciousness and bliss — His form is dense consciousness and bliss; and (55) all perfections are under His control and serve Him." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.38)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Beyond these fifty there are five more great qualities. They are present in full in Kṛṣṇa (in Viṣṇu) and partially in Śiva and the other gods: 1) He always abides in His own nature (svarūpa), 2) He is all-knowing, 3) He is ever new, 4) His svarūpa is concentrated being, knowledge and bliss (sac-cid-ānanda), 5) He commands all perfections (siddhis), and therefore all the siddhis serve Him.

Anubhāṣya.
atha giriśādiṣu (in Śiva and others) ye pañca-guṇāḥ aṁśena (not in full) syuḥ (are present — they are named) — sadā-svarūpa-samprāptaḥ (possessed of a consciousness that māyā cannot overpower) sarva-jñaḥ (knowing all, that is, knowing the three times — past, future and present) nitya-nūtanaḥ (by His sweetness ever new, as if never tasted before) sac-cid-ānanda-sāndrāṅgaḥ (whose form is a concentrated embodiment of sac-cid-ānanda) sarva-siddhi-niṣevitaḥ (whose feet are worshipped by all attainable fruits) sva-vaśākhila-siddhiḥ syāt (in a variant reading the last two quarters, beginning with "sva-vaśa…," are absent).

অথোচ্যন্তে গুণাঃ পঞ্চ যে লক্ষ্মীশাদিবর্ত্তিনঃ । অবিচিন্ত্যমহাশক্তিঃ কোটিব্রহ্মাণ্ডবিগ্রহঃ ॥ ৭৬ ॥

athocyante guṇāḥ pañca
now are described qualities five ye lakṣmīśādi-vartinaḥ
which in the Lord of Lakṣmī and others are present
avicintya-mahā-śaktiḥ inconceivable great power
koṭi-brahmāṇḍa-vigrahaḥ
millions of universes in His body

76 "Now five qualities are described that are present in the Lord of Lakṣmī (Nārāyaṇa) and His other forms: (56) He has great, inconceivable power, and (57) His body holds millions of universes." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.39)

In Śrī Nārāyaṇa five more qualities are fully present, that is, sixty qualities —

অবতারাবলীবীজং হতারিগতিদায়কঃ । আত্মারামগণাকর্ষীত্যমী কৃষ্ণে কিলাদ্ভুতাঃ ॥ ৭৭ ॥

avatārāvalī-bījaṁ
of all the avatāras the seed
hatāri-gati-dāyakaḥ
to slain enemies liberation granting ātmārāma-gaṇākarṣīty
the self-satisfied attracting thus amī kṛṣṇe kilādbhutāḥ
these in Kṛṣṇa truly wondrous

77 "(58) He is the seed of all the avatāras; (59) He grants liberation to the enemies He slays; (60) He attracts even the self-satisfied (ātmārāma). In Kṛṣṇa these qualities are truly wondrous." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.40)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

In Nārāyaṇa, the Lord of Paravyoma, and in His other forms there are five more qualities. They are fully present in Kṛṣṇa as well, but neither Śiva and the other gods nor the jīvas possess them: 1) inconceivable great energy, 2) a form that holds millions of universes, 3) being the seed of all avatāras, 4) granting a good destination to the enemies He slays, 5) attracting the ātmārāmas (those content in the self). Though these five qualities are found in Nārāyaṇa and His other forms as well, in Kṛṣṇa they are manifest in a wondrous way.

Anubhāṣya.

atha lakṣmīśādi-vartinaḥ (present in Nārāyaṇa, the husband of Lakṣmī, and in other forms) ye pañca guṇāḥ, te ucyante — avicintya-mahā-śaktiḥ (possessed of immeasurable great energy) koṭi-brahmāṇḍa-vigrahaḥ (He whose form pervades millions of universes) avatārāvalī-bījam (the cause of all avatāras) hatāri-gati-dāyakaḥ (granting liberation even to slain enemies) ātmārāma-gaṇākarṣī (attracting even the liberated paramahaṁsas who have reached the state of brahma-bhūta) iti amī (qualities) kṛṣṇe adbhutāḥ kila.

সর্ব্বাদ্ভুতচমৎকারলীলাকল্লোলবারিধিঃ । অতুল্যমধুরপ্রেম-মণ্ডিতপ্রিয়মণ্ডলঃ ॥ ৭৮ ॥

sarvādbhuta-camatkāra-
all wonders astonishing
līlā-kallola-vāridhiḥ
of pastimes of waves the ocean
atulya-madhura-premaincomparable sweet with love
maṇḍita-priya-maṇḍalaḥ
adorned of His beloved ones the circle

78 "(61) He is an ocean whose waves are pastimes more wondrous than all wonders; (62) the circle of His beloved ones is adorned with incomparable, sweet love." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.41)

In Kṛṣṇa Himself, beyond what is in Nārāyaṇa, four more qualities of His own are eternally present, that is, sixty-four qualities in all, in their fullness —[22]

ত্রিজগন্মানসাকর্ষি মুরলীকলকূজিতঃ । অসমানোর্দ্ধরূপশ্রী বিস্মাপিতচরাচরঃ ॥ ৭৯ ॥

tri-jagan-mānasākarṣi-
of the three worlds the minds attracting muralī-kala-kūjitaḥ
of the flute with the sweet call asamānordhva-rūpa-śrī-
unequalled and unsurpassed of form by the beauty
vismāpita-carācaraḥ
astonishing the moving and the unmoving

79 "(63) The sweet call of His flute attracts the minds of the three worlds; (64) the beauty of His form, which none can equal or surpass, astonishes all beings, moving and unmoving." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.42)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Beyond these sixty qualities four more are manifest in Kṛṣṇa. They are not manifest even in Nārāyaṇa: 1) He is an ocean surging with waves of pastimes that amaze all the worlds; 2) He is surrounded by His dearest ones, adorned with the incomparable prema of śṛṅgāra-rasa; 3) He sings on His flute a song that captivates the hearts of the three worlds; 4) He possesses a beauty that has no equal and no superior, which has struck everything moving and unmoving with wonder.

Anubhāṣya.
sarvādbhuta-camatkāra-līlā-kallola-vāridhiḥ (an ocean of waves of pastimes at which even all marvels are astonished, that is, the abode of pastimes that produce every kind of wondrous amazement) atulya-madhura-prema-maṇḍita-priya-maṇḍalaḥ (He by whom the circle of His dear ones is adorned with incomparable sweet prema; that is, His dearest ones are adorned with incomparable sweet prema) tri-jagan-mānasākarṣi-muralī-kala-kūjitaḥ (He whose flute gives forth a sweet, indistinct sound whose nature is to attract the minds of the three worlds — Goloka, Paravyoma and Devī-dhāma) asamānordhva-rūpa-śrī-vismāpita-carācaraḥ (He who by His beauty — matchless, for no one has a form equal to or higher than His — has struck with wonder, that is, has filled with curiosity, everything moving and unmoving).

লীলা প্রেম্ণা প্রিয়াধিক্যং মাধুর্য্যং বেণুরূপয়োঃ ।
ইত্যসাধারণং প্রোক্তং গোবিন্দস্য চতুষ্টয়ম্ ॥ এবং গুণাশ্চতুর্ভেদাশ্চতুঃষষ্টিরুদাহৃতাঃ ॥ ৮০ ॥

līlā premṇā priyādhikyaṁ
pastimes by love the abundance of beloveds mādhuryaṁ veṇu-rūpayoḥ
the sweetness of flute and of form
ity asādhāraṇaṁ proktaṁ govindasya catuṣṭayam thus unique is declared of Govinda the set of four evaṁ guṇāś catur-bhedāś catuḥ-ṣaṣṭir udāhṛtāḥ
thus qualities of four kinds sixty-four are described

80 "His pastimes, the abundance of beloved ones bound to Him by love, and the sweetness of His flute and of His form — these four are declared to be Govinda's unique qualities. Thus sixty-four qualities of four kinds have been described." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.43–44)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Such (love-filled) pastimes, the incomparable company of His beloveds (that is, His tenderness towards the dear ones who love Him), the sweetness of His form and the sweetness of His flute — these are the four unique qualities of Śrī Kṛṣṇa. By distinguishing four levels — ordinary jīvas, Śiva and the other gods, Nārāyaṇa and the other forms of the Supreme Lord, and Govinda Himself (the svayaṁ-rūpa) — sixty-four qualities in all have been enumerated.

Anubhāṣya.
līlā premṇā priyādhikyam veṇu-rūpayoḥ mādhurye iti govindasya asādhāraṇam catuṣṭayam (four characteristics) proktam — evam catur-bhedāḥ guṇāḥ (in their totality) catuḥ-ṣaṣṭiḥ udāhṛtāḥ.

The twenty-five qualities of Śrī Rādhikā that attract Kṛṣṇa —

অনন্ত গুণ শ্রীরাধিকার, পঁচিশ — প্রধান । যেই গুণের 'বশ' হয় কৃষ্ণ ভগবান্ ॥ ৮১ ॥

ananta guṇa śrī-rādhikāra, paṁciśa — pradhāna endless qualities of Śrī Rādhikā twenty-five principal yei guṇera 'vaśa' haya kṛṣṇa bhagavān
of which qualities under the control becomes Kṛṣṇa Bhagavān

81 Śrī Rādhikā's qualities are endless, and twenty-five of them are principal. By these qualities Kṛṣṇa, Bhagavān Himself, is brought under Her control.

অথ বৃন্দাবনেশ্বর্য্যাঃ কীর্ত্ত্যন্তে প্রবরা গুণাঃ ৷ মধুরেয়ং নব-বয়াশ্চলাপাঙ্গোজ্জ্বলস্মিতা ॥ ৮২ ॥

atha vṛndāvaneśvaryāḥ
now of the Queen of Vṛndāvana
kīrtyante pravarā guṇāḥ
are glorified the chief qualities madhureyaṁ nava-vayāś sweet She youthful calāpāṅgojjvala-smitā
with restless sidelong glances with a radiant smile

82 "Now the chief qualities of the Queen of Vṛndāvana are glorified. She is (1) sweet and (2) ever youthful; (3) Her sidelong glances are restless, and (4) Her smile is radiant." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Rādhā-prakaraṇa, 11)

চারু-সৌভাগ্যরেখাঢ্যা গন্ধোন্মাদিতমাধবা ৷
সঙ্গীতপ্রসরাভিজ্ঞা রম্যবাক্ নর্ম্মপণ্ডিতা ॥ ৮৩ ॥

cāru-saubhāgya-rekhāḍhyā
with beautiful of good fortune lines rich gandhonmādita-mādhavā
by Her fragrance maddening Mādhava
saṅgīta-prasarābhijñā
in the wide art of song expert ramya-vāk narma-paṇḍitā charming in speech in jesting skilled

83 "(5) She is rich in beautiful lines of good fortune; (6) Her fragrance maddens Mādhava; (7) She is expert in the wide art of song; (8) Her speech is charming; (9) She is skilled in playful jesting (narma)." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Rādhā-prakaraṇa, 12)

বিনীতা করুণা-পূর্ণা বিদগ্ধা পাটবান্বিতা । লজ্জাশীলা সুমর্য্যাদা ধৈর্য্যা গাম্ভীর্য্যশালিনী ॥ ৮৪ ॥

vinītā karuṇā-pūrṇā
modest with compassion full vidagdhā pāṭavānvitā
artful skilful
lajjā-śīlā su-maryādā
bashful keeping to what is proper dhairyā gāmbhīrya-śālinī steadfast with gravity endowed

84 "She is (10) modest, (11) full of compassion, (12) artful, (13) skilful, (14) bashful, (15) ever keeping to what is proper, (16) steadfast and (17) grave." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Rādhā-prakaraṇa, 13)

সুবিলাসা মহাভাবপরমোৎকর্ষতর্ষিণী । গোকুল-প্রেমবসতির্জ্জগচ্ছ্রেণীলসদ্যশাঃ ॥ ৮৫ ॥

su-vilāsā mahābhāva-paramotkarṣa-tarṣiṇī
rich in graceful pastimes of mahābhāva for the highest excellence thirsting gokula-prema-vasatir jagac-chreṇī-lasad-yaśāḥ of Gokula of the love the abode of the worlds in the ranks shining whose fame

85 "(18) She is rich in graceful pastimes; (19) She thirsts for the highest excellence of mahābhāva; (20) She is the abode of the love of Gokula; (21) Her fame shines throughout all the worlds." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Rādhā-prakaraṇa, 14)

The twenty-five qualities — (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Śrī Rādhā-prakaraṇa, 11–15)

গুর্ব্বর্পিতগুরুস্নেহা সখীপ্রণয়িতাবশা । কৃষ্ণপ্রিয়াবলীমুখ্যা সন্ততাশ্রব-কেশবা ॥ ৮৬ ॥

gurv-arpita-guru-sneha sakhī-praṇayitā-vaśā
by the elders bestowed great affection (on whom) of Her friends to the loving friendship yielding

kṛṣṇa-priyāvalī-mukhyā santatāśrava-keśavā of Kṛṣṇa's beloveds the chief always obedient Keśava (to whom)

86 "(22) Her elders bestow great affection on Her; (23) She yields to the loving friendship (praṇaya) of Her companions; (24) She is the chief of Kṛṣṇa's beloveds; (25) Keśava is ever obedient to Her." (Ujjvala-nīlamaṇi, Rādhā-prakaraṇa, 15)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Now the chief qualities of Śrī Rādhikā, the Queen of Vṛndāvana, are glorified. She is: 1) sweet, 2) youthful, 3) with restless eyes, 4) with a radiant smile, 5) with beautiful lines of good fortune, 6) maddening Kṛṣṇa with Her fragrance, 7) versed in the art of song, 8) charming in speech, 9) expert in joking (narma), 10) humble, 11) full of compassion, 12) clever, 13) skilful, 14) modest, 15) keeping proper bounds (sumaryādā), 16) steadfast, 17) full of depth, 18) rich in play (suvilāsā), 19) full of mahābhāva in its highest degree, 20) the abode of Gokula's love, 21) one whose fame shines among the āśrayas of the whole world, 22) one on whom the elders bestow great affection, 23) subject to the friendly love (praṇaya) of the sakhīs, 24) the chief among Kṛṣṇa's beloveds, 25) one who always keeps Keśava under Her control.

Anubhāṣya.

atha vṛndāvaneśvaryāḥ (of Śrī Rādhikā) pravarāḥ (chief) guṇāḥ kīrtyante — iyam (Śrī Rādhikā) madhurā (full of sweetness) nava-vayāḥ (She whose age is young — a kiśorī) calāpāṅgā (She whose sidelong glance is restless, darting) cāru-saubhāgya-rekhāḍhyā (rich in beautiful lines of good fortune) gandhonmādita-mādhavā (She by whom Mādhava is maddened — with the fragrance of Her body) saṅgīta-prasarābhijñā (versed and accomplished in the wide art of song) ramya-vāk (She whose speech is charming — delightful to the ear) narma-paṇḍitā (expert in narma — playful pranks) vinītā (meek) karuṇā-pūrṇā (unable to bear the sorrows of the gopīs who have taken shelter of Her — supremely compassionate) vidagdhā (versed in the arts of love) pāṭavānvitā (skilful in doing what must be done) lajjā-śīlā (without desire to be praised) sumaryādā (holding Kṛṣṇa in honour) dhairyā gāmbhīrya-śālinī (steadfast, unwavering) su-vilāsā (full of play) mahābhāva-paramotkarṣa-tarṣiṇī (thirsting for the highest perfection of mahābhāva) gokula-prema-vasatiḥ (the object of love of the residents of Gokula) jagac-chreṇī-lasad-yaśāḥ (She whose fame shines in the ranks of the āśrayas of all the worlds) gurv-arpita-guru-snehā (She on whom the elders bestow special affection) sakhī-praṇayitā-vaśā (subject to the praṇaya, the friendly love, of the sakhīs) kṛṣṇa-priyāvalī-mukhyā (the dearest to Kṛṣṇa) santatāśrava-keśavā (She whose Keśava is always, ceaselessly obedient to Her).

The ālambana is twofold: (1) the one and only viṣaya, Kṛṣṇa, and (2) the many kinds of āśraya; among them Śrī Rādhā is supreme —

নায়ক, নায়িকা, — দুই রসের 'আলম্বন' ।
সেই দুই শ্রেষ্ঠ, — রাধা, ব্রজেন্দ্রনন্দন ॥ ৮৭ ॥

nāyaka, nāyikā, — dui rasera 'ālambana'
the hero the heroine the two of rasa supports sei dui śreṣṭha, — rādhā, vrajendra-nandana
of these two the best Rādhā the son of the king of Vraja

87 The hero and the heroine are the two supports (ālambana) of rasa, and the best of these two are Rādhā and the son of the king of Vraja.

Service to Kṛṣṇa in the four rasas — of the servants other than those in śānta —

এইমত দাস্যে দাস, সখ্যে সখাগণ । যৈছে রস হয়, শুন তাহার লক্ষণ ॥ ৮৮ ॥

ei-mata dāsye dāsa, sakhye sakhā-gaṇa
in the same way in servitude the servants in friendship the friends yaiche rasa haya, śuna tāhāra lakṣaṇa
how rasa arises hear its characteristics

88 In the same way, in servitude the servants and in friendship the friends are its supports. Now hear how rasa arises and what its marks are.

Anubhāṣya.
Just as in madhura-rasa the two best ālambanas are the son of the King of Vraja and the daughter of Vṛṣabhānu, so in dāsya-rasa the best ālambanas are the son of the King of Vraja and Citraka, Raktaka, Patraka and others; in sakhya-rasa, the son of the King of Vraja and His friends Śrīdāmā, Sudāmā, Subala and others; and in vātsalya, the son of the King of Vraja and Nanda, Yaśodā and others.

ভক্তিনির্ধূত-দোষাণাং প্রসন্নোজ্জ্বলচেতসাম্ ।
শ্রীভাগবতরক্তানাং রসিকাসঙ্গরঙ্গিণাম্ ॥ ৮৯ ॥

জীবনীভূত-গোবিন্দপাদভক্তিসুখশ্রিয়াম্ ।
প্রেমান্তরঙ্গভূতানি কৃত্যান্যেবানুতিষ্ঠতাম্ ॥ ৯০ ॥

ভক্তানাং হৃদি রাজন্তী সংস্কারযুগলোজ্জ্বলা । রতিরনন্দরূপৈব নীয়মানা তু রস্যতাম্ ॥ ৯১ ॥

bhakti-nirdhūta-doṣāṇāṁ
by devotion washed away whose faults prasannojjvala-cetasām clear bright whose hearts
śrī-bhāgavata-raktānāṁ
to the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam attached rasikāsaṅga-raṅgiṇām
in the company of rasikas delighting jīvanī-bhūta-govinda-
the very life become of Govinda's
pāda-bhakti-sukha-śriyām
to the feet of devotion of the happiness whose wealth premāntaraṅga-bhūtāni to prema intimate being kṛtyāny evānutiṣṭhatām practices only who perform
bhaktānāṁ hṛdi rājantī
of the devotees in the heart shining saṁskāra-yugalojjvalā
by impressions two illumined
ratir ānanda-rūpaiva
rati bliss in form indeed
nīyamānā tu rasyatām
being led indeed to the state of rasa

89–91 "There are devotees whose faults have been washed away by devotion and whose hearts are clear and bright. They are attached to the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and delight in the company of rasikas. The wealth of happiness in devotion to Govinda's feet has become their very life, and they perform only those practices that are intimately bound up with prema. In the hearts of such devotees rati shines — bliss by its very nature, illumined by two kinds of impressions (saṁskāra), past and present — and it attains the state of rasa." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.7–9)

(Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, Vibhāva-laharī, 7–10)

কৃষ্ণাদিভির্বিভাবাদ্যৈর্গতৈরনুভবাধ্বনি । প্রৌঢ়ানন্দশ্চমৎকারকাষ্ঠামাপদ্যতে পরাম্ ॥ ৯২ ॥

kṛṣṇādibhir vibhāvādyair
by Kṛṣṇa and the rest by the vibhāvas and the rest
gatair anubhavādhvani
that have entered the path of experience
prauḍhānandaś camatkāramature bliss (becoming) of wonder kāṣṭhām āpadyate parām
the limit reaches the highest

92 "When Kṛṣṇa and the other vibhāvas, together with the remaining ingredients of rasa, have entered the path of experience, this rati rises to the very summit of mature, wondrous bliss." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.10)[14]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
Devotion has washed away all their faults; their hearts are clear and bright; they are devoted to the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam and delight in the company of rasikas; the happiness and beauty of devotion to Govinda's feet is their very life; they perform the acts that are intimate (antaraṅga) to prema. In the hearts of such devotees rati, whose nature is bliss, made radiant by past and present saṁskāras, becomes relishable and shines forth. Through the vibhāvas — Kṛṣṇa and the rest — on the path of experience it reaches its highest limit: the wonder (camatkāra) of mature bliss.

Anubhāṣya.
bhakti-nirdhūta-doṣāṇām (of those whose faults devotion has washed away — cleansed) prasannojjvala-cetasām (whose hearts are clear and bright) śrī-bhāgavata-raktānām (devoted to relishing the meaning of the Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam) rasikāsaṅga-raṅgiṇām (intent on relishing rasa together with rasikas) jīvanī-bhūta-govinda-pāda-bhakti-sukha-śriyām (for whom the wealth of the happiness of serving Kṛṣṇa has become their very life) premāntaraṅga-bhūtāni (intimate to prema) kṛtyāni (practices and the like) anutiṣṭhatām bhaktānām hṛdi rājantī saṁskāra-yugalojjvalā (made radiant by the two saṁskāras, the former and the present) ānanda-rūpā ratiḥ eva tu anubhavādhvani (on the path of experience) gataiḥ kṛṣṇādibhiḥ vibhāvādyaiḥ

rasyatām (the state of rasa) nīyamānā parām prauḍhānanda-camatkāra-kāṣṭhām (the highest limit of concentrated bliss) āpadyate (attains).

Only a liberated devotee of Kṛṣṇa, united with Kṛṣṇa, the nondual Knowledge (advaya-jñāna), can relish this spiritual, transcendental rasa; for the mundane false connoisseur (kurasika) it is impossible —

এই রস-আস্বাদ নাহি অভক্তের গণে । কৃষ্ণভক্তগণ করে রস আস্বাদনে ॥ ৯৩ ॥

ei rasa-āsvāda nāhi abhaktera gaṇe
this of rasa the taste is not of non-devotees in the company
kṛṣṇa-bhakta-gaṇa kare rasa āsvādane
Kṛṣṇa's devotees do of rasa the relishing

93 Non-devotees cannot taste this rasa; it is Kṛṣṇa's devotees who relish it.

The evidence of scripture — (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, Dakṣiṇa-vibhāga, fifth laharī, 131)

সর্ব্বথৈব দুরূহোঽয়মভক্তৈর্ভগবদ্রসঃ ।
তৎপাদাম্বুজসর্ব্বস্বৈর্ভক্তৈরেবানুরস্যতে ॥ ৯৪ ॥

sarvathaiva durūho 'yam
in every way indeed inaccessible this abhaktair bhagavad-rasaḥ
to non-devotees of the Lord the rasa tat pādāmbuja-sarvasvair
His lotus feet whose all bhaktair evānurasyate
by devotees only is relished

94 "This rasa of the Lord is in every way inaccessible to non-devotees; it is relished only by devotees for whom His lotus feet are everything." (Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.5.131)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

For nondevotees this bhagavad-rasa is in every way unattainable. Bhakti-rasa is attainable only by those for whom Kṛṣṇa's lotus feet are everything.

Anubhāṣya.

abhaktaiḥ (by people who thirst for bhukti and mukti and are turned away from Hari) ayam bhagavad-rasaḥ sarvathā eva durūhaḥ (unattainable); kintu tat-pādāmbuja-sarvasvaiḥ (by exclusive — aikāntika — devotees) eva anurasyate (is relished).

A brief account of the truth of prayojana —

সংক্ষেপে কহিলুঁ এই 'প্রয়োজন'-বিবরণ । পঞ্চম-পুরুষার্থ — এই 'কৃষ্ণপ্রেম' মহাধন ॥ ৯৫ ॥

saṅkṣepe kahiluṁ ei 'prayojana'-vivaraṇa
briefly I have told this of the goal the description pañcama-puruṣārtha — ei 'kṛṣṇa-prema' mahā-dhana
the fifth goal of life this love for Kṛṣṇa great wealth

95 Thus I have briefly described the goal (prayojana). This love for Kṛṣṇa is the fifth goal of human life (pañcama-puruṣārtha), the greatest wealth.

Earlier, in Prayāga, at Daśāśvamedha-ghāṭa, instruction in kṛṣṇa-rasa was given to Śrī Rūpa —

পূর্ব্বে প্রয়াগে আমি রসের বিচারে । তোমার ভাই রূপে কৈলুঁ শক্তি-সঞ্চারে ॥ ৯৬ ॥

pūrve prayāge āmi rasera vicāre
earlier at Prayāga I of rasa for the discussion
tomāra bhāi rūpe kailuṁ śakti-sañcāre
your brother into Rūpa I made of power the infusion

96 Earlier, at Prayāga, I infused power into your brother Rūpa so that he could expound rasa.

তুমিহ করিহ ভক্তিশাস্ত্রের প্রচার । মথুরায় লুপ্ততীর্থের করিহ উদ্ধার ॥ ৯৭ ॥

tumiha kariha bhakti-śāstrera pracāra
you too do of the scriptures of devotion the spreading mathurāya lupta-tīrthera kariha uddhāra
in Mathurā of the lost holy places do the recovery

97 You too must spread the scriptures of devotion and recover the lost holy places of Mathurā.

The Lord entrusts Sanātana, the Vaiṣṇava ācārya, with four duties of service for the sampradāya, befitting an ācārya —

বৃন্দাবনে কৃষ্ণসেবা, বৈষ্ণব-আচার । ভক্তিস্মৃতিশাস্ত্র করি' করিহ প্রচার ॥ ৯৮ ॥

vṛndāvane kṛṣṇa-sevā, vaiṣṇava-ācāra
in Vṛndāvana to Kṛṣṇa service of Vaiṣṇavas the conduct bhakti-smṛti-śāstra kari' kariha pracāra
of devotion smṛti a scripture composing do the spreading

98 Compose a scripture of devotional law (bhakti-smṛti) on service to Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana and on the conduct of Vaiṣṇavas, and spread it."

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
"The bhakti-smṛti-śāstra" is the book Hari-bhakti-vilāsa.

Anubhāṣya.
(1) Preaching the scriptures of bhakti — by publishing the Bṛhad-vaiṣṇava-toṣaṇī, the commentary on the Tenth Canto, the Bṛhad-bhāgavatāmṛta and other books, to establish the conclusions (siddhānta) of pure bhakti; (2) restoring the lost holy places — identifying the kuṇḍas and other sites of Vṛndāvana; (3) the service of Kṛṣṇa in Vṛndāvana — manifesting the Deity (śrī-mūrti) and opening His service; (4) Vaiṣṇava conduct (ācāra) — by compiling a book of Vaiṣṇava smṛti, introducing and spreading the proper conduct (sadācāra) of Vaiṣṇavas and establishing the Vaiṣṇava community. These four duties of service for the sampradāya He entrusted to Śrī Sanātana Gosvāmī.

Yukta-vairāgya is what the jīva should desire and attain, and false renunciation (phalgu-vairāgya) is to be given up altogether —

যুক্তবৈরাগ্য-স্থিতি সব শিখাইল । শুষ্কবৈরাগ্য-জ্ঞান সব নিষেধিল ॥ ৯৯ ॥

yukta-vairāgya-sthiti saba śikhāila of fitting renunciation the standing all He taught śuṣka-vairāgya-jñāna saba niṣedhila
dry renunciation knowledge all He forbade

99 Then the Lord taught him fully the way of fitting renunciation (yukta-vairāgya) and forbade dry renunciation and dry knowledge altogether.

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

To use the world in relation to Kṛṣṇa is yukta-vairāgya (fitting renunciation). To take sannyāsa while regarding the world as "worthless" is "dry renunciation."

Anubhāṣya.

Here a variant reading gives two verses: "Renunciation (vairāgya) is called proper when one, unattached, uses objects as is fitting, firmly relating them to Kṛṣṇa," and "When those who seek liberation reject things connected with Hari, considering them mundane, such renunciation is called false (phalgu)." These two verses are quoted from the second laharī of the Pūrva-vibhāga of the Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu.

The Gītā points out the marginal characteristics (taṭastha-lakṣaṇas) of a devotee dear to Kṛṣṇa — (Śrīmad Bhagavad-gītā 12.13–20)

অদ্বেষ্টা সর্ব্বভূতানাং মৈত্রঃ করুণ এব চ ।
নির্ম্মমো নিরহঙ্কারঃ সমদুঃখসুখঃ ক্ষমী ॥ ১০০ ॥

সন্তুষ্টঃ সততং যোগী যতাত্মা দৃঢ়নিশ্চয়ঃ ।
ময্যর্পিতমনোবুদ্ধির্যো মদ্ভক্তঃ স মে প্রিয়ঃ ॥ ১০১ ॥

adveṣṭā sarva-bhūtānāṁ
free from hatred towards all beings
maitraḥ karuṇa eva ca friendly compassionate indeed and nirmamo nirahaṅkāraḥ
free from the sense of "mine" free from false ego
sama-duḥkha-sukhaḥ kṣamī
equal in sorrow and joy forbearing santuṣṭaḥ satataṁ yogī content always a yogī
yatātmā dṛḍha-niścayaḥ
self-controlled firm in resolve mayy arpita-mano-buddhir
in Me fixed mind and intelligence yo mad-bhaktaḥ sa me priyaḥ
who My devotee he to Me dear

100–101 "One who bears no hatred towards any being, who is friendly and compassionate, free from the sense of 'mine' and from false ego, equal in sorrow and joy, and forbearing; who is ever content, a yogī, self-controlled and firm in resolve, with mind and intelligence fixed on Me — such a devotee of Mine is dear to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 12.13–14)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The devotee who bears no enmity towards any living being, who is friendly and compassionate, free of the sense of "mine," free of self-conceit, equal in happiness and distress, forgiving, always content, self-controlled, firm in resolve, practicing bhakti-yoga, and who has given Me his mind and intelligence — he is dear to Me.

Anubhāṣya.

sarva-bhūtānām (of all jīvas) adveṣṭā (free of malice) maitraḥ (one who bears no ill will towards superiors and is friendly towards equals) karuṇaḥ (compassionate towards inferiors) nirmamaḥ (without the sense of "mine," indifferent) nirahaṅkāraḥ sama-duḥkha-sukhaḥ (treating happiness and distress alike) kṣamī (bearing offences) satatam (both in gain and in loss) santuṣṭaḥ (with a serene heart) yogī (never heedless) yatātmā (who has restrained his nature) dṛḍha-niścayaḥ (one whose resolve concerning Me is firm) mayi arpita-mano-buddhiḥ

(one who has given his mind and intelligence to Me) yaḥ mad-bhaktaḥ, saḥ me priyaḥ.

যস্মান্নোদ্বিজতে লোকো লোকান্নোদ্বিজতে তু যঃ । হর্ষামর্ষভয়োদ্বেগৈর্মুক্তো যঃ স চ মে প্রিয়ঃ ॥ ১০২ ॥

yasmān nodvijate loko
by whom is not disturbed the world
lokān nodvijate tu yaḥ
by the world is not disturbed and who harṣāmarṣa-bhayodvegair
from elation intolerance fear anxiety
mukto yaḥ sa ca me priyaḥ
free who he too to Me dear

102 "One by whom the world is not disturbed and who is not disturbed by the world, who is free from elation, envy, fear and anxiety — he too is dear to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 12.15)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

He on whose account people are not disturbed, who does not disturb people,[18] and who is free from the disturbances of elation, anger and fear — he too is dear to Me.

Anubhāṣya.

yasmāt (from whom) lokaḥ na udvijate (does not become agitated through fear and apprehension), yaḥ ca lokāt na udvijate, yaḥ ca harṣāmarṣa-bhayodvegaiḥ (harṣa — elation at gaining what one desires oneself; amarṣa — intolerance of another's gain; bhaya — fear; udvega — agitation of mind caused by fear and the like; from these) muktaḥ, sa ca me priyaḥ.

অনপেক্ষঃ শুচির্দক্ষ উদাসীনো গতব্যথঃ ।
সর্ব্বারম্ভপরিত্যাগী যো মে ভক্তঃ স মে প্রিয়ঃ ॥ ১০৩ ॥

anapekṣaḥ śucir dakṣa
free from expectation pure expert udāsīno gata-vyathaḥ
unconcerned free from distress
sarvārambha-parityāgī
all undertakings renouncing yo me bhaktaḥ sa me priyaḥ
who My devotee he to Me dear

103 "My devotee who expects nothing, who is pure and expert, impartial and free from distress, and who has given up all self-seeking undertakings, is dear to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 12.16)[15]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.
My devotee who expects nothing, who is pure, skilful, impartial, free from distress, and who has given up all undertakings — he is dear to Me.

Anubhāṣya.
yaḥ anapekṣaḥ (depending on no one, without desire even for what comes of itself) śuciḥ (pure outwardly and inwardly) dakṣaḥ (not lazy) udāsīnaḥ (impartial) gata-vyathaḥ (free of mental anguish) — sarvārambha-parityāgī (such is the devotee whose nature is to give up all undertakings and efforts for visible and invisible ends), sa me priyaḥ.

যো ন হৃষ্যতি ন দ্বেষ্টি ন শোচতি ন কাঙ্ক্ষতি ।
শুভাশুভপরিত্যাগী ভক্তিমান্ যঃ স মে প্রিয়ঃ ॥ ১০৪ ॥

yo na hṛṣyati na dveṣṭi
who not rejoices not hates na śocati na kāṅkṣati
not grieves not desires śubhāśubha-parityāgī
the auspicious and the inauspicious renouncing bhaktimān yaḥ sa me priyaḥ
full of devotion who he to Me dear

104 "One who neither rejoices nor hates, neither grieves nor desires, who has given up both the auspicious and the inauspicious, and who is full of devotion — he is dear to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 12.17)[16]

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

He who is free of elation, aversion, grief and longing, who has given up results both auspicious and inauspicious, and who is full of devotion — he is dear to Me.

Anubhāṣya.

yaḥ (on obtaining what is pleasant) na hṛṣyati, (on obtaining what is unpleasant) na dveṣṭi, (one who, when what he desired is lost) na śocati, (one who for what is unattained) na kāṅkṣati, śubhāśubha-parityāgī (one whose nature is to give up the auspicious and the inauspicious, that is, piety and sin; having become such, one who towards Me) bhaktimān, sa me priyaḥ.

সমঃ শত্রৌ চ মিত্রে চ তথা মানাপমানয়োঃ ৷
শীতোষ্ণসুখদুঃখেষু সমঃ সঙ্গবিবর্জ্জিতঃ ॥ ১০৫ ॥

তুল্যনিন্দাস্তুতির্মৌনী সন্তুষ্টো যেন কেনচিৎ ৷
অনিকেতঃ স্থিরমতির্ভক্তিমান্ মে প্রিয়ো নরঃ ॥ ১০৬ ॥

samaḥ śatrau ca mitre ca
the same to foe and to friend and

tathā mānāpamānayoḥ
likewise in honour and dishonour

śītoṣṇa-sukha-duḥkheṣu
in cold and heat in joy and sorrow

samaḥ saṅga-vivarjitaḥ
the same attachment free from

tulya-nindā-stutir maunī
alike blame praise (to whom) restrained in speech

santuṣṭo yena kenacit content with whatever comes

aniketaḥ sthira-matir
without a home steady in mind

bhaktimān me priyo naraḥ
full of devotion to Me dear a man

105–106 "One who is the same to foe and friend, the same in honour and dishonour, in cold and heat, in joy and sorrow; who is free from attachment; to whom blame and praise are alike; who is restrained in speech and content with whatever comes; who has no fixed home, whose mind is steady and who is full of devotion — such a person is dear to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 12.18–19)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The person who is equal towards enemy and friend, in honour and dishonor, in cold and heat, in happiness and distress, who is free of attachment, equal in blame and praise, silent, content with whatever comes, homeless, steady in mind and full of devotion — he is dear to Me.

Anubhāṣya.

śatrau mitre ca tathā mānāpamānayoḥ (in honour and dishonor) api samaḥ (one and the same, that is, behaving alike) śītoṣṇa-sukha-duḥkheṣu (in cold and heat, in happiness and distress) samaḥ (even) saṅga-vivarjitaḥ (attached to nothing, or seeking no other support) tulya-nindā-stutiḥ (one for whom blame and praise are equal, that is, treating praise and censure alike) maunī (restrained in speech) yena kenacit (with whatever has come of itself) santuṣṭaḥ, aniketaḥ (without a fixed dwelling, that is, homeless) sthira-matiḥ (of steady mind; having become such, one who towards Me) bhaktimān naraḥ, saḥ me priyaḥ.

যে তু ধর্ম্মামৃতমিদং যথোক্তং পর্য্যুপাসতে ৷ শ্রদ্দধানা মৎপরমা ভক্তাস্তেঽতীব মে প্রিয়াঃ ॥ ১০৭ ॥

ye tu dharmāmṛtam idaṁ
who but of dharma the nectar this yathoktaṁ paryupāsate
as declared follow with devotion śraddadhānā mat-paramā
full of faith for whom I am the highest bhaktās te 'tīva me priyāḥ
devotees they exceedingly to Me dear

107 "But those who, full of faith and holding Me as the highest, devotedly follow this nectar of dharma as I have declared it — such devotees are exceedingly dear to Me." (Bhagavad-gītā, 12.20)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Those who, full of faith and devoted to Me, worship this nectar of dharma (described from the second to the nineteenth verse)[19] are My devotees, and they are exceedingly dear to Me.

Anubhāṣya.

ye (devotees) yathoktam (as it has been described) idam dharmāmṛtam (the dharma that is itself nectar, for it leads to immortality) paryupāsate (practice), śraddadhānāḥ (full of faith) mat-paramāḥ ca (and devoted to Me), te mad-bhaktāḥ, me atīva priyāḥ (are).

Words on pure renunciation that accompanies bhakti — (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 2.2.5)

চিরাণি কিং পথি ন সন্তি দিশন্তি ভিক্ষাং
নৈবাঙ্ঘ্রিপাঃ পরভৃতঃ সরিতোঽপ্যশুষ্যন্ ।
রুদ্ধা গুহাঃ কিমজিতোঽবতি নোপসন্নান্ কস্মাদ্ভজন্তি কবয়ো ধনদুর্ম্মদান্ধান্ ॥ ১০৮ ॥

cirāṇi kiṁ pathi na santi diśanti bhikṣāṁ
rags is it that on the road not there are give alms naivāṅghri-pāḥ para-bhṛtaḥ sarito 'py aśuṣyan not the trees sustaining others the rivers even have dried up ruddhā guhāḥ kim ajito 'vati nopasannān closed the caves is it that the Unconquerable protects not the surrendered kasmād bhajanti kavayo dhana-durmadāndhān
why serve the wise by wealth with evil pride blinded

108 "Are there no rags lying on the road? Do the trees, which sustain others, no longer give alms? Have even the rivers dried up? Are the caves closed? Does the Unconquerable Lord not protect those who take refuge in Him? Why, then, do the wise serve those who are blinded by the pride of wealth?" (Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam, 2.2.5)

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

Oh, do worn-out rags not lie on the road? Do the trees that nourish others not give alms? Have all the rivers dried up? Are the caves closed? Does Īśvara not protect those who have come to Him? If that is so, why do the wise serve those blinded by the wicked pride of wealth?

Anubhāṣya.

Śrī Śukadeva tells Parīkṣit of yukta-vairāgya: free of desire for enjoyments that rest on notions of the gross world, to accept without attachment only as much as is needed to maintain life.

pathi cīrāṇi (scraps of torn cloth) kim na santi (are there none thrown away)? para-bhṛtaḥ (nourishing others with fruits and the like) aṅghripāḥ (trees) bhikṣām na eva diśanti (will they not give)? saritaḥ (lakes and rivers) api aśuṣyan (have they dried up)? guhāḥ (mountain caves) ruddhāḥ kim? ajitaḥ (Viṣṇu) upasannān (the surrendered) kim na avati (does He not protect)? (If so, then) kavayaḥ (the wise, who know the rasa of Hari) kasmāt (for what reason) dhana-durmadāndhān (those blinded — bereft of discernment — by the wicked pride of wealth) bhajanti (follow)?

At Sanātana's inquiry the Lord explains the confidential conclusions of the Bhāgavatam —

তবে সনাতন সব সিদ্ধান্ত পুছিলা । ভাগবত-গূঢ়সিদ্ধান্ত প্রভু সকলি কহিলা ॥ ১০৯ ॥

tabe sanātana saba siddhānta puchilā
then Sanātana all conclusions asked about bhāgavata-gūḍha-siddhānta prabhu sakali kahilā of the Bhāgavata the hidden conclusions the Lord all told

109 Then Sanātana asked about all the conclusions (siddhānta), and the Lord told him all the hidden conclusions of the Bhāgavata.

হরিবংশে কহিয়াছে গোলোকে নিত্যস্থিতি ।
ইন্দ্র আসি' করিল যবে শ্রীকৃষ্ণেরে স্তুতি ॥ ১১০ ॥

hari-vaṁśe kahiyāche goloke nitya-sthiti
in the Harivaṁśa it is told in Goloka eternal abiding indra āsi' karila yabe śrī-kṛṣṇere stuti
Indra coming offered when to Śrī Kṛṣṇa praise

110 The Harivaṁśa tells of His eternal abiding in Goloka, at the time when Indra came and offered prayers to Śrī Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.

In the Hari-vaṁśa, Viṣṇu-parva, chapter 19: "Above the world of men, it is said, is the path of the birds. Above the sky is the Sun, the shining gate of Svarga. Above Svarga is Brahmaloka, served by the brahmarṣis; there too is the abode of Soma[23] and of the great souls who shine like luminaries. Above it is the world of the cows; the Sādhyas guard it. That world, O Kṛṣṇa, pervades all; it is great and extends in the great space (mahākāśa). Above all, there, is Your abode, full of tapas; none of us knows it, though we ask the Grandsire. The destination of those rich in śama and dama and doing pious deeds is Svarga; the highest destination of those engaged in brahminical tapas is Brahmaloka. But Goloka is the world of the cows, and it is truly hard to reach. O heroic Kṛṣṇa, when that world was perishing, You, perfect in self and steadfast, upheld it, destroying the calamities of the cows."

That is, after [the Lord] lifted Govardhana, Indra praised Śrī Kṛṣṇa thus: "Above the world of men is the path of the birds. Above the sky is the shining Sun, the gate of Svarga, and above Svarga is Brahmaloka, served by the brahmarṣis. Above Devī-dhāma, in that abode, Śiva dwells with Umā; it is the dwelling of the radiant liberated ones — Brahmā and others. Above Vaikuṇṭha is Goloka; the Sādhyas — Śrīmatī Rādhikā and others, Nanda, Yaśodā and others — guard it. Vaikuṇṭha and the other abodes, compared with Goloka, are only a small space; Goloka alone is the great space (mahākāśa). Even by asking Brahmā we could not grasp the way to Goloka, highest of all — Your abode, full of tapas. The karmīs who possess pious merit and are rich in śama, dama and other virtues go to Svarga. By serving Nārāyaṇa one attains Vaikuṇṭha; but the world of the cows, Goloka, is extremely hard to reach. O Kṛṣṇa, You have descended here together with that Goloka, and the calamity I caused was born of my folly; this is what I make known by this hymn."

Here Śrī Nīlakaṇṭha writes in his commentary: "So too says the mantra (Ṛg-veda-saṁhitā 1.21.154.6): 'We long to go to those abodes of yours where the cows with great horns roam. Here truly shines in all its fullness the supreme abode of the Wide-striding One, the Giver of bliss.' tāni vām (of you two, Rāma and Kṛṣṇa) vāstūni (delightful places) gamadhyai (to go) uśmasi (we desire; but we are not able to go there), yatra (in which places) bhūri-śṛṅgāḥ (with huge horns) gāvaḥ ayāsaḥ (roam). atra (here, on earth) aha (certainly) tat (that called Goloka) paramam padam bhūri (in the highest degree — surpassing even the principal one) avabhāti (shines in full splendour); vṛṣṇaḥ (of Him who increases bliss) urugāyasya (of Him whose fame is great)."

Certain transient mundane events that bewilder the asuras —

মৌষল-লীলা, আর কৃষ্ণ-অন্তর্দ্ধান ।
কেশাবতার, আর বিরুদ্ধ ব্যাখ্যান ॥ ১১১ ॥

মহিষী-হরণ আদি, সব — মায়াময় । ব্যাখ্যা শিখাইল যৈছে সুসিদ্ধান্ত হয় ॥ ১১২ ॥

mauṣala-līlā, āra kṛṣṇa-antardhāna
the pastime of the clubs and Kṛṣṇa's disappearance keśāvatāra, āra viruddha vyākhyāna
the hair-avatāra and contrary explanations mahiṣī-haraṇa ādi, saba — māyāmaya of the queens the abduction and so on all made of illusion
vyākhyā śikhāila yaiche susiddhānta haya
the explanation He taught so that the right conclusion it becomes 111–112 The pastime of the clubs (mauṣala-līlā), Kṛṣṇa's disappearance, the "hair-avatāra" (keśāvatāra) and other contrary explanations, the abduction of the queens and so on — all these are illusory (māyā-maya). The Lord taught how to explain them so that they accord with the right conclusion (siddhānta).

Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya.

The interpretation that Kṛṣṇa is an avatāra in the form of "a hair black as a crow" is contrary to the truth. Rejecting it, [the Lord] taught the pure interpretation: "ka + īśa = keśa," that is, Kṛṣṇa is "the Lord of Brahmā."

Thus ends the twenty-third chapter of the "Amṛta-pravāha-bhāṣya."

Anubhāṣya.

The Mahābhārata's accounts of the mauṣala-līlā, of Kṛṣṇa's pastime of departure, of the hair-avatāra, of the abduction of the queens and the like are all false; they are not the eternal transcendental pastimes. They were described only to bewilder and confuse the asuras — fools of mundane mind, hostile to Viṣṇu.

The hair-avatāra (see Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 2.7.26). In the Viṣṇu Purāṇa: "He plucked from Himself two hairs, white and black, O mighty one." In the Mahābhārata: "And Hari plucked two hairs, one white and the other black. And those two hairs entered two women of the Yadu dynasty, Rohiṇī and Devakī. One of them became Balabhadra — that white hair of the God. The second became Kṛṣṇa, Keśava — that hair which is called black in colour." In the Bhāgavatam, the Viṣṇu Purāṇa and the Mahābhārata the hair-avatāra is mentioned thus: "Śrī Hari plucked two hairs from His head, one white and one black. It is said that when these two hairs entered Rohiṇī and Devakī, women of the Yadu dynasty, 'Baladeva' was born, according to its colour, from the first, white hair, and 'Kṛṣṇa' from the second, black hair. Hari, who through His portion becomes white and black to relieve the suffering of the Earth oppressed by the asuras, the enemies of the gods, has descended and will perform deeds that proclaim His greatness." Here one should study the reasoning of Śrī Rūpa Prabhu and of the commentator Śrī Baladeva Vidyābhūṣaṇa Prabhu in the Laghu-bhāgavatāmṛta, in the first part, called Kṛṣṇāmṛta, numbers 156–164, where the objection (pūrvapakṣa) "Śrī Kṛṣṇa is the avatāra of a hair of Kṣīrodaśāyī" is refuted. One should also study the reasoning of Śrī Jīva Prabhu in the Kṛṣṇa-sandarbha of the Ṣaṭ-sandarbha, number 29, and in the Sarva-saṁvādinī.

Sanātana's humility and prayer at the Lord's feet —

তবে সনাতন প্রভুর চরণে ধরিয়া । নিবেদন করে দন্তে তৃণ-গুচ্ছ লঞা ॥ ১১৩ ॥

tabe sanātana prabhura caraṇe dhariyā
then Sanātana the Lord's feet clasping
nivedana kare dante tṛṇa-guccha lañā
a submission makes in his teeth of straw a bunch taking 113 Then Sanātana clasped the Lord's feet and, holding a bunch of straw between his teeth, made this submission:

“নীচজাতি, নীচসেবী, মুঞি — সুপামর ।
সিদ্ধান্ত শিখাইলা, — যেই ব্রহ্মার অগোচর ॥ ১১৪ ॥

“nīca-jāti, nīca-sevī, muñi — supāmara
low-born a servant of the low I utterly wretched
siddhānta śikhāilā, — yei brahmāra agocara
the conclusions You have taught which to Brahmā beyond reach 114 “I am low-born, a servant of the low, utterly wretched — yet You have taught me truths beyond the reach even of Brahmā.

তুমি যে কহিলা, এই সিদ্ধান্তামৃত-সিন্ধু । মোর মন ছুঁইতে নারে ইহার একবিন্দু ॥ ১১৫ ॥

tumi ye kahilā, ei siddhāntāmṛta-sindhu
You what have spoken this of conclusions of nectar an ocean
mora mana chuṁite nāre ihāra eka-bindu
my mind to touch cannot of it a single drop

115 What You have spoken is an ocean of the nectar of conclusions; my mind cannot touch even a single drop of it.

পঙ্গু নাচাইতে যদি হয় তোমার মন । বর দেহ’ মোর মাথে ধরিয়া চরণ ॥ ১১৬ ॥

paṅgu nācāite yadi haya tomāra mana
a lame man to make dance if is Your wish vara deha’ mora māthe dhariyā caraṇa
a boon give my on the head placing feet

116 If it is Your wish to make a lame man dance, then place Your feet on my head and give me Your blessing.

Sanātana begs the Lord for the blessing that the instructions on the conclusions of bhakti given above may be revealed within him —

‘মুঞি যে শিখাই তোরে স্ফুরুক সকল’ ।
এই তোমার বর হৈতে হবে মোর বল ॥” ১১৭ ॥

‘muñi ye śikhāi tore sphuruka sakala’
I what teach to you may it manifest all ei tomāra vara haite habe mora bala”
this Your blessing from will be my strength

117 Bless me thus: ‘May all that I teach you manifest in you.’ This blessing of Yours will be my strength.”

The Lord gives Sanātana His blessing —

তবে মহাপ্রভু তাঁর শিরে ধরি’ করে । বর দিলা — এই সব স্ফুরুক তোমারে ॥ ১১৮ ॥

tabe mahāprabhu tāṁra śire dhari’ kare
then Mahāprabhu his on the head placing hand
vara dilā — ei saba sphuruka tomāre
the blessing gave this all may it manifest in you

118 Then Mahāprabhu placed His hand on Sanātana’s head and gave him the blessing: “May all this manifest in you.”

The truth of prayojana — love for Kṛṣṇa — and the account of the Lord’s mercy are told in brief —

সংক্ষেপে কহিলুঁ — ‘প্রেম’-প্রয়োজন-সংবাদ । বিস্তারি’ কহন না যায় প্রভুর প্রসাদ ॥ ১১৯ ॥

saṅkṣepe kahiluṁ — ‘prema’-prayojana-saṁvāda briefly I have told of prema as the goal the account
vistāri’ kahana nā yāya prabhura prasāda
in detail to tell not is possible of the Lord the grace

119 Thus I have briefly told the account of prema as the goal (prayojana). The Lord’s grace cannot be told in full.

In one who hears the nectar of the Lord's instructions, service to Kṛṣṇa — the spiritual function of the soul (cid-vṛtti) — awakens, and he attains prema —

প্রভুর উপদেশামৃত শুনে যেই জন । অচিরাৎ মিলয়ে তাঁরে কৃষ্ণপ্রেমধন ॥ ১২০ ॥

prabhura upadeśāmṛta śune yei jana of the Lord the nectar of the teachings hears who person
acirāt milaye tāṁre kṛṣṇa-prema-dhana
soon is attained by him of love for Kṛṣṇa the treasure 120 Whoever hears the nectar of the Lord's teachings soon attains the treasure of love for Kṛṣṇa.

Anubhāṣya.
Thus ends the twenty-third chapter of the "Anubhāṣya."

শ্রীরূপ-রঘুনাথ পদে যার আশ । চৈতন্যচরিতামৃত কহে কৃষ্ণদাস ॥ ১২১ ॥

śrī-rūpa-raghunātha pade yāra āśa Śrī Rūpa's, Raghunātha's at the feet whose hope caitanya-caritāmṛta kahe kṛṣṇadāsa
"Caitanya-caritāmṛta" narrates Kṛṣṇadāsa

121 Praying at the feet of Śrī Rūpa and Śrī Raghunātha, I, Kṛṣṇadāsa, narrate the Caitanya-caritāmṛta.[17]

Notes

1. The same verse as Madhya 12.2 (the refrain of Ādi 4.2 with gauracandra in the first line); translation as there. ↩
2. The Lord's instruction to Sanātana continues from Madhya 22. ↩
3. The verse number is not printed in the edition (only "॥"). ↩
4. The same verse as Ādi 1.60 (= Madhya 22.83); translation as there. ↩
5. The same verse as Madhya 2.61; translation as there, with the speaker's pronouns in lower case: here, by the edition's heading, these are the words of a devotee full of samutkaṇṭhā — Bilvamaṅgala. ↩

6. Adya — “today”, “now” (so both commentators); bālā, the young girl, is Rādhikā. ↩
7. The same verse as Madhya 21.136 (there the lines are printed in pairs); translation as there. ↩
8. The same verse as Ādi 7.94 (= Madhya 9.262); translation as there. ↩
9. The second line is the same as in Madhya 19.178, and the first has the same sense; the translation follows Madhya 19.178 with “gradually”. ↩
10. As Madhya 19.179, except for the last item: there uttama-michari, “the finest rock candy”, here śuddha-michari, “pure rock candy”. ↩
11. Madhura is the love of the beloveds; in the gopīs it is parakīyā, so it is not rendered as “conjugal”. ↩
12. Śṛṅgāra — the love of the beloveds of Vraja; the verse does not speak here of its superiority over the other rasas. ↩
13. The same verse as Ādi 4.83; translation as there. ↩
14. Verses 89–92 form a single sentence (the edition’s heading: Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu, 2.1.7–10). ↩
15. The edition reads yo me bhaktaḥ (the Gītā usually has yo mad-bhaktaḥ); the sense is the same, “who is My devotee”; the text follows the edition. ↩
16. The edition omits na dveṣṭi (a misprint; see the head of `ed/fixes/Madhya23.txt`). ↩
17. The same verse as Madhya 7.155 (the colophon refrain); translation as there. ↩
18. So in the edition: both halves of the phrase say that the devotee does not disturb others. In the verse (lokān nodvijate) and in the Anubhāṣya the second half means “who is not himself disturbed by people.” ↩
19. So in the edition. In the Bhagavad-gītā (12.13–19) these are verses 13–19, that is, Madhya 23.100–106 in our chapter; “second” in the edition is apparently a misprint. ↩
20. Bhakti-rasāmṛta-sindhu 1.3.6. ↩
21. Śrīmad-Bhāgavatam 11.19.36. ↩
22. The edition numbers this section “78–89”: a misprint (checked against the scan, p. 785); the section covers verses 78–79, and the next section is 80. ↩
23. In the paraphrase that follows, Bhaktisiddhānta takes soma as sa-umā, “[Śiva] with Umā.” ↩